$50,000 Fire Destroys Planing Mill

Believe Fire Started In Boiler Room; Investigation Promised

Fire almost destroyed the premises of the Canadian Ventilating Shades Co. (formerly the Scott Lumber Co.) 551 Park St. early Thursday morning. Only the office in the north-west corner of the building was untouched by flames. Damage is tentatively estimated at $50,000.

Piles of dry lumber and sawdust were swiftly devoured as the fire, believed to have started in the boiler-room, raced through the rambling, one-storey building. Acting Fire Chief George Smith said he could see the flames shooting through the roof as he turned down Park Street. The alarm was received at 3.15 a.m.

When firemen arrived the blaze was in the centre of the building. They were handicapped by a strong east wind that blew fire into piles of dry-as-tinder lumber, multiplying the fierceness of the outbreak. As sections of the roof fell in they covered the burning wood and firemen had to rip away these roofing sections to put out the smouldering material.

The building was a one-storey frame construction with asbestos shingles and a tar and gravel roof. It was divided into three main sections—the front part 88 feet by 100 feet with the office on the north-west corner facing Park St. contained most of the machinery and it was the manufacturing section; the warehouse 40 feet by 100 feet contained large quantities of lumber; and an additional kiln 20 feet by 40 feet on the south side completed the structure.

Completed by the fall of 1945, the building was sold by the Scott Lumber co to its present owner, Canadian Ventilating Shades Co., in May, 1947.

Big Crowd Watches

New Year revellers returning home formed a substantial part of a large crowd that watched firemen battle the fast-moving flames. Extreme cold, the awkwardness of penetrating into the blazing structure to get at their source, and the fact that no sprinkler system was installed, all added to the difficulty of putting them out.

Much valuable machinery is buried under the charred ruins; expensive planers, joiners, sanders and stickers. How much can be salvaged is not yet known. A

Oshawa Woman Killed By Fumes

OSHAWA, Jan. 2. (CP)—Mrs. John Leigh, elderly resident of nearby Thornton Corners died in hospital today of carbon monoxide poisoning. She and her husband were found in their home, two miles west of this city, at noon yesterday overcome by fumes. The husband's condition is good.

The couple had shifted stovepipes from a coal heater to a new cook stove Wednesday night and left the fire in the heater to burn itself out. Gas from this smouldering coal is blamed for the tragedy. When neighbors entered the home at noon yesterday they found the coal in the heater still smouldering.

50 Guests At Reunion Stranded By Storm

GUELPH, Jan. 2. (CP). Fifty members of Wellington Centre Club, a social organization, are stranded at a farm home in Eramosa township as a result of the severity of the New Year storm which hit this district.

Travelling to the country on the holiday for a reunion gathering at the home of Mrs. Margaret Beath, club members are "snowed in" because of heavily drifted condition of the country roads. The 50 guests spent the night at the Beath home.

U.S. Diplomat, 13 Others Die In Train Wreck

OTTERVILLE, Mo., Jan. 2 — (AP). — Alexander W. Weddell, former United States Ambassador to Spain and Argentina, and 13 other holiday travellers were killed in the New Year's Day collision of two passenger trains near this Central Missouri town.

Approximately 12 persons were injured, five of whom required hospital treatment.

The dead also included Mrs. Weddell and Frank M. Ryan, identified as a Hollywood movie director.

The collision occurred during a heavy snow storm while the Missouri Pacific's The Missourian was travelling from St. Louis to Kansas City in two sections.

The engine of the second section rammed into the rear Pullman of the first train, crushing the car so completely that torches were used to cut the wreckage apart and remove the dead.

Weddell, 71, had served in many diplomatic posts throughout the world. He began his State Department career in 1907 when he became Secretary to the Minister to Denmark. He became Ambassador to Argentina in 1933 and served until 1939, when asked President Roosevelt for the post in Spain. He served as Ambassador to Spain until his retirement in 1942.

The family of Frank Ryan also was killed in the wreck. They were identified as Mrs. Adelaide Ryan, the wife; James 20, a son, and Judith 18, a daughter, and Frankie 9, a son. The Ryans were returning to Hollywood.

Announce 2-Cent Increase In Price of Ontario Gas

TORONTO, Jan. 2—(CP).—Increases in the price of gasoline and fuel oils across Canada were announced today by the Imperial Oil and in Ontario the advances were two cents a gallon. The boosts brought retail price of grade one gasoline in Toronto area to 39½ cents, 11 cents of which is Provincial Government tax. Prices to Toronto dealers now as charged by Imperial are 21 cents for gasoline, 17 cents for fuel oil and 20 cents for stove oil.

A statement issued by the company added: "Beginning Dec. 6 advances of 50 cents per barrel for crude oil have been made in the United States fields and are now general in the Western Hemisphere. They have already been reflected by correspondingly increased prices for petroleum products in foreign countries."

Butter Price Study Made By Ottawa

OTTAWA, Jan. 2 — (CP). — Agriculture Minister Gardiner confirmed today that the Federal Cabinet has been studying the butter price situation but said no decision has been reached.

"The matter about what we are going to do on butter has been considered," he told a press conference, "but we have taken no decisions."

There have been reports that the possibility of re-imposing the butter price ceiling is being studied.

Mr. Gardiner said the Government is not "trying to buy" any New Zealand or Australian butter but is considering what the effect would be if that product was imported.

Say Low Flying Caused Crashes

OSHAWA, Jan. 2.—Low flying in violation of air regulations was blamed today for the two accidents which took a toll of two lives over the Christmas holiday. George Hurren, chief instructor of the Ontario Flying Club, from which both aircraft took off, termed the fatal crash "an accident that should never have happened."

A crash near Campbellford on Christmas day destroyed a Cornell aircraft piloted by Jack Hoar, with Bob Mitchell, a passenger. The two Oshawa men escaped with minor injuries.

"They were flying lower than is permitted by air regulations in order to wave a Christmas greeting to friends on the ground," Hurren asserted.

The second accident occurred on Boxing Day and claimed the lives of Vern Woodcock, Oshawa, and Frank Nokes, Glen Major, when their Fleet Canuck piloted by Woodcock crashed near Uxbridge after circling over the Nokes' home. Again the cause was flying at an altitude at which the pilot was incapable of controlling his machine, Hurren said.

Threaten Candidate In Toronto Election

TORONTO, Jan. 2. — (CP).— Two men—Anthony Kuzyk and Michael Jonas—appeared in police court today on charges of threatening Harry Clairmont, Workers Revolutionary (Trotskyist) party candidate for Board of Control in yesterday's Toronto civic election. They were remanded to Jan. 9 and freed on bail of $1,000 each.

Police said that Clairmont reported two men approached him as he and his wife went to vote and told them to vote for Stewart Smith, Communist candidate for Controller. Clairmont replied that it was nobody's business how he voted. He added that as he and his wife left the polling place a man struck him in the face, breaking his glasses.

Police said a warrant has been issued for a third man, wanted on a charge of aggravated assault for striking the candidate.

Britain May End Mandate Sooner Than May Deadline

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON, Jan. 2 (Reuters) — It is possible that Britain may end the Palestine mandate a week or 10 days before the present deadline of May 15, it was authoritatively learned in London today.

These quarters added, however, that there was no likelihood that the date could be advanced by as much as six weeks as suggested in reports from Jerusalem.

The precise date of Britain's handing over of power will obviously depend to some extent on when the United Nations Commission arrived in Palestine. The Commission is expected to hold its first meeting Jan. 7 and to have a discussion with Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent British representative to the UN, about a week ago.

The British government naturally desires to hand over the mandate as soon as possible after the Commission arrives, but holds that there should be a short overlap, preferably of about two weeks, between the arrival of the Commission and its taking over the administration.

It is clear that no stores which could be used in military operations will be left behind by Britain but it is considered that a substantial amount of other equipment cannot possibly be got out before final British withdrawal on Aug. 1.

Give Terms Of Contract With Britain

Bacon, Beef, Egg Prices Increased Cover Calendar Year

OTTAWA, Jan. 2 — (CP). — New higher contract prices for bacon, beef, eggs and cheese Canada will send to the United Kingdom in 1948 were announced to-day by Agriculture Minister Gardiner at a press conference.

The new rates

Bacon—$36 a 100 pounds for Grade A No. 1 sizeable Wiltshire sides at seaboard, compared with $29 under the 1947 contract. The contract calls for delivery of 195,000,000 pounds in 1948 against a target of 350,000,000 pounds in 1947 and 250,000,000 pounds actually delivered.

Beef — Prices vary according to quality and will advance by $3.25 a 100 pounds for red and blue quality, $2 for medium quality and cow carcasses, and $1.50 for boneless manufacturing beef. The contract calls for delivery of 45,000,000 pounds compared with a target of 120,000,000 pounds in 1947 and actual deliveries of 30,000,000 pounds.

Apartment Tenants Flee Blazing Home

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 — (AP). — A five-alarm office building fire which spread to two converted apartment houses blanketed Manhattan's west side at Columbus Circle in dense smoke today.

An undetermined number of persons, many clad in nightclothes were led down ladders and an 80-year-old woman leaped to safety in a life net.

Eight firemen were overcome by smoke in fighting the blaze which started in the office building in West 58th street.

The rear wall of a four-storey loft building on West 58th street caved in shortly before 10 a.m. but no one was injured. Shortly after, Frank Murphy, chief of operations for the fire department, said the blaze was under control.

20 People Die In US Tornadoes

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 —(AP)— Winter's most damaging storms of ice and snow struck across the central states and eastward into southern New England over the New Year's holiday after a series of tornadoes ripped through five southern states.

The storms left a wide path of destruction in their wake. The property damage was expected to run into the millions. The death toll was over the 100 mark, including the 20 persons who were killed in the tornadoes.

More than 80 persons died in traffic accidents over the holiday period. Fourteen persons were killed in a crash of two Missouri Pacific passenger trains in a storm in Otterville, Mo. The tornadoes which twisted through Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama injured 250, destroyed 250 homes and damaged 250 others.

Out On Strike

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—(AP). — Overseas communication union workers went on strike at four cable companies today, tying up an estimated two-thirds of their facilities for transmission between the United States and the rest of the world. The walkout, which involved some 3,500 employees, began at 12.01 a.m. and came while Federal conciliators still were attempting to bridge differences between union and company negotiations.

500 Scientists Working At Chalk River

OTTAWA, Jan. 2.—(CP).—The National Research Council, in a review of its 1947 activities, reported today that "already practical results have been achieved" in research at the atomic energy development plant at Chalk River, Ont.

The Council took over the plant last February and now working in it are 1,000 skilled workers, half of them scientists.

They are "working at top speed to produce radioactive materials for countless uses in medical and industrial research and in the search for the newer knowledge which is fundamental to scientific progress," said the Council.

As an example of the value of nuclear research, the Council pointed to the discovery this year of Dr. J. W. T. Spinks, now of the University of Saskatchewan, but formerly on the staff of the atomic energy plant.

Dr. Spinks found that phosphate fertilizer added to the soil at seeding accounted for 80 per cent. of the phosphate taken up by wheat plants in the early stages of growth. He also showed that plants fertilized at seeding take up later a higher percentage of plant foods from he surrounding soil than do unfertilized other plants grown in the same soil.

Use Radioactive Phosphorus

These results were obtained by using radioactive phosphorus which served as a trace and could be photographed merely by bringing the plant in contact with a photographic plate.

"Hundreds of similar new discoveries must be expected to follow the use of radioactive materials," said the Council.

In other fields, research touched on industrial processes, food chemistry, refrigeration, radar, aircraft, motion pictures, heating, lubrication, textiles, rubber and construction.

The review said there was still need for greater expansion both in Government - sponsored research and by private enterprise if Canada was to maintain her rightful place among the manufacturing countries of the world.

Aid For Research

It recalled that Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of the Council, suggested recently that at least one per cent. of the national income be used to advantage in the prosecution of research.

Report Many Sideroads Plugged By Drifts; Highways 28 And 7 Open

One Car On Side Part Way To Lakefield And Indian River Snowbound; Southwestern Ontario Power Out Hours

Workers stepped from their homes this morning into a world of white on this, the first business day of 1948. Since shortly after midnight, a 20-mile wind from east-northeast spilled three and one-half inches of snow across the countryside, filled yards, covered parked cars and made sideroads almost impassible. Highway ploughs were out early on Numbers 7 and 28 making a right-of-way for the thin trickle of traffic that ventured out. The concession into the village of Indian River is plugged and to date the community is snowbound. A milk truck in the same locality made the usual rounds and bucked a lot of snow in so doing and assisted two cars from drifts onto firm road footing.

By nine o'clock in the morning, Highway 28 between Peterborough and Port Hope had been ploughed both ways, and the northern extension to Apsley had been ploughed one way. There was one northbound sedan on its side about half way to Lakefield. A good many hitch hikers were noticeable as they waved down the occasional passing car while their own vehicles stood half-covered in backyards.

Three deaths were attributed to the New Year's night blizzard which swept Southern Ontario from Windsor to Kingston, blocked parts of at least six main highways and left hundreds stranded when their cars bogged down in the snow.

Mrs. Sadie Pugh, 65, of Toronto died of a heart attack brought on by over-exertion when walking through the drifts; 58-year-old Franklin England of Hamilton, suffered a heart attack when trying to push his car out of a drift at Burlington; James Brown was killed at Oshawa when his car hit a tree.

The area west of Chatham was hardest hit by the stinging, wind-swept storm. Today Hydro and telephone linemen worked to restore dozens of breaks along the storm's path and highway crews sought to clear roads for travel.

But at Malton Airport, near Toronto, a Federal transport depart-

Two CNR Men Die In Crash; Probing Wreck

COBALT, Jan. 2 — (CP)—Investigation to determine the cause of a head-on freight-train crash in which two men were killed and three others injured was continued today along a wreckage-strewn track at Pickerel Lake, two miles south of here.

Dead are J. R. Newton, 22, and Herbert Lewis, both of North Bay, fireman and engineer of an Ontario Northland Railway northbound freight which collided with a southbound train early yesterday.

J. D. Lang, brakeman on the northbound freight, was seriously injured and was admitted to hospital at nearby Haileybury. Conductor William Bourret of the northbound and brakeman C. E. Phillips of the southbound were less seriously injured. All three are from North Bay.

Newton was killed almost instanly. Lewis died in Haileybury hospital after being trapped tor eight hours in the cab of the northbound locomotive. Rescuers used acetylene torches to free him.

Eight cars were derailed by the impact and some toppled down an embankment, snapping telephone lines and, for a time, cutting Cobalt off from telephone communication with southern Ontario. Both locomotives remained upright.

Investigation of the crash was headed by Archie Freeman, C.N.R. general manager. The track was being cleared by auxiliaries dispatched to the scene from North Bay and Englehart.

Last Of Convicts Caught In Colorado

CANON CITY, Colo., Jan. 2 — (AP). — James Sherbondy, 28-year-old convicted murder, was captured at a ranch house three miles north of Canon City today, last of the dozen incorrigible convicts who smashed their way out of the Colorado state prison Tuesday.

The killer of a deputy sheriff gave up without a fight. He was armed only with a bogus gun similar to several others made by the escaping prisoners.

Warden Roy Best said Sherbundy's legs appeared to be badly frozen from the knees down.

Arab Snipers Kill Nurse Going On Hospital Bus

JERUSALEM, Jan. 2.—(AP).—Arab snipers killed a Jewish nurse and sprayed a Jewish funeral procession with bullets on the Mount of Olives today, police said, as communal strife ignited by the United Nations decision to partition Palestine continued for the 34th day.

The unofficial count of dead since Arab-Jewish violence erupted at the end of November mounted to 511, including 251 Arabs and 230 Jews.

The Jewish nurse was aboard a Hadassah hospital bus which eye-witnesses said was attacked on Mount Scopus by Arabs using automatic weapons and grenades. Police opened fire on the Arabs and captured the house from which they had fired.

A squad of Hagana men rushed to the scene and a three-cornered battle between Jews, Arabs and the police ensued. One policeman was reported wounded and both the Arabs and the Jews brought up reinforcements before the battle ended.

Seventeen persons—four Jews, 11 Arabs, a German and a Pole—died in sporadic outbusts of violence on the New Year's first day yesterday.

David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish agency executive, declared in a statement to reporters that a "savage unscrupulous" . . . war has been declared" against the Jewish community and that "the disciples of Nazis and Fascists attempt to incite the Arab masses in Palestine and neighboring countries against the Jews."

In the north, troops of the 6th Airborne Division continued to search for nearly 800 Jews who streamed ashore in an area allotted to the Arabs, under partition, after beaching their craft, the United Nations, on Nahariya Beach yesterday afternoon.

Get Pen Terms In Store Holdup

LINDSAY, Jan. 2 (ENS).—Two Oshawa men, Reg. Floody, 17, and George Shullman, 16, received lashes and terms in the Kingston Penitentiary when they pleaded guilty before Magistrate E. A. Gee in Lindsay today. They were charged with armed robbery of Bynell's grocery store in Queen Street in this town on Dec. 20.

"Armed robberies are far too frequent and I cannot pass them over lightly," Magistrate Gee said.

Floody was sentenced to two years and six lashes in Kingston, and his confederate, Shullman, age 16, was sentenced to 2½ years and six lashes in the same prison.

Boy 15 Saves Child In Burning House

BROCKVILLE, Jan. 2 (CP) — Two wards of the Leeds and Grenville Children's Aid Society —Douglas McGee, 15, and Donald O'Reilley, five—combined on a mutual rescue operation last night when fire destroyed the nearby Lansdowne farmhouse of T. J. MacDonald.

The boys were alone and asleep when the fire started. Donald was awakened by a noise resembling an explosion. He awakened Douglas who dashed downstairs, found flames sweeping through the house and then returned to the upper room where he wrapped the smaller boy in bedding and carried him to a barn. Clad only in pajamas, Douglas then ran about a quarter of a mile to a nearby farmhouse and gave the alarm.

Saunders Gets 4th Term As Toronto Mayor

TORONTO, Jan. 2.—(CP). — Robert Hood Saunders has been reelected for his fourth consecutive term as mayor of Toronto, his 1947 Board of Control is back in office and 17 of the 18 aldermen of the 1947 city council have been returned.

The voting yesterday climaxed a campaign fought briefly on the issue of Communism and it left only one Communist alderman in the city council, Norman Freed having been ousted by non-Communist newcomer F. H. Chambers. Dewar Ferguson, Communist and former alderman, failed in a comeback bid but his colleague in the Labor-Progressive party, Charles Sims, made the re-election grade.

As expected, the election brought out a larger vote than last year—approximtaely 38 per cent—but fell far short of optimistic prediction that upwards of 50 per cent of the ctiy's 400,000-odd eligible voters would vote.

Re-elected to Board of Control were D. A. Balfour, J. M Innes, H. E. McCallum and K. B. McKellar. Communist Stewart Smith, unsuccessful candidate for the Board last year, again fell short.

No Surprise

Mayor Saunders' re-election surprised no one. Even his lone opponent, Ross Dowsn of the Revolutionary Workers Party, said on nomination day that he did not expect to beat Saunders but hoped to gain experience and win publicity for his Trotskyist party.

With 811 of the 838 polls counted, Dowson polled 15,008 votes compared with Mayor Saunders' whopping 118,097. Dowson's showing was far ahead of that scored last year by his brother, Murray. In a three-way mayoralty race, Murray Dowson, RWP standard-bearer, gained only 3,201 votes and placed third.

The aldermen for 1948, in addition to F. H. Chalmers, are: L. H. Saunders, C. A. Walton, J. L. Shannon, E. L. Weaver, H. F. Fishleigh, A. Lamport, N. Phillips, A. Frost, C. Sims, W. F. Clifton, G. P. Granell, W. H. Butt, E. C. Roelofson, W. F. Collins, R. S. Maling, L. M. Reilly and M. W. Wilson.

Communists lost three seats and retained one on the Board of Education. Mrs. Edna Ryerson kept her ward five seat but Samuel Walsh, John Boyd and Mrs. Elizabeth Morton were defeated.

HORSE-PLAY NOW WHERE IL DUCE RANTED — When Il Duce ruled Italy, he banned festivities of all types, especially when students wanted to do a little horse play in college. Toronto Coal Cuts 50 Cents

TORONTO, Jan. 2.—The price of coal in Toronto will drop 50 cents a ton today as a result of the lifting of an import duty on coal from the United States. This was announced by E. R. Lockyer, secretary of the Toronto Coal Exchange.

Coal dealers have decided to release stock immediately at the reduced price in spite of the fact they have already paid the old import duty, he said. "We feel the public should get the break in view of the high price of fuel," Mr. Lockyer added.

Some 150,000 tons of coal are on hand in Toronto and the tax will be absorbed by the dealers. However, Mr. Lockyer warned that the local price may rise if freight rates go up on United States railways. In Washington it has been indicated this increase will lift the price of coal 10 cents a ton.

See Big Upset In Forgery By Politician

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 2 — (CP)—Political repercussions are predicted in Canberra following the issuance of summonses against former Labor politician John Smith Garden in connection with alleged irregularities in valuable timber leases in New Guinea.

Security police allege that Garden forged the signature of External Territories Minister Eddie Ward to a letter and documents issued by the department of external territories and by the administrator of the territory of New Guinea.

A sum of $160,000 has been freely mentioned in the local press as the amount paid for leases.

E. Harrison, deputy leader of the federal opposition, is urging the appointment of a royal commission to enquire into "irregularities in the New Guinea administration."

Gardner was a member of the federal parliament and had been prominently connected with the trades and labor movement for many years. Last week, he resigned from his position as liaison officer in the department of labor and national service.

Issue of the summonses followed inquiries by a commonwealth investigation branch set in motion by Ward.

The case will be heard by a special federal court next Wednesday.

the cheese contract covers the 12 months beginning April 1.

The British have agreed to purchase Canada's surplus of beef, bacon, eggs and cheese for the years 1948 and 1949 to an actual amount previously estimated each year and written into the contract.

The prices for beef and bacon are not to be less in 1949 than they were for 1946 but they are to be negotiated before the end of 1948 to maintain the proper relationship with grain prices.

Mr. Gardiner said the new prices and quantities will stand for 1948 regardless of what steps may be taken to revise British-Canadian financial relationships.

"The prices and quantities will not be affected by any further discussion of financial relationships at the end of three months," he said in an apparent reference to plans of the two countries to review the method by which Britain pays her adverse balance with Canada.

Beef Payment

Under the new price range, the prices Britain will pay for beef will be $27.50 per 100 pounds for choice quality, $26.50 for good quality, $23.10 for manufacturing beef, $21.20 for good to choice cow carcasses, $24 for hinds of boneless manufacturing beef and $22.50 for fronts.

Mr. Gardiner said the new prices on the lower quality carcasses will have an immediate effect on the prices paid producers for lower grades of cattle. While domestic current prices for choice and good beef are higher than even the advanced contract prices, the new rates will provide a higher price floor for top quality beef during periods of surplus marketings.

He said also that the new contracts did not preclude the possibility of re-opening the U.S. market to Canadian beef but added that this had not been considered.

In placing beef deliveries at 45,000,000 pounds,, Canada has kept to "realistic figures," recalling that she had been unable to fulfill the 1947 contract. The government still retained the authority to requisition beef supplies, if necessary.

8-Year-Old Girl Found Stabbed

CLEVELAND, Jan. 2—(AP).—The knife-pierced body of a blonde, eight-year-old girl, who disappeared while on an errand for her father, was found late last night on a neighbor's porch, less than a block from her home.

Detective Peter Kekic identified the victim as Shelia Ann Tuley, daughter of a 34-year-old machine grinder. Kekic said that what appeared to be stab wounds from both a knife and an ice pick were found on Shelia's back and head.

Shelia's clothes were torn and stained and blood from her face was smeared on her hands and a nearby window. The body also bore severe bruises.

Edward J. Tuley, Shelia's father, was searching the neighborhood for the child when he came upon the scene, shortly after C. James Endicott had summoned police. Tuley became hysterical.

Shelia, in death, clutched a small red plaid umbrella and wore a matching babushka given to her for Christmas.

The girl's death was ruled a homicide after a coroner's investigation. Coroner S. R. Gerber said she had been stabbed seven times but had not been assaulted.

Greek Reds 'Crushed' In Battle

Relief Column Fights Way Into Konitsa Behind Bayonet Drive

ATHENS, Jan. 2.—(AP).—War Minister George Stratos said today guerrilla forces were fleeing into the Grammos mountains after a "crushing defeat" inflicted in the battle of Konitsa, where a week-long siege of the Greek government garrison was lifted yesterday.

The offensive against Konitsa was believed to have been aimed at capture of a capital for a Greek Communist government, existence of which was proclaimed in a Christmas eve broadcast by insurgent leader Markos Vafiades.

A general staff communique reviewing the seven-day battle said: "This is the first fruit which had been reaped by the bogus government of Slavo-Communists."

The communique said one column of troops entered the town and relieved the Konitsa garrison yesterday, but that a second column was held up by fire aimed at the Bourozani Bridge. 11 miles west of Konitsa.

10,000 Rebels.

The communique discloses that on the first day of the attack the Konitsa garrison, consisting of some 900 men, was "completely isolated . . . to a considerable depth" when a force of more than 3,000 guerrillas made frontal assault. Some sources estimated that the rebel strength totalled 10,000 men.

Guerrillas forced their way into Konitsa the third day, the communique said, but were annihilated.

Stratos said the relief column fought its way into Konitsa in a series of bayonet charges as the government tanks and armored cars battled along the Ioannina-Konitsa highway.

An authoritative source said the seige was directed by a "Balkan staff: Consisting of Russian, Yugoslav, and Bulgarian officers operating from Skoplje, Yugoslavia, 65 miles north of the Greek border."

Storm Changes Flow Of Detroit River

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 2. (CP)— An indication of the fury of yesterday's freak hail and sleet storm is the report that it actually changed the direction of the Detroit River.

The river rose several feet within a short space of time, flowing backward toward Windsor due to the driving force of the northeast winds. Ice floes actually started moving up river.

For a while big ships at the Windsor dock were in danger of being washed up on the concrete wharf, but the water level subsided in time.

Youth 19 Remanded In Safe Theft Case

GUELPH, Jan. 2 — (CP). — Mike Zaduk, 19, was remanded in police court today on a charge of shopbreaking and theft in connection with theft of a small safe from the Canadian Oil Company warehouse here early today.

Zaduk's arrest followed a wild chase by police across snow-filled roads and fields during which several warning shots were fired. The small safe, torn from a wall in the warehouse, and allegedly tossed away by Zaduk or an accomplice during the chase was recovered intact. The strongbox contained $235.

of Riverside. Lunging across Essex county, it disrupted power and communication services in Leamington, Harrow, Kingsville, Amherstburg and LaSalle then swept on to the north and east.

Less Damage

Less serious damage was done to Sarnia, Chatham and London. But at the London City Airport, one wind gust was recorded as 75 miles an hour, the highest on record there. Highest average velocity there last night was 65 mph.

Ontario provincial police cautioned against highway travel in the London-Sarnia-Windsor area. Airplane flights and some bus schedules were cancelled and by late last night taxi companies in Hamilton and Toronto were refusing calls.

About five inches of snow fell in the Toronto district before the storm started to subside about 2 a.m. Traffic snarls in Toronto piled up street cars during the early morning hours, despite the efforts of maintenance crews. Greatest difficulty was encountered on hills, where skidding, swerving automobiles held up trolleys.

After being out of service since late yesterday afternoon, trains on the London and Port Stanley railway began running this morning. Two trains were stranded all night between St. Thomas and London due to downed power lines. Seventy-five passengers partment road crews opened main highways but the going was heavy.

The storm travelled east to the Bay of Quinte district and at Belleville traffic slowed to a crawl as snowplows went to work on an eight-inch fall.

Restore Service

All available linemen were on the job at dawn today, working at the complicated and widespread task of repairing and restoring hydro and communication services disrupted in many parts of Essex County since late Thursday.

Hundreds of hydro and telephone poles were toppled and wires severed through rural and urban areas in the wake of a disastrous, freak sleet-rain-and-hail storm.

Among the hardest-hit districts was the town of Riverside, blacked out from mid-afternoon as power lines collapsed under the weight of heavy ice that froze solidly the instant it touched any object.

Rough estimates by hydro officials, whose reports were incomplete because of disrupted telephone service, indicated about 100 poles were pulled down by the ice-laden wires.

The Bell Telephone Company reported about 150 miles down, and long-distance service between points in Essex County and Toronto disrupted.

[illegible] are the only intact objects in the completely levelled rear portion of the firm.

Twenty male employees were thrown out of work by the fire, and some have been temporarily re-hired to assist in salvage operations. Insurance Adjuster Fred Jennings ordered all machinery that had not been damaged too severely be oiled and placed under cover, and this work was started immediately. Chas. H. Webb is plant superintendent.

Will Investigate

Firemen were on hand from about 3.30 a.m. till 11 a.m. Thursday. An inspector from the Fire Marshal's office is expected Friday to investigate the origin of the blaze.

Only the fact that the wind was from the east saved a grocery store at the south boundary of the flaming building, and a row of houses on the south side of Brioux Ave., to the north.

Greetings From Drew

TORONTO, Jan. 2 — (CP). — Premier Drew of Ontario in a New Year's message sent greetings to Canadians entering what he termed a "year of great and far-reaching decisions." He said: "I hope that the coming year of great and far-reaching decisions may bring peace, security and happiness to all Canadians."

Dealing with eggs, Mr. Gardiner said the new spring price will be 47½ cents a dozen against 42½ in 1947, while the fall price, effective next Septem[illegible] will be 54¼ cents a dozen against 50¾.

Details as to the quantities to be stored, frozen or dried before shipment will be worked out and announced to the trade in "good time to enable those concerned to make necessary arrangements for storage and processing."

The special products board's buying price for eggs is on a two-season basis: The fall period, of higher prices, extends from Sept. 1 and includes shipments from seaboard to the following Jan. 31; the spring period covers board purchases from late January to Aug. 31.

Dealing briefly with cheese, Mr. Gardiner said Canada was receiving 163 shillings (about $32.60) a 100 pounds for her cheese against 118 shillings which Britain pays to Australia for Australian cheese.

Prices Up Here

The higher prices Britain will pay for beef, bacon, cheese and eggs in the new contracts with Canada are expected to stiffen domestic prices to some extent.

The seven-cent-a-pound boost in bacon may make that commodity higher in Canada. The advance of five cents a dozen in eggs will probably hold prices in Canada against the seasonal drop which usually comes at the end of January when the new contract prices come into effect.

No immediate advance in the domestic market for better class beef is anticipated. Red and Blue Grade beef, increased by $3.25 a hundred pounds already is selling on the domestic market at prices higher than this advance.

The contracts boosts the lower grades of beef two cents a pound and prices of these grades may stiffen as the contract prices are more in line with domestic prices than in the better grades. The contracts will form a floor price in all grades tending to hold domestic prices tn near present levels.

Domestic cheese prices may go higher as a result of a jump of five cents a pound to Britain.

Loot Theatre Building Make Off With $1,000

WINDSOR, Jan. 2 — (CP). — More than $1,000 in sloot was taken late last night when offices in the Palace Theatre building here were ransacked.

Police believe someone may have remained behind after the theatre was closed. There was no sign of a forced entry. Escape of the burglar or burglars was made by way of a fire escape.

Eaton (Rep., NJ), chairman of the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee, predicted yesterday. "I wouldn't set any date," Eaton told reporters. "But if we get it through by June 1 we will be fortunate."

'Twas Love At First Sight Between Princess, Michael

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 2 (AP)— Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma said yesterday "it was love at first sight" with her and former Michael of Romania and that "wherever he goes, I will follow him."

She said the young monarch's abdication Tuesday was a complete surprise to her and that she did not know his plans.

She was anxiously awaiting word from him at the residence of her uncle Prince Axel in Gentofte, a Copenhagen suburb.

"I have no word from King Michael, and I do not know anything about his plans for the future," the pretty young princess said in an interview. "It seems, however, after what I have read in the papers, that he intends to go to Switzerland—but wherever he goes I will follow him. But I will not leave Copenhagen until I have heard from him.

"King Michael's abdication was a complete surprise to me . . . "

There have been persistent reports that Anne and Michael soon will be married.

"Michael and I met for the first time in London at the wedding of Princess Elizabeth," she said. "It was love at first sight—but I did not think it could happen to me.

"When Michael and I parted in Lausanne (Switzerland), we had no definite plans for the future. It seemed so uncertain, but I hoped to see him again in April."

Royal Wedding Selected Outstanding Story of Year

By The Canadian Press

The wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip, a pageant that drew the eyes of the world, was selected by Canadian telegraph editors as the outstanding world news story of 1947.

Voting in a Canadian Press poll in which each was asked to name the six most notable and Canadian stories, they chose announcement of the Canadian dollar-saving program and the Geneva trade agreements in Ottawa Nov. 17 as the best Canadian story of the year. A close second was the Labor Day Dugald, Man., train wreck in which 31 persons were killed.

The selections:—

Canadian news: 1. Dollar-saving program and trade pacts; 2. Dugald train wreck; 3. Arctic rescue of Canon J. H. Turner; 4. Barbara Ann Scott's figure-skating triumphs; 5. Evelyn Dick's final conviction for manslaughter; 6. Five-week strike of packinghouse workers, ended Oct. 22.

World: 1. Royal wedding; 2. Partition of Palestine; 3. Texas City explosion which killed 575; 4. Granting of Indian independence; 5. Marshall plan; 6. British economic crisis.

All but one of the editors voting placed the Royal Wedding among their world news selections. The partition of Palestine, approved by the United Nations Nov. 29, and the strife in the Holy Land before and since, was a close second. The Texas City disaster was mentioned by more than two thirds of the voters.

Voting on Canadian stories was not so unanimous but more than half the editors chose the dollar-saving program — and the trade pacts, and the Dugald wreck was not far behind. The dramatic story of the rescue of Canon Turner from his missionary post on Baffin Island after he had been accidentally shot, continued from Sept. 30 until he was brought to Winnipeg Nov. 24 and was climaxed by his death on Dec. 9.

Golf Course Built Half Century Ago

COBOURG, Jan. 2 (ENS)—Cobourg Golf and Country Club will mark its 50th anniversary this year when the annual meeting is held on January 28. One of the oldest nine-hole courses in the Dominion, the club has a membership now of about 300 and an excellent course. Like any other golf club it has experienced good times and had but always managed to pull through the periods of low vitality.

The executive of the club plans to publish a history of the club at an early date. From club records it is revealed that when the Cobourg Golf Club was formed in 1897, the club house was at the west end of the course where the fifth and sixth fairways are now located. In 1914 the club house was changed to its present location on Division street, after more land had been acquired to expand the course and retreat from a railway spur line. W. S. Crossen was the first president back in 1900, according to the minutes of that year. The club had a hard time in the early years but kept going mainly through the financial assistance from Mr. Crossen. On the early list of directors were many members of the American summer colony here.

In the late 1930's the club slipped considerably but was re-organized in 1943 and has since progressed to its present healthy condition and a roll of very enthusiastic golfers.

Undergoes Operation

COBOURG, Jan. 2 (ENS). — Injured on Christmas Day in a motor accident in which he broke his left arm at the socket, Lester Caughey, a local hotel proprietor, underwent an operation in Toronto Tuesday to set the badly fractured arm. Mr. Caughey was a passenger in a car driven by Harry Lucas of Cobourg which went into the ditch at Coldsprings when the driver swung out to avoid a collision with a car driven by Leslie Jibb.

Blames Provinces For Meat Strikes

KINGSTON, Jan 2. — F. W. Dowling, district director of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, told delegates to the three-day "short course in co-operation and rural leadership," being held at Queen's University, that packinghouse workers will never return to provincial jurisdiction of working conditions.

Mr. Dowling attributed the strike this year as being directly caused by this issue and predicted further strikes if the companies try to break the union of "the rock of provincial rights."

In his speech, Mr. Dowling sought to convey to the gathering of rural young people some of the differences between farm and factory labor and to make them see justification for labor's demands. He pointed out the contrast between the constant, speeded work prevalent in mass production factories, and the longer but freer work on the land where one is more his own boss and can take a rest when one wants.

Almost 100 young people from the district are taking part in the course, which is being sponsored by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture in co-operation with the Queen's department of extension.

Two Boys Suffocate In Quebec Snow Slide

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Jan. 2 — (CP). — Jean Marc Vermette, 13, died early yesterday a few hours following the death of his 12-year-old brother Denis from suffocation after the two boys were buried in a snow slide while at play in nearby Notre Dame D'Herbertville, on Wednesday.

Denis was dead when the brothers were extricated at 10 o'clock on Wednesday night, but Jean Marc was still breathing. He was given medical treatment, but died four hours later.

The children had gone to play on a hill close to their home and when they failed to appear for supper a search was started.

Historic Church Enters Centennial Year

St. George's Church, Gore's Landing, Rice Lake, has had a remarkable history. This historic part of Ontario was once traversed by French explorers and missionaries to the Indians. After the first English-speaking fur-traders and settlers, there came a very notable group of cultured people to the southwest shore of Rice Lake in the 1840's. Their sons and daughters went into all parts of a growing Dominion and far overseas to serve with distinction in church and state. The story of those early days reads like a romantic legend.

Until a few days ago the exact date of the first service in St. George's was quite uncertain. Bit by bit the events of her first days have been disclosed. The register of St. Peter's church, Cobourg, shows that Archdeacon Bethune came out for Holy Communion services for the Rice Lake congregation as early as 1845.

Other records tell that the church in the rising village of Gore's Landing was first begun in 1846 Though not completed, the first service was held in the winter of 1847-8 A letter of Mrs. Traill's (Catherine Parr Traill) reveals that this service took place January 1848.

The centennial celebration this year was to have culminated in the summer with the visit of the late Archbishop Owen, Primate of All Canada. After attending the Lambeth conference in England in July, he planned on his return to come to Gore's Landing his boyhood home.

As it enters the centennial year, the congregation plans to hold a special service at 4 p.m to mark the first service in the church. The speaker on this occasion will be the rector of Cobourg, the Rev. R. L. Seaborn, MA, BD, dean-elect of the cathedral of the Diocese of Quebec. A hearty welcome is extended to all.

Motorists Careful In Cobourg Area

COBOURG, Jan. 2 —(ENS)— New Year's passed quietly as far as the duties of the police department were concerned. Alerted to the danger of drunken drivers, the police kept tab on careless driving, but motorists adhered to the much publicized urge of keeping alcohol and gasoline apart, and nobody was charged with drunkdriving. Some of the citizenry had what might be described as a fairly lusty glow on, but nobody indulged to the extent that he landed in the cells. Beverage rooms reported a quiet evening from the standpoint of business. The New Year's dance at St. Peter's was well-attended and many private house parties went on.

Wealth On The Farm?

Who pays income tax? Nearly everybody except old age pensioners, destitute widows, juveniles and farmers. The most complete recent analysis of income tax returns in the Canada Year Book is in the issue for 1945 and the figures are those of the fiscal year 1943. In that year 642,126 people paid income tax, but only 3,569 of them were "agrarians" (people engaged in farming). Of the $116,088,787 demanded in income tax the farmers paid only $440,212.

* * *

Were the farmers poor in 1943, that so few paid so little? The gross value of farm products was $2,243,984,000. The farmers' cash income from the sale of farm products was $1,434,056,000. That figure does not include income which farmers derived from other sources nor does it include the value of products consumed in the farm home. Those 1½ billion dollars (approx.) are, of course, not net profit. It does seem strange, however, that agriculture, which in 1943, represented 19.7 per cent. of the total net value of production in Canada, should appear to be relatively unprofitable. For purposes of income taxation, the total assessment against agrarians was only $8,678,668, on which the total income tax paid by farmers was $440,212.

* * *

It seems strange, too, that of the more than one million males over 14 years of age on Canadian farms, only 3,569 farming people paid any income tax. In 1941 (the last census year) the total farm population was 3,152,449. There were 4.3 persons per farm—and one of them must have been the farmer himself. This means that there must be, exclusive of wives, children and hired help, more than 800,000 heads of farming households. But only 3,569 paid income tax.

* * *

Are the farmers poor? The total value of buildings, land and equipment in 1943 was $5,288,131,000. That immense capital investment has been increasing since then. It increased by thirty million dollars between 1941 and 1943. Land values have been increasing. In Ontario an acre was worth, on the average, $46 in 1939, $56 in 1943. The value is higher now, but even a ten dollar increase per acre has given the owner of 100 acres an increment of $1,000.

* * *

Agriculture, the biggest single "industry" in Canada other than manufacturing, is in a pretty thriving condition judging from overall statistics and the general appearance and prices of farms locally. Judging from income tax returns, it is in a disastrous condition—for farmers in 1943 paid less than half of one per cent. of the total income tax. Yet one-quarter of the people gainfully employed in Canada were engaged in agriculture, according to the last census. It is tantalizing to think how large the revenue would be from income tax if this relatively non-paying one quarter of our working population were factory and office workers and had to pay income taxes. Perhaps income tax rates would then be reduced!

Prices A Generation Ago

The Examiner of December, 1921, had an editorial on the cost of plum pudding. Plum pudding "will not cost so much this year. To begin with, the basic element of flour was sold a year ago at $8.50 per hundredweight; this year it is selling at $4.50. Raisins and currants which retailed last Christmas at 35 cents a pound are available at 25 cents. The important item of sugar has fallen within the last twelve-month from 22 cents to 8 cents per pound". 1921 was three years after the war and the high prices of its "last year" were about the same distance removed from the first war as this year is from the second war. [illegible] pattern of lower prices set in [illegible] followed in 1948?

[illegible] examined some of the advertisements in December, 1921, to see if [illegible] roomed [illegible]

Glance

Automobile in part payment", was offered for $2,500. On the other hand, "the Nicest Bungalow in the City, just being finished in chestnut, hardwood floors" was on sale for $7,500. A "Master Six 4-passenger coupe McLaughlin-Buick" sold at a new price $400 less than November's price of $3,345. Car prices seemed to be falling, and Fords were of course considerably cheaper than Buicks. Jos. J. Duffus advertised in this fashion:

You can find comfort despite winter, in a Ford closed car. It's better than bundling up in furs. The doors and windows keep out the iciest blasts; your face, hands and feet are never cold. Make us prove our words by coming in some cold disagreeable day.

The advertisers seemed to be anxious to sell. Firms were shouting "Prices Crumbling!", "Christmas Is Perilously near!" Cressman's, Fair's, Oak Hall, Dixon's, Hall's, Grafton's and Turnbull's were apparently all well stocked and eager to serve Christmas shoppers.

Clothing was relatively cheap. Men's overcoats and suits were advertised from $12.50 to $30, boys' overcoats and suits from $5.98 to $12.98. One clothing store had this advertisement:

FREE GOOSE. GOOSE! GOOSE!! GOOSE!!!

Men—With every Suit or Overcoat sold Friday and Saturday we present you with a Free Goose. Our Geese are almost as good as our Clothes.

Geese, by the way, sold at 32 cents a pound. Turkeys were high at 52 cents. Bacon was 30-32 cents a pound. Homemade sausages sold at 15 cents a pound and fresh hamburg at 2 pounds for 25 cents. Roast beef was 10 cents. "Real nippy cheese" was advertised at 40 cents, and Porter S. White, always delighting in adjectives, had tuna-fish "wave-kissed" at 50 cents per pound tin. Apples "especially delicious for the Christmas table — The Dozen 50 cents, The Peck $1.00".

All told, the prices of a generation ago in a year of falling prices were not much lower than they are now—though you could get horehound sticks for 5 cents and hockey boots for $3.75 and see a movie called "The Sheik" for a quarter.

'O Canada' As A National Anthem

Our old sparring-partner, the Brantford Expositor, frequently takes a slap at O Canada, and usually on the ground that nobody appears to be able to decide which set of English words should be sung — quite apart from the fact that great numbers of Canadians do not know either version. We agree that O Canada is not particularly satisfactory as a national song, and for musical reasons in addition to the literary ones set forth by our contemporary.

The tune of O Canada is not bad, but neither is it really good. Like so many tunes, it starts off well—even nobly—but quickly relapses into several bars of pedestrian stuff. The ending is effective, but it needs a choir of trained singers to produce the right effect. It demands more sustained power than the average audience at a public meeting can give it. And, finally, the tune is too long. Like Le Marseillaise and The Star Spangled Banner, it is longer and harder than a song for the widest possible public use can afford to be.

The excellent beginning of O Canada may be owing, as some people say, to its suspicious resemblance to the opening of one of Mozart's choruses in The Magic Flute. Certainly the grandeur of the first four bars is not sustained.

In the fullness of time Canada may have a really great national song, but we must not be impatient; many a nation has made its reputation before it has made its great song. Meanwhile O Canada serves its purpose adequately, and will continue to do so if we do not try to canonize it by making it a national anthem.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The temperature in Los Angeles soared on Christmas Day to 84 degrees. The resident angels of that city gave warm Christmas greetings.

Is it respect for or fear of the arm of the law which induces people to refer to all policemen as "officers"? A police captain is an officer, a constable is not. However, the next time we get a ticket for parking overtime we shall probably say to the constable: "But, Officer. . . ."

It's shocking what they send by freight and express these days. A "Vampire Jet" arrived in Toronto for uncrating. That "Vampire" is not as horrible as it sounds—it is a plane for the R.C.A.F. But the express men must have proper shudders when they are called on to deliver from Chalk River, Ontario, heavy parcels labelled "Deliver Promptly". Those parcels are likely to contain radioactive isotopes, which are 'atoms with tail lights'. The admonition to deliver promptly is probably unnecessary.

Who Will Save The Marshall Plan ?

By LELAND STOWE

THE question is not what the Marshall Plan can do, or when it may be voted. The question is how to keep Congress from reducing ERP to an impotent, useless skeleton of its original self. Who is going to prevent Congress from handing all Europe to the Communists on a platter? Who will save the Marshall Plan, and can it possibly be done by blowing on a penny whistle once a week? This is the real and biggest question of 1948.

I am scared and getting more scared. Washington correspondents insist the European Recovery Program faces a bitter, uncertain future in Congress. Millions of Americans — probably a considerable majority — still have no conception of the absolute necesity for large-scale U.S. aid, if western Europe is to remain a free society. On this issue millions of decent Americans are confused, questioning and haunted by fear that Uncle Sam may be "played for a sucker" once more.

AS an idea the Marshall Plan is an all-purpose bulldozer. Give this bulldozer some $17,000,000,000 worth of lubricants and materials, plus a four-year contract, and the amount of reconstruction it can achieve in western Europe would certainly be tremendous. The ERP bulldozer is the only positive and impressive instrument in postwar foreign affairs which the Truman administration has produced. Yet any bulldozer with utterly insufficient gasoline for its assigned job must represent little more than wasted effort. Unless the Truman administration is smart enough and alert enough to provide the necessary gasoline, then the bulldozer of the Marshall Plan will cough to a standstill or bungle its job through constant stalling.

Suppose Congress makes this happen. A halfway-ERP would in many ways be worse than none. It would give the Communists powerful weapons to win control of western Europe. It would put vast numbers of despairing Europeans under the influence of Soviet-Communist propaganda. It would eventually doom nations like France and Italy to totalitarian domination, Left or Rignt. It would also transform millions of tionists or extreme nationalists. As Hitler understood so well, people always prefer to blame someone else for their own missed opportunities and failures.

Suppose the Marshall Plan bulldozer is crippled by Congress. The opponents of ERP are notably consistent in refusing to face the very situation which they propose to create. They make no effort to answer this undodgeable question. If there is no Marshall Plan, or only an emasculated and half-way one, where will this leave the American nation? What would the resultant situation do to the American people?

THIS is a highly important part of what the Truman administration ought to be telling us now. It would be downright folly for the administration to wait until the economy-minded, anti-European axemen of Congress have slashed ERP down to a skeleton before putting the realities before the nation. Worse than that, it would be a complete abdication of leadership in Washington. A bulldozer is no more superb as a positive instrument than the gasoline to make it run. It is the Truman administration's job to make certain that its big-time machine is good for something more than display in an electoral show-window—and by next November, no good even for that.

So suppose Washington fails to sell the Marshall Plan to the American public. And suppose only a "snort-and-stall" version gets approved by Congress. Where do the American taxpayers, go from there?

Any intelligent newspaperman, trained in world affairs, can figure out some of the inevitable consequences. Western Europe will sink into joblessness, despair and violence. Its free parliamentary systems will be gradually destroyed. Communist domination of virtually all of Europe, save for a few meaningless small islands, would be assured. Alongside this, by cutting down the Marshall Plan, American taxpayers might save eight or ten billion dollars for the moment.

BUT in the meantime Europe would be lost to democracy. Meanwhile any mentionable U.S. trade with Europe would be lost for years to come. Meanwhile a steady decline in American production and prosperity would set in. Gradually, the United States would be reduced to an isolated "island of democracy". And having lost most of Europe to Communist totalitarianism, for what kind of national defence arppopriations would America's Senator Butlers be voting here at home?

They could not possibly remain at a mere $13,000,000,000 per year, as now. Of course, the alarmed Air, Army and Navy leaders would be demanding gigantic additional expenditures. The $8,000,000,000 which Congress might "save" on the Marshall Plan this winter would be more than eaten up in "emergency" defence expenditures in the single year of 1950 or 1951. For every dollar American taxpayers supposely "saved" on the Marshall Plan (according to the Butlers) they would soon be spending three or five or more dollars for armaments. To my mind this is the only alternative to ERP—an unescapable alternative.

THIS is only one among many vital reasons for a four-year, full-bodied ERP. Both on defence savings and in recovering American foreign trade the Marshall Plan has tremendous selling points. Leaders in the Truman administration know the facts. Secretary Marshall himself knows plenty of them. But who is trying to sell the American people the Marshall Plan? And who is going to save the Marshall Plan without selling it?

EVEN THE GODS GROW WEARY

World Government

(By HAROLD NICOLSON IN THE LONDON SPECTATOR)

LORD Russell admitted that there were many serious people who regarded the idea of world government as an Utopian illusion. "Why, therefore," he asked, "should I discuss it?" "Because," he answered, "I should rather like the human race to survive." I enjoy discussions about world government even as I enjoy watching great banks of clouds massing themselves against the sunset. But here was a noted philsopher, a trained logician, about to tackle this unreality. I listened entranced. Lord Russell began by saying that world government could only be achieved by three means, namely, consent, compulsion or a federation of the right-minded nations. Consent was impossible, since it would be blocked by the veto of the Great Powers. Compulsion was undesirable, since it would mean a third world war. The only solution therefore was a union between all good nations, whose united action should be "vigorous, imaginative and quick." Up to that point he had compelled my emotional and intellectual consent. But he then suggested that the good nations, having achieved their federation and thereby overwhelming physical and economic power, should go to the bad nations and say to them, "Either you join our world government or we shall compel you to do so by force." In other words, he suggested that in the last resort compulsion would be the only means. This suggestion shocked some of the good liberals present. Lord Russell knew that he had shocked them. He appealed to them to consider the problem, not in terms of old issues or traditions, but with a full realization of the danger and a larger frame of mind.

◇ ◇ ◇

PENSIVELY we all streamed out into the December afternoon. The implications of Lord Russell's discourse were uncomfortable implications. Should the good nations really use their atomic bomb to coerce the bad nations into accepting a world order? That certainly was a vigorous idea. It was one which I had myself advocated, or implied, in my happy little novel of fifteen years ago. But then comes the awful question as to who is good and who is bad. There exists no tribunal which can decide this problem to the satisfaction of all concerned; it boils down to a simple "we" and a simple "they." Or does it? In this uncertain world of ours we must cling to the absolutes; and they exist. Cruelty and untruthfulness are always wrong, everywhere, absolutely. We can hold by that.

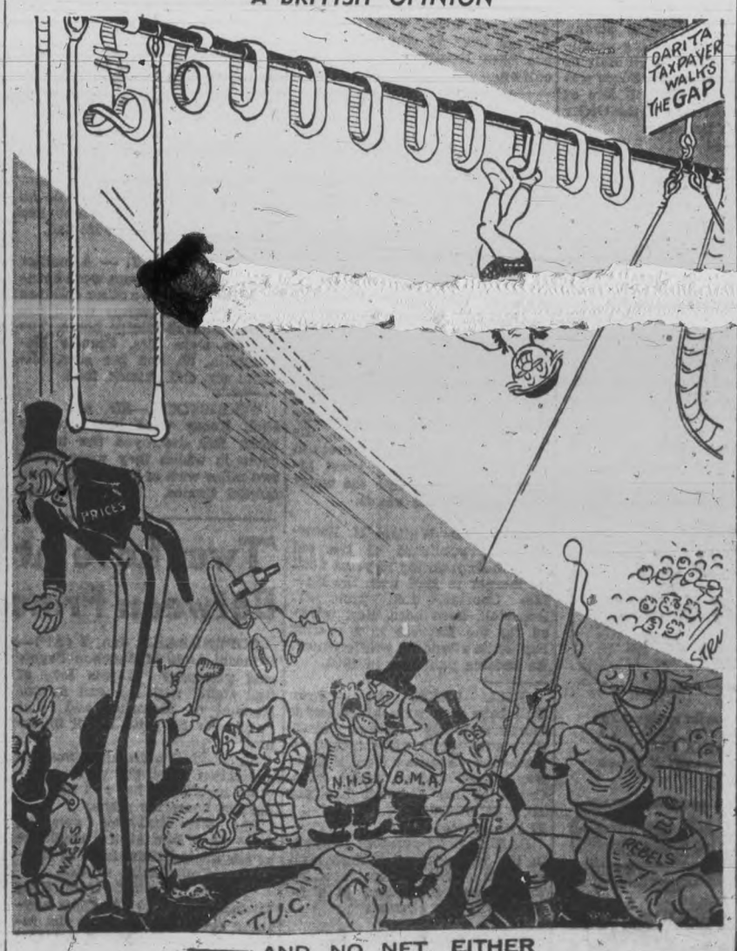
She Knows Her Mind

The method of Mrs. Nancy Hodges, MLA for Victoria (Coalition), in dealing with political rumour is exhibited for the emulation of politicians everywhere, especially male politicians. Mrs. Hodges was dealing with the rumour that she had been offered, or was to be offered, an office in the provincial cabinet.

Mrs. Hodges said, first, she had never been offered a cabinet job. She said, second, she never expected to be offered a cabinet job. She said, third, that if nevertheless she were offered a cabinet job, she would refuse without qualification. Also, said Mrs. Hodges, she hadn't asked anybody for a cabinet job either.—Vancouver Province.

Whale Meat

During the last week in November 1,695 cases of whale meat, each containing 48 one-pound tins, were awaiting despatch from Wellington to Great Britain. The tins were labelled "ocean steak", and there is no lack of demand. The whales were taken from the Cook Strait area by the Tory Channel whaling fleet.—New Zealand News.



CAUSE AND EFFECT

The baby car was speeding along the road, but every fifty yards or so it would hop a few feet into the air and then rush on again. At last a puzzled policeman halted the car.

"Am I crazy or is there something wrong with your car?" he asked.

"The car's all right," said the driver. "It's me. I've got the hic-coughs."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever. . . .To him which divided the Red sea into parts: for his mercy endureth for ever: and made Israel to pass through the midst of it: for his mercy endureth for ever. . . .To him which led his people through the wilderness: for his mercy endureth for ever. Then spake the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not thy peace: for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in his city.

And he continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them. (Acts 18: 1, 4, 7, 9-11.)

Students Vote To Affiliate With IUS Group

WINNIPEG, Jan. 2 — (CP)— Heated controversy marked final approval given a recommendation that the National Federation of Canadian University Students affiliate with the Red-tinged International Union of Students, based at Prague, as the 11th annual convention closed Wednesday.

Sixty-five delegates, representing 21 Canadian universities, endorsed committee recommendations, among them affiliation with the I.U.S. Canada will withdraw in two years unless political and religious controversies, said Communist inspired, are eliminated from the union.

The resolution was presented by Livingstone of Vancouver, but was called "defeatist in tone" by Gordon McLean of Ottawa. Mr. McLean, representing Toronto University, said that "here you are figuring out ways to get out of the I.U.S. and even steps you will take once you are out before you even affiliate."

The delegates had voted to campaign for creation of a proper world student body pending failure of the I.U.S. to satisfy Canada.

Given Trial

Jean F. Pellitier of Laval University said in defence of the motion that the conference "as not trying to cover up the fact that I.U.S. is Communist-dominated" but the I.U.S. is the only international student body in the world and should be given a trial. Understanding of Communists might develop.

Vote on the measure was 14-4, with the Universities of Saskatchewan, Alberta, St. Francis Xavier and McMaster opposed. Delegates from three other colleges, St. Dunstan's Charlottetown; Oka, Latrappe, Bishop's, Lennoxville, P.Q., had left for their homes before the resolution was submitted.

Robert H. Harwood of the University of British Columbia was named federation president and delegates voted to hold the next annual meeting at McMaster University in Hamilton.

Grant Livingstone was named head of the delegation to be sent to the I.U.S. convention at Prague next year and delegates also approved establishment of a Dominion inter-collegiate athletic union with unified rules and player regulations.

Black Hawks Don't Win But Prove Fighting Club

By EDGAR SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Chicago Black Hawks didn't win any games for their new coach over the New Year's holiday, but they certainly convinced Charlie Conacher that he had a fighting club behind him for the rest of the National League season.

The last-place Hawks got nowhere in the league standings, dropping their seventh and eighth games of the season to Detroit Red Wings in as many starts. Their 4-0 loss to the second-place Wings in Detroit was decorous enough as the boys apparently were in a New Year's Eve mood of cordiality. But the chances are the Detroiters will remember what happened in Chicago last night.

Detroit won the game 4-1, after a wild and woolly first period that featured a spirited Donnybrook out of which Detroit's Jack Stewart, and Pete Horeck and Hawks' Gaye Stewart (no relation) and Johnny Mariucci drew 10-minute misconduct penalties in the single frame, including one to Detroit goalie Harry Lumley.

Little Change

League standings underwent litle change as a result of the five games played. Detroit picked up two points on the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs, who edged Montreal Canadiens 2-1 in Toronto last night. Boston Bruins lost to the Rangers 7-3 in New York on New Year's Eve, then handed the New Yorkers a 4-1 beating in Boston 24 hours later.

Last night's victory by Bruins, in the throes of a lengthy slump, was doubly welcome as it boosted them into undisputed possession of fourth place, two points ahead of the Canadiens. Defenceman Murray Henderson paved the way with two goals, Rookie Ed Sandford and Woody Dumart getting the others. Buddy O'Connor averted a shutout for the Rangers.

It was a different story Wednesday night, as just about everyone who owned a blue sweater shared in the scoring harvest with Boston's usually capable Frankie Brimsek having an off-night in the Bruin nets. Frank Eddolls, Neil Colville, Bill Moe, Ed Slowinski, Cal Gardner, Don Raleigh, and Bryan Hextall got the goals. Dumart, Johnny Quilty and Pete Babando replied for the losers.

Misses Shutout.

Red-headed Jimmy Conacher was the only Detroit player to emerge with two goals—one in each of the club's two games. Leo Reise, Fern Gauthier, and Gord Howe also contributed to the New Year's Eve party in Detroit, while the Lindsay, Syd Abel and while Ted Lindsay, Syd Abel and Don Morrison found the range in the Chicago game. Bill Mosienko was the lone Hawk to flash the light, turning the trick late in the final period of the second contest.

Turk Broda, still out in front in the Vezina Trophy race, just missed a shutout in Toronto, as Montreal defenceman Glen Harmon pushed a puck past the pudgy Leaf netminder in the final minute of play after Vic Lynn and Max Bentley put the locals in front.

Broda's goals against record stands as 68—four less than that of Detroit's Lumley.

St. Paul Blasts Omaha Knights In 10-1 Win

By The Associated Press

Minneapolis and Houston still top the United States Hockey League's northern and southern divisions after threats to their positions last night, but their leads remain slim.

St. Paul blasted out a 10-1 victory over Omaha to continue to trail Minneapolis by a point as the Millers won at Kansas City 7-4.

Fort Worth disappointed a home crowd and saw a five-game winning streak broken when Tulsa won 5-2 in a southern division game. The Fort Worth loss left the Rangers two points behind the idle Houston club.

Hershey Bears Record Double Holiday Win

By The Canadian Press

Hershey Bears started the New Year right, displaying some of their early season form that carried them to the top of the American Hockey League's eastern division in November, now firmly held by the Providence Reds.

Bears were the only team in the A.H.L. to pull off a double holiday triumph, downing Springfield Indians twice, 3-2 and 9-4.

Cleveland's revamped Barons staged a double upset, tripping the western leaders, Pittsburgh, 3-1 and tying the same Hornets 2-2.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Bill (Kid) Gleason, big-league baseball star in the '80s, died at Philadelphia, 15 years ago today. He joined Philadelphia Phillies in the National League in 1888 as a pitcher. Later he became second baseman and coach.

SOMETHING EXTRA — Howie Meeker (15) of the Maple Leafs, calls the turn on Rangers' Tony Leswick (18) by dumping him unceremoniously during fracas on ice at Madison Square Garden. Both combatants received penalties and Leswick returned to the game with a bandaged head. It happened in New York last Saturday.

Let's see, how do we start off the new year. With work, of course, so let's clear off the desk. There's the men's City Bowling League. Looks like Fashion-Crafts are still rolling high and will be tough to shake of that top rung during this second half of their schedule. This week they led in pinnage with 3888 and a top single of 1473. With Bill Martin again having high triple of 938 and leading single of 389. He has the best average to date in this race with an impressive 258 mark for 48 games and his squad has a 12-point lead over the next rival. Nice rolling.

An item from Hamilton the other day indicates the merry and mad pro matmen are still producing excitement. They grapple at the municipal swimming pool in Hamilton with the ring bridged over the shallow end of the pool. Well, it seems the Masked Marvel and Mike Sharpe—no strangers here—went to a disputed draw. A soldier tried foolishly to take a poke at the Mask as he left and the crowd surged around on the catwalks over three feet of water. They gave way and about 100 men, women and children were dunked. The Marvel meandered off but Mike helped pull out the dampened fans, who had to go home in taxis—a few waiting around in dressing rooms in underwear till other clothing arrived. Some fun, eh?

Vets Versus Legion

Legionnaires open their OHA senior "B" season at 8.30 tonight in Lindsay, playing the classy Belleville Vets. The Vets beat 'em earlier in a keen exhibition but this time it's for keeps and Ned Vitarelli's bolstered band should give the boys of Bella Villa a right busy evening on Scugog ice. The four Nichols of 'Cageon and a couple of other newcomers will give Legion that new look this semester and they promise to be plenty potent. No doubt, this opener will pack in a big crowd of Peterborough, Lindsay and district fans.

Church Puck Loop schedules are in tonight, the three sections prying off the w.k. lid on Monday e'en. Seniors, midgets, and bantams each have a twin bill to start things rolling as the week opens. Some 20 squads aboard with the emphasis on the younger sections, which is a good sign for the future of hockey here. They stage their games in the evenings at Riverside, Bonner-Worth and King Edward rinks, winding up their schedules in about a month to permit plenty of time, in case of postponements, for good playoff series. Hope they have a fine season.

IOOF Must Take Bye

Junior "B" Oddfellows are stymied out of their OHA schedule but will get a bye into group semi-finals, meantime playing a number of exhibition games. Petes have promised them a couple, and Port Hope intermediates and several junior clubs. So they may be better off in the long run. They feel Norwood were rough on 'em by cancelling at the last minute a verbal agreement for a night a week, thereby keeping them out of the schedule. Port Hope was most helpful but it came a bit late—though they'll have some exhibition and later playoff games there. The "B" teams in the group are: Danforth, Whitby, Oshawa and IOOF. Locals will drill tonight, Saturday and again Monday, and then the team will be picked.

The OMHA shortly will issue a summary of conditions for its first annual award for outstanding contributions to minor hockey. The bulletin points out that no bodychecking in the centre area is [illegible] this association from juvenile down. It also states that [illegible] be allowed a "B" entry in juvenile, midget and bantam provided four-team city loops are operated in each and no bolstering is done. Lists must be in to the OMHA secretary before Jan. 15 or the rating will be jacked up to an "A" one. The PMHA has enough teams in but only one night a week—at Lakefield—for play in a covered rink. The minors may have to stage some games yet on one of the outdoor city rinks.

Concerning Cagers

Only one basketball tilt here this week-end, a men's hoop exhibition between Marines and some college cagers home on holidays. These include: Morris Richardson of Queen's and Jack Matthews of western, both PCVS stars in 1946-47; Tip Taylor of Ajax, Bill Harle of McGill, Ken Gillespie of McMaster, Rocky Kidd—last year with Marines and now of Varsity—and Orm Weir, who has been with Queen's seniors the past three years. Game is at eight tomorrow eve in the YMCA. The girl basketeers don't resume till Jan. 9 and the COSSA schedules won't commence till Jan. 16.

Fashion Crafts Still High In City League

Fashion Craft again showed their superiority in the Men's City Five-Pin League Tuesday night with a four-point win from Shockey's as they rang up high pinnage of 3888 and high single game of 1473.

For the second consecutive week Bill Martin has rolled in high three, last week 956, this week 938 and high single of 389. A head pin in the tenth frame of the third game cost him the season's high three string held by Bill Lewis with 966.

Plazas rolled a neat 3706 to take six points from Grant's as they moved into a tie for second place with Shockey's. King George took Ramblers for four points to stay up with the top five teams.

De Laval had the only other six-point win as they downed Freeman's. Two-game victories were registered by Legion over Sunocos, Kawarthas over Empress Old Timers, McGillis over Spartons and Clapper's over Generals.

Martin was followed for top honors by teammate "Tic" Caccavella 860, Phil Pryde 825, Gene Reynolds 814 and Jack Playford 804.

Jack Mackness took second place behind Martin in the high singles with 347 followed by Phil Pryde 339, Gene Reynolds 336, Maurice Caccavella 334, Bill Miller 329, Tic Caccavella 323, Walt Crary 323, Carl Palmer 319, Bill Masters 316, Jack Playford 310, Bill Lewis 305.

The first six teams are as follows: Fashion Craft 76, Shockey's 64, Plazas 64, Ramblers 62, King George 54, Kawarthas 53.

Bill Martin leads the high average race with a fine average of 258 for 48 games.

Believe Locke Threat In Los Angeles Open

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Heightened by the presence of a real foreign threat in the person of South Africa's Bobby Locke, the annual Los Angeles open golf tournament gets under way today over the Riviera Country Club course for a $10,000 purse.

With Ben Hogan the defending champion, Riviera's 7,000-yard layout, which will also be the site of the 1948 United States national open, offered a good test for a field of shotmakers numbering the country's best.

Locke was paired in the opening round of 18 holes with Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles, former national open champion, and Johnny Dawson of Hollywood, runner-up to Skee Reigel for the 1947 national amateur title.

200 GOALERS — There are 16 players in all National Hockey League history who have scored 200 or more goals and of these only one, Toe Blake of the Montreal Canadiens, is still an active player. Toe, whose full name is Hector, got his nickname during his youth when his infant brother, attempting to pronounce Hector came up with something that sounded like "Hec-toe." Soon it became the fashion to call Blake "Toe," and the nick-name has stuck throughout the years.

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, Jan. 2.—(CP).—Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott, world and European amateur figure-skating champion, now is a cover girl.

A full-length color action shot of Canada's ice queen appears on the cover of this month's issue of "World Sports," official magazine of the British Olympic Association, a big seller on the British market. In the same issue she is picked to win the Olympic title.

Barbara Ann, now in hard training at Davos, Switzerland, is the choice of Aphne Walker, former British champion and now a professional with an ice revue at a reported salary of £100 ($400) weekly. And Daphne, who should know, has some mighty nice things to say about the Canadian girl.

In a 500-word article on Barbara Ann, the British skater says that "short of something totally unforseen, I full expect to see the Olympic figure-skating title go to Canada, crowning the triumphs of a very fine skater.

Highly Rated

"Personally, I rate Miss Scott's chances at St. Moritz highly. Last year, her closest competitors at Davos and Stockholm for the European and world titles were Gretchen Merrill of the United States and myself. Fine skater though Gretchen is, I do not expect her to reverse her position."

"Canada has produced a star who has achieved the world fame that goes wtih supreme excellence" and "by world standards she is certainly Canada's number one athlete of the moment," Miss Walker said. "When one adds the fact that she is a young girl and a pretty one, one can easily understand the extraordinary regard in which she is held in Canada."

Vancouver Ahead

VANCOUVER, Jan. 2—(CP).—Vancouver Blue Bombers will have an eight-point advantage tomorrow when they trot out against Hamilton Tigers in the second of the two-game, total-point series for the Dominion junior football championship. They defeated the easterners 13-5 in the first game New Year's.

Tee to Hack

By HERB MARTIN

Now that the holiday season is over — and we hope everybody had a good time—let's get back to the ordinary run of curling.

Tonight we pick up the men's schedule where it left off on Dec. 19. The seven o'clock draw calls for Group No. 2, and at nine o'clock Group No. 3 will go into action.

A number of the lady curlers are motoring to Toronto over the week-end to play at the Granite Curling Club. It is for the Robertson Trophy. Included in the party are Mrs. H. Dunnage, Mrs. O. M. Steer, Mrs. T. Doughty, Mrs. H. R. Martin, Mrs. R. Turner, Miss H. Munro, Mrs. H. Scott, and Mrs. D. Lawrie.

Now how about an entry for the big open bonspiel—Jan. 12 to Jan. 16. So far we have rinks entered from Kingston, Oshawa, Toronto Granite, Bracebridge, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay and Peterborough. We need many more. Choose your own day on which you prefer to play—but be sure and make an entry.

Tomorrow's program is:
2.00 p.m.—Men's bonspiel.
7.30 p.m.—Mixed rink bonspiel.
Both 'spiels are drawn from the board.

Guelph Edges Stratford Kroehlers 5-3

By The Canadian Press

Bill Sherry's master-minding may give Guelph something yet. The ex-Hamilton Tiger who took over the Biltmores a few weeks ago saw his charges move into 8th place last night by overcoming the fifth-place Stratford Kroehlers 5-3 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A fixture at Galt.

Happ Emms' Barrie Flyers strengthened their hold on third-place with a 7-4 decision over the fourth-place Galt Rockets at Barrie, and the league-leading Windsor Spitfires swamped Ed Wildey's last - place Toronto Young Rangers 12-3 at Windsor in last night's third junior game.

There were no senior games scheduled.

A breakdown in communications due to a storm in Western Ontario held up results on the Windsor game last night.

Guelph led 2-0 in the first frame, were ahead 4-3 in the second period and scored the lone tally in the final stanza.

Lorne Ferguson and Neil Gordon were Biltmores' big guns with two goals each. Ron Plumb sank the other. Stratford's three counters came from George Armstrong, all in the second period.

Keep 'Em Busy

At Barrie the Flyers built up a four-goal lead before Galt got in the game with three goals within 10 minutes of the second period. Flyers banged in three more in the last 20 minutes to Rockets' one.

Gil St. Pierre scored two goals to lead Barrie marksmen. Barrie's other counters went to Bill Barrett, Paul Meger, Stan Long, Gerry Reid and Ray Gariepy. Lyle Gibson scored twice for Galt while Harry Hopper and Sam Mulholland tallied one each.

Windsor's victory was their 18th in 21 tries. Young Rangers suffered their 18th loss in 20 starts.

The fifth-place Owen Sound Mercurys visit the top-place Toronto Marlboros in a senior tilt at Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens tonight. Brant Redmen visit Hamilton Patricias and Hamilton Tigers go to Stratford.

Oshawa Generals visit St. Catharines Teepees in tonight's lone slated junior fixture.

Michigan Blanks California In 49-0 Triumph

By BOB GRUBB

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 — (AP). — Michigan's thumping 49-0 Rose Bowl victory over Southern California re-kindled the fire today under the hottest argument of the 1947 college football season.

Notre Dame's unbeaten and untied fighting Irish were voted the outstanding team of the year in The Associated Press' final poll of sports writers, but the Michigan adherents point to yesterday's victory at Pasadena in laying claim to at least a share of the mythical collegiate championship of the United States.

"Mythical" must remain the word ford it, for the Wolverines have clearly established that they come as close as possible to sharing the throne with the Irish—if a co-championship could settle any feuds.

Fritz Crisler's champions, by completely [illegible] the west coast standard-bearers by the most lopsided score in modern Rose Bowl history, eclipsed the 38-7 drubbing Notre Dame handed USC last Dec. 6.

All-American Bob Chappuis sparked the Wolverines to their greatest success, registering a total of 279 yards running and passing for what is believed to be a modern individual record.

None of the other New Year's Day contests ended on such a decisive note as the Pasadena spectacle, but most of them lived up to advance billings in offering money's worth entertainment. An estimated half-million spectators sat in on the score or more post-season offerings, with Pasadena's 93,000 turnout tops for the day.

The clash of two unbeaten teams before 47,000 in Dallas' Cotton Bowl saw Penn State's Nittany Lions come charging back from a 13-0 deficit at the hands of Southern Methodists' Mustangs to gain a 13-13 tie. The Mustangs' Doak Walker justified his all-American reputation by figuring in both SMU touchdowns and otherwise engineering the Mustang's stategy.

TCA Extended Routes In 1947

By W. F. ENGLISH
Vice-President,
Trans-Canada Air Lines

Adding more than 1,200 miles to its routes, extending to six cities not hitherto served, shortening the transcontinental line, increasing the number of intercity an drans-Atlantic flights, enlarging its fleet and opening new ticket offices, Trans-Canada Air Lines continued to expand in 1947. More than 16,250,000 miles were flown; passenger traffic increased by 50 per cent over 1946 and air cargo volume by 35 per cent. On the other hand, mail loads were only slightly larger and this factor, added to heavily increased operating expenses, due not only to the expansion program but to rising costs of materials and higher wage rates, had an adverse effect on the company's net earnings.

The opening, on July 1, of the new line between Toronto and Winnipeg across Lake Huron to Sault Ste. Marie and across Lake Superior to Port Arthur-Fort William considerably shortened the transcontinental line. The full effect in time-saving in flights between the cities of Eastern Canada and the United States and those of the West will be felt next year when the North Star four-engined aircraft go into service across Canada. With the opening of another new line across the prairies last summer, not only was Edmonton drawn closer to Winnipeg and the East but Saskatoon was added to the cities served by TCA. Service in the West was further improved by the inclusion of Swift Current and Medicine Hat in a daily rtanscontinental schedule and a daily flight between Calgary and Medicine Hat. In Northern Ontario Kapuskasing, Porquis and North Bay are linked with Toronto by three round trips a week.

In April, TCA extended from Halifax to Boston, with intermediate stops at Saint John and Yarmouth. There are now eight United States cities on the air line, the other seven being New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Duluth, Seattle, Detroit and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

It was in April, too, that the new Canadian-built aircraft, the four-engined North Star, made its inaugural flight across the Atlantic. The larger aircraft—each has accommodation for 40 passengers—increased the airline's carrying capacity; yet a daily flight across the ocean in each direction did not always meet the demand during the year and in some weeks as many as eleven round trips were required.

In domestic service, Trans-Canada carried 440,000 passengers in 1947; 2,500,000 pounds of mail, and 1,500,000 pounds of cargo. The last two months of the year are estimated. Over the Atlantic, 15,000 passengers were carried; 140,000 pounds of mail, and 230,000 pounds of cargo. Charter flights were operated across the ocean to bring immigrants to Canada; some of this work, under the Ontario government scheme, was let to a sub-contractor.

The Trans-Canada domestic fleet now consists of 30 Douglas transports, each with accommodation for 21 passengers, and 13 Lockheed aircraft. The latter, which are smaller planes, are gradually being taken out of service. Ten were sold this year and the remainder will be disposed of in 1948.

Chipped Dishes Forbidden In Restaurants

Chipped and cracked crockery must be replaced at once in Ottawa restaurants by an order setting the date for action at Jan. 1. It applies to all eating establishments. Under provincial regulations owners of restaurants are liable to legal action for using chipped or broken crockery.

These regulations have been in effect since October. Dr. H. D. Sparks, chief inspector of foods for the health department, invites the co-operation of the public in reporting any instances in which this ordinance is being neglected. He explained that the rough edges of chipped crockery made it possible for germs to collect there.

Sanitary Inspector R. M. MacPherson said today that examination of cafe crockery, and also hotel, is one of the routine jobs of the health department.

"Crockery has been one of the scarce articles in recent years," he said. "For a time it was just about off the market entirely, so we were inclined to be a little lenient for that reason. Our practice is to make special checks from time to time. We also ask proprietors not to keep any cracked ware. In most instances they comply. When we go through the crockery bins we pick out defective plates, cups and saucers and throw them out for garbage collection."

Girl Abducted

LINDSAY, Jan. 2 — (CP). — Police today investigated a report from Noble Wright that his daughter was abducted by three men in a car New Year's Eve and freed within a few minutes after one of them remarked: "This is not the girl we want."

The girl told her father that the men taped her mouth and tied her legs after forcing her into the car. She was freed in the downtown business section.

Are reminded of the meeting Monday, January 5th. Presentation of jewels and third degree.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

BORN NEW YEAR'S DAY

Timothy Garvey, pensioner of the Quaker Oats Company who lives on Hazlitt St., observed his 72nd birthday on New Year's Day. His son Emmett also had a birthday yesterday, as did a grandson of Mr. Garvey's who lives in Campbellford.

HUNGRY SQUIRRELS

Ashburnham residents report a family of red squirrels foraging in the back yards for food. The squirrels scamper over fir trees on lawns, seeking buds worth nibbling, but so far have not done so well. They are now being fed by kindly housewives.

CUSTOMS FIGURES UP

Customs officials disclosed that customs receipts for this December were some $60,000 more than the comparable month last year. Receipts for December, 1946, were $339,328.85 for December, 1947, $401,193.94. Record month this year, and for the last several years, was November, when the figure of $427,883.90 was reached.

SNOW BULGES

The near-gale that whipped snow out of the north-east last night, created serried ridges of snow overhanging the eaves of stores on the east side of eGorge street. The bulges, menacing in appearance to the pedestrians were removed by agile workmen this morning before they had time to become ice-encrusted.

WELCOME HOME

Stewart Curry, senior clerk at Pratten Hardware is back in the city and should be able to return to work within a few weeks. He has been ill since the last week in August, and had an unusual operation in a Toronto hospital performed by a specialist from New Yock. Mr. Curry appears to be well on the way to complete recovery.

WARNING TO PARENTS

Parents of small children living in the New Romaine, Lundy's Lane and Monaghan road section might be well-advised to check and see if their offspring are sneaking rides on the rear of city buses. A traveller reported he saw six small children grab the rear bumper of a south-bound bus and slide for more than a block. There is grave danger they may be injured when the bus increases its speed, and also they are menaced by cars which would be following the bus.

VERANDAH REFLECTIONS

Front verandahs and steps reflected difference in domestic atmosphere and personality in their appearance along about 9 a.m. today. Many of them had not seen a footstep, either outbound or in. The snow lay just where it had blown during the night. Others were shovelled and swept out to the street line, suggesting a rule of order within that made no concessions to such liberties as long holidays, and sleeping hours into the daylight.

BIRDS GO HUNGRY

Friday morning's heavy fall of snow disrupted the routine of many humans. But to the hardy sparrows it was more than an inconvenience, for the white blanket covers a substantial source of food. Early morning pedestrians on Brock street were able to observe at least one elderly lady clearing a space in the snow to give the birds some crumbs. Apparently she felt this was more important than clearing her walk.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

There was a slight commotion among Club Aragon guests on New Year's Eve when a call came from the loud speaker, "Is there a doctor in the house?" A woman among the midnight celebrants had fainted and was being carried to the door. On the advice of friends an ambulance was called to take the patient to the hospital, from which she had recently been discharged.

HERE WE ARE—Young arrivals at St. Joseph's Hospital set some sort of record on January 1, when four boys and two girls greeted the world with squalls, the first, baby boy Welch at 1.45 a.m. and the last one, baby boy Castle at 7.10 p.m. The group of Peterborough's newest citizens shown are, Left to Right, boys Castle and Ralph, girls Parliament and Monahan, and boys Poirier and Welch. Master Welch weighed ten pounds. They are being held by student nurses H. McDonald, T. Lucas and I. Howard.

School Trustees Returned By Acclamation

Separate school trustees were elected by acclamation for two year terms at the ratepayers' meeting Wednesday at St. Peter's School. They are: Monaghan ward, Raymond Collet, Jr.; south, Victor Mattucci; west, Dr. J. R. Epping; north, R. S. Hull; centre, W. H. Toal; Ashburnham, Martin J. Roche.

The six trustees who have still one year left of their two-year terms are: Monaghan, W. J. Grady; south, Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. J. O'Brien; west, J. G. McCarney; north, M. F. Doris; centre, Rev. P. P. Butler; Ashburnham, Arthur Primeau.

Secretary of the board is John Black.

Four Boys, Two Girls Born In Hospital New Year's Day

While the majority of people were partying New Year's Eve in a spirit of carefree abandon, at least six prospective fathers whiled away the passage of time by pacing the corridor at St. Joseph's Hospital and furiously smoking cigarettes down to black stubbs. They had more important things to think of than revelry.

Civic Hospital records show not a single birth Jan. 1, but St. Joseph's ushered six new Peterborough residents into the world. So far as is known, the first baby born locally in 1948 was at 1.45 a.m.—a son to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Welch, 140 Park St.

The next five names to be entered on this year's birth calendar included a son to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ralph, 225 Carlisle Ave., at 2 a.m.; a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Parliament, 756 Brown St., at 2.20 a.m.; a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Monahan, Young's Point, at 3.15 a.m.; a son to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Poirier, 304 Brock St., at 7.20 a.m.; a son to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Castle, 789 Water St., at 7.10 p.m.

Officer Delayed

LINDSAY, Jan. 2.—(ENS). — The hearing of charges of armed roberry against Reginold Floody and George Shullman of Oshawa, slated for this morning, will not get under way until noon. Provincial Constable MacDonald of Aurora, who was in on the capture of the pair, is on his way to Lindsay to act as a Crown witness but has telephoned he is stuck in a snow drift near Sunderland but will be here shortly. The two youths are charged with the armed robbery of Byrnell's grocery store, Queen St. They are said to have escaped with approximately $70.

Five Candidates

Mentioned for the wardenship of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham are Jay Whittington of South Monaghan, Melville Wright of Seymour, Arthur Wartman of Percy, Alex Stevens of Haldimand and Leonard Gordon of Colborne. The wardenship swings back to Northumberland this year, and will be decided at the opening of the first sessions, Jan. 20.

Storm Blocks Lindsay Roads

LINDSAY, Jan. 2.—(ENS). — The heavy storm which swept through the district last night left the majority of roads and highways leading into Lindsay open and the majority of busses are running.

The Toronto highway No. 7 west from Lindsay, is one of the exceptions and is blocked near Sunderland but is expected to be open shortly. The highway to Orillia, which passed through Sunderland, is also blocked but is also expected to be cleared shortly. All other main arteries are open but heavy and necessitates slow travelling. Some of the township roads are blocked and a few people were marooned away from home but the drifts were not so bad thta they could not make their way to nearby farm homes.

In the town the board of works employees are out in full force and a high wall of snow has been piled up in the centre of Kent St. forming a boulevard. Everywhere residents are out shovelling off walks and welcoming the first heavy snow of the New Year.

MORE EASY MONEY

It might have been a desire to bolster the Christmas budget, but Ken Wyatt took the easy way of making money just before the Yule season. He collected $50 for a suggestion at the C.G.E. Co. He works in the Plastics department. K. C. LeVasseur of the Punch Press department gathered in $35 and W. C. (Pete) Clegg of the Tool Room added $28 to his bankroll.

SALES CLIMBING

Total of returns from the sale of Christmas seals as reported this morning is $3,495.56. This was the revenue up to Dec. 31, and there should be a substantial gain during the next week, because the pressure of Christmas buying will have eased.

Breaks Glasses Bumps Head As Cars Collide

When cars owned by Arthur Green, 62 Dunlop St., and John Shirk, 584 Bolivar St., collided Wednesday night at Park Hill Road just west of the bridge, total damage was estimated at more than $200. Mrs. Thomas Hamilton, a passenger in Green's auto, received a bump on the head, and her glasses were smashed.

Police say Green was driving west on Park Hill Road, crossed the bridge and pulled into the centre of the road to avoid a car parked on the north side of the street. Shirk was travelling east and pulled out to avoid a parked car on the south side of the street about a car length down the street from the other parked auto on the opposite side.

There was not enough room for two cars to pass and they collided. Shirk's left front fender was damaged and total estimated cost was $15. Damage to Green's car included the left rear door, fender, wheel and running board. It was estimated to be approximately $200.

No-parking signs are posted on the south side of the street. Police said the road was very slippery at the scene of the accident.

HEADED THE POLLS

Leonard M. Reilly, partner in the local firm of Hayward-Reilly Construction Company headed the polls as alderman in Ward 9, Toronto city election. Mr. Reilly made his debut last year and was elected, and his stewardship apparently received a heavy endorsement from the electors in that section of the Queen City.

Gas Now 40 Cents 2nd Grade 38; Price Up 2 Cents

It is going to cost just a little bit more to run the family car as of today when Imperial Oil of Toronto announced the prices on gasoline and fuel oils have been increased two cents per gallon across Canada. A survey of the situation in the city showed that dispensers of all brands had fallen into line, except one, who had not heard about it nor been notified of any change.

The price range in Peterborough this morning is as follows: Grade one gas 40 cents, grade two 38, stove oil 21, fuel oil 18, and naphtha 49½ cents. The main supply depot of fuel oils would not comment on the stocks but it was gathered that they are comfortably high.

Many Delegates At Convention

The annual New Year's convention of the Apostolic Church (In Canada) is now in progress at the Elim Tabernacle, Simcoe St. Delegates and speakers from various parts of Ontario and Quebec are present at this convention. Following the watchnight service on New Year's Eve, three services were held on New Year's Day.

An outstanding featurue was an inspiring address by Miss Jean Davies, an Apostolic worker laboring in the Door of Hope Children's Refuge work in Shanghai, China. Miss Davies has served for more than thirty years on the Chinese field. In the course of her remarks she made a challenging appeal to all for prayerful support, and in particular to the younger members of the congregation to dedicate their lives to the missionary cause. In a solemn atmosphere, a goodly percentage of young people from a large audience that was gathered, responded to the appeal. Undoubtedly the effects of this meeting left an indelible impression upon all present.

The meetings are characterized by fervent singing, spiritual devotion and a friendly atmosphere of Christian fellowship. The convention services are continuing over Sunday, January 4.

Following the convention the missionary board and the executive council will meet in conference.

Kennedy Says Canadian Farmers Every Bit As Good As Those In U.S.

TORONTO, Jan. 2.— Agriculture Minister Kennedy yesterday took issue with a Fortune magazine article which said Canadian "farmers could not survive United States competition." The magazine also termed the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph "an inert, inbred political arm of the Provincial Department of Agriculture."

Citing the demand in the United States for Canadian bacon and cheese, Mr. Kennedy said the United States produced "nothing to equal" either Canadian product.

On the ability of the Canadian farmer to withstand United States competition, he commented: "We'd show them, if their markets were open to us."

Asserting that Canadian agricultural methods are "superior" to those of United States farmers, he noted that Canadians consistently win prizes at United States agricultural fairs and that a Canadian won the oats championship at the Chicago international hay and grain show earlier this month.

No Politics

On the score of agricultural education, he flatly denied that OAC is in any way affected by political considerations. On the magazine's charge that Canadian farmers lack the research aid given their United States counterparts, he said Ontario alone this year spent $320,000 on agricultural research.

Mr. Kennedy said OAC was equal to any United States agricultural college and did not suffer from United States colleges, tendency to over-specialize. Before the war, he said, many United States students were enrolled at OAC along with students from South America, South Africa and England. Since the war, he added, OAC has received applications from many United States' students, but has been unable to accept them because the college is crowded with Canadian veterans.

Further, he said, "many State agricultural colleges in the United States have made attractive offers to teachers at OAC." Not many of the Ontario teachers had accepted the United States offers.

A Lot of Hooey

OTTAWA, Jan. 2.— Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of federal experimental farm services, today termed as a "lot of hooey and nonsense" statements that the Canadian farmer is less efficient than the American farmer.

Commenting on an article in the current issue of Fortune Magazine, Dr. Archibald said:

"The Canadian farmer is as efficient as the American farmer in a scientific way and in every other respect."

The article stated that the indifferent position of Canada's agriculture was partly the Dominion's fault. To a far greater extent than was commonly realized, the efficiency of the United States farmer was the result of the superb technical and scientific guidance that he received.

Dr. Archibald said that if Canada was so far behind the United States he wondered why American agricultural institutions "robbed" Canada of agricultural scientists who were educated and trained here.

Orleans Prefers Horse To Car Have Own World

ILE D'ORLEANS, Que., Jan. 2 (CP).—Dobbin and Doggie are kingpins of winter transportation today for the 4,500 permanent inhabitants of Orleans where the open road ends in the 267-year-old parish of St. Pierre, a bare 25-minute ride by automobile from the hustle and noise of Quebec City traffic.

But for the visitor—Islanders occasionally use it, too—there's the novel experience of a journey by snowmobile which skis through drifts over a route marked by maple saplings and sometimes over farmlands, a distance of 42 miles around the island. All of Orlean's six parishes hug the shore of the St. Lawrence.

Here descendants of a handful of Norman settlers who migrated to Canada in the 17th century, live in peaceful harmony, living off the land with their large families, in a world of their own which does not need police to maintain order. There is no crime; not even a temporary jail.

Before the island became linked with the mainland by a suspension bridge in 1933—this is no reflection on city people, they say—no Islander stopped to lock his door before retiring at night.

News Travels

Everyone knows everyone else, and news travels fast from one parish to another by telephone or the four postmen who deliver mail daily by horse-driven cutter. Most of the letters are addressed to families who bear names synonymous with Orleans—Blouin, Gagnon, Lepage, Letourneau and Labbe, who abide there in strength.

Today you can travel around the island without hearing a word of English, except an expression such as "bad lucky" which in some unaccountable manner had crept into the vocabularly of its friendly people. English now is being taught in its schools.

No winter blizzard keeps the children, sturdy and healthy youngsters, from attending classes. They're bundled warmly and dispatched in a horse-driven sleigh. Many of the youngsters—oldsters, too—use dogs and sleds.

Each parish has an oper-air rink for skating and hockey. Skiing is good but apart from the radio which, along with the washing machine, appeared on the island only after electricity was introduced here 10 years ago, there is little entertainment.

AT LEAST THEY COULD BEAR IT — If New York's record-breaking snowstorm brought temporary grief and woe to Manhattan's millions, it was decidedly to the taste of these polar bears in Brooklyn's Prospect Park zoo, who are shown disporting themselves as a result.

Secondary School Teachers Ask $2,000 A Yearly Minimum Pay

TORONTO, Jan. 2 (CP).—Ontario's Secondary School Teachers have gone on record in support of a minimum salary of $2,000 a year.

The Teachers' Federation yesterday approved a resolution "that the minimum salary acceptable to the OSSTF be at least $2,000 and that all members be advised to adhere to it."

The $2,000 figure recently was established as the minimum in Toronto. Allowances for experience and special qualifications increase that sum.

The federation called for critical examination and, if necessary, revision of texts and school courses. It suggested that committees for such work be composed of inspectors and teachers named jointly by the Provincial Education Department and the federation.

Another motion urged reorganization of the first two years of secondary work to provide not only for a further academic or vocational education but also for "a more or less complete, rounded education for those students who leave school at the age of 16.'

Mrs. Hobbs Heads Circle For Second Term

MILLBROOK, Jan. 2—(ENS)—A lovely candle-lighting service featured the opening worship period of the Christmas meeting of the Golden Links Mission Circle, held at the home of Mrs. M. E. Hobbs on Monday evening, with Mrs. H. W. Gray conducting, and about 25 present. Eight candles were on the white-covered table, before the fire-place, with the tallest one lighted, and from this others who lit candles in token of love and friendship for the various nationalities in Canada were Mrs. L. Gibson, Mrs. O. Rowland, Miss Margaret Smith, Mrs. Clifford Wood, Mrs. D. L. Lunn, Mrs. Walter Challace. The whole was interspersed with suitable Christmas carols, Miss Jean Burnham reading an Indian version, Mrs. G. A. spicer singing "O Little One Holy", and Mrs. B. E. Ingham reading "Love came down at Christmas." The leader gave the meditation, and Rev. G. C. R. McQuade closed the worship service with the blessing.

The business period was in charge of Mrs. Hobbs, president for the past two years and re-elected when Rev. Mr. McQuade later conducted the election of officers, to the great delight of the members. The rest of the slate for 1948 is: Hon. president, Miss E. L. Hetherington; advisory president, Mrs. Edmund Ball; vice-president, Miss Jean Burnham; secretary, Miss Betty Lunn; corresponding secretary, Mrs. B. E. Ingham; treasurer, Miss Gladys Williamson; pianist, Miss Margaret Smith. Secretaries of departments: Christian stewardship, Mrs. E. J. Powell; temperance, Mrs. H. Ouellette; supply, Mrs. Cecil Hubbeard; community friendship, Mrs. David Lunn; literature, Mrs. Orval Rowland.

The year just ending had been a successful one financially, the treasurer reporting a total raised of $76.44; of this $45 was remitted the Presbyterial treasurer in June, and on hand there is $20.99; $10 was given the Mission Band, and when all funds are in the objective of $60 will be overpassed. It was decided to send any balance to the new economic unit at the Girls' High School, Chentu, since Miss Jean Stewart, missionary-teacher in that land, is the Circle's prayer partner. In the president's report emphasis was laid upon the fine spirit of co-operation and harmony throughout the year, the success in winning the Presbytery banner for efficiency, the increased membership and attendance, the interesting study books, and the willingness to help with the programs, or any other undertakings.

Completing the Christmas program, there was a fire-lighting ceremony when Mrs. Hobbs knelt to put a match to the Yule logs in the big fire-place, Mrs. Ouellette reading the poem, "Always kneel when you light a fire". Assisting in this period were Miss Burnham who read selections from Dickens' Christmas Carol, Mrs. Ball, who gave a synopsis of "The Other Wise Man", Mrs. Ingham, and the leader who spoke on "What is Christmas?" Fittingly ending the theme was a record from the Christmas Carol with Tiny Tim's "Good bless us every one", a story, "The Little Engine That Could", and the benediction "Bless this house", beautifully sung.

Lunch was served by the supper hostesses, Mrs. Gordon Powell, Mrs. L. J. Stuart, and Mrs. Ouellette, the hostess table, lace-covered, having a centre of three frosted Christmas trees, set in a circle of holly. The January meeting will be at Mrs. Ball's home, and the annual congregational meeting on January 14 when the cirle's full year's report wil lbe heard.

Chloride Annoys Householders

City Engineer Chalmers' calcium chloride is slowly generating heat in the thoughts and emotions of everyone around town who has floors to keep clean. It is used with sand for scattering on sidewalks and roads, and briefly it is doing the sidewalk job not wisely but too well.

The chloride softens the snow and in that reaction is a certain preventive of slippery surfaces. You couldn't slide and fall on the sidewalks of today if you tried. But, what a load of sand is being "trucked" into houses, stores, offices, and homes. Housewives would probably prefer the former treatment, just sand, if it has to be, without the chloride. You scuff it off before you reach the verandah.

The chloride is another story. For instance last night The Examiner's caretaker dumped out half a bucket of sand that had been carried in on shoes. The attaching element was the chloride. So, for all the anti-skid efficiency of the Chalmers concoction it is doubtful if he can put it across much longer. Housewives know there is something different from other winters, and when they discover the sandman plus chloride culprit, he is likely to hear considerable from them.

They included representatives of the church, the judiciary, the military, the professions, provincial and municipal governments, the Civil Service, and the business world.

Officers' Dance Delightful Affair

Officers of the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment (Prince of Wales Rangers) RCA, were hosts on Wednesday evening for the annual New Year's dance, and more than 250 people attended. Dancing was on the main floor of Armoury, which was gaily decated.

Captain W. Perry with the assistance of officers' wives and some members of the A and T staff did the decorating. Over head were bright-colored streamers and flags, and on the floor were several Christmas trees with tables spotted among the evergreens. The orchestra stand was decorated in red, white and blue. A bountiful buffet dinner was served on the main floor under the careful supervision of Fred Gant, and included turkey, ham, roast beef, and all the trimmings.

Captain H. R. Hamell was master of ceremonies, and Cecil Gallagher's orchestra provided dance music.

Guests were received by the Commanding Officer, Lt.-Col. V. M. Eastwood, MC, ED, and Mrs. Eastwood, and by the second-in-command, Major Max E. Clark, and Mrs. Clarke, and the Mess President, Major Harry Willis, ED, and Mrs. Willis. The following Regimental Oficers were on hand: Captains L. D. Foster, W Perry, R. Juby and P. Turner, and Lieutenants T. Williams, J. A. Nornabell, R. Payne, H. Doxsee, N. Elliott, and also the Medical Officer, Capt. J. C. C. Dawson.

Fisher-Mercer Recent Nuptials

A pretty Christmas wedding took place in St. Paul's United Church, Harrowsmith, when the Rev. Stephen Spurrell officiated at the marriage of his sister-in-law, Gloria Ruoth, daughter of the late Rev. W. E. and Mrs. Mercer, and Lawrence William, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher of Hillcrest, Alta.

The church was decorated with white 'mums, fern and evergreen.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Chown Mercer, was gowned in ivory brocaded satin, fashioned with sweetheart neckline and Elizabethan sleeves. Her full-length veil was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and fern.

Mrs. C. Wannamaker, wearing powder blue taffeta, with matching headdress and nosegay of mixed 'mums and roses, was her sister's bridesmaid.

The best man was Mr. C. Wannamaker, and the ushers were Mr. Roy Snider and Mr. Ford Long, all brothers-in-law of the bride.

The bridal party entered and left the church to strains of violin and organ music, played by Mr. Ross Hunter, B.Mus., and Mrs. Hunter, who also played during the signing of the register.

Following the ceremony a reception for immediate relatives was held at the home of the bride's sister, 205 Adelaide Street, Kingston.

For the wedding trip the bride wore a powder blue ensemble with brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher will reside in Quebec.

Sherk—Allison

The wedding took place very quietly on Wednesday at George St. parsonage with Rev. Dr. James Semple officiating of Viola Allison and John Russell Sherk, both of Peterborough. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Orval Smith.

300 Attend Gay Frolic at Kawartha Club

Gaiety and laughter ushered in 1948 at the annual New Year's party at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club Wednesday evening, and the party rated with the best ever held at this spot which is famous for its New Year's dances.

Balloons galore, noisemakers, and paper hats, were distributed to the more than 300 people who jammed the dance floor, and the Sevenaires provided the music. Art work on the walls was beautiful and unusual, and the merry-makers didn't finish the evening until after three in the morning. Joe Leeming, steward at the club, put on one of his famous buffet dinners, featuring cold turkey, cold ham, and cold roast beef to round out a perfect program.

The entertainment committee was headed by Bert Bailey, who was assisted by Jack Menzies, Jack McIntyre, Jack Bolton and Johnny Ridley, and there wasn't a flaw in the smooth program.

Pleasure-Packed New Year's At Club Aragon Draws 700

Club Aragon's admission price for New Year's Eve may have been unfair to budgets, but 350 cash books took the beating and are making no complaint. Accent for top-notch entertainment rests on Bobby Kinsman and his 12 music-makers, with Vi Wall handling popular songs in fine fashion. Dance-loving customers find their sophisticated rhythm unequalled, and they crowd to the bandstand when the boys clown in "Feudin' and Fightin'". Palm pounding for their imitation of darkie boys in "Dixie Land Band" brought forth the old favorite "Alexander's Rag Time Band" with everyone joining in the chorus. In the early minutes of '48 the crowd joined hands to circle the floor in gay celebration, while the music of old marches and drills kept them moving at a merry pace. Pert hats were perched on every head and bells, whistlers, balloons and horns greeted the New Year with traditional ear-splitting noises and rafter-shaking.

Peterborough revellers at Club Aragon had a happy New Year's Eve with their friends in the way that suited them best. Seldom does one see revellers start for their chosen night-spot until the old year is about ready to pack up, but even before nine o'clock Wednesday evening, many patrons had arrived for the evening's celebration and they stayed right through until three a.m. and after.

A superb turkey dinner was being served throughout the evening, and it was a dinner. Three courses included generous helpings of everything on a well-planned menu. The mixture of melody and fine food put new life into dancing feet to keep their owners in action until they had the cherub 1948 well installed—about breakfast time.

Feature entertainer of the evening was Margaret Munn, coloratura soprano, a picture of loveliness in pale blue and silver as she sang a variety of operatic songs. Piano accordion arrangements heard during intermissions were by Wally Cunningham. Chet Clark was leader in an audience-participating sing song, with Al Harvey at the piano.

Stews When Properly Made Can Be a Treat for Family

That slurring tone so often used when referring to stews as wash day food is usually quite uncalled for. A stew, properly made, may be as much of a treat as prime roast beef.

The home maker who takes one of the cheaper cuts of meat and serves a savoury meat course that will make the members of the family smack their lips has mastered the art of economy.

The home economists say that stews may help to balance the after Christmas budget.

Long slow cooking has always been a point to consider but the new pressure saucepan makes it possible to serve a stew in much less time.

Dumplings, light and white, add much to any stew but they must be cooked over boiling stew and the cover must not be lifted during cooking.

Stew Supreme

1½ pounds lamb or beef (breast, shank, flank, neck or shoulder)
2 tablespoons fat
2½ cups canned tomatoes
¾ teaspoon salt
1¼ teaspoons spicy meat sauce
3 medium carrots, diced
¼ cup chopped green pickle (optional)
½ cup sweet or sour milk

Cut the meat in narrow strips, 1-inch in length. Brown meat with onion in hot fat. Add tomatoes, salt and meat sauce. Cover closely and simmer 2 to 2½ hours. Add carrots and continue cooking for 20 minutes or until tender. Ten minutes before serving, add the green pickle and the milk. Six servings.

Goulash

2 tablespons fat
1 small clove garlic, peeled and finely chopped (optional)
½ pound chuck beef, cut in 1-inch cubes.
½ pound lean pork shoulder, cut in 1-inch cubes
2 cup canned tomatoes
1½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon paprika
6 small onions, peeled and sliced
6 medium potatoes, peeled and cut in quarters
6 medium carrots, peeled and cut in finger lengths
2 cups cubed turnip

Melt fat in bottom of deep, covered kettle. Add chopped garlic and lightly brown it. Add meat and brown well on all sides. Add tomatoes, salt, pepper and paprika, cover and simmer for 45 minutes. Add vegetables and cook 45 minutes. If using a pressure saucepan, brown meat well in cooker before adding tomatoes and seasoning. Cook 10 minutes. Add vegetables and cook for 5 minutes longer. Six servings.

Dumplings

2 cups all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk

Sift dry ingredients. Add milk to make a very soft dough. Drop by tablespoons on top of boiling, thickened stew. Cover tightly and cook 15 minutes. Do not lift cover while dumplings are cooking

Corn and Cheese Casserole Economical, Easily Prepared

By KAY REX,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Jan. 2 — (CP) — Just a little extra planning and the housewife can turn any luncheon from a dull bread-and-tea affair into one of the most interesting meals of the day.

And when it comes to this midday meal, oven dishes not only are nutritious, but they're tasty, economical and easily prepared. One of the simplest to make is Corn and Cheese Casserole.

Ingredients: One cup canned corn; one cup bread and cracker crumbs; one cup grated cheese; one-half teaspoon salt; two cups scalded milk; one tablespoon melted fat; one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; two eggs.

Mix altogether except milk and eggs. Beat egg yolks and then add milk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and place in a greased baking dish and bake it in a moderate oven until set (about 40 minutes).

Here is a basic recipe for all scalloped dishes—

Ingredients: four tablespoons melted butter; four tablespoons flour; two cups milk; salt and pepper; three cups cooked vegetables or meat or any combination desired. Melt butter, blend in flour and seasoning, add milk gradually and stir until mixture thickens. Cook three minutes.

Place layers alternately in casserole and cover with buttered crumbs and bake in hot oven until brown on top. One-half cup of grated cheese and pinch of mustard may be adde dto sauce.

Vegetables or meat used in this recipe may include: two cups of meat or fish, one cup cooked clerey; two cups meat— one cup cooked mushrooms or 1½ cups meat or fish; 1½ cup green peas; or four hard-cooked eggs, two cups cooked spaghetti or macaroni; or three hard-boiled oggs, one cup salmon and one cup peas or celery.

Something new in pies is what nearly every good cook is looking for and she may find just what she's seeking in Peppermint Chocolate Pie.

Ingredients: Two cups hot water; one cup white spar; two drops essence peppermint; three heaping tablespoons cocoa; five level tablespoons cornstarch, a dash of salt.

Mix sugar, cocoa, cornstarch and salt together with a little cold water. Stir into hot water and cook until thick. Sprinkle cocoanut, crushed cornflakes, or whipped cream on top. White of egg or crushed graham crackers may also be used.

Maple Pie — Ingredients: One-half cup milk; two egg yolks; one tablespoon gelatin; two tablespoons cold water; one cup cream; one-third cup chopped nuts; one-half cup maple syrup.

Heat milk and syrup in boiler and pour over the beaten yolks. Continue cooking until the mixture is thick. Remove from fire, add gelatin (which has been softened in cold water and stirred until dissolved). Let mixture stand until it begins to thicken. Add whipped cream and nuts and put into baked pie shell.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

JEALOUS OF SON'S WIFE
Mother Playing With Dangerous Fire
By Maligning Daughter-in-Law

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the mother of a son and several daughters. Like most mothers, I wanted my daughters to marry and have families, but it almost killed me when my son married.

Dorothy Dix

Even now, after he has been married for several years, I can't stand to see him show any affection for his wife.

She is good and kind to him and is a smart, efficient wife and a good housekeeper, and the only way I can make him cross with her is slip around and tell him of her faults, which worries him very much and of which he would never know if I didn't tell him, because they are just little mistakes that anybody would make.

I encourage my daughters to have children, for that binds a couple closer together and makes them happier, but I warn my son against having children and a home of his own, because I think that will separate him from me.

Is it old age, or have I always been selfish? What must I do about this?

A MISERABLE MOTHER.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I should think that a woman who was capable of committing the crime that you are against your son and his wife would have a conscience that would keep her awake at night. I have never heard of a more wicked deed, and it makes me wonder if some mental disease keeps you from realizing what the law calls the nature and quality of your acts. For it does not seem possible that a mother in full possession of her faculties would be willing to wreck her son's life to satisfy her jealousy.

Dangerous.

Think over the results that would ensue if you carry out your nefarious plans. Suppose you do poison your son's mind against his wife with your lies. Suppose you break up his marriage. Can't you see that you will at the same time break his heart, for he loves his wife and is happy with her?

Perhaps in his despair and bitter disappointment he will take to drink, or leading a wild and disreputable life. When you shake a man's faith in his wife you break down his standards. Do you think that will make you happy? Don't you know that when he finds out, as he surely will, how you have lied about his wife that he will hate you?

It is a terrible thing to try to break up a happy marriage. Repent of your sin before it is too late and try to make amends for it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My wife lies to me day after day. We have been married two months and in that short time she has told me nothing but lies. I come home from work to find the house dirty. My wife explains it by saying that she has gotten a big job and she hasn't had time to do any housework. Every night she tells me about how wonderful her job is and how she likes it and about her fellow workers; then I find out that she hasn't any job and no fellow workers.

That is just a sample of her lying. She never tells the truth about anything, and when I ask her why she lies she says she can't help it. What shall I do? Believe me, it is no fun living with a person you love and can't trust.

WORRIED HUSBAND.

ANSWER: I do not believe that there is any cure for lying. It is just a screw loose in some people's minds that makes them prefer to lie rather than tell the truth, even when the truth would serve their purpose better. All of us know people who tell us about things they have seen and known and done that they are bound to know that we know haven't a word of truth in them, and that makes us have a contempt for them. Yet they do it.

Your lot will be a terrible one if you are doomed to spend it with a liar whom you cannot trust and who will be constantly getting you into trouble. Perhaps if you would tell her that you are going to divorce her unless she reforms, it might have some effect.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband left me before my baby was born, without a nickel or any clothes for the child. He now says that when the child is 2 years old he is going to take him. Can he?

FRIGHTENED MOTHER.

ANSWER: Don't be scared. Your husband is only putting up a bluff. He doesn't want to be bothered with the baby, and no court in the world would give a child to such a father.

THE YOUNG LOOK TAKES A BOW — The ballerina suit for spring (left) with very flared skirt by Irving Heft. The little jacket buttons diagonally; has a soft shawl collar. Centre, stardust in her lovely eyes and on the palest blue of this sheer formal from Kerner. The tiny waistline is emphasized by a slight padding; the demure collar tied with a pink ribbon bow. Spring welcomes the ensemble and this pale blue wool suit by Shrybman (right) has its own hip-length cape in a darker blue. The hip pockets on the jacket give a padded effect that seems to whittle the youthful wearer's waistline.

Caledonians Hold Party Mark Hogmanay

Scots in the city saw the Old Year out and welcomed the New in the time-honored Scottish way by attending a Hogmanay celebration held by the Caledonian Club in the K. of C. Hall.

A. Jackson, president, welcomed the hundred guests, and was master of ceremonies for the dancing. Favors, heather and noise-makers were presented to all the company, and square and modern dancing was enjoyed to splendid music supplied by Mrs. Harrison (piano), J. Harrison (violin), J. Miller (traps), B. Julian (melodeon). Angus Munro played the bagpipes for reels and military two-steps. Door prizes and a lucky spot dance were in the program.

At 11 o'clock lunch was served, and at twelve o'clock as bells were ringing, the company joined and sang "Auld Lang Syne." This had hardly died away until the tune was changed to "A Guid New Year to ane an' a," led by Bob Hendry, with Jack Smith at the piano. The company then shook hands and wished each other a Happy New Year. The party broke up in the "wee sma' hoors" after a most happy time. Those present were:

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, January 3

According to predominant planetary leading this might be a time for quietly indulging an inclination toward reflection, study of plans for more activity and productivity along alluring and harmonious lines. Subject immediate plans and purposes, with probable yens for change, new fields and personal contacts, to the light of logic and rationalizing before making any break of major significance. Let ideas simmer.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are advised to give due consideration with time for cherished hopes and wishes to mature before taking any drastic steps for the yearned change, travel, new understandings, friends and faces. This inner urge, affecting all the relations, might be carried to security by sound judgment and logical reasoning or by certain inner emotional leads or impulses. The latter might be base on obscure, indefinable depths, not easily accounted for. In the open they might not be found workable.

A child born on this day, should be endowed wtih keen intellect, bright ideas and adpatability, with strange undercurrents of feeling or instincts not always logial or to be rationalized.

2500 Merrymakers Attend Dance At Brock Street

More than 2,500 merry-makers —a record crowd according to Manager Jas. Laidlaw—filled the Brock Street Summer Garden Wednesday night to celebrate the passing of the last few hours of 1947 and to welcome the entrance of the new year.

As the clock struck twelve lights were turned up and Hal MacFarlane and his orchestra began the first few bars of Auld Lang Syne. Immediately the crowd joined in and dancers on the floor locked arms and joined in singing the pledge of friendship.

Then pandemonium broke loose as couples in gaily colored hats shouted, blew paper horns, and embraced. 1948 was greeted with noisy applause and the good natured funmaking continued until the last couple left early New Year's morning.

Colored hats, balloons and the decorations gave the Summer Gardens a festive appearance. The platform holding the orchestra was flanked by Christmas trees, decorated with tinsel and electric lights.

Six prizes were given out after midnight to dancers.

11 Fatalities Over New Year's In Eastern Canada

By The Canadian Press

Eleven fatalities marred the new year's holiday in Eastern Canada.

Three persons were asphyxiated by coal gas in a cottage near Port Arthur, two died in a hotel fire at St. Cesaire, Que., two were killed in the head-on collision of two freight trains near Cobalt, three were victims of traffic accidents and one died on a snowplow near Barrie.

The coal gas victims were James Green, 28 his wife, Mary, 30, and Mrs. Alex Gibson, 21. Their bodies were discovered by Green's brother, David, when he arrived at the cottage for a New Year's Day visit. They apparently were overcome by fumes from a small heater as they slept.

Mrs. Adelard Riendeau, 60, and her nephew, Bruno Gagne, 35, died in a $60,000 fire which destroyed a 30-room hotel at St. Cesaire. Gagne died in a futile attempt to rescue his aunt.

The train crash near Cobalt claimed the lives of J. R. Newton, 22, and Herbert Lewis, both of North Bay.

James Brown, 60, was killed when his automobile crashed into a tree at Oshawa; eight-year-old Cecil Robinson died at North Bay of injuries suffered when his sled coasted into the path of a taxi cab, and Aaron Poyaner, 93-year-old drygoods merchant, was fatally injured when struck by an automobile in Montreal.

Herbert Martin, 30, of Beeton, Ont., died near Barrie as he was driven home on a snowplow after complaining of feeling ill while working on a sanding machine on a country road.

22 Miners Organize Stay Down Strike

RHONDDA, South Wales, Jan. 2 — (Reuters). — A stay-down strike of 22 miners at the Maindy Colliery in the Rhondda Valley, which began early yesterday in protest against the National Coal Boards decision to close the pit, ended last night. The men had been underground for 13 hours.

They were informed that the decision to close the pit had not yet been definitely decided and that discussions are still proceeding between the Board and the men's union.

Family Burned Out

BARRY'S BAY, Ont., Jan. 2 — (CP). — Abruptly warned that their home was on fire when an electric light fixture dropped from the ceiling into the middle of their New Year's Day dinner, Lloyd Skuce and his family fled from their home yesterday, escaping with only the clothes they were wearing. Damage was estimated at $10,000 when the fire razed the home.

Take $600 From Safe

OTTAWA, Jan. 2 — (CP). — While Ottawa rang in the New Year Wednesday night daring cracksmen broke into an Ottawa machine shop, smashed open the company's safe and stole between $500 and $600 in cash.

Market Buoyant In Rally At Year-End

By The Canadian Press

Stock markets ushered out the old year in buoyant mood by extending the year-end rally into the final day of 1947. New York and London led the action in turnover and advances while Toronto and Montreal ranged closely behind. Rising price levels for stocks were the promise for the new year.

Commodity markets bore out predictions of higher prices with grains in Chicago and Winnipeg Trading on firm undertones; livestock prices in Toronto, Winnipeg and Montreal were steady on recent advances, while New York reported higher prices for raw hides, crude rubber and cotton seed oil. Heavy demand for steel products pushed pig iron prices up $2 a ton, and in Chicago, beef steers finished off the old year by setting another all-time record price of $41 a hundred pounds.

Unlike the close of 1946, virtually no one at the end of 1947 predicted a depression. Instead, business charts, production programs, expansion plans, earning predictions — everything in business pointed upward for the new year.

The booming entry of 1948 was marred, however, by a few warning notes. Analysts urged that business keep close watch on the spread between dollar and unit volume during 1948. They noted that actual unit volume in 1947 was below the 1946 figure and, because of rising prices, predicted an even lower level in 1948. Inventories, they said, should be checked carefully if business health is to be maintained.

Assailants Slug, Rob 2 People In Ottawa

OTTAWA, Jan. 2 — (CP). — Police today were seeking assailants who beat and robbed a man and a woman in two New Year's morning attacks.

John Cherny, 42, of Timmins, was struck from behind by an unknown attacker who lifted $130 but overlooked an additional $400. Mr. Cherny was found unconscious on the road and was taken to hospital.

The second attacker escaped with $7 from Mrs. Marie Lepage's wallet after slugging her over the head.

Inquest Ordered

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan. 2.— (CP).—An inquest has been ordered into the Christmas Day death of Thomas W. Rogers, 33-year-old power company employee, it was announced yesterday. Police reported they had made no progress in their investigation.

Save Young Couple

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 2. — (CP).—Two young men, returning home from a New Year's party, early yesterday awakened Mr. and Mrs. Clement V. Allen and rescued them from fire which destroyed the couple's house.

Fear Water Supply

OTTAWA, Jan. 2 — (CP). — Abnormal snow and frost conditions last night endangered Ottawa's water supply as tests showed that frost had penetrated to within 18 inches of water mains. Ottawa Water Works engineer W. E. MacDonald said that city streets had been scraped so clean that frost was penetrating deeply enough to endanger the city's water supply.

Asks For Citizenship

QUEBEC, Jan. 2.—(CP).—An application for Canadian citizenship was filed in Quebec Magistrate's Court New Year's eve by her Royal and Imperial Highness, Archduchess Elizabeth of Austria, princess of Barr. The 25-year-old daughter of Empress Zita of Austria came to Canada with several members of her family early in the war.

SENTENCED TO DEATH — U Saw, pre-war premier of Burma, who recently was sentenced to death by a Burmese special tribunal which convicted him of abetting the murder of U Aung Sen and other Burmese ministers last July.

PAY RESPECTS—At first New Year's reception in his new home at Lansing, James Cardinal McGuigan chats with Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson. Hundreds of persons from all walks of life paid their respects to the cardinal at the customary New Year's reception.

Drunk Driving Cases Are Few

By The Canadian Press

Canada's noisy, fun-packed New Year's celebration had all the traditional end-of-the-year hilarity — plus a clean bill of health as far as drunk driving was concerned.

At a late hour last night, a survey by The Canadian Press showed, there had been no traffic fatalities or injuries attributed to intoxication.

And people still had enjoyed a wonderful time as they greeted 1948.

Some dug 'way down deep, though, for the privilege. Night clubs in the major cities were jammed — at as high as $50 a couple at the most expensive spots. The average celebration, however, cost about $15 if it involved cavorting to a dance band.

But there were many other way to have fun. The survey showed house parties were especially popular, along with midnight shows and club get-togethers.

Watchnight services attracted thousands to churches across the Dominion.

Couple Under Arrest For Leaving Children

MONTREAL, Jan. 2 — (CP). — A couple was arrested by provincial police yesterday on a charge of abandoning their children while going on a New Year's Eve party.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Paulhus, were taken in custody, as they returned yesterday afternoon to their home at nearby Longueuil.

They were booked at provincial headquarters where their two children, Pierre and Pierrette, aged two and one, had been taken last night and placed in the care of matrons.

Police said that neighbors heard the children crying sometime.

HABITS IN PENALTIES

"CALLING the lead of a particular suit from your opponent is the best penalty to choose when you have several options because his partner led out of turn." That remark by an ordinarily canny player discloses a habit of mind which many have in such situations. They select the lead penalty as a matter of course, without stopping to think of what greater advantages might come from the other choices made available by the Laws, including that of condoning the lead and that of treating the out-of-turn card as a Penalty or exposed card, subject to play on its first legal chance.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	2 ♣	2 ♦	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT	Dbl

Eager to punish that contract, with a long suit to open and some kind of honors in all other suits, East led his spade 5. That empowered South to condone it, to expose at least three cards and thus make North the declarer, to compel or forbid the lead of a specified suit by West, or to treat the 5 as a Penalty Card. But, without debating at all, he said: "Pick it up, and West, you lead a diamond."

The diamond 9 therefore went to the 10 and Q. Seeing the dummy, East decided to return not a spade, but the club 6. The J covered and the Q won. West returned the diamond 7 to the J. South finessed the heart 10, led to the diamond K, scored the A, then led the heart 4, the J forcing the Q. The heart A killed the K, the 9 was scored and the spade A laid down. West saw South was fixing to throw him in with a spade and make him lead a club, so put his K on the A. That enabled East to get the next spade trick with the Q, whereupon his club 3 lead gave West the last two tricks with the 10 and A to set the contract.

South should have realized that the greatest danger to his contract was in leads of clubs through him. He could have protected himself against these by choosing to treat the out-of-turn spade 5 as a penalty card. If West led a club, he could win promptly, return a small spade, on which East would be bound to play the 5, and thus be sure of game. Just follow through to see how the play would work out.

Tomorrow's Problem

In a rubber game, how should South play at 4-Spades after West leads the heart Q?

But they still know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Ever remembered by his wife Mary.

Gone dear father, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face

The world can never fill.
—Ever remembered by his family.

SKI NOTES

Apologies With Deep Remorse —I didn't think anyone would miss the Friday ski column — after all, the Christmas rush made it impossible to write last week. It is nice to know our readers at least appreciate my humble efforts to promote the Peterborough Ski Club.

Bet any Ski Tow — We hope you are already to get in a full week-end of skiing this week. As you don't have many week-day holidays this is your chance to get in three full days of skiing. You will need a lot of fresh air after a big New Year's dinner—did I say dinner? The Bethany ski tow will run today, starting in the morning and tomorrow and Sunday as usual. Season tow tickets are available at reduced rates for club members.

Membership will be necessary before the tow at Bethany can be used. Get those badges sewn on for starting. Everyone must have a membership badge, receipt or guest ticket to use the tow. Members get reduced rates at Warsaw tow.

Kemp's Hill on Warsaw Road —Art Long is working hard to have the tow operating smoothly for the week-end.

Zone Championship Meet — Here it is folks — the highlight event of our skiing season, scheduled for February 7. The big Ontario zone championship jumping and cross-country meet. Get ready for this event as it is really going to be something. The four chief officials will be: Don Dennison as chief of competitors; Jack Sackville, in charge of publicity; Otto Laderach and Toby Westbye will be technical advisers. The meet will be under the overall direction of Hal Barker and Vic Griffiths.

Kawartha Cross-Country Race will be 12 kilometers in length (11 miles), starting at Jackson Park and running to Omemee and return.

Transportation—Bus schedules to Bethany and Kemp's Hill, Warsaw. All buses leaving King and Louis Streets terminal.

To Warsaw—leaves at 1.40 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

To Bethany—leaves at 10 a.m. on Sundays.

COACHES NOW! — Bill Ezinicki and Max Bentley, two stalwarts with the Toronto Maple Leafs, made their coaching debuts at Varsity Arena yesterday. Ezinicki's Phipps-Morris kids submerged Bentley's Mimico Wildcats, 9-1, in a THL bantam game. Here the two coaches pose with some of their charges. From the left: Bentley, Terry McCracken, Mimico (in front); Terry Sye and Jim Carlton, Phipps-Morris, and Ezinicki.

Sinatra Says He's Not Worried About Petrillo

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 2 (AP).—The Petrillo-enforced recording drought holds no fears for Frank Sinatra. He recorded 100 sides before the ban and figures the supply will last for six years.

The crooner, who has been ailing with a sinus condition, will spend most of the winter at his new home in Palm Springs. He will even broadcast his radio show from the desert.

Frank told me he is giving up many enterprises, which included boxing promotion. "This is no time to go into any kind of business," he said.

Sultry Songster.

Marlene Dietrich will sing three sultry songs in "Foreign Affair." They were written by Frederick Hollander, who composed the music for her first big hit, "Blue Angel." One of the new tunes, "Black Market," sounds like a hit. Marlene heads back to Paris after the picture here.

Humphrey Bogart won't be working at Warners this year, after he finishes "Key Largo." His next two films are outside deals. He will do them for the Hellinger Company, the first being "Knock On My Door." The company will continue to bear the late producer's name....

Deadline Comments.

Here are the last of the Academy entrants:

"Captain from Castile" (TCF) gives Tyrone Power a chance to swagger over some magnificent scenery. It is a well-knit adventure yarn with much color and pageantry..."Mourning Becomes Electra" (RKO) is pure tragedy with nary a let-up. It is wonderfully acted, but may prove too grim for many movie-goers..... "A Double Life" (U-T) contains Ronald Colman in a fool-proof actor's role. He performs with distinction in a refreshingly original backstage story..."The Paradine Case" (Senznick) is a tasteful treatment of an English murder trial. Its performers, including new stars Valli and Louis Jourdan, outshine the story.

Sport Memories

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 (AP). — Farewell to 1947 and (a good riddance), and welcome to 1948.

It was in 1947 that a pitcher in Venezuela was tossed into the pokey for refusing to hurl after the date he was due to report to his major league team; and another got the same treatment for giving too many bases on balls (a penalty, incidentally, that this department heartily endorses).

That Holy Cross, a team without a gymnasium, won the national collegiate basketball championship.

That Babe Didrikson explained her ability to hit a golf ball a country mile by saying: "I just loosen my girdle and let that ball have it."

That Rocky Graziano described the cordial welcome he received in Chicago: "They treat me good."

That Bucky Harris repeatedly remarked: "Here's to Joe Page."

That Joe Louis favored a nontitle match for himself because there weren't any worthy heavyweight contenders and then found himself dusting the resin off his trunks on two occasions in his fight with Jersey Joe Walcott.

That Joe DiMaggio's injured heel caused almost as great a furore as Babe Ruth's once-celebrated "stomach ache that was heard around the world."

Special Hockey Series Staged In Prague

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONODN, Jan. 2.—(CP). —A two-game total-goal Europe versus North America hockey series will be staged at Prague Feb. 17 and 19, John Ahearne, general secretary of the International Ice Hockey Federation announced today.

The I.I.H.F. will benefit to "considerable extent" from the proceeds, he added.

Canada's Olympic team, bolstered by four players from the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States, will meet an all-star outfit from Czechoslovakio, Sweden and Switzerland. "We would like to make this an annual affair and proceeds would help put the International Federation on a sound financial basis," Ahearne said.

At the same time he announced the first half of the Canadian Olympic team's itinerary in Europe. The team will arrive in England Jan. 15 with members of the A.H.A. and meet Streatham of England's National League the following night. They then travel to Brighton for a game Jan. 19 against the Tigers, national champions last year, and go to Zurich by plane Jan. 23 for a three-game pre-Olympic series.

Other Games

The Canadians will play at Zurich Jan. 23, at Basle Jan. 25 and then go to Davos, near St. Moritz, scene of the Olympics, starting Jan. 27.

On Feb. 10, two days after the Olympics end, the Canadians will play at Arosa, Switzerland. They play at Zurich Feb. 12, at Lausanne Feb. 14 and at Berne the following day. The team then flies to Prague for the Europe-North America series.

A "world championship" tournament, scheduled for Zurich Feb. 10-15, has been cancelled.

It is expected that the Canadians will play Sweden, France and probably Holland and Belgium and then make a tour of hockey-playing cities in England and Scotland before their return to Canada, scheduled for mid-April.

Minor Hockey To Make Annual Award

TORONTO, Jan. 2.—The Ontario Minor Hockey Association's first annual award for outstanding contribution to the minor game will be based on this season's activities and will be presented at the next annual meeting, it was announced last night. A summary of conditions and qualifications will be issued shortly.

The association has concurred in reinstatement by the Ontario Softball Association of Wally Stark of Hespeler, Vern Goyer of Belleville and Austin Hunt of Bracebridge. Suspension of Dugal Carmichael of Hillsburgh has been passed on to the OHA for further action. The OMHA's request for free proof of age for minor players in all sports has been revived by the Ontario Athlettics Commission.

The OMHA in its bulletin noted that body-checking is prohibitel in centre ice areas in juvenile, midget and bantam circuits. Protective equipment of players must be worn inside the sweaters.

Barrie juvenile, midget and bantam teams have been classified in the "A" series this season, while Belleville teams will be granted "B" ratings. Kingston's application for "B" rating for a second team in the juvenile series was refused Both entries will be "A."

Niagara Township, a new entry, will have "C" rating, and Stamford Township teams will play in the "B" series of juvenile, midget and bantam. Penetanguishene juveniles and midgets will be in the "C" series for this season.

Peterborough juvenile, midget and bantam teams will be allowed entry to "B" series playdowns, provided they operate at least a four-team city league and the winning teams do not strengthen. Complete lists of players must be received by the OMHA secretary before Jan. 15, or teams automtaically advance to "A" series.

Welland juvenile, midget and bantam teams' request for "B" rating for this season only was granted. Teams from Weston will have "B" rating provided they sign only Weston players.

Owen Sound teams will be classified in "A" series. Trinity College teams were accepted in "C" series and will play in a group including Bowmanville, Newcastle, Port Hope, in the juvenile, and Port Hope, Bowmanville and Orono in midget. These groups are convened by E. M. Downey of Port Hope.

St. Lawrence College Retains Ski Crown

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Jan. 2 — (AP). — St. Lawrence University successfully defended its title yesterday in the Lake Placid Club's 27th annual college week ski tournament, finishing the three-day meet with 479.3 points.

Queen's University of Kingston was second with 447.8 points and the University of Maine placed strongly in the final event, the ski jump, to take third place ahead of Cornell.

Robert Wright of St. Lawrence placed second in the ski jump to again win the Ski Meister trophy, emblematic of the best all-around performer. Wright, defending all-around champion, previously had won the slalom and the cross-country.

Charles Broomhall of Maine won the ski jump with 144.6 points. Weight had 143.2 and a teammate, Ray MacIntyre, was third with 142.5.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Walter Fedorick of the Hamilton Olympic club nosed out teammate Wilmer Sheridan in the annual YMCA 10-mile road race to Dundas and return yesterday.

It was Fedoric's third consecutive victory and his time was 58 minutes, 24 seconds — one second less than Sheridan's.

Twenty-four runners set out under adverse weather conditions but before the field had covered one mile the race had developed into a five-man contest, with Fedorick, Sheridan, Ab Morton of Galt, Neil Farrell of Hamilton, and Cleveland General of Ohsweken, Ont., shoulder to shoulder.

Fedorick was almost seven minutes off the record of 51.34 minutes established in 1928 by Cliff Bricker.

Canada's Olympic ski team, minus five fur-lined Mackintoshes stolen aboard the Queen Mary, arrived in London, Eng., last night, hopeful they would finish 'within the first 10" in the winter Olympics at the end of January. The team leaves this morning for Davos, Swtizerland, and several weeks of hard work.

The University of British Columbia today wound up in fifth place in the national intercollegiate ski meet held at Sun Valley, Idaho. Middlebury College, Vermont, captured the event with 1,101.3 points. The U. of B.C. had 967.8 points.

Bobby Riggs yesterday made it three games to one over Jack Kramer in their country-wide professional tennis tour, defeating Kramer handily 6-4, 6-4 at Dayton, O.

Play begins today in the Manitoba High school bonspiel at Winnipeg, to decide the rink to represent the province in the Western Canada High school 'spiel slated for February at Winnipeg. Eight rinks will compete in the first round of the provincial playdown.

Feels Like Different Person Since Syntona Built Him Up

Be Able to Eat Heartily; To Sleep Soundly; End Dizzy Spells, Nervousness, Headaches, Poor Digestion and Fatigued, Rundown Feeling.

If you feel tired, worn out and nervous; if bowels are constipated and you suffer with indigestion gas, sour, upset stomach and rheumatic pain; if you have dizzy spells, headaches, and nerves are on edge so you cannot get sound sleep at night—take a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound and see what a difference it makes in only a short period of time.

Here, for example, is the recent experience of Mr. Richard Robertson, Bartonville, Ontario, who said:

"For two years I suffered with stomach disorders and my entire system became rundown. My appetite was poor and what little food I did eat gave me awful gas, heartburn and sour acid risings afterwards. I was troubled with constipation and got dizzy spells and sick headaches. Rheumatic pains finally set in my limbs and joints and my nerves got so on edge I couldn't get to sleep at night. I felt fatigued and worn out.

MR. RICHARD ROBERTSON

"After trying a good many things without benefit, I got some Syntona and it proved to be just what I needed. My appetite is keen now and I can eat my meals without any gas, sourness or other distress afterward. Constipation is relieved. I am free of headaches and dizziness and the aches and pains are gone away. Also, my nerves don't trouble me now, so I sleep well and don't feel all tired and worn out as I did before."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. Find out how it can help you, too.—(Advt.)

SUMMON UN TO TACKLE KASHMIR WAR

Guerrillas Lose 2,000 At Konitsa

Relief Forces Try To Track Down Rearguard Units

ATHENS, Jan. 3.—(AP).—The Greek war ministry said today guerrilla forces suffered more than 2,000 casualties during their siege of the government garrison at Konitsa, as opposed to 349 for national forces.

War Minister George Stratos said some 500 Communist rebels were killed, 1,500 wounded and 100 captured in the fighting which began Christmas Day.

Greek army losses, he said, were eight officers and 51 men killed, 27 officers and 193 men wounded and 70 missing. The army lifted the siege New Year's eve.

Press dispatches said sporadic firing by guerrillas still continued in the heights around Konitsa, which the rebels wanted as the capital for a Greek Communist state.

Athens newspapers said the Greek forces which relieved the beleaguered Konitsa garrison Wednesday now are tracking down rearguard guerrilla units attempting to cut off entry of further reinforcements into the town.

A dispatch in the Conservative newspaper Embros said Greek commanders feared the air force and artillery would have trouble knocking out a battery seven miles west of Konitsa because of the danger of violating the Albanian border near which they believe it to be located.

In Konitsa, officials sought to restore living conditions disrupted by the seven-day siege. Authorities said the majority of the guerrillas fled into Albania or into the Grammos mountains.

Cables Moving Despite Strike

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 (AP).—Supervisory employees worked around the clock as four major cable systems sought today to keep international traffic moving despite a strike of some 3,500 overseas communications workers.

The walkout involving wages began on both coasts yesterday but the companies said their services were largely unaffected except for curtailment of some transmissions to the Orient.

The curtailment was announced last night by Mackay Radio which said in San Francisco that its Honolulu service was inoperative but that communications were being maintained with China, Japan, the Philippines and Australia, with over-all handling about 50 per cent. of normal.

In New York, company spokesmen said, however, that all overseas transmissions were being put through by supervisory personnel.

Other companies involved are the cables division of the Western Union Telegraph Company, the Commercial Cable Company and All-America Cables. The four ordinarily handle an estimated two-thirds of all foreign communications to and from the United States.

Cancer Specialist Summoned To Moscow

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 3—(AP).—Prof. Elis Berven, Swedish cancer specialist and radiologist, left by plane today for Moscow for "consultation on a serious cancer case."

"I cannot tell you who my patient is because I don't know myself yet," Dr. Berven told reporters. He received a cabled request from "the Russian authorities."

Mrs. Berven said her husband had no idea how long he might be in Moscow.

Dr. Berven, 62, is chief physician of the Stockholm radium hospital.

Before the war a Swedish brain surgeon, Prof. Herbert Olivecrona, was called to Moscow for consultation under similar circumstances.

Weapons' Ship On Way To Chinese Port

VANCOUVER, Jan. 3.—(CP).—Arms valued at $1,200,000 today are en route to the Chinese Nationalist forces aboard one of seven deep-sea vessels delayed by an 11-day dispute, settled last night.

It is expected the six other vessels will clear this port as soon as possible.

Departure of the Lake Okanagan ended weeks-long controversy between ship owners, the Federal Labor Department and Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) officials and indicated agreement had been reached. Disputed was a "no contract, no work" question between ship's officers and owners.

It arose from a deadlock in negotiations for wages and hours contract but no details of the settlement have been released.

However, the union's declaration that it will press federal authorities for a $10,000 life insurance policy for each of the Lake Okanagan's crew members, plus a guarantee of hospital care for possible injured crew members in the Chinese war zone, inserted new complications.

Announcement of the union decision was made from its local here but coincided with a more detailed account from the Montreal head office.

The latter statement was issued regarding the freighter Islandside, now waiting at Halifax to load arms and munitions for China. The union said it urged its members to man and sail the freighter "after cetrain assurances are given by the government to the seamen for some protection in carrying out their duties."

Rescue Plane Standing By To Fly Out Sick Woman

HALIFAX, Jan. 3—(CP).—The search and rescue division of the RCAF reported today that its Canso rescue plane, scheduled to leave Goose Bay, Labrador, on a mercy flight to Mutton Bay, Que., on the north shore of the St. Lawrence has been grounded by heavy fog but the plane's crew is standing by and will take off if the weather clears.

Making its second mercy trip of the new year, the plane was prepared to fly into Mutton Bay to take aboard an expectant mother who is seriously ill with internal hemorrhage.

Because of bad flying conditions over Labrador, Newfoundland and the Maritimes, the plane would probably take the woman to Montreal, search officials said.

The plea for assistance from the isolated settlement came yesterday in a radio message saying there was no doctor in the village. It requested a plane to take the woman to hospital.

The flying boat will carry Sub-Lt. (Nursing Sister) Elizabeth Sharpe of Regina and Sick Bay Attendant Clifford Watchorn of Kingston, who will care for the woman during the flight to hospital.

Mutton Bay is just 50 miles from Harrington Harbor where the plane called New Year's Day and whisked a 14-year-old girl, Brenda Roberts, to hospital. She was reported in fair condtiion after suffering pneumonia and complications.

New Island Bases

LONDON, Jan. 3 — (AP) — British sources said today two Antarctic islands, newly occupied, may become weather and aviation bases. Official comment was lacking. South Africa sent an expedition to Prince Edward Island and Australia occupied Heard Island. Both are uninhabited and have no known mineral deposits. Britain claims them on the basis of discovery.

Demand Schuman Publish Unfavorable Pact Clauses

PARIS, Jan. 3 (CP).—Communist leader Jacques Duclos, attacking the French-American interim aid agreement, demanded in the National Assembly today that annexes "which we have not seen" be published at once.

Premier Schuman deplored criticism "of such a generous act from which France reaps so many benefits."

He was replying to claims by Duclos that there were excessively unfavorable clauses for France in the agreement.

This clash was the first round in an extraordinary session of the assembly, called to vote on the government's reconsidered anti-inflation bill, which may decide the fate of Schuman's government and of the "third force" moderate parties support of it.

The premier had staked the existence of the government on the reception given to the revised bill, but he told Duclos that the government would wait for the right moment to demand a vote of confidence.

The interim aid agreement would be discussed "in due course," he added.

Political circles believe a conclusive ballot will take place Monday.

Change Calculations

The collapse of the strike movement in France has left a huge bill to be paid which may undermine the calculations of United States interim aid to France and has left the country more sharply divided than ever between Communists and anti-Communists.

The majority of French leaders and writers have hailed the end of the strike as a "crushing defeat" for the Communists; but more circumspect observers stress that it would be a serious error of appreciation to consider the French Communist party as no longer a strong and active political force to be reckoned with in the immediate future.

India Warns Situation Powder Keg

Nehru Says Pakistan Harbors 100,000 Men Preparing Invasion

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 3 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council has been summoned to meet Tuesday to tackle the India-Pakistan dispute over the invasion of Kashmir.

The Indian Government, outlining a situation which it said was "likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security," called upon the Security Council last night to require Moslem Pakistan to stop giving aid to the tribal invaders of Kashmir.

The Indian note said the matter was one of "extreme urgency" and added that if Pakistan's help to the tribal invaders was not halted, "the Government of India may be compelled, in self-defence, to enter Pakistan territory in order to take military action against the invaders."

Kashmir, a predominantly Moslem princely state in the extreme northern part of the Indian sub-continent, acceded to the Hindu dominion of India last October 27, after the invasion began. The Hindu Maharajah, Sir Hari Singh, said in announcing the accession: "I have no option but to ask for help from the Dominion of India."

Indian troops then were flown in to Kashmir to help fight the invading Pathans, who have been identified by the Indian Government as residents of Kakistan's North-west Frontier province.

Receiving Aid.

"The invaders, the Indian note to the United Nations said, "have received and are still receiving" assistance from Pakistan.

The note promised that once the invaders are cleared out the people of Kashmir "would be free to decide their future by the recognized democratic method of plebiscite or referendum which .... might be held under international auspices."

In New Delhi yesterday Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India accused Pakistan of harboring 100,000 tribesmen preparing to invade Kashmir and of aiding 50,000 who already have invaded the state, which adjoins Soviet Russia, Afghanistan, and Tibet. Kashmir has an area of about 94,000 square miles and a population of about 3,700,000.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY—Britain's Prime Minister Attlee today will celebrate his 65th birthday with his family at Chequers.

Abduction Story "Fizzles Out"

LINDSAY, Jan. 3. (CP)—Police last night closed their investigation of a report by Noble E. Wright that his 16-year-old daughter was abducted New Year's Eve. Chief Constable Lawler said the case "fizzled out." He declined to comment further.

But later Sgt. R. Hargreaves of the town police said the girl went to the police station last night and told him she invented the abduction story because she had stayed out later than she was supposed to New Year's Eve and feared her parents would punish her.

Wright told police the girl arrived home late Dec. 31 and told of being forced into an automobile by three men who taped her mouth and ankles, drove some distance and released her in the downtown business district.

Was Too Helpful

PLYMOUTH, England, Jan. 3—(AP).—Police answered an emergency call to a suburban office in the small hours. Inside were two men. One of them, David O'Neill, 32, explained: "We're a couple of burglars but my pal has broken his leg so I rang you chaps up to come and help us."

Matthew Byrne, the colleague, fell from a ladder during the process. Yesterday he got a year in prison, and his helpful pal got 21 months.

Prime Minister Attlee Has 65th Birthday

LONDON, Jan. 3 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee today celebrated his 65th birthday with his family at Chequers, official country residence of Britain's premiers.

Tonight he will broadcast in the political series arranged by the British Broadcasting Corporation last March.

Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, also celebrated his birthday today. He is 60. He is on holiday with Mrs. Morrison in Cornwall.

Train-Truck Smash

Shortly before 12 noon today, a train smashed into a coal truck at the level crossing on Reid St., just south of McDonnel. Three people in the coal truck were uninjured and the truck was badly damaged as the impact threw it against the Beatty Transport building. Damage to the locomotive caused a delay of almost half an hour.

Uses Boy Scouts To Cover New Nazi Plot

VIENNA, Jan. 3.—(Reuters).—A new wave of arrests has followed the discovery at Graz, Austria, of a Nazi plot which used the local Boy Scout movement as cover for some of its activities, reliable sources in Graz said today.

The Vienna Communist newspaper Volkestimme declared the heads of Socialist and People's Party prisoner-of-war reception committees, Otto Roesch and Count Strachwitz, were among those arrested.

Roesch was also an employee of the British Censorship Department, the report said.

The Volkesttimme said that Alpine climbers' clubs and prisoner-of-war reception committees, as well as the Boy Scout movement, were used to camouflage the plotters' activities.

The plotters were said to have issued identity papers to their members and to have used "Allied patronage" to disguise the real activities of their movement.

Praise Police

British officials here paid tribute today to the Austrian police, saying they had done an excellent job by rooting out a widespread illegal movement.

It was believed here that the whole scheme had been frustrated and any possible danger averted.

The Graz Scout movement is not recognized by the international Scout movement.

First reports of the plot Monday said 35 persons had been arrested in Graz (British zone) and that the plot had ramifications in Linz (United States zone).

It was reliably learned in Vienna that the object of the plotters was to mobilize former Nazi forces in Austria with the mission of establishing a German Reich on Nazi lines in the event of armed conflict between the western powers and Russia.

Argentina May Halt Meat For England

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 3 (AP)—An Argentine government agency spoke todaw of the possibility of suspending meat shipments to England.

Amos J. Cooke, representative of the British food ministry, said last Monday the Argentine government had ordered meat shipments halted Jan. 7, but diplomatic sources later learned the shipments would continue under a "gentlemen's agreement;" pending British-Argentine trade talks now in progress.

Argentina was reported to be insisting that Britain pay for meat in pounds convertible into United States dollars.

Can Defend Jewish State But At Heavy Cost Hagana Confidently Says

It May Take 2 To 3 Years To End Struggle And Will Take Many Lives, Officer Says; Jewish Militia Raid Arab Stronghold, Kill 4

JERUSALEM, Jan. 3—(CP).—Members of Hagana, the Jewish militia, announced today that four Arabs were shot to death in a midnight reprisal raid on an Arab stronghold in the bloody no-man's land between Jewish Tel Aviv and Arab Jaffa. Hagana said British police searched a Jewish house in the area and after police withdrew Arabs fired on the house from a strongpoint across the street, wounding three Jews. The Hagana raid on the Arab stronghold followed.

The deaths boosted to 523 the number of persons slain in Palestine since the United Nations voted to partition the Holy Land on Nov. 29. Four Britons, four Arabs and four Jews were killed yesterday.

Earlier, a Hagana source asserted that the Jewish defence force is convinced it can take, hold and defend a Jewish state in partitioned Palestine, but that it will take two or three years and will cost many more lives.

This conviction was disclosed today by a young Jewish woman who received her training as a Hagana intelligence officer through several years of working in the anti-Nazi undergrounds of Europe.

"We know the Jews of Palestine and of the world are up against the toughest fight they ever had," the Hagana intelligence officer said.

"It may take two to three years of fighting and it will cost us many lives, but we can win it by our own strength."

Optimistic Factors

"The main factors in Hagana's optimism, in her opinion, are:

1. Arab resistance to Zionism is economically much more paralyzing to the Arabs than the Jews since the Arab masses live on a day-to-day basis and one day's interruption of income means a loss of that day's food.

2. The United States can be expected to come to the aid of the Jews by economic pressure on the Arab states.

"Arab threats to cut off United States oil concessions means that the Arabs realize the disastrous consequences to themselves CAN DEFEND

Russians Postpone Trip For Reporters

BERLIN, Jan. 3 (AP)—Russian authorities today informed the American military government that a trip for American news correspondents into the Soviet zone of Germany, scheduled to begin Monday, must be postponed for at least a week.

The reason given for the postponement was that the Russians were "still having holidays" and that these would interfere with the operation of a conducted tour. They said the trip could be arranged between Jan. 10 and 15.

Small Boy, 3 Aids Mother After Robbery

BRANTFORD, Jan. 3 —(CP)—Three-year-old Billy Ferguson who climbed onto a chair and fumbled with the telephone receiver, letting it fall off the hook, brought aid to his 42-year-old mother, Mrs. Aubrey Ferguson, who had been struck over the head by an intruder who tied a belt around her neck.

As the woman remained semi-conscious in hospital here today from the injuries inflicted last night, a telephone operator told of hearing the woman's moans and the child's cries as the phone fell off the hook and flashed a call to the police.

Aubrey Ferguson, the injured woman's husband, told police $150 in cash, a diamond ring and a bank book with a balance of about $600, was missing after one of the rooms was ransacked.

From scant information available to police it appeared as though Mrs. Ferguson was held up by a man who broke into her house and demanded money. She was struck over the head and police found her at the bottom of the cellar steps, her head on two empty potato sacks. A clothesline, apparently torn from the kitchen wall, was bound around her and a belt was drawn tight around her neck. No attempt had been made to criminally assault the woman.

New Mass Grave Found At Belsen

HAMBURG, Jan. 3—(Reuters).—A German workman at the Belsen horror camp has discovered a new mass grave believed to contain at least 2,000 bodies of former concentration camp prisoners, British military headquarters announced today.

"There is a possibility other mass graves will still be found inside the camp," a Jewish relief official said. This is the eighth mass grave found in Belsen so far.

When British troops liberated the camp in April, 1945, they found 10,000 unburied dead in the camp. Some 13,000 Jewish prisoners died after the liberation as a result of undernourishment and ill-treatment suffered during the last months of the war.

Three Children Jump 15 Feet From Fire

TORONTO, Jan. 3 (CP)—Three children jumped from a third-storey bathroom window to a roof 15 feet below and watched as their mother, carrying her youngest child, escaped down a ladder when fire from a gasoline explosion threatened their east-end Dundas St. apartment last night.

The fire, extinguished with buckets of water before firemen arrived, was caused when a spark from a wood stove set off a can of gasoline which Sam Gifford, 20, was carrying to his workshop at the rear of a second-floor apartment.

Upstairs, Mrs. Mina Gray smashed the bathroom window with a milk bottle. The children, Doreena, 10; Jackie, seven, and Tommy, 16, jumped to the roof below. Tommy put a ladder from the roof to the window for Mrs. Gray, who descended, carrying her youngest ch'

Say Michael Abdicated Under Pressure

Picked Soviet-Trained Troops Surrounded Palace While King Grilled

LONDON, Jan. 3. (Reuters) — G. E. R. Gedys, Vienna correspondent of the Daily Herald, said in a dispatch today that King Michael of Romania signed his abdication document "under duress after 2½ hours of pressure by determined opponents in a palace surrounded by picked Soviet-trained troops."

The correspondent, saying "the real story" behind the abdication was told to him by "an important Romanian personage" who arrived in Vienna Thursday added:

"Michael is still unable to leave Bucharest where he is fighting for the future of members of his family and entourage."

King Michael, Gedys said, "was ousted from Romania as a long-planned Communist politcal coup staged by the head of Romania's secret police after talks with Moscow."

"I am assured that the story that the king abdicated because the government could not agree to his betrothal to Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma is a 'romantic fairytale'."

Outlining the sequence of events as told to him by his Romanian informant, Gedys continued:

"On Monday, Dec. 29, Michael was in his mountain palace at Sinaia, 80 miles from Bucharest, preparing for a new year.

"Late that night a telephone call from the government demanded his presence in Bucharest the next morning to discuss important matters. He was given no details of what the matters were.

Michael arrived at the palace in Bucharest at 10:30 a.m., Dec. 30

Nothing Overlooked

"Awaiting him were leading Communist members of the cabinet, including Premier Froza, Foreign Minister Anna Pauker — and the most powerful and most feared man in the country, the Communist secretary of state, Emil Bodnarias.

"Bodnarias, who is in constant and close communication with Moscow, and who behind the scenes controls the Romanian secret police, issued an ultimatum to Michael. He was to abdicate immediately.

"As an intimation that government would stand no nonsense the palace was surrounded after his arrival by troops drawn from the most reliable Romanian Communist divisions, Soviet-trained and partly Russian-officered.

"When Michael argued, his ministers subjected him to severe pressure—intimidation, my informant stated, would not be too strong a word—to force him to abdicate.

"For 2½ hours he resisted, trying to make out a case for his retention on the grounds that he could still be of service to the country. But the Communists were adamant."

Pork Prices May Go Up By 15 Cents

Producers Should Get Direct Increases From New Contract

MONTREAL, Jan. 3 — (CP). — A livestock official said last night that the increase in contract prices for pork would result in an increase of possibly as much as 15 cents per pound on bacon and other pork cuts.

The price of hogs on the two Montreal livestock markets will rise from $24 to $28.50 per hundredweight on Monday morning, he said.

Although the price of beef was also lifted, the official pointed out that little effect would be felt on the retail market because beef prices recenly have been high.

Producers Gain

OTTAWA, Jan. 3 — (CP). — Prices increases announced yesterday for bacon, beef, eggs, and cheese sold to Britain during 1948 generally should go directly to the producers, government sources said today.

There will be some differences, depending on local conditions, but the farmer will reap most of the benefit of the new prices ranges as they become effective.

"However," said a spokesman, "there is no reason why the middleman should take much more than he does now."

On hogs, which are going up to $7 per 100 pounds, the farmer will get at least $6 of the increase. The $1 difference may go to the packer depending on where the farmer ships from and whether the packer has to hold the hog for several days because of local conditions.

This also would apply to beef prices, which are advancing from $1.50 to $3.25 per 100 pounds according to grade.

Much or most of the increase will go to the farmer.

The cheese factory is expected to pass on to milk producers most of the five-cent-a-pound increase in the cheese price while egg producers will gain through th 3½-to-five-cent increase announced for export eggs.

Aid to Farmers.

TORONTO, Jan. 3 — (CP). — Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario said yesterday he believed higher prices to be paid farmers under provisions of the new United Kingdom food contract will help farmers meet the rising costs of livestock feed.

Contract provisions were announced in Ottawa yesterday by Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner. They provide for higher prices for beef, pork, eggs and cheese.

"From the standpoint of the farmer, the contracts sound all right," said Mr. Kennedy. "I think Mr. Gardiner got a good deal."

Modernize Abacus To Greater Speed

SHANGHAI, Jan. 3 — (AP). — The ancient Abacus, that oriental calculating machine which has sometimes outraced the modern western-type adding machine, is being geared to even greater speed.

Hai Pi-Poo, a Mohammedan Chinese, gave a demonstration of his invention today and, in a race with a modern calculator, won in everything but multiplication.

On the abacus, a simple reckoner with sliding balls, Hai has rigged a high-speed multiplication and division calculator and a compound interest calculator.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 3 — (AP). — Wheat showed further weakness at the opening of the Board of Trade today. Small-scale liquidation met a lack of support. Feed grains, however, mostly held steady, particularly corn.

Wheat started ¼ to 2 cents lower, May $2.92¼-$2.91½, corn was ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, May $2.54, and oats were unchanged to ⅜ lower, May $1.18-$1.18¼.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Jan. 3 — (CP). — Oats and barley futures prices weakened Friday on Winnipeg Grain Exchange moving narrowly lower in a dull, post-holiday market.

Trade was thin with stagnation setting in several times during the session. There was light selling by commission houses and shippers in both grains and some United States selling in oats countered by a light demand by local buyers.

Rye futures displayed weakness also following declines at Chicago.

Only export business reported was the allocation of 650,000 bushels of Canadian wheat to the United Kingdom.

Class two wheat prices dropped three cents with No. 1 Northern, 3.21; No. 2, 3.18; No. 3, 3.16; No. 4, 3.13; No. 1 durum, 3.21; No. 2, 3.18; No. 3, 3.16.

Big Financier M. Meehan Dies

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 — (AP).— Michael J. Meehan, 56, who rose from a messenger boy to a Wall Street financier with holdings estimated at from $5,000,000 to $25,000,000 in radio stock alone, died yesterday of pneumonia.

Meehan, one of the most spectacular operators on the stock exchange during the '20s, was ordered expelled from the New York stock and curb exchanges and the Chicago board of trade after a securities and exchange commission investigation of his actions in connection with alleged rigging of the market in Bellanca Aircraft stocks.

Meehan, who came to know the financial district as manager of a theatre ticket agency, established the firm of M. J. Meehan and Co. in 1920. His firm at one time had $2,400,000 invested in eight stock exchange seats and was the first to open a branch on an Atlantic liner.

One of Meehan's most successful operations was in Radio Corporation of America common stock. At one time his firm made as much as $15,000 a day in commissions on that type of issue alone.

A native of Blackburn, England, Meehan was brought to the United States as an infant.

Libraries Take Third Spot As Recreation

OTTAWA, Jan. 3 — (CP). — Juke boxes and bubble gum notwithstanding, the chances are Canadian youth today will curl up in corners from Halifax to Vancouver with a book.

And that bothers the Canadian Welfare Council, which is concerned over the lack of library facilities available to young people in Canada.

Reading ranks third among the recreational activities of Canadian youth, according to the CWC's recreation division. But libraries aren't being properly sold to these young folks and there isn't enough public support to make them as available as they should be.

A study made by the Canadian Youth Commission on a sampling basis has recommended larger sums of money for library facilities, and more concentration by librarians towards interesting the youth of Canada in the local book-mill.

Forwards Brief

The council is forwarding a brief on libraries to librarians, mayors, reeves and community leaders across the country.

The brief cites the Dominion Bureau of Statistics figure that in 1942 less than 20 cents per capita was spent on libraries in the Dominion. This compares with a recommendation by the Canadian Library Council that $1.25 per capita be spent as a minimum standard of support for communities with a population of 25,000.

According to 1946 figures, the per capita support of libraries ranged from a top figure of $1.20 in London, Ont., to 49 cents in Vancouver. In Toronto it is $1.02, Saskatoon 99 cents, Windsor, Ont., 75 cents, Peterborough 65, Ottawa 62.

In 1942 only 39 libraries in Canada reported they had any contact with youth groups. Twenty-five of these were in Ontario.

Six People Die As Blizzard Buries Ontario

By The Canadian Press

Two days after a New Year's Night blizzard which left six persons dead and caused thousands of dollars propert ydamage, southern Ontario still is digging out from under the heaviest snowfall so far this winter.

Scores of repair crews continued today to restore hydro and telephone service as other workmen struggled to complete the job of clearing drifted highways and roads from Windsor to Kingston.

Greatest property damage was in Windsor and nearby Essex County communities, the first to be hit by the storm. Full telephone service was not expected to be restored in Windsor until the middle of next week. Damage in the border city alone was estimated at $100,000.

Traffic was snarled in cities and towns along the 360-mile storm front and hundreds of persons were stranded as automobiles lost the fight with drifting snow. Some highways still were blocked. Candles and lanterns were pressed into service in many communities during the power failures.

Winds which lashed Lake Ontario's north shore swept a 50-year-old lighthouse and part of a pier into the water at Bronte, 15 miles northeast of Hamilton.

The storm dead were Charles W. Bartholomew, 61, of Leaside, near Toronto; Mrs. Drumogle, 70, of London; Mrs. Sadie Pugh, 65, of Toronto, and Frank Engeland, 58, of Hamilton, all of whom died of heart attacks as they pushed through deep snow; Andrew F. Smith, 78, who collapsed at Brampton after supervising snow-removal on a county road, and Herbert Martin, 30, who died at Barrie as he was driven home in a snowplow after complaining of illness while working on a road-sanding machine.

Clearing Weather

NEW YORK, Jan. 3. (AP)—A week-end of clearing weather for the storm-swept eastern half of the United States was in prospect today as communities whipped by sleet, snow and rain storms worked to restore business and industrial operations to normal.

Snow had abated today in nearly all sections of the country which had been lashed by this winter's most destructive and crippling storm.

Damages to property were expected to total millions of dollars, while the deaths of at least 16 persons were reported in the New England States and the New York metropolitan area. Other fatalities attributed to the storm were reported in the midwest region.

Charles Young School Trustee

YOUNG'S POINT, Jan. 3. — (ENS).—The ratepayers of school section No. 8 held their annual meeting in Young's Point school house on Wednesday night, Dec. 31. In spite of it being New Year's eve, there was a very large turnout. Mr. Bob Northey was elected chairman for the meeting and Mr. Max Kidd secretary.

Mr. Gerald Tedford asked whether anything had been decided on the question of having a school bus to pick up children from outlying districts. He urged that this be investigated if nothing had been done up to date.

The financial report for 1946-1947 was read and caused considerable discussion.

The election of the new trustee then took place. Mr. Jack Young, who has been a trustee for many years, and whose term had expired, was nominated and seconded for another term. Mr. Charles Young was also nominated and seconded.

It was moved that this vote be taken by ballot. This motion was seconded and carried almost unanimously. The candidates for office both addressed the meeting.

Mr. Charlie Young urged that the ratepayers attend the meetings of the school board and thus give their support and criticisms throughout the year.

The ballot was taken and resulted in the election of Mr. Charlie Young by a majority of 20 odd vites.

A question of legality arose over the vote and it was decided to refer the matter to the school inspector.

It was suggested that in future the trustees hold a monthly meetings.

As it stands now the trustees for the coming year are: Mr. Jim Freeburn, Mr. Jimmy Jones and Mr. Charles Young.

GENEVA, Jan. 3—(AP)—Flood warnings were sounded throughout Switzerland today. Unseasonably warm weather caused snows to melt even at 6,000 feet.

WIDESPREAD IRRIGATION

The land under irrigation throughout the world is estimated at about 2,000,000,000 acres.

MONTREAL, Jan. 3.—(CP).— Unemployment in most countries during the latter half of 1947 fell below the levels of the corresponding period of 1946, according to a survey of the unemployment and employment statistics of 28 countries made public by the International labor office here today.

Employment indexes for all industry and manufacturing industry reached higher levels during the summer and autumn of 1947 than during the same period in 1946. The only exceptions were Palestine and Sweden.

The I.L.O. survey shows 16 countries were decreasing numbers of unemployed, with seven countries showing slight increases. The 16 with decreasing unemployment included:

Canada — Unemployment was down to 73,000, or 1.4 per cent of the labor force, at the end of August, 1947. This compared with 115,000, or 2.4 per cent of the labor force, for November, 1946.

United States: At the end of October, 1947, there were 1,687,000 unemployed, or 2.8 per cent of the entire labor force. This compared with an average of 2,270,000 for the year 1946, or 3.9 per cent of the labor force.

Sizeable Drop

United Kingdom: The number of insured workers registered as unemployed—including the wholly unemployed and those affected by temporary stoppages of work—was over 260,000 at the end of September, 1947, compared with over 400,000 at the end of 1946.

Ireland: Unemployed persons insured against unemployment numbered over 32,000 in October, 1947, a decrease of 3,000 compared with the corresponding month, 1946.

France: There were 38,000 persons registered for work at employment exchanges at the end of August, 1947, compared with an average of 55,000 registered during 1946.

Australia: The number of persons reeciving unemployment benefits was 6,200 at the end of June, 1947, a slight decrease from the corresponding month of 1946.

New Zealand: The number registered at labor exchanges was down to 86 at the end of October, 1947, compared with 214 registered one year earlier.

May Evacuate Foreigners

SHANGHAI, Jan. 3—(AP)— Mass evacuation of foreigners and Chinese officials from Mukden, Manchuria, recently under Chinese Communist siege, is contemplated by the Chinese Relief Administration's air transport service, an official of the service said today. He estimated that two or three transports shuttling between Mukden and Peiping could do the job.

Play Delights Large Audience

OMEMEE, Jan. 3. — (ENS).— On New Year's night, in Coronation Hall, Omemee, a full house was pleasantly entertained by a presentation of the play, "Big-Hearted Herbert," by the Young People's Union of Omemee Trinity United church. The cast included: Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, Donald Sandy, Marion Rea, Margaret Magee, Glen Sandy, Mrs. William Earle, Mons Brooks, Lorna Graham, Harold Brooks, Russel Weir, Eunice Thexton, Garnet Pogue, Christina Connell.

Much credit is due to the management of the play in their choice of characters and also to the characters for their adaptibility to the personalities they represented. This was true of each actor, even to the younger ones making their first appearance in amateur performance.

First Union Held Guilty In Labor Ruling

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 — (AP). — The first union in the United States to be held guilty of an unfair labor practice under the Taft-Hartley Act pledged to-day to "fight the cast all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary."

Herbert G. B. King, counsel for Local 74 of the A.F.L. Carpenters Union at Chattanooga, Tenn., said he will go the limit in opposing a ruling handed down here yesterday by J. J. Fitzpatrick, an examiner of the National Labor Relations Board.

Fitzpatrick held that Local 74 engaged in a secondary boycott, banned by the new labor law as an unfair labor practice, by calling a strike of union carpenters when non-union flooring installes came to work alongside them on a job.

The filing of unfair labor practice charges was limited under the old Wagner Act to those against employers only. The Taft-Hartley law permitted them to be filed against unions, too, for the first time.

In another precedent-setting decision, Federal Judge Stephen W. Brennan issued the first injunction under the Taft-Hartley law at Utica, NY, yesterday against Local 294 of the Teamsters' Union (AFL).

The injunction restrains the local from continuing six alleged unfair labor practices, including one of so-called "feather-bedding." Or requiring an employed to pay for work not performed until the NLRB at Washington can decide if the local was "unfair."

ST. GEORGE'S PLAYERS' GUILD OFFER PLAY AS SERVICE TO GOD

THE TYRANT HEROD was played by Douglas Gledhill, who works for Canada Packers.

AN IMPORTANT FIGURE is the Prophet Isaiah, who appears in the garb of a medieval bishop. This role was played by John Cranston, of Grove School.

MARY, MOTHER OF JESUS, was played by Elizabeth Mitchell, the wife of a master at the Grove School, Lakefield.

JOSEPH GASKELL, a cashier of the LCBO shop, gave pathos and laughter to the part of the old shepherd.

HEROD'S JESTER was played by Arthur Henwood, who works at Campbell's Dairy. His bauble was made by the Rev. E. C. Moore.

New Era of Artistic Development In City Hailed In Presentation of Nativity Play

The pictures which appear on this page were taken by Christian Lund of the National Film Board during the performances of the Coventry Nativity Play which were given at St. George's Church, Braidwood Avenue, from December 7 to 13. Several of the pictures have already appeared in the Montreal Standard.

The Nativity Play, which was given this year for the second time, is a performance of a type uncommon in Canada, for it presents the story of Christ's birth, in dramatic form, in the chancel and body of the church. Performances of this sort were common in medieval times, and have been revived in England, but they are almost unknown here. The popularity of the Nativity Play was shown by the fact that the church was filled for every performance, and numbers of people were unable to obtain tickets. It is significant, also, that the National Film Board thought it worth while to make a pictorial record of the performance which has, through the Montreal Standard, brought this achievement to the notice of people everywhere in Canada. As the Nativity Play was, in all its aspects, the work of a group of Peterborough people, it may be reckoned an important factor in the new era of artistic development which has already begun in this city.

THE DIRECTORS of the Nativity Play were Robertson and Brenda Davies, both of whom were formerly professional actors with the Old Vic, in London, England.

CNR Official G. D. Perry Dies

TORONTO, Jan. 3 — (CP). — George D. Perry, former vice-president and general manager of the Canadian National Telegraphs, died yesterday. He was 89.

Born in Whitby, he worked as a bookmaker with the Dominion Telegraph Company until its lines were leased to the Great North-western Telegraph Company. He remained with the latter company in various positions and in 1911 became vice-president and general manager of the system which later formed part of the CNT. He retired about 1925. Since his retirement from the telegraph company he took an active part in business life until two weeks ago. He was vice-president and director of the Toronto Carpet Manufacturing Company, a director of the Trades' Finance Corporation, of the Debenture and Securities Corporation, and Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, Ltd., and president of the Josephine DeWitt Co. Ltd.

Still Going Strong

MONTREAL— (CP) —Just a little too spry, the "young 'uns' nosed out the "old 'uns" in the annual curling exhibition match at the Health Club here. Combined ages of the four old timers totalled 318 years, averaging 79½ years. Baby of the team was 76 years old.

National Health Service Unpopular With Doctors

By STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, Jan. 3 (CP). — The number of doctors who will co-operate in the Government's National Health Service probably will be indicated after Jan. 31, when members of the British Medical Association express their views in a plebiscite.

After months of negotiations with Health Minister Bevan, the council of the B.M.A. professes to find that the proposed service conflicts "with the traditions and standards of a great profession." It told its 54,000 members the issue now rests with them.

There is no suggestion that a boycott of the service would be reflected in neglect of the ill, for the B.M.A. says whatever the result "no doctor will be advised not to render service to his patients or not to continue with his professional work."

The Act itself, which became law Nov. 6, 1946, and comes into effect next July 5, does not make medical participation mandatory. If enough doctors stay out, its efficiency and administration would be hampered, although a minority of the B.M.A. probably is ready to join, as are most of the 20,000 doctors outside the association.

When B.M.A. members were asked a year ago whether they wished their executive to continue negotiations with Bevan, 64 per cent said "No." Bevan's reaction was to swallow his wrath, and engineer a resumption of talks, which continued throughout 1947.

Allow Fees

The B.M.A. insists that doctors should be unsalaried, deriving their incomes from fees. Bevan purposes a fixed salary of £300 ($1,200) a year, augmented by a capitation fee calculated by the number of patients on each doctor's list.

There would also be additional fees for obstetric services and "inducement payments" to assist doctors to practise in remote or unpopular areas. Doctors who participate in the scheme on the appointed day also would establish a claim to a £66,000,000 fund set aside as compension for their being unable in future to sell public practices—another point of friction in discussions.

The B.M.A. also protests that doctors must have the approval of local executive councils before they may hang out their shingles, and that their applications could be refused in areas considered to have enough medical practitioners..

Novel Frost Prevention

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP). — An orchardist here bought an old airplane, took off the wings and mounted the fuselage, with motor, on a turntable in his orchard. When it becomes cold he runs the engine on petrol and kerosene, and the slipstream protects an area 300 yards in diameter from frost.

Shepherd Dog Kills Small Baby In Crib

SEATTLE, Jan. 3 — (AP) — A German shepherd dog dragged its master's month-old daughter from her crib yesterday while the family slept and bit the child fatally.

The father, Sgt. Robert May, 28, told detectives that the dog, which he purchased about five months ago, usually spent the night in the garage but had gotten out. He decided to leave the animal in the house for the night. It had never appeared vicious, he said, but was jealous of the May's other child, Lawrence, 18 months old.

When May and his wife arose yesterday morning, the sergeant said, the baby's bassinet was overturned and the body about 15 feet away. It had been bitten severely on the side but not otherwise mutilated.

May asked police to destroy the dog.

Teachers Want Municipal Office

TORONTO, Jan. 3 — (CP). — The board of governors of the Ontario Teachers' Federation, in a statement issued here yesterday, said it was "undemocratic" for teachers to be barred from municipal office.

The board also recommended that teachers be eligible for election to school boards in municipalities where they live but do not teach.

Legal interpretation that the Ontario municipal act excludes teachers from municipal office because they have a contract of employment with municipalities is "a misunderstanding of the teachers' position," the statement said.

"His contract of employment is not the municipal council but with an independent board and therefore should not bar him from election to the council with which he has not contract."

Henry A. Wallace—Whose Candidate?

Henry Agard Wallace, who has few equals in United States politics as a field-reversing brick-dropper, has now announced that he will be an "independent" candidate for the Presidency of the United States. Mr. Wallace says he will campaign on a platform of "peace and prosperity", qualifying his candidacy with the statement he would withdraw from the race if either of the "major parties become a peace party before the election". He also expressed his firm determination to fight against the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan.

• • •

The announcement caused more surprise than it would have done a few weeks ago, when Mr. Wallace again embarrassed his colleagues. He has a penchant for that sort of thing; readers will remember the trouble he caused President Truman and Secretary of State Byrne by denouncing U.S. foreign policy while still a member of the Cabinet. His latest "brick", early in December, was dropped when a supporter of the extreme left reminded him that a third presidential candidate would almost certainly mean a Republican victory. He immediately said he would rather see a Republican victory than a Democratic victory.

• • •

Mr. Wallace probably answered truthfully. The Republican Party of the United States contains a larger isolationist group than the Democratic Party—and it would suit the Communists' book to have that group in the U.S. Government party. But Mr. Wallace hadn't thought quickly enough. He didn't remember that U.S. organized labour had a non-Communist majority; he didn't recall that to this majority the Taft-Hartley labour law was anathema, or that the legislation was the product of the Republicans. So he immediately attempted to placate his former non-Communist supporters in organized labour.

• • •

This time it didn't work. Organized labour in general is apparently ready to turn thumbs down on Henry Wallace. It stuck to him fairly well even after his foreign policy speech, but the latest manoeuvres have revealed too clearly whose candidate he really is.

• • •

Mr. Wallace is running at the urging of the executive committee of the Progressive Citizens of America, described as "pink" or "liberal", depending on the point of view. That started people rushing away from Mr. Wallace in droves. Two of the P.C.A.'s executive committee thought him a shade too pink and dropped out. Then two of the most powerful C.I.O. unions saw the shade as red, and announced they wanted no part of a third presidential candidate. These were the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and the National Maritime Union; they were joined by Walter Reuther, head of the Automobile Workers. That left Mr. Wallace with a handful of supporters—the P.C.A., the Communist Daily Worker, Communist Congressman Vito Marcantonio of New York, and Communist Harry Bridges, of the Pacific maritime union.

• • •

The development may also have wiped out Mr. Wallace's potential power to affect the presidential election one way or another. Had he retained his labour support, it would have meant almost certain defeat for the Democrats. As it is, neither side has expressed great elation or alarm. They apparently feel that a candidate known to be running on a Red ticket will not get very far.

The Post-War Problems Of San Marino

Like other countries in Europe, San Marino has its post-war problems, which are naturally connected with those of Italy to which the Republic is contiguous. These problems are comparatively small in scope, since San Marino is the smallest country in the world—38 square miles with a total population of 14,000.

San Marino lays claim to being the oldest state in Europe, having been founded at the end of the fourth century A.D. Therefore, and since it is situated on triple rocky peaks less accessible than the flat town of Rimini on the Adriatic only 15 miles distant, it meets change stolidly. Even in the late war it was non-partisan, though warring armies fought all around it. The Germans were thought to have had gun emplacements on its heights, but the Canadian troops and the British Eighth Army respected its neutrality—after sending a few survey parties up to make sure that there were no Germans lurking behind rocks or in the cafes of Albergo del Titano, its only town and the seat of government.

The present problems of San Marino are in part Italy's, though the communists are not welcomed in its 38 square miles. The little luxuries and the imported necessities of life are in short supply. Its building-stone export trade is suffering because the Italian buyers still lack mortar and cement. But there is a good market for the wine, cattle and vegetables—and for the postage stamps. There is little copper available for its coins, and its paper money is Italian. The European Recovery Program will therefore be hailed with relief by those inhabitants who can read and write or who possess radios.

San Marino, like the country from which its tiny territory is segregated, is in need of the traditional blood-transfusion for picture-book countries—tourists with their dollars and pounds. Perhaps if E.R.P. accomplishes the maximum hoped of it, if the Geneva Agreements re-open fruitful trade, and if Togliatti the Italian communist does not have his way, Britain as well as Canadian and American travellers may again set out on the Grand Tour, and en route from Ravenna to Florence, may deviate to San Marino to quaff vino roso and buy postage stamps.

The Fight Of The Coracle Fishermen

There are some people who seem to be possessed of a positive enmity for anything which is old; old customs and old privileges irk them unbearably, and if they can—in the name of Progress—destroy anything which has defied the ravages of Time, they experience a twisted, unenviable happiness.

Consider the case of the coracle fishermen of South Wales: two thousand years ago, when Julius Caesar led his legions through that country he recorded his delight and astonishment at the spectacle of the coracle fishermen who fished for salmon on the River Teifi; they were there long before Caesar came, and they are still fishing for salmon, in the same way, to this day; but the Teifi and Ayron Fishery Board has passed a by-law forbidding any further issuing of licenses to coracle fishermen, and thus in the course of time they must die out. And so, by a stroke of a pen, a little local fisheries board seeks to destroy an amazing piece of antiquity, and a link with pre-Roman Britain! What impertinence!

What is a coracle fisherman? He is a man who fishes from a coracle, which is a corwgl—a Welsh word meaning "little boat". These little boats are very little indeed; they look like large market baskets, and are made of wickerwork, over which hide and pitch are stretched. On the water a coracle looks rather like a soup-plate with a man in it. The coracles are almost round, and great skill is required to manipulate one. The Ancient Britons fished from them, and their descendants do so today — but that mighty body, the Teifi and Ayron Fishery Board has decided that they shall do so no more.

The coracle fishermen mean to make a fight of it. We hope they win.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Our New Year's message to the Communist brotherhood: Give unrest a rest.

A psychologist says that belief in Santa Claus is detrimental to society as a whole. But it is a wonderful break for politicians around election time.

The latest report of a strange sea monster off the coast of North Carolina—by the captain of an American steamship who had a close-up view—is hardly to be questioned. Imaginative persons have made the "sea serpent" a figure of fun, but the fact is that over the years reports of varying degrees of authenticity have indicated the presence in the seas of huge creatures unknown to science.—Ottawa Journal.

Diary Of The New Year

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Once again, after a pause of many years, catalogues are beginning to reach me from sellers of old books in England. If I had any strength of character I should throw these into the garbage pail as soon as they arrive, but I am a weak creature, and I always risk a peek. This is fatal, for in no time at all the concupiscence of the book-collector burns hotly within me, I send off an order, and in the course of time a new treasure is added to the cupboard at Marchbanks Towers ....Real bibliophiles do not put their books on shelves for people to look at or handle. They have no desire to show off their darlings, or to amaze people with their possessions. They keep their prized books hidden away in a secret spot to which they resort stealthily, like a Caliph visiting his harem, or a church elder sneaking into a bar. To be a book collector is to combine the worst characteristics of a dope-fiend with those of a miser.

◇ ◇ ◇

MONDAY: To the movies tonight to see "Great Expectations", a film which I had seen before but which was well worth a second visit. It is odd how many people think of Dickens as a comic, and indeed farcical writer, even after reading a story so full of bitterness as "Great Expectations". They are the same people, I suppose, who persist in saying that "the Russian novelists are very morbid, aren't they?"—although the Russian novelists are no more morbid than English or American ones. And Dostoievsky, perhaps the greatest of the Russians, owed a huge debt to Charles Dickens, and tried hard to write like him! Dostoievsky is, in fact, Dickens as the Russians see him. People who persist in thinking of Dickens as a nice, jolly writer, suitable for children, would do well to revise their opinions.

◇ ◇ ◇

TUESDAY: A man was telling me today about a fellow he saw decorating a Christmas tree in the Toronto Union Station not long before Christmas; the decorator was one of the station sweepers, and was dressed in the overalls of his trade, but it was obvious that he had the soul of an artist, for instead of sticking cotton wool on the tree with his fingers, he was very carefully blowing it on! I should like to have seen this myself; I am always refreshed by the spectacle of anybody doing his job with unusual enthusiasm or imagination....My friend had plenty of time to watch the decorator, for he was standing at a wicket behind another man who was trying to get his money back on a ticket which he had not been able to use. Anyone who has tried to recover money from a railway knows what a long process this is. It is not that railways are mean, or dishonest; it is simply that their system of book-keeping only permits of money entering the possession of the company; when they are called upon to part with money a whole new system has to be devised, and this takes time.

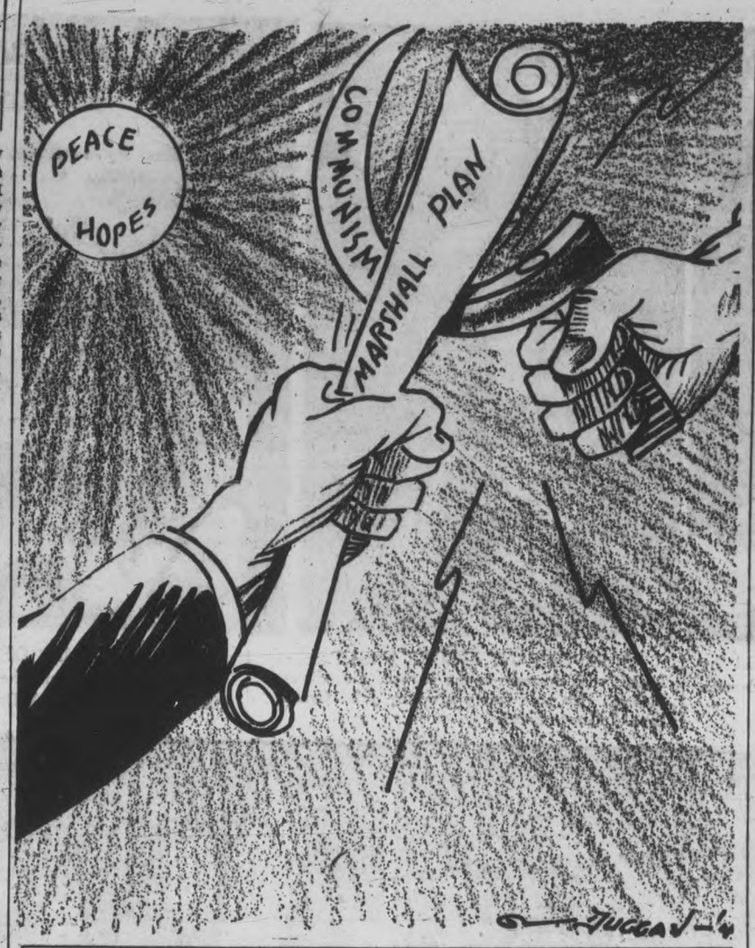
◇ ◇ ◇

WEDNESDAY: The last day of 1947, and I spend some time copying vital information about myself into a little pocket memorandum book which I shall try to remember to carry about with me during 1948. The idea of the manufacturers (and my own, in my optimistic moments) is that this little book will save me trouble by remembering things which I should otherwise forget. But unfortunately there is nothing to keep me from forgetting the little book, and this is what I always do. For the first week of each year I tuck it into my coat pocket each morning, and into my pyjama pocket each night, and faithfully make notes of all my appointments, odd jobs and important expenditures. But then it gets sent to the cleaners, and is cleaned, or to the laundry and is washed, or I miss a few days and forget about it altogether, and I do not see it again until August. Then I make a fresh start, but I soon lose heart, and write nothing in it until Christmas, when I use it to make a Christmas list, which I do not stick to. I have a dozen such little books in my files—mute and reproachful milestones on the path of a disorderly, ill-documented life.

◇ ◇ ◇

THURSDAY AND NEW YEAR'S DAY: Watched a large group of children skating this afternoon, and was impressed once again by the shameless boastfulness of the young. One little girl kept falling down on her behind, and each time she did so she would shout, "I did that on purpose!" to the spectators; reflected that if her thinking becomes fixed in this channel the only career open to her will be politics, for her technique is precisely that of some of our most eminent statesmen, who never execute a pratfall without declaring that they had some subtle design in doing so....Listened to my gramophone tonight. Every now and then its voice would give a sickening dip, and the music would lurch horribly, and every time this happened my companions would say, "The Hydro shortage!" Reflected that the old-fashioned machine which wound up with a crank had its points, even if the crank did occasionally recoil and crack you over the knuckles....Have begun 1948 in a glow of smug virtue, though now and then disturbing thoughts of my cellar, which is a Class A fire hazard, break through the surface of my equanimity.

◇ ◇ ◇



FRIDAY: A man sends me a clipping about one John W. Marchbanks, who has died in San Francisco, leaving five million dollars; he was, it appears, a well-known gambler in California and owned a racetrack. These things suggest that he may be a relative of mine, but I observe that he left large bequests to four churches, which makes it very unlikely. Will the churches take Marchbanks' tainted gold? No doubt they will find some means of purifying it.

◇ ◇ ◇

SATURDAY: A reader who has been dismayed by my apparent distaste for stamp-collecting has sent me a stamp which will, he hopes, change my opinion; it is a Spanish item, issued in commemoration of the painter Goya, and bearing a fine engraving of his picture "The Nude Maja". Certainly if other countries were to adopt the custom of putting naked women on their stamps I would become an ardent collector, and I may add also that international correspondence would be considerably brisker than it is. On this Spanish stamp the figure reclines gracefully upon cushions which are so frilly that they speak eloquently of the langorous South, and it is thus admirably characteristic of its country of origin. Could Canada, I wonder, put out stamps depicting the nude Laura Secord driving her nude cow (1 cent), an undressed Madeleine de Vercheres shooting at some half-dressed Indians (3 cents) and Madame de Champlain taking a winter dip through a hole in the ice at Quebec (4 cents)? These designs would give Canadian stamps a standing in the philatelic world which they lack at present.

DUEL IN THE SUN

The Big Storm In New York

(NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE)

NEW YORK'S white calamity overtook the city and its environs silently. The hurrying snowflakes at first seemed intent only upon their customary task of softening sharp outlines and spreading clean, bright magic over the drabber portions of the metropolis. Weather reports were soothing and there was little to suggest that here was something grimmer than the mild inconvenience which adds gaiety to the first major snowfall of the season.

But as the afternoon wore on, the high-piled drifts took on shapes that were unfamiliar and vaguely menacing. City and suburban traffic plunged into the smothering barricades of snow, slowed, ground to a halt.

The intricate mechanism that alone makes life in a great centre possible felt creeping paralysis strike at its very heart. Trains stalled at awkward places on the lines; autos were abandoned to become grotesque heaps, scarcely distinguishable from the piled whiteness all around them.

IN the dusk, New York became a city of wandering ghosts as the homing habits of millions were abruptly broken, and workers became unhappily aware of the distances that separated shops and offices from their residences. There was some panic and anger as the inexorable snow mounted flake by flake and service after transit service slowed or stopped altogether.

But as the magnitude of the event was revealed—a swift envelopment of a whole complex region in a strangling white blanket inches thicker than that which made 1888 a year to live in memory—hospitality was improvised; the homeless were bedded down in stations, theatres, places of business, wherever there was warmth and shelter. Somehow New York lived through its strange night.

There were tragedies and grim experiences in the snow-powdered darkness. It came as a shock to many to realize that the elaborate devices and organizations which the city had created for its protection against fire and crime, for the movement of persons and essential goods, were virtually helpless against this vagrant storm that so casually veered from its plotted course and beat upon the metropolis.

It was a shock to learn, as Britain and western Europe had learned last winter, that a slight disturbance in the normal balance of the weather could be as disrupting as the mightiest air raid. It was sobering to discover in the dazzling morning that mighty efforts would be necessary to free the city from its smothering cover, to open roads for the transport of food and fuel, to clear streets so that police cars and fire engines could resume their task of safeguarding citizens and property. A heavy bill of costs had been accumulated in the brief span of a day, and many more millions would be lost or expended before the city could be shaken loose from its white bonds.

AND yet there was a curious exhilaration in the experience—something of the strange pride which observers of bombed cities had noticed among the victims; something more of the excitement which comes from the breaking of familiar routine.

Despite the suddenness and extent of the blow, the storm revealed that New York has physical resources and a store of ingenuity that kept actual hardship to a minimum, and often made an adventure of inconvenience.

The white calamity was chastening for a city which had come to take its own complex organism for granted. But there was matter for pride, too, in the manner in which New York met the emergency. The metropolis is tougher than it sometimes appears to be.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then sang Moses and the children of Israel this song unto the Lord, and spake, saying, I will sing unto the Lord, for he hath triumphed gloriously...The Lord shall reign for ever and ever. (Ex. 15: 1, 18.)

◇ ◇ ◇

The Lord hath prepared his throne in the heavens; and his kingdom ruleth over all.

Bless the Lord, ye his angels, that excel in strength, that do his commandments, hearkening unto the voice of his word.

Bless ye the Lord, all ye his hosts; ye ministers of his, that do his pleasure. (Ps. 103: 19-21.)

The glory of the Lord shall endure for ever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works...

I will sing unto the Lord as long as I live: I will sing praise to my God while I have my being.

My meditation of him shall be sweet: I will be glad in the Lord. (Ps. 104: 31, 33, 34.)

Letter To The Editor

ALDERMEN SHOULD BE TAXPAYERS

Sir: With your permission I would like to add further remarks about municipal voting.

I fully agree with what "Junius" said in the December 6 Examiner, and Mr. Tinker's remarks in the December 9 Examiner, namely, to bring back the Ward System of voting for two candidates in each ward, which would give the city of Peterborough a much better representation.

In Mr. Begg's letter of December 17, he suggests "at least a slogan 'Give Labour a voice in Civic Affairs.'"

Look at the mess that England is in since the Labour Government got into power. It will take England years to get back to her former self again.

The city business is a big business involving the spending of about a million dollars a year of taxpayers money, and this needs business men to handle that amount of money wisely. To my mind the Municipal Act should be amended from allowing a tenant who has not been thrifty enough to acquire his own home, and has nothing at stake, from spending taxpayers money who have acquired property from their savings and thriftiness.

Before aldermen and Board of Education are elected to office, they should be required to pay taxes per annum of between three and four hundred dollars, which would make them more careful in spending the taxpayer's money.

Yours sincerely,
"A TAXPAYER FOR 43 YEARS."

A BRITISH OPINION

Calendar Will Catch Up Lost Day In '48

Thursday was the beginning of 1948 and the New Year. This is Leap Year, the one year in four by which the calendar catches up to itself and makes amends for being just slightly out of kilter.

The Equinoctial or Tropical Year is the space in time required by the earth to revolve around the sun from equinox to equinox. An Equinoctial Year is really 365.2422 mean days. This fraction in time is made up every four years, when a day is added to the 28 of February to make 29 days for that month. In this manner the calendar leaps over one day of the week and readjusts itself to the ordinary 365 days in each ordinary year.

Divisible By Four

Every leap year is divisible equally by four, except the years designating the century, which have to be divisible by 400 to be leap years. Neither 1800 nor 1900 was a leap year. But 1600 was a leap year and 2000 will be a leap year.

There are four seasons in each year: spring, summer, autumn and winter. They commence at the vernal equinox, the summer solstice, the autumnal equinox and the winter solstice.

Spring begins on March 21.
Summer begins on June 21.
Autumn begins on September 23.
Winter begins on December 21.

Axis of Earth.

If the earth's axis, which always points in the same direction, were perpendicular to the plane of the earth's orbit around the sun, the seasons would always be the same. There would be no change. Also, the days and nights would always be of equal length, no long days and no short days. And, there would be little variations in temperature.

It is only in March and September that the earth's axis is at right angles to the direction of the sun. The earth's axis is titled at 23 degrees, 27 minutes, away from a perpendicular to the plane of the earth's orbit around the sun. That gives the earth varying seasons and also varying lengths of days and nights.

In June, when the days are longest, the North Pole is tilted 23 degrees, 27 minutes, toward the sun and the days are longer than the nights.

In December, when the days are shortest, the North Pole is tilted 23 degrees, 27 minutes, away from the sun and the nights are longest.

Heat From Sun

The sun gives the most heat when the days are longest. In the summer the heat received from the sun by day is much greater than the loss through radiation by night. The thermometer climbs. But, in winter the heat received during the day is more than lost through the long nights and the temperature drops. It is not until late in January and sometimes well on into February that the weather shows any definite signs of warming up, even slightly.

Going into the New Year, the days are still pretty short. On January 1, 1948, the sun rose at 8:01 a.m. and set at 5:10 p.m. That gave the day one minute longer than the last day of the year, December 31, when the sun rose at 8:01 a.m. and set at 5:09 p.m.

It is in March and September that the days and nights are of equal lengths. That is when the earth's axis is at right angles to the direction of the sun.

On March 17, 1948, the sun will rise at 6:41 a.m. and set at 6:41 p.m. Thus, Saint Patrick's Day will see the day and night of equal length, each being 12 hours.

Again, on September 26, the sun will rise at 6:23 a.m. and set at 6:23 p.m. That will be the day in the fall when the day and night will be of equal length.

Rising Sun

The sun rose at 8:01 a.m. on New Year's Day.

The sun will continue to rise earlier by steady progression until June 8, when it will rise at 4:55 a.m. It will continue to rise at that time until June 23, when it will not rise until 4:56 a.m., or one minute later. Then, the sunrise will get later and later until on December 29, next year, it will rise at 8:01 a.m. It will keep rising at that hour until into January of 1949.

Setting Sun

The sun set at 5:10 p.m. New Year's Day.

The sun will continue to set later and later in the evenings until June 25, when it will set at 8:13 p.m. It will continue to set at 8:13 p.m. through June and then on July 1, the evenings will start closing in when the sun sets at 8:12 p.m.

Of course, with daylight saving, these times will all be altered by one hour. The sun will set at 9:13 p.m. next June by daylight time.

The story of the calendar is a complex study. But, the scientists can say now when the sun will rise and set a century from now. It is all regulated in mysterious fashion, yet so regulated that those who have studied it know that it will work out to the second.

YULETIDE GREETINGS

We're knee-deep in Christmas excitement . . . With scarcely a moment to spare . . . we're trying to box all the neckties and socks . . . and handle the doilies with care. The cards must be written and posted . . . to reach destination on time . . . but early or late other pleasures must wait . . . until you've been greeted in rhyme. We're working like beavers I'll grant you . . . with Santa preparing to call . . . and peeking from beds I see two little heads . . . determined to witness it all. It's time they were busy with dreaming . . . (Excuse me—I'll fasten their door) . . . and now once again I have taken my pen . . . to greet you as mentioned before. In spite of the rush and confusion . . . that's taken so long to explain . . . in spite of the noise and the ties and the toys . . . I'll greet you in lines that remain . . . no doubt you're as busy as we are . . . I hope that your hearts are as glad . . . so let me just say "May your Christmas be gay" . . . "the best one that ever you've had".

Restoration of Beaver Ponds

By ARTHUR PARKER,
Kawartha Conservation Association.

There is a growing fear among our naturalists that the scarcity of many species of our birds and animals is reaching a point where even the awful thought of extinction is being mentioned. The question, therefore arises, "What could be done to improve conditions for our wild-life without the spending of huge sums of money that we can ill afford at this time?" To answer that question let us go back a few years and see what constitutes the chief difference between conditions then and now.

Let us begin with that all-important family, the beaver — he has been called nature's engineer. Truly spoken, for it appears that he had a special purpose, in doing much to even out what is known as the "Balance of Nature." The building of dams across the smaller creeks built up throughout the woodlands a multitude of reservoirs which held varying quantities of water. The beaver knew how high to keep the water for ideal results both for his own needs and for the use of his neighbors. Each beaver pond became an "oasis" in the land, for after all, great numbers of animals cannot exist in a given territory just because it is covered with trees! The muskrats soon established themselves in the pond and made use of the water lilies, rushes and cat-tails for his food and housing needs. This didn't conflict with the beaver's wants for he used the alders, willows, populars and other small timber at the fringe of the pond. The high water would have drowned out this brush and timber anyway, but being a true conservationist the beaver allowed nothing to be wasted!

The pond soon had other tenants too. Minnows, chub and other small fish multiplied to say nothing of frogs, crayfish, clams and other creatures that make up a natural aquarium. This in turn provided the most attractive feeding ground for such valuable animals as mink, marten, racoon and others. The lynx and fox paid their regular calls for they, being predators, benefitted directly from the abundance of the smaller game and remember, there were ducks and other waterfowl to be found in season. Owls, hawks, ospreys and even kingfishers all depended in some measure on the benefits from the beaver pond. Nor are we finished yet, for as it happens, the deer and the lordly moose always did count on the tender water plants to form a large part of their diet in summer.

Here then we have a picture of what existed a few years ago; multiply this beaver pond by several thousand and it is quite apparent that this formed a major part of nature's outdoor life. Would the restoration of our beaver colonies not solve much of the scarcity problem of wild life today? Indeed it would, if governments and individuals would only allow themselves to be convinced. WHAT ARE PUGGWUZZIES? Reference these little fellows in my last column, has brought a few enquiries. To answer that question briefly, a puggwuzzy is to the Indian what a gremlin is to the aviator, and what the fairy is to the Irishman. For instance, if you were walking along a forest trail, and a branch whipped back and slapped you on the puss, it would not be an accident, but the mischievous puggwuzzy in action. Similarly if a branch on the trail trips you up, and sends you sprawling, breaking those four eggs you wrapped so carefully in paper in your packsack, blame the puggwuzzies. When the muskrat trap is sprung, and not even a wisp of fur left behind, when the fire burns out an hour early, when the roof of the cabin leaks, or when you rip the elbow out of your best hunting shirt ,on a dry pine stub, don't cuss or fume, just blame the puggwuzzies.

THEY ARE NOT ALWAYS DESTRUCTIVE. They are conservationists. It is the puggwuzzy that whispers in the beaver's ear to tell him the dam is breaking and needs immediate repairs. They warn the meadowlark, and the grass bird to remain quiet when the shadow of a hawk or an egg-stealing crow flits across the field. They guide the cottontails on the safe trail out of the brush-pile when a hungry owl is perched waiting to pounce. They tell the mother partridge to slip silently from the nest and circle the fox, to mislead Reynard, and protect the nest of almost-hatched eggs. It is the puggwuzzies, who show the female deer where to hide her fawn when the hounds are baying; she knows the little one cannot outrun them. Sure they do a lot of good.

I'VE SEEN THESE PUGGWUZZIES. Of course on New Year's Eve, I saw armies of them, but then who doesn't see apparitions at that time. Even Jim Coleman of the Globe and Mail admits a passing acquaintance with the puggwuzzies, but, of course, newspapermen always do see strange things, and dream strange dreams when they are over-tired. What do they look like? Ever see the Hollywood version of the fairies and leprechauns. Remember "Three Wise Fools", where the fairies lived in the big tree. Well, the puggwuzzies are the same size, about six inches tall, but they don't wear green hats, they wear the Mohawk warrior head-dress, three feathers in a common tuft, and the feathers stick straight up. They have the high cheekbones, and the prominent aquiline noses of the early Indian, but are not stoics. They are jolly, laugh most of the time, and little imps of mischief dance in their eyes. If a puggwuzzy misbehaves, his spirit enters a chic-a-dee, then when the bird dies, the puggwuzzy comes to life again. His term of imprisonment as a chic-a-dee is penance for being careless. Ever notice, how a chic-a-dee talks, chirps and chatters all the time, that's the rebellious spirit of the puggwuzzy protesting his existence. He wants you to bop the chic-a-dee so he can live again.

PICKEREL FOR CHRISTMAS. A resident of Mark street in Ashburnham tried keeping pickerel alive in his flower garden pool. He caught two six pounders on October 15, the last day of the open season, and turned them loose in the lily pool which was three feet deep. Every day he fed them oatmeal, imagine making vegetarians out of cannibals. The pickerel got rather loggy and wouldn't move unless the pool was given a kick. One morning he went out and the pool had a thin coating of ice, so he decided it was time to give the walleyes the chop. They had then been in the pool a month, and as this fellow had no commercial fishing license, I guess he was breaking the law. At any rate he caught the fish, and froze them, then cleaned the pair and had sizzling pickerel steaks. His wife dipped the chunks in egg batter, then rolled them in pulverized cornflakes. Pickerel from a garden lily pool, that's really something.

DIAMOND LAKE is a treasure spot for the speckled trout fisherman. It is located near Lake Baptiste in the Wilberforce section of Haliburton. The strange thing about this lake is that it is extremely difficult to catch the speckles during the open season. A few veterans like Harland Keefer of this city can get whoppers in Diamond, but general run of flycasters and worm dunkers, come home cussing the spot, and the beauties hiding in its depths. There's skullduggery afoot. Section men working on the I. B. and O. stop their handcars and gas scooters near the lake, chop a hole in the ice, and drop a hand-line through. In mid-winter the unpredictable trout bite like mad, so the section men have lovely, red-fleshed trout for dinner, cooked in the lea of a pile of ties. It's 'agin' the law, gentlemen, trout season opens May 1 and closes Sept. 15, so enough of this poaching. Besides it's a bad example—who knows what will happen to the mad trout men whey they read this.

IF VINCE ANTHONY wants to bet you ten bucks, that the largest muskie on record weighed 110 pounds, don't take him up, because he's right. At present the world record muskie caught by angling, was taken by Percy Haver of Detroit, and the fish weighed 62 pounds, eight ounces. But back 26 years ago, a man hauled a muskie out of Intermediate lake in Michigan that weighed 110 pounds. It was almost seven feet long and plenty broad. This fish is not listed in game fish records because it was not caught with rod and line. It was netted. Another monster weighing 75 pounds was also netted in Michigan. That was before the State fishing laws were changed making it illegal to take maskinonge by other than angling, and limiting the open season to its present period.

RED AND GREEN ARM BANDS—For the benefit of those who think skiing is a pleasant sport and not a short-cut to a gabfest with St. Peter, green and red armbands have a meaning. The red band is worn by members of the ski-patrol. These men are policemen and first-aid experts and will be seen at Bethany and at Kemp's Hill whenever possible. The green armband indicates an instructor, and it is reasonable to expect he is teaching a group of youngsters. If you see him, stay clear of the area. The muddle-headed public enemies who come zooming down the hill, yelling "TRACK", when they couldn't stop if they came face to face with a ten-foot thick elm should be bound, gagged and stood in deep drifts until everyone has left the ski hill. Skiing is getting plenty of impetus locally and already plans are underway for the big Ski Meet on February 7.

ON THE GRAPEVINE—I heard that a group of local men, most of them college graduates with scientific training and knowledge want to do their bit to improve the speckled trout fishing. Their complete plans are not known, but they have proffered any assistance they can give to the Dept. of Lands and Forests, and I understand certain experiments will be carried out on Jackson's Park creek, Kelly's creek and possibly Cavan stream. This is a project that can do no harm, and should do a lot of good. There is no reason why Jackson Park creek should not be a topnotch trout stream. Of course much reforesting will have to be done, and a few small dams will have to be built. This pollution with garbage and other junk inside the city limits should be stopped at once, too.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF—Headed by members of the Algoma Game, Fish, and Forest Association, a group of hunters is preparing to go to the assistance of a herd of deer reported starving in a yarded area about 35 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie. The group will endeavor to chop enough boughs to assure food for the deer. The herd was reported trapped by wolf packs and they have eaten all the available greens within reach.

Chloroform First Used In Peterborough In Year 1860 By Dr. George Burnham

HELEN MARRYAT

Dr. George Burnham practised medicine in Peterborough for 11 years before the discovery of chloroform, and another 12 years or more before this method of anaesthesia was in common use. By 1864-5, so rapidly was its importance realized, it was the number 1 remedy for toothache, an affliction of which we have little sympathy for today, when a trip to the dentist need not be postponed for even one hour, but which was in our grandparents' time a source of misery and woe.

There is really no connection with Dr. Burnham, a well-beloved family doctor, and Sir James Young Simpson, the discoverer of chloroform, except that they graduated about the same time. And they have no immediate connection with Dr. John Forrest Dewar of Port Hope, who was the first man to use the new anaesthetic in this district.

But sometimes an event can be appreciated if it is explained in terms of men's lives, and so, here are three short biographies of doctors who discovered, introduced and applied a startling new mode of treatment.

Settling in what was in 1836 a backwoods village, where there was not even a sidewalk till 1847, Dr. Burnham began a lifetime of service to the community in days when a doctor thought nothing of a ride of 40 miles to answer a call for help. He had the confidence of the people at once in an unusual degree and many older residents remembered his response to their cries for help, and his kindly disposition and sympathy for them in their distress.

He was born on Sept. 4th, 1814, on a farm half-way between Cobourg and Port Hope, where his father, John Burnham, one of the four Burnham brothers, had settled when it was but "a waste, howling wildnerness." He attended Port Hope Grammar School and at the same time studied with Dr. McSpaddin. He then attended lectures at the Bellevue Hospital Medical College in New York, where he received his M.D., subsequently obtaining the same degree from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

In 1847, Dr. Burnham married Miss Adeline Humphries Spalding, a daughter of John Spalding, of Grafton, Haldimand, thereby uniting two prominent U.E. Loyalist families. Of their eight children the late J. Hampden Burnham passed away only a few years ago. Another son, Dr. George Herbert Burnham was connected with the London Ophthalmic Hospital, a daughter, Helen Seymour became the wife of the late Dr. Robert P. Boucher.

James Young Simpson (1811-1870) graduated in 1832. This young man has rushed away from Edinburgh Infirmary, horrified by the shrieks of a poor woman who was undergoing the removal of a tumor with anaesthetic as was the fate of sufferers in those days. Simpson was "a Bathgate bairn" and his village-bred sensibilities were perhaps sharper to feel the woes of others than had he been a city lad without that same interest in "the neighbors." At first he thought of studying law but, fortunately for suffering humanity, he returned to "consider for the rest of his days, how human suffering could be relieved, essaying the practice of hypnotism and the use of various drugs, till he discovered the anaesthetic property of chloroform."

Two years after James Simpson had graduated as a Doctor of Medicine, John Forrest was born in Edinburgh in 1834, the son of John Dewar, and Elizabeth Burnet. He studied in his native city and "walked several hospitals on the continent with a special view of witnessing surgical operations. He practised for a short time in Turin, Italy, and then came to Canada, settling at Port Hope, where he was the attending physician at Trinity College School until his death in 1877. Dr. Dewar was the first man to administer choloroform to his patients in Port Hope and for a time he was the only physician in the vicinity to make a practice of its use. As Dr. Dewar did not come to Port Hope until 1850, chloroform cannot have been in general use in the Peterborough district until after 1860. Dr. Dewar was "a thorough student all his days," possessed one of the best libraries in the district, was a great reader, was highly regarded as a surgeon. He married Ann, daughter of Charles Hughes of Port Hope.

Dr. Burnham outlived both Sir James Y. Simpson and his younger colleague. Trouble with his eyes compelled him to partially retire from his extensive practice, but his interest in everything pertaining to Peterborough remained with him to the end. He took a great interest in educational matters, and "did a great deal to elevate the standard of public instruction."

Apple Tree and Blossom Belong To New Year's

BY MRS. W. E. BALL

At this season, we hear a great deal about the Christmas tree, but there is a tree that belongs especially to the New Year — the apple tree. In this connection, it is interesting to note that the special flower for the New Year is the apple blossom, and that in lands as far distant from each other as ancient Rome, and modern Japan.

Legend has it that, in Rome of olden days, branches would be cut from the leafless apple trees, placed in water in a sunny window, and in the course of weeks they would bear leaves; if they blossomed by January 1, which was the New Year's Day, this fact was regarded as a certainty of good fortune during the year to the household where the branch had burst into bloom.

Long ago inland Palestine, like Egypt, had altogether too warm a climate for apple growing; yet in our day, all along the seacoast of the Holy Land there are large apple orchards. So we have no reason to doubt that Solomon meant anything else but apples, when in his Song of Songs, he wrote, making Love say of the Beloved: "As the apple tree among the trees of the wood, so is my Beloved among the sons;" to which the Beloved replies, "I raised thee up under the apple tree." History records that both the Greeks and the Romans were great lovers of the fruit of the apple orchards, and students of ancient history will recall that the famous "Apple of Discord appears in Greek poetry, the Shepherd Paris having been bribed by it by the Goddess of Love. It is also said that one of the great tasks of Hercules was bringing the apples from the Hesperides, those mysterious islands located in the far west.

In Homer's writings mention is madt of the garden, or orchard, of Alcinous, four acres in extent, fenced in, and planted with fruit trees, the chief of which was the apple. The Goddess of All Fruits was named Pomona by the Romans, from pomme, apple; and they invoked the blessing of Heaven on ther orchards on New Year's Day, using the flower of the apple.

Probably the original apple trees of Italy were brought from the highlands of Asia Minor, and so highly were they valued by the Romans, as they went out to conquer and colonize the world, they endeavored to plant, and cultivate apple trees wherever they went. When Rome had conquered England, however, it was found that the climate, with frosts and snows, was one bitter grievance the Romans had against the "tight little Island". Britain had apples at the time, but they were hard, and tasteless crabs, growing wild; with their usual perseverance, the Roman interlopers, by patient skill, grafted cuttings from the apple trees of Sunny Italy, till finally success crowned their efforts when they evolved a British apple, with the flavour of the Italian, while the tree had the strength of the parent crab and hence could flourish in the hardy climate.

Later, when the Romans left Britain, their apples stayed, and from the influence of these facts

Review Your Will NOW!

Many people make it a point to review their will the first of every year and give careful consideration to changed circumstances.

Your executor may have moved away, or become ill, or may have become so involved in his own business that he could not give sufficient time to the management of your estate. Beneficiaries may not now be living.

These are only a few reasons why you should review your Will now. A simple codicil is all that is necessary to secure the services of The Grey & Bruce Trust & Savings Company as your Executor.

Your Will . . .

Your will is one of the most important documents you will ever be called upon to sign.

Do not draw your own Will. Your Lawyer is best fitted for this task.

If you do not name an executor, the Court will be required to appoint one. Why not save this trouble and expense and appoint an experienced executor and trustee?

It costs no more to have a Trust Company act as your Executor.

Legionnaires Take Belleville By 10-7 Count In First Fray

The local Legionnaires opened their OHA Senior "B" schedule last night in Lindsay with a 10-7 victory over Belleville Vets before over 1,200 fans. They earned the win in a wide-open and fairly rugged match on fast ice, as they drew nine of the 15 penalties passed out by Referee Jack McEachern of Toronto.

IN ON FOUR—Joe Rochetta started off strong with Legion last night in Lindsay, figuring in on four goals as the locals copped a 10-7 win from Belleville to open their OHA senior "B" schedule before over 1,200 fans.

Despite their lack of condition, compared with the Vets, and the absence of two regular players — Don Coughlin and Ace Nicholls—the Legion crew turned in a fine opening effort. Belleville, though shy Walt Gerow, had a big margin in condition and finished stronger, but could not catch up to an early lead run up by the speedy and scrappy Legionnaires. It was 4-0 for Legion in the first period but whittled down to a 6-3 lead in the second and each side scored four goals in the third.

Joe and Percy

Joe Rochetta was in on four markers for the winners, as was Percy Nicholls, though the latter hurt his side's cause by drawing four penalties — a few of them rather cheap penalties. Bob Greenlaw, Bob Parnell, and Bill Crowley were in on two counters each, and the whole team went well, with Ross Nicholls in goal and Johnny Godfrey on defence sparkling defensively. The Goyers, Semark Williams and Barret stood out for Belleville. It was a speedy game, rugged at times, and some fair hockey kept the crowd yelling.

Legion struck fast and hard for four goals without a comeback in the initial inning. Bob Greenlaw got one in less than a minute combining with Rochetta and Crowley. Magee went off for cross-checking and got back when Williams got the nod for slashing. Then Bob Greenlaw scored again on Crowley's pass, and Percy Nicholls blazed a hot one in from Rochetta. Williams returned and Ernie Nicholls was gated for interference, but they added another on a neat effort by Percy Nicholls from Magee. Williams was robbed by Ross Nicholls near the end of the period.

Rochetta got in fast to tally off the goalie in the second heat, and Stewart drew an elbowing penalty. He was back when Murphy backhanded one home for the Vets in close on a pass from MacDonald. They roughed it up and drew penalties then, first Percy Nicholls and Stewart for roughing, then McNaught for slashing, Rochetta for slashing, and finally Vern Goyer for ragging the puck in the goal crease, after Godfrey missed on a breakaway. But they were all finally back when Ernie Nicholls scored from Mortimer on a passout. Percy Nicholls got it again for tripping and Belleville struck fast. Semark scored in close from Barrett and McNaught, and then L. Goyer got one from Williams and V. Goyer before the gong went.

Rochetta also opened the third chukker with an early goal around the net, but Leo Goyer got it right back from V. Goyer. Percy Nicholls counted another with a whistling blue-line shot after a pass from Parnell. Percy got another within two minutes from Parnell on a passout, his bullet drive once more fooling the goalie. H. Greenlaw got the last Legion tally on a pass from Vitarelli, and then the Vets roared back as Legion tired. McMaster went over the wall for boarding with Vern Goyer following for charging. Percy Nicholls drew one more for holding and the Vets really kept Ross on the hop. Semark finally dented the hemp, aided by Barrett and MacDonald, and, with Percy going away again for slashing, L. Goyer scored from V. Goyer and Yorke. Magee got it next for boarding, but was back when Williams counted the last goal, assisted by Barrett and Wardaugh.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Like hockey, football gradually becomes more streamlined as the emphasis is placed more and more on the offensive. Latest suggestion comes from the States proposing a free substitute rule. They claim it makes for a faster game, encourages use of more players, lets a coach get more out of his smaller men and eliminates any loafing on the field. Two objections are that freer substitution doesn't give players a chance to make their own decisions on the field and that special squads would be trained for attack and for defence. Still, we rather like the idea of keeping the pace up and giving more players action—and wouldn't be surprised to see the rule adopted within a couple of years.

* * * * * *

The covered rink situation locally is pretty grim and promises to be worse before it is better. Petes play "home" games in Omemee, Legion has to go to Lindsay for their "home" tilts, Oddfellows didn't get a rink at all in time for an OHA schedule—and must take a bye into group playoffs —while the hefty PMHA finally begged one night a week at Lakefield. All surrounding rinks like Lindsay, Omemee, Lakefield, Port Hope and Norwood are booked solidly for the winter and the younger teams can't beg, borrow or bribe a night under a roof. Something for a city of 35,000 to be proud of, eh?

* * * * * *

Nothing Was Done

The year 1947 was wasted insofar as getting started on the Memorial Centre arena project was concerned. Nothing done except a futile attempt to get Morrow Park as a site. We've got the money for a good start, the public generally is impatient for such a start, materials should be available—they can build two new theatres here —but we need a site. And it won't be obtained by sitting on our hands. Let's not fritter away 1948—let's get started. We'd suggest the new city council start things rolling, with the aid of the Memorial Committee, at once.

* * * * * *

Along this line, one hears talk of an early public meeting. Of young men interested in getting the project started. Service clubs, Jaycees, probably Legion, hockey groups, etc. We trust this isn't just talk but that they get together and bring in a slate of suggestions for council consideration. Peterborough will continue to be known throughout Ontario as "the rinkless city" until men of action get things going. We had high hopes of some action in '47 but they were dissipated as month after month went by awaiting a rather foregone conclusion—no dice at Morrow Park. Surely we can at least get started now when other places decide on similar projects and go ahead and complete them. Our public is pretty patient.

* * * * * *

But This Is Needed

Of more immediate importance is the suggestion this city have a secondary covered rink for natural ice. It is certainly needed now and will be even more so next year. And it will be when the artificial ice arena is ready. The city is growing and youth must be served. This proposed meeting should go into all angles regarding this type of rink, how money might be raised, where located, etc., with a view to having one built in time for next hockey and skating season. The lacrossers didn't fool around when turned down on a request for a box—they went out and raised the mazuma, built Miller Bowl and had a highly successful season last year. Let our hockeyists do likewise, but let's not dilly-dally any longer. Now is the time.

* * * * * *

Meandered up to Lindsay last night to see what Legion had to offer as they opened their OHA senior "B" schedule with Belleville Vets. They showed quite a bit in taking a 10-7 victory before more than 1200 fans. Don't sell 'em short this season. They were minus Don Coughlin (mumps, huh?) and Ace Nicholls—long bus trips, eh? —and certainly minus on condition. Yet they beat a well-conditioned team (shy Walt Gerow, though) in a speedy and wide-open game. Rugged in spots, too, with Legion drawing nine of the 15 penalties. Like Conny Smythe, it looks like Ned's team are ready to step into 'em this winter. Percy Nicholls was caught most often and did penance in the sin bin four times.

* * * * * *

Nicholls Will Help

The same Percy will be a big help to the squad, and so will Ross in goal, and Ernie and Ace. When they all get in shape and working together, they'll be no powder puffs for any club. Johnny Godfrey is his old canny self at defence—really smart — while Mick bumps 'em with gay abandon. Joe Rochetta looks to be in for a real season, figuring in on four goals last e'en—as did Percy Nicholls—and Bob Greenlaw, Bob Parnell and Bill Crowley flew in there for a couple of scoring points each. They have speed and fight, so we look for some rousing battles for the next month or two, and the tilt Tuesday between Legion and Petes in Omemee will be worth seeing.

CURLING NEWS

By HERB MARTIN

Umpire R. F. Downey has sent out the following notice to curling clubs in this district: "The first round of the District Cup competition will be played at Peterborough on Friday, Jan. 9, at 9.00 a.m."

Looking over the scores that were handed in Friday night, it looks as if the boys were playing them close to the vest. Most of the scores were close and small. Only one or two were a little lopsided.

We can take more entries for the big open bonspiel Jan. 12-16.

The mixed rink bonspiel for this evening is set down for 7.30 o'clock.

Teepees Score Surprise Win Over Oshawa

By The Canadian Press.

Owen Sound Mercurys, fifth-place occupants in the OHA Senior A circuit, have stepped off in the right direction in the 1948 part of their schedule.

Last night at Toronto the Mercury trounced the league-leading Toronto Marlboros 6-2, handing Joe Primeau's Dukes their fourth loss and worst trimming in 21 games. The win was Mercurys' eighth in 19 tilts.

In last night's junior tilt, the seventh-place St. Catharines Teepees scored a surprise 4-3 win over the second-place Oshawa Generals. The game was played at St. Cathatines.

In a senior tilt at Stratford, Clarence Shillington's hat trick in the second period was the leading factor in the second-place Hamilton Tigers' 5-3 victory over the third-place Stratford Indians.

Strengthen Hold.

Hamilton Patricias strengthened their hold on sixth and last playoff position when they blanked the cellar-dwelling Brantford Redmen 5-0 at Hamilton.

Playing coach Tommy Burlington's Owen Sound crew never lost the lead as they scored two goals for one in the first frame, tallied the second period's only counter and clinched the game with their "three-for-one" in the final stanza.

Burlington led Mercurys' scorers with three goals while teammates Pat McReavy, Murray Fife and Jim Boddy tallied once each. Leo Curik and Ford scored for Marlboros.

Hamilton Tigers at Stratford made their first game of the New Year their 15th win in 22 tries. Other Bengal marksmen were Tommy Tindal and Bert Peer. Stratford counters came from Wally Zuke, Jim Eady and Mickey Roth.

Hamilton Patricias had two new players in their lineup, Fred Porter — still of junior age—in goal; and Jack Thomas, just back from the Scottish Hockey League and on left wing.

Robbie Robinson led Hamilton's attack with two goals. Nick Phillips, Hugh Barlow, and Frank Long tallied Pats' other counters.

Busy Period.

At St. Catharines Referee Dinty Moore paraded no less than seven players to the penalty box in the last 10 minutes of the final period. Four Teepees and three Generals, six of them with majors for fights in separate corners of the Arena.

There was a two-all goal tie and four penalties in the first frame. There was no scoring in the second session, but 10 penalties were given out. Teams were tied 3-3 in the third period, nine penalties handed out. There were no penalties in overtime.

Fiery Goegan notched St. Catharines' overtime counter. Topper Toppazzini with two goals and Moon Mullen with one were the Teepees' other scorers. Oshawa goal-getters were Chuck Blair, Ted O'Connor, and George Scholes.

Fred Todd High

Fred Todd won the turkey roll at the "Y" alleys New Year's Day with a total of 933 pins. Ben Swartz went into the third game with a lead of 21 pins over Todd but this lead faded quickly when the latter got six strikes in a row and finished his third game with 324. George Coleman, Sr., won the high single with 302 pins. In the blind score, F. Dearborn and G. Coleman, Jr., were both within one point of the score, 179. In the roll-off Fred Dearborn won out. Twenty players took part in this annual event at the YMCA, having qualified by turning in the 20 high three games.

ATHLETIC AND SOCIAL CLUB FOR YOUTHS—The police force in Moose Jaw, Sask., has organized an athletic and social club and one of its main functions is to train young boys to be better citizens by enrolling them in the Mosse Jaw Safety Corps. Twenty-four boys are trained in two classes, which meet twice weekly in the police gymnasium in the city hall to hear lectures on citizenship and take training in boxing, wrestling and other forms of sport and muscle-building. In photo above Insp. Alex Bell watches as Const. Dick Nasmyth instructs the other half of the class in boxing stance. Equipment for the training, which will combat juvenile delinquency by giving close to 150 boys per year wholesome mental and physical training in their spare time, was donated by local organizations. At the end of the two-month term, boys will be graduated at public ceremonies and presented with certificates, buttons and copies of city by-laws by Chief Constable Alex Calder.

Believe Coach "Sammy" Talks Too Much

By H. DENT HODGSON

OTTAWA, Jan. 3 (CP).—That large orifice you are looking down belongs to Mr. Samuel Fox, who may be remembered as the late coach of the late and failing Ottawa Rough Riders of Big Four headaches.

He is down in Washington now, where the climate is more suited to gridiron talk, and, as Sammy always has done, he is indulging in controversial gum-beating — always an interesting sport when Mr. Fox is the man behind the vocal chords.

The lanky character with the big nose and even bigger mouth has had his feet in hot water ever since last Spring when, before ever seeting a Canadian game, he called Joe Krol "just another Joe."

Now, in an interview with Bob (Washington Post) McLean, he discloses that he taught Canadians the forward pass. Listen to some of his U.S. Capital interview:—

"Fox is one of a group of Americans who entered Canadian football this year and revolutionized the game by teaching the players the art of passing—American style."

The story goes on to say that Sam is "full of ideas" for future development of the Dominion game.

"Sammy," says Jack (Ottawa Citizen) Koffman, "a good enough fellow whose greatest fault is his habit of talking too much, must have an idea this country is nothing but a village, inhabited by people who don't know the score. . ."

"It probably would be interesting to Sammy Fox to know that there have been fellows operating in Eastern Canada football for some 17 years who could give the said Mr. Filchock and the gabby Mr. Fox a lesson or two in passing . . .

"Sammy might have proved a good coach had he learned to control his tongue . . ."

Leaf-Ranger Feud Renewal Top Attraction of NHL

By EDGAR SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The latest chapter in that cliff-hanging serial, "Who's Playing Dirty?" will be enacted with appropriate gestures by willing members of the New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs when the two National Hockey League clubs clash at Toronto tonight.

Cast as the hero (or as comic relief, depending where your sympathies lie) is fearless Frank Boucher, who doesn't think the league leaders play the game according to the rules. Two previous Ranger-Leaf clashes have brought claims from the New York manager that the Leafs were getting away wtih high-sticking, illegal interference and other misdemeanors.

The role of the villain (or hero—see above) will probably be filled by William Ezinicki, the rugged Toronto right winger whom Boucher occasionally singles out for special mention.

If—as seems likely—the Rangers survive the battle, they'll entertain the last-place Chicago Black Hawks Sunday night in another effort to defend their hold on third place against all comers.

Benefit Somehow

Currently two points ahead of the fourth-place Boston Bruins, Rangers will benefit somehow when the Bruins play the Canadiens in Montreal. The sagging Habitants, bolstered by the return to action of ace forward Maurice Richard, will be out to wipe out the two-point deficit that separates them from the fourth and last potential playoff spot.

The Frenchmen could pull all the way up to a third place tie by whipping the Bruins and adding a victory over the Red Wings at Detroit Sunday night. Richard may bolster their weakened offensive power, which let the Habs down badly as they lost to Toronto New Year's night.

But the Detroiters, striving to narrow the two-point edge held by the first-place Leafs, will be well-rested after their two holiday victories over Chicago and should provide tough sailing for last year's champions.

ANNUAL MATCHES IMPOSSIBLE

A high official of the British Professional Golfers' Association said yesterday that a proposal for annual Ryder Cup matches is "impossible" of fulfilment. The official said that Britain's P.G.A. has not enough money to pay the match expenses of a visiting United States team or the travelling expenses of a British team each year.

Say Carpenter Might Like To Use Old Deal

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(AP). —Wonder what the Phillies' Bob Carpenter, who apparently is frustrated in his efforts to get baseball players for mere money, would give for another deal like the one which brought old Pete Alexander to the Phils....Philadelphia drafted Alexander from Syracuse in 1910 for $50 and the Syracuse Club thought it was a pretty good deal....Seems that Charley Carr, who had Alex at Indianapolis, also was interested in a sporting goods company and wanted the New York State League to adopt his ball. So he gave the pitcher to the Syracuse club for its vote.

Tennis Down Under

Jack Bromwich is given first seeding in the Australian lawn tennis championships to be played at Melbourne Jan. 16-26 ... He is followed by Adrian Quist, Geoff Brown, Colin Long, Frank Sedgeman and Lionel Brodie ... Two Americans, Jim Brink and Eddie Moylan, will play.

Shorts and Shells

Football fans probably never will settle the argument, stemming from Michigan's Rose Bowl triumph, whether the Wolverines or Notre Dame had the best 1948 football team, but if Johnny Lujack and Bobby Layne both sign with the Chicago Bears, they'll get a chance to end the dispute about who is the best passer ... Boston Braves are offering 180 "sky view" box seats at $200 per copy for the season. They're the roof-top seats used as a football press box and won't be available if the Braves get into the world series.

AND THEN THEY WENT SWIMMING — Members of the Iceberg Athletic club find that there is nothing like a nice dive into a snow bank as a warm-up for their regular plunge into icy waters of the Atlantic at Coney Island. Here Ed. Sorocki and Simeon Stimburis make the goose pimples chase themselves up and down the spines of shivering onlookers as they plunge from the boardwalk into a nice white drift left by the 25.8 inch record snowfall. And then they went swimming! Brrrr.

Harden Paces Golf Favorites

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3 (AP). —Paced by Jack Harden, 33-year-old pro from El Paso, Tex., and with such favorites as Ben Hogan and Bobby Locke of South Africa within striking range, the 22nd annual $10,000 Los Angeles open golf tournament swings into the second round to-day at Riviera Country Club.

Harden, who hasn't won a major tournament in his 10 years in golf, grabbed the spotlight in the first round with 33-34—67, four shots under par 35-36—71.

Still another unknown, Bill Spiller, former Los Angeles Redcap, startled the record opening day gallery of 8,500 with a 36-32—68, and then last year's winner, little Ben Hogan, came in with the same card.

Locke and the former United States national open champion, Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles, fired 70s, one stroke behind Vic Ghezzi of Kansas City, Kans, who won the Los Angeles fixture in 1935.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver was the best of the Canadian entrants in the first day's play with a 37-35—72. Others included Frank Zack, Windsor, Ont., with 40-39—79; George Kelly, Toronto, with 40-41—81; Lyle Gray, Essex, Ont., also with 40-41—81.

Press Women Name Most Unpopular Stars

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 3 (AP)—Perhaps you are stunned each year when the Hollywood Women's Press Club selects your favorite as the "most unco-operative star." You might believe that stars would never be difficult with the press.

Sorry to destroy your illusions, but life is not always beautiful for those who cover the movie beat. True, there are many personalities, such as Loretta Young, Van Johnson, June Allyson, Cornel Wilde, Larry Parks, who are nice to everybody. And there are others.

Well, take a look at the targets of the press ladies. Here are the winners of the "stuffed shirt" awards:

1941—Ginger Rogers and Bing Crosby.
1942—Jean Arthur and George Sanders.
1943—Joan Fontaine and Errol Flynn.
1944—Sonja Henie and Walter Pidgeon.
1945—Greer Garson and Fred McMurray.
1946—Ingrid Bergman and Frank Sinatra.
1947—Jennifer Jones and Gary Cooper.

When are stars considered unco-operative, you ask? When they decide they have time only for the most "important" members of the press. When they respond to an interview in grunts and one-word answers. When they decide they are too busy to pose for still pictures. When they break appointments, feign headaches, snap off conversations.

Now observe the stars selected as "most co-operative" to the female press:

1941—Bette Davis and Bob Hope.
1942—Rosalind Russell and Cary Grant.
1943—Ann Sheridan and Bob Hope.
1944—Betty Hutton and Alan Ladd.
1945—Joan Crawford and Gregory Peck.
1946—Joan Crawford and Dana Andrews.
1947—Joan Fontaine (reformed) and Gregory Peck.

How did they gain the award? By seeing all members of the press and trying to give them good interviews.

Like all stories, this should have a moral. Maybe you can find it yourself. Look at the "unco-operative" list. See any whose careers are slipping?

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Lou Ambers went into the forefront of world lightweight boxing championship contenders, 12 years ago tonight when he defeated Frankie Klick at New York over 10 rounds. Beaten in 1935 by Tony Canzoneri for the crown, he reversed the decision the next year and ruled the division for several more years.

Believe Labor Government Gaining Prestige

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON, Jan. 3—Reuters)—The Labor government, after a year of damaging blows to its prestige, faces 1948 wtih circumstances much more in its favor than would have seemed possible 12 months ago.

Then government and country faced the full force of the economic blast caused by war aftermath, a severe winter, unofficial strikes and the dollar famine.

Reeling under one blow after another, the government embarked upon all-out mobilization of the country's economic resources. Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, was appointed economic minister with unprecedented authority over a whole range of government departments Manpower was regimented into priority industries. Export targets were set, which if achieved, would close the ruinous imports-exports gap by the middle of 1948.

Food import cuts to produce £200,000,000 ($800,000,000) in dollar savings were ordained. National economy in all directions was synchronized with demands for extra output from workers. Capital expenditure on "luxury trade" investment was controlled The British rehousing program was modified.

Growing Displeasure

Not until the landslide toward conservatism in the November municipal elections was there concrete evidence of growing and serious dissatisfaction among a section of the electors.

Conservative jubilation, however, was tempered shortly afterwards by the government's retention of the key constituency of Gravesend, Kent, in a parliamentary by-election fought in circumstances most unfavorable to labor.

Thta by-election seemed to represent a partial turning point in government fortunes. Successive weekly returns from the coal mines showed sharply rising output and indicated that the target of 200,000,000 tons — earlier thought unattainable — would be reached by the end of the year. The steel industry announced an all-time record output and since has reached its official government target for the year.

Exports reached peak levels, and there was also improvement in other directions. The successful outcome of the trade talks with Russia and a new short-term food agreement with Canada came as Christmas approached. Earlier new Anglo-Eire trade arrangements were concluded. And Britain and the United States reached agreement on the financing of the Anglo-American zone of Germany, the terms providing fresh dollar relief for the United Kingdom.

ONTARIO HARD HIT BY BLIZZARD — Shovelling snow is not an uncommon sight today in towns and cities in western Ontario, which was swept by one of the worst snow blizzards over the New Year's holidays. The blizzard claimed three lives, interrupted hydro service in much of the southern area, halted bus traffic, disrupted plane schedules and stranded hundreds of motorists in farm houses. The storm, which originated in the southwestern states, and swept across Arkansas and Illinois, was in the form of sleet and freezing rain along the north shore of Lake Erie from Windsor through to Hamilton.

St. Lawrence Seaway Project Action Is Foreseen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep.-Wis.) said today he has "definite assurances" from Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep.-Mich.) that the latter "will insist" that legislation authorizing the joint Canada-United States St. Lawrence seaway be placed before the United States Senate this month for "final consideration."

Wiley, chairman of a foreign relations sub-committee that held hearings on the much-debated legislation last spring, said he sought the assurance from Vandenberg after Senator Robert Taft (Rep.-Ohio), chairman of the Republican policy committee, failed to include the measure on his list of "vital" legislation to be taken up at the regular session opening Jan. 6.

Member of Policy Committee

Vandenberg, as presiding officer of the Senate, is ex-offico a member of the policy committee and, in behalf of himself and 13 other Senators, introduced the seaway bill.

"We have fiddled around with this measure for 14 years," Wiley told a reporter, "and it is absolutely outrageous and intolerable that the bill be delayed any further."

Wiley said that "from all indications" the measure, if brought up, will pass the Senate.

The measure authorized imposition of tolls to make the half-billion-dollar international project self-liquidating. In addition to opening the Great Lakes area to ocean-going shipping, the proposal would permit creation of a 2,200,000 horsepower power development in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence river.

Minority Report

Meantime reliable congressional sources disclosed that Senator Henry Cabot Lodge (Rep.-Mass.) has completed the Foreign Relation's committee's monthly report in opposition to the seaway.

Lodge, one of the four members of the 13-man committee that voted against endorsing the measure, will make the report public when the Senate convenes on Jan. 6.

The report, one source observed "is a strong indictment of the proposed seaway in which Senator Lodge has made full use of all the arguments at his command."

Should the measure succeed in winning Senate approval it will then go to the House of Representatives where hearings are yet to be completed by the Public Works committee headed by Representative George Dondero (Rep.-Mich.). Regarding the measure's fate before the latter group Wiley said:

"It appears . . . that (the) committee will vote for the Bill."

Divorces Lower

TORONTO, Jan 3 — (CP) — The 83 divorces granted by the Ontario Supreme Court in December was the lowest number for any month since the end of the war. The all-time high was 222 in March, 1946.

Successful Euchre Held In Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Jan. 3—(ENS)—The IOOF Hall was lovely with Christmas decorations for the progressive euchre held on Monday night, under the auspices of Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge No. 176, when fourteen tables were in use for play. Prizes went to Mrs. J. McKnight and Mr. Fred Winslow, and Mrs. H. R. Edmunds held the lucky number when the draw was made for the pair of ducks on which tickets had been sold; proceeds from this source, $18.00.

Lunch was served by the social committee, the hostess table having as centre a tiny lighted Christmas tree, flanked with red candles burning in crystal holders. Mrs. A. R. Payne is Noble Grand of the Rebekah Lodge, and the social events for the purpose of raising funds are to establish a local Cancer, Polio and T.B. fund, to be retained here, and used for any case of need either in or out of the lodge, that may airse. This is a provincial project, under the Grand Lodge of Ontario, and the local branch is interested in doing its share.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Failis have moved this week into their new home on Tupper St. Considerable work remains to be done, but this can be completed with the family in residence.

Miss Jennie Brock is spending the winter in Peterborough with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Strong, her house on Tupper St. having been closed until spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hubbeard and Gerald, Mrs. J. Spence, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hudson and daughter, Karen, of Toronto, spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Peacock, Woodbridge.

Friends of Mr. T. A. Campbell will regret to learn that he has not been in good health for the past three weeks or more, and has been confined to bed since Christmas, though he was up for gathering of intimate friends making up the party at his home that day.

Mrs. Guy MacKay, and daughter Margaret, and Miss Betty Wright left for Toronto on Wednesday, to attend the Provincial Council of Girl Guides and Brownies, which will continue until the end of this week. Miss Betty Wright has completed successfully all the necessary tests in connection with the Girl Guides, and is eligible for her gold cord. Only six or seven others in the Dominion have this honor, which carries with it a number of outstanding privileges.

Wm. Cumming Opens Auto Parts Store

Wm. M. (Bill) Cumming, salesman for automotive parts throughout the Peterborough district for the past 35 years has opened a wholesale auto parts shop at 420 Chambers street. The establishment will be known as the Brock Auto Parts.

Back in 1915, Mr. Cumming started as a salesman with Heaslip Bros. retailers of bicycles. Since that time, Mr. Cumming has worked for various auto part and auto accessory firms, and has established a splendid reputation within the trade. During a few periods he worked as a service engineer and conducted brake clinics in Peterborough.

Down through the years, Mr. Cumming says it was not unusual for him to put 50,000 miles on his car serving the various retail outlets. He drove a Model T Ford from Peterborough to Bancroft when the road was little more than a dimly marked trail over rock and through timber. He saw the first concrete highways being laid, and has been a part of the rapid development in the merchandising of auto parts during the past quarter of a century.

He extends a cordial invitation to members of the trade to inspect the new shop and meet the staff.

TEMPLE LIBRARIES

The earliest libraries were probably temples.

HIS HAT'S IN FOR U.S. PRESIDENCY — Henry A Wallace, former U.S. vice-president and secretary of commerce, is pictured in Chicago, Ill., smiling in centre of group of newsmen as he gives "quickie" press conference following his broadcast announcement of his candidacy for the presidency of the United States. The progressive citizens of America are expected to back his third party move with informal nomination at that organization's national convention in Chicago, January 17th and 18th. The American Labor party and other groups are expected to back him. Wallace was removed from the cabinet by President Truman for rapping the U.S. policy to Russia.

Island Families Average 15 Children

By F. C. BUBOIS.

ILE D'ORLEANS, Que., Jan. 3 —(CP)—You can't keep'em down on the farm on this picturesque island in the St. Lawrence where much of ancient France still lingers and a family of eight children is considered small. The average family to-day runs to as many as 15, several of 19, and the death-rate is remarkably low.

Orleans has neither the space nor the industry to keep pace with its birth-rate which for more than two centuries has maintained an even pace. They wouldn't have it otherwise, for these hardy French-Canadians look upon many children as a large blessing;; a home without children, a major misfortune.

In story-book fashion, Orleans' 390 landowners, settled in six parishes each of less than 1,000 population, hold to an age-old custom of the land passing on to the eldest son in the family. The other boys, knowing this, plan early in life to earn a living elsewhere.

Parents know this, too, but remain stubborn about losing their offspring to the outside world, which to them begins in Quebec City, 10 miles away on the mainland.

Want Them Home.

"There's no board as good or as cheap to-day, as the board they can get at home," said Omer Vezina of Ste. Petronille, father of 20 children, 19 living.

"We have 18 at home. One son works in Matane and we would like to have him with us, too. We have no complaints."

In St. Francois, 2½ miles to the east across from Ste. Petronille, Mrs. Anselme Letourneau proudly told how she had managed to gather 13 of her 15 children around her for the holidays. Only members of the family absent were a nun and a priest.

The slender, dark-haired woman, who even without benefit of cosmetics — they are taboo— looked not a day over 42 instead of her 52 years, said her children and those of two brothers on the Island totalled 45.

The land under cultivation — 126,853 acres — has long been parcelled out and none is available to-day on which Orleans' sons can settle. If some farms run to 300 acres, much of that is wood that can't be cut.

ANCIENT GREECE

The history of Greece goes back 3,000 years.

NOT SQUARE DEAL—Tommy Stromberg (foreground) and his companion, Bill Jackson, relax on the beach at Maud lake, in Northern Ontario, last August, after flying to the rescue of an overturned boatload of children. They saved two persons, but Stromberg's plane, with which he was operating a commercial air service, was wrecked (upper left). Now after getting the plane repaired, Stromberg is $1,500 in debt.

Colorful King 'Rules' Maoris

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Jan. 3 (CP)—No one questions New Zealand's devotion to the British monarchy. But in New Zealand there also reigns another king the fifth in his line to rule who annually celebrates the anniversary of his coronation with considerable pomp and ceremony Moreover, the function is regularly attended by senior government representatives acting in their full official capacity.

The ruler is King Koroki the Maori king, who recently celebrated the 14th anniversary of his accession with a large gathering of Maori tribes at his capital at Ngaruawahia Pa.

A large number of tribes give allegiance to the Maori king, but at the same time Maoris are among the most ardent supporters of the British crown. The first Maori king was set up over 90 years ago at an early stage of European settlement by elders of the tribes who wanted to stop inter-tribal quarrelling and secure order which the white government had failed to achieve By the establishment of a strong central Maori authority they hoped also to exert stronger pressure in getting Maori grievances redressed.

Powerful Influence

The Maori king remains a powerful influence in native affairs until this day. Early governments made efforts to suppress the movement. The second king, Tawhiao, accepted a pension on the condition that he forego his title, but a year later he repudiated the agreement and returned the money. The handsome tattoed head of this king appears as a watermark on all New Zealand pound notes.

The third king was appointed to the legislative council, the upper house of New Zealand's parliament, but none of the other members of the line have held official posts and the movement has no statutory recognition Nevertheless the government has given more and more support to the movement in recent years as it has realised that the Maori king is a great potential power Only a section of the Maori tribes offer allegiance to the Maori king but he is recognized by all as one of the leaders of the race, a descendent of chiefs who trace their line back through the centuries to the canoes which brought the Maoris to New Zealand from the north.

There is nothing antagonistic to the British crown in the king movement today. The present king still a young man has shown deep interest in improving the status of his race and the government hopes that his support will be valuable in furthering its schemes for Maori welfare.

Scripture—John 20:30-31; Acts 16:11-15; I Timothy 4:16; I John 5:1-5

By Alfred J. Buescher

The Risen Lord had just proved to doubting Thomas that He really was Jesus Himself, and John tells us that Christ did many other things in the presence of His disciples.

Paul and Timothy on a missionary journey, came to Philippi, and on the Sabbath they went by a river side where prayer was wont to be made; and they began to talk to the women there.

One of the women was Lydia, a seller of purple (a business woman) whose "heart the Lord opened," so that as she listened to the words Paul was saying, she believed them and was converted.

She and all her household were baptized there in the river, and then she invited the men to her house to stay, insisting they accept her hospitality.

MEMORY VERSE — John 13:17.

Bravely Facing the Future With Additional Strength

By REV. E. R. JAMES

The Lord Jesus said: Let not your heart by troubled.—St. John 14: 1.

"What an extraordinary scripture for the New Year," you will exclaim. Yet every thoughtful Christian cannot help seeing the dark political clouds on the horizon. These words are uttered by the Lord Jesus on the eve of His fearful death for the sins of the whole world.

Perhaps no Scripture is more familiar. Multitudes of plain, everyday people have read and re-read the fourteenth of St. John. The Chief Shepherd strengthens those in need of comfort. This ancient word has lost its meaning today. It appealed to our forefathers because it moved them to face hardships bravely; it moved the hearts of strong men and women to face tribulation and overcome in the Divine strength. May we be worthy of them.

Our Lord is a real man, bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh. He knows the secret source of strength and sets us the example with His dying breath:— "Father, into Thy hands I commend My Spirit." The Master calls us to a living faith in God and His Christ — Who perfectly revealed the character of the Father. He is the perfect Image of the Father. Are you ready and willing at all times to put your whole trust and confidence in the Father through His Son. Do you habitually and consciously say:—"I believe in God the Father and in Jesus Christ His only Son" till it has become a habit with you. Are you clinging to spiritual values that endure. "Though I am sometime afraid yet will I put my trust in God. I will not be afraid what man can do unto me."—Ps. 56.

IN MY FATHER'S HOUSE ARE MANY MANSIONS. They remind us of Our Lord's words in the Temple when a lad of fourteen — "Father's House." Mansions is a very misunderstood word. It means a resting place on a journey. These resting places were built on the Roman roads first for the comfort and rest of the royal couriers and then for ordinary travellers. Perhaps the word has an inner meaning. The future life is for believers a progress in which they go from strength to strength until the fulness of the light falls upon them. The private opinion of this writer is that life in the world to come is not static, a standing still, but dynamic; a progress and development from glory to glory. The great Teacher has much to teach us. In that life there will be a progressive development and revelation.

I GO TO PREPARE A PLACE FOR YOU. He Himself is the forerunner. He enters first and we follow in His Footsteps.

I COME AGAIN TO RECEIVE YOU UNTO MYSELF. Note the present tense — "I COME." The Revised Version brings it out clearly. He is always present. "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee. He will come and take up His abode in you through His indwelling Spirit and will reveal Himself in your life by the peace He brings to your heart and mind. This is your comfort in your hour of darkness. "When thou passest through the waters I will be with thee." He is God. He is man. In childlike confidence you will place your hand in His and no man can pluck you out of His hand.

I COME AGAIN. Your simple faith will be infectious, catching, which is His purpose in revealing Himself through you that others may be drawn to Him, our Great High Priest and Teacher.

The Lord Jesus saith: In the world ye shall have tribulation; but be of good courage I have overcome the world.

upon us, that we should be called the sons of God; therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew Him not.

"Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it does not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, we shall be like Him; for we shall see Him as He is.

"And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as He is pure.

"Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law; for sin is the transgression of the law.

"And ye know that He was manifest that faith in good livsins: and in Him is no sin."

Is it not of infinite importance that children should be early taught the importance of these things, so that they may strive earnestly all their lives, not only to be true to their faith, but to manifes that faith in good living?

Atomic Energy Film

Beliefs That Matter

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for January 4 is John 20:30-31; Acts 16:11-15; 1 Timothy 4:16; 1 John 5: 1-5, the Memory Verse being John 13:17, "If you know these things, blessed are ye if ye do them.")

WE ARE starting another quarter in our lessons in this new year. The general topic is "Great Christian Teachings," and our particular lesson today is "Beliefs That Matter."

We all have little beliefs and big beliefs. Among our smaller beliefs is that the bus that takes us to school or work, or the train or our father or neighbor who drives us will be ready to take us when we expect them, and that we will arrive on time. Now it may be that owing to a breakdown somewhere this will not come to pass, and we may have to look for other means of transportation or walk or possibly not be able to go to school that day. It will not make too much difference if that is the case. It will interrupt our day's routine, but we may even welcome it as a change.

But suppose we have a big belief—that our parents are honest, trustworthy people and that they love us and will take care of us. What if that belief is shattered by their actions? Our lives might be ruined, certainly our happiness would be. That is a belief that matters!

The last two verses of the twentieth chapter of John are about the Risen Jesus proving to Thomas that He was indeed Jesus, risen from the dead. No doubt Thomas wanted to believe that his Lord was with him again, but he needed proof, or thought he did. And Jesus had satisfied him that it was indeed He, by allowing him to touch His wounds. John tells us, "And many other signs truly did Jesus in the presence of His disciples, which are not written in this book:

"But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the son of God and that believing ye might have life through His name." We can have a "big belief" in Jesus, who never disappoints us.

Paul Visits Philippi

In the 16th chapter of Acts we are told of the visit of Paul and Timothy to the city of Philippi, that "chief city of Macedonia." On the Sabbath the two men went outside the city to the river bank where the Jews went to pray, and they sat down and talked to the women who were there.

Among these women was a business woman who sold the purple cloth worn only by royalty or people of high rank. She worshipped God and she listened earnestly to what Paul had to say. After the talk Lydia was baptized and all her household with her. Then she offered the hospitality of her home to the two missionaries, saying graciously, "If you have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house, and abide there." None of the Christian missionaries were wealthy men, and they had to depend upon the generosity of their fellow Christians for food and housing, so that this invitation to stay in Lydia's comfortable home while they were teaching, must have been very welcome. Lydia's Christianity certainly was one of works as well as of beliefs.

In his first letter to Timothy in A.D. 64, Paul tells him, "Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them, for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee." To be firm in their faith is as necessary for leaders in it as to lead the sort of life that goes with the Christian belief.

John expresses this in his first epistle. "Behold, what manner of love the Father have bestowed

POLICE TRANSFERRED

Provincial Constable E. J. Keays, Belleville, has been transferred to Niagara Falls, and Cpl. Speers, in charge of the RCMP detachment at Belleville, is being transferred to Cornwall detachment.

ROBERT ABBOTT IMPROVES

Robt. Abbott, general manager of the Canadian Raybestos Company has been ill and confined to his home for the past six weeks. He is showing gradual improvements and is able to be out of bed for short periods each day. No forecast has been given on when he will be able to resume his work.

SHE SHOULD KNOW BETTER

Pedestrians on the Hunter St. bridge waited in suspense this week as an elderly woman walked on to the ice of the Otonabee river at the foot of Sherbrooke street, and proceeded to cross. The river at that point has a strong current and freezes only when the drift ice piles up. However the woman did not break through a surprising thing. Police warn people to stay off this portion of the Otonabee.

OLDEST WEEKLY

On New Year's Day, the Cobourg Sentinel-Star entered its 117th year of publication, and with this claimed the honor of being Canada's oldest weekly newspaper. The Canadian Weekly editor credits the Yarmouth Herald-Telegram with holding this distinction, but the Sentinel-Star, founded in 1831, claims to have been publishing two years before it. Another veteran in the weekly field is The Perth Courier, which is 114 years old.

CURLING VICTIM.

One would think that the "roarin' game" had come a long way from the Scots rough and tumble on the lochs of the Old Land and had developed into a genteel sport in which even the ladies are very proficient. But the ice is as slippery as it ever was. Mrs. Louis Yeates slipped while playing in a ladies' foursome at the Curling Club rink on Friday afternoon and sustained injuries to her left arm. She was takn to the hospital for treatment.

THREE FIRE ALARMS.

After a busy time over the New Year period, the Fire Department had a comparatively easy day on Friday. Only three calls were received. At 12:30 p.m. there was an alarm from 374½ George Street, the home of W. Grant, due to a flooded oil heater. A chimney fire was reported at 12:53 p.m. from Knights of Columbus Hall, 216 Simcoe Street. And at 1:22 p.m. overheated pipes at the home of Clarence McGee, 218 Rubidge Street, produced an alarm. No damage resulted at any of the three premises.

ELECTIONS MONDAY

Several townships across the district will be holding municipal elections on Monday. These include Asphodel, Belmont-Methuen, Norwood, Hastings, Emily township and Omemee village.

LOSES FUEL SUPPLY

Hugh Graham, proprietor of the Fenelon Dairy near Fenelon Falls, suffered loss by fire when a shed full of hardwood burned. A call for assistance was sent to Fenelon Falls, and a fire engine made a quick response. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

MORE FALLING SNOW

Pedestrians on the west side of George St. near Hunter St. ran into a miniature blizzard early Saturday morning. Snow was being pushed from the roof of a three-storey building and caught by the wind it eddied and swirled in that vicinity like the storm New Year's night.

IT WASN'T FUNNY

Way up at Barry's Bay, famous for its fishing, comes a Yuletide yarn that isn't funny. Lloyd Skuce was having his New Year's dinner when suddenly a light fixture suspended above the table came crashing down into the centre of the dinner table. In a few minutes the house was ablaze and the coal-oil fed flames spread rapidly. No one was injured but the loss is estimated at $10,000.

Car Clips Train Damage Slight

Norman W. Gawley, 41 Park St. south had a narrow escape from serious injury late Friday afternoon when his car collided with a CNR train at Bethune and McDonnel Sts. No injury resulted.

According to police Gawley was driving east on McDonnel St. when at the intersection of Bethune he saw a train proceeding north on Bethune. He said he was going about 15 miles per hour and the train was moving slowly also. Damage was to the right rear door and body, but the car was able to drive off afterwards.

There was no estimate given of the cost of repairs.

36 Tons Garbage 45 Tons Ashes Collected Daily

After the party is over comes the distasteful job of cleaning up and the work reaches gigantic proportions when the corporation takes over the job of cleaning up their city after the festive holidays.

Last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday six extra trucks and 16 helpers, in addition to the regular three trucks, five teams and 30 men, cleared 75 tons of garbage to the incinerator and 80 tons of ashes to the five city dumps. The same staff will haul away a like amount during the first three days of next week, with the exception that the additional equipment and men, will work solely on defunct Christmas trees and worn out decorations. These will go to the Monaghan dump for burning.

Officials in the garbage department can see from their statistics that this is the heaviest holiday season in the history of the city. They also point to the change of times as home swing to heating by oil instead of coal furnaces which means that paper garbage is not burned any more in home that are heated in this manner. This trend makes the officials of the Fire Department feel a lot easier, too. They begin to feel that their educational program of warning people not to cause chimney fires by burning paper, is taking effect.

Throughout the year, people of Peterborough put out an average of 36 tons of garbage per day and for the seven heating months, 45 tons of ashes each 24 hours. Even in the heat of summer there are 15 tons of ashes per day to be hauled away to the city dumps.

Discover Error In Voting Total

TORONTO, Jan. 3 (CP)—City Hall officials said yesterday that Alderman Norman Freed, a Communist, will be declared re-elected in Ward 4. On the strength of unofficial returns, Frank H. Chambers, Thursday night was announced winner of the seat by a majority of 147 votes.

However, Ald. Freed, who has held the seat for the last four years, declined to concede the election and claimed figures supplied by his own scrutineers showed he had won by 66 votes. The officials Friday night said a compilation error had been made and official returns to be released today will give Ald. Freed a 61-vote majority.

Mayor Robert Saunders, the 1947 four-man Board of Control and all 18 aldermen have been re-elected. Records show this is the first time in the city's history a city council has been returned without change.

Unless a recount upsets the Ward 4 result, Communist representation on the city council will remain unchanged in 1948. Ald. Freed will join Ald. Charles Sims, also a Communist, who was re-elected in Ward 5.

Mystery Solved

INDIAN HARBOR, Nfld.—(CP)—A nine-year-old mystery was reported cleared up here when a police constable found remains of clothing and the skeletons of two children. The bodies were believed to be those of James Kerrivan 11, and his seven-year-old brother who were lost in a blinding snowstorm Feb. 4, 1938.

Bell-Ringer 70 Years

SLOUGH, Buckinghamshire England,—(CP)—Frank Sinkins, who began bell-ringing when 11 years old, is carrying on at 82.

Chief Constable 35 Years Isaac Puffer, Norwood, Dies

Mr. Isaac Puffer, 87, Norwood, died Friday at Civic Hospital after a lingering illness. He was born in Codrington, son of the late John Puffer and Sarah Quackenbush, and moved to the village 65 years ago.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. J. J. Murray (Edith) of Beverley Hills, Calif., and Mrs. J. Rowe (Mabel) of Camp Shilo, Man. There are four sons: William J. of Norwood, Gordon of this city, Jack W. of Leamington, and Harry G. of Lindsay. One sister, Mrs. Edward Forbes, lives in Havelock. His wife, the former Jane Cuthbertson, predeceased him.

Mr. Puffer served for 35 years as both Chief Constable of Norwood and County Constable, and held the distinction of being the oldest member of this force. He gained much prominence for the brilliant parts he played in a wave of district crime about 25 years ago in both the Havelock Quarry murder case and the cattle rustling affair. During his years of office his sterling character was proved to be without blemish and he has always been most highly respected by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

He was of the United Church faith and member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, Ontario Police Association and the Kawartha Police Association.

The body is resting at the Tedford Funeral Home, Norwood, and will be removed to Norwood United Church for funeral service Monday at 2 p.m. Rev. E. E. Pugsley will officiate and burial will take place at Norwood Cemetery.

Marriages Down 12 From 1946

Peterborough's 500 Marriages in 1946 dropped to 488 last year as recorded in the office of City Clerk Outram. At that the decline was only twelve, and possibly may be recovered if leap year has significance in effect.

The city's vital statistic indicated 1587 births in 1947 as against 1404 in the previous year, a gain of 183. However, it was partly reduced by a larger toll of death, 475 last year and 414 in 1946.

December's births were fewer than a year ago. Statistics for last month were: births 124, marriages 35, deaths 41; and in December 1946,—births 137, marriages 34; deaths 38.

Cadet Instructors To Attend Course

Peterborough Armoury will be the scene of a two-day cadet instructor course for teachers of Ontario Schools, it is announced.

Some 40 teachers-instructors, including some women will undergo a short intensive course on training essentials in connection with cadet instruction. Last year's short course was held at London, and plans are underway at the 50th Heavy-Anti-Aircraft Regiment's orderly room to make the teachers' stay here a pleasant one.

Pork Up 5 Cents

They are lucky people who sat down to a twenty-pound turkey dinner on New Year's Day and count on still being able to whittle away at the large carcass for a few days to come. When the soup stage is reached, they will join their not-so-fortunate neighbors in paying more for bacon and pork cuts in any form. The retail price was increased from four to five cents per pound as of Jan. 1 due to the effective increase being paid to farmers by packing houses across Canada.

Plan To Discuss Food Handling

Sanitary standards and methods in the handling of food for public consumption will be emphasized to management of restaurants, hotels, refreshment booths, bakeries and other places, at a dinner meeting at the Kawartha Club Mon., Jan. 12 at 7 p.m.

Mr. J. E. Girven, chairman of the Peterborough branch of the Health League of Canada will be chairman of the dinner which will have some polyglot aspect in the fact that Chinese, Greek, Canadians and other countries are represented as the place of origin of proprietors and management of these business places.

Sanitary Inspector MacPherson informed the Examiner that probably 100 food handlers will attend this meeting.

"It is just preliminary to a course of instruction that is planned for a little later, probably at the public library, at which food handlers are going to be urged to attend," Mr. MacPherson said. "But, the Health League is first appealing to management for its co-operation. This is another step in the sustained work of trying to protect public health by sanitary methods, just plain care and cleanliness, in the handling of food on its way to the public.

Mrs. Gladys Dobson, Toronto, supervisor of bakery trade schools, and Dr. G. A. Edge, of the food control office of the Ontario Department of Health, will be speakers at this meeting.

Front Brackets Needed For Car Markers

Large queues were on hand at the Chamber of Commerce Hall Friday to get 1948 motor license plates. Jas. Dorris issuing the licenses said he was swamped by the large turnout on the first day, and said it was the largest crowd on record. Some 300 were expected to have visited the wicket before it closed.

This year, for the first time in four years, plates will be attached to both front and rear of the car. Several models, including the '46 and '47 ones were not equipped with brackets for a front plate; and some motorists had detached the front bracket from their autos. Local car dealers are believed to have a good supply on hand for those needing one.

First license issued Friday was signed for by Jas. Juby, president of the Peterborough Automobile Club, an affiliate of the Ontario Motor League. Mr. Juby has had this distinction for several years. The number of his plate 8N201—white letters on a dark blue background.

Whether the color scheme of the new plates is as visible at a distance as the old ones is a matter of opinion; but already the controversy has started.

Dancers Marooned By Blizzard

ROSENEATH, Jan. 3—(ENS)—The blizzard that swept through southern Ontario on New Year's night, had reactions in Roseneath and community. Many attending the LOL dance in the Orange Hall were stranded some in cars, that had to be abandoned in snow banks, while their occupants walked to nearest homes. Others stayed in the village not attempting the trip home, and a number of the men stayed the night in the hall, until the township and provincial plows went through. However up to date nothing has been heard of anyone suffering unduly.

Rambling Reporters

SPENDS NIGHT IN STATION

A vagrant spent Friday night in the police station. No charge was laid however, because the one "with no visible means of support" was a male cocker spaniel. Apparently lost, he followed one of the gentlemen in blue into the station. His confidence was not misplaced as inquiries were made to Benny Dunford of the Humane Society to see if anyone had lost a pet. This morning Mr. Dunford came around to collect the lost one and restore him to his owner in the north end of the city. Evidently the miscreant had been "on the loose" for two days.—D.W.

Anthracite Coal Won't Drop Dealers Report

Toronto coal dealers reported Friday that a reduction of 50 cents a ton for anthracite coal would go into effect because of lifting of the tariff on hard coal imported from the United States.

Enquiries locally confirm the fact that the import tariff has been lifted but no immediate benefit can be expected. Dealers loaded their yards taking all the hard coal they could obtain so that domestic users would not run short this winter. As a result many of these dealers have hundreds of tons of anthracite in stock, and others have cars standing on the siding waiting to be unloaded. On all of this fuel, the dealers paid the extra 50 cents a ton because the tariff was in force at the time they imported the coal.

The hard coal picture in the city appears to be bright with most dealers having an adequate supply.

E. R. Lockyear, secretary of the Toronto Coal Exchange warned that a ten per cent increase in anthracite coal was likely soon because of an increase in freight rates in the United States. A further increase would also come if the Board of Railway Commissioners granted a similar freight increase in Canada.

Girls Top List In 1947 Births

Rising birth-rate is a pretty good indication that a city has a bright future. Peterborough is expanding in size and population and that expansion is shown in the birth statistics for 1947.

Between Civic and St. Joseph's Hospitals, 1,591 new arrivals were ushered into the world during the past 12 months. St. Joseph's had the edge with 866 and Civic followed with 725.

Comparable figures for 1945 and 1946 are 1,138 and 1,404 respectively.

Female births slightly outnumber male at both—809 to 789 at St. Joseph's, 367 to 358 at the Civic. This is contrary to the general trend in Canada over the past few years, when male births predominated. The Canadian ratio of live births is about 51 male to 49 female.

Packers Hope To Aid Bacon Farmers

Bacon farmers might be skeptical of a rumor in inner market circles today that the packing industry was going to pass on to pass on to them every possible cent of the new British price, and probably a little more than might be estimated.

Toronto price appeared to be settling at 28½c a pound to the farmer, an advance of 5¼ cents, but there was some opinion that the price might get up to 30 cents, possibly higher, for an advance of 7c a pound.

Packers, it was said, know what the producer has been coming through, and they are interested in doing anything they can to maintain the export meat business. Disposition was to go further than half way, if it is possible, in whatever may be accomplished to restore confidence of the farmers who raise hogs. If there was some way of controlling the cost of feed the new price schedule would no doubt create a stronger sense of security than the primary industry has known in a year or more.

A few enquiries by the Examiner this morning failed to get any opinions that could be nailed down. Time for digesting the prices has not been sufficient, since yesterday, and the giving of advice or suggestion is far too risky.

Mr. R. M. Peirson, manager of Co-Op, said he felt the increase of five cents a dozen for eggs looked really favorable for production.

"I hesitate to express any opinion at this stage," Mr. Peirson said, "but I do think it is safe to say at least that the poultry branch of farm business looks a lot better under the new price, perhaps to the extent of bringing new encouragement for winter hatching, if we are going to have the volume of young poultry and eggs we would like to see next fall. A shortage of poultry is indicated, and broilers are bringing a high price in the United States."

Invite Citizens To Inaugural

Citizens are invited to the inaugural of the city council Monday at 11 a.m. Mayor Ovens was working today on his address which will follow the invocation of divine blessing by Rev. E. C. Moore of St. George's Anglican Church.

Three new aldermen are coming into the council circle for the first time Monday. They are Grant Miller, Doug Miller and P. J. Anglesey. The latter will not be a complete stranger to the workings of the council. He attending one of the December meetings as a lone ratepayer listening to the proceedings, presumably for the purpose of observation, and acquainting himself with the routine.

De Valera Girds For Challenge Of His Power

DUBLIN, Jan. 3 — (Reuters) —After 15 years in power Eamon De Valera 65-year-old Eire premier faces the most stubborn struggle of his career in general elections due early next year.

Leading challenger to his rule is a brilliant barrister 22 years his junior, Sean MacBride, head of the new Republican party, which in recent by - elections wrested two seats from De Valera's Fianna Fail party by large majorities. It was this by-election reverse which decided De Valera to go to the country for a new mandate.

Like De Valera, MacBride is a romantic figure by Irish standards, with all the attributes of political leadership. Son of a rebel, cold, austere, yet likable, a teetotaller and a good speaker, he is a former chief of staff of the Irish Republican army. His father fought with Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts—now South African premier—in the South African war, in the Irish brigade and was executed later by the British for his prominent part in the Easter Rising of 1916. His wife is the daughter of a rebel. The policy of the Republican party has never been clearly defined. MacBride's main argument is that De Valera and his party have been in power too long, have done too little for the country and have outlived their usefulness. Observers regard his eight-point "basic policy" as vaguely worded and say any party could use it without changing a punctuation mark.

Backed By Labor

Belief is that MacBride has strong socialist leanings. In the coming elections Labor and the Republicans will co-operate and are expected to secure seats for one party or the other, in a number of constituencies.

Fine Gail, official opposition party of the right, has been recovering some lost ground in by-elections. Some independents and farmers' candidates will join in the onslaught against De Valera's group and are expected to gain some seats.

De Valera and his Fianna Fail party are not underestimating the challenge. Frank Aiken, minister of finance, said recently the party was "stretching its muscles and rousing itself for the most vibrant election in its 21 years of life."

Grave, scholarly, sphinx-like De Valera, who has spent half his life in active military and political campaigning is determined to rouse his followers to a supreme effort.

Thrifty, a teetotaller and non-smoker De Valera, severe in demeanor and dress, the premier was destined for the priesthood. Instead he became a teacher of mathematics before he took up the political struggle. Even his most bitter opponents never question his personal integrity.

The great problem is whether, under Eire's system of proportional representation, there will not emerge from the elections a parliament with three groups of approximately equal strength but each unable to form a government against the opposition of the other two.

TOO MUCH! — Things are getting tougher all over for the housewife's budget. Take for instance lettuce and cabbage. Above you see an example of what's happening. Toronto housewife Mrs. P. T. Phillip wanted some lettuce or some cabbage but, after a squint at prices in this Yonge St. chain store, she went without either. A half a cabbage, she found, was selling for 10 cents a pound—last year she paid 10 cents for a whole one. A bunch of lettuce was selling for 35 cents each — last year she paid 5 cents a bunch. Mrs. Phillip couldn't understand it all when the grocer told her the cabbage is grown not far from Toronto and had been in storage.

Ask 35 Visas For Michael

BUCHAREST, Jan. 3—(AP)—The Romanian government asked today for 35 visas for former King Michael, Queen Mother Helen and their retinue to enter Switzerland.

Diplomatic passports were requested for Michael who abdicated Tuesday, and his mother.

A spokesman for the Communist-dominated "popular democratic Republic" which succeeded the monarchy, said the requests may reach Swiss federal offices in Bern tomorrow, but that a reply is not expected before late Monday or Tuesday, because Swiss offices close at noon on Saturday.

Air-Borne Smugglers Drop Drugs Over Rome

ROME, Jan. 3—(CP)—A narcotics gang has found a new way to distribute drugs — dropping them by parachute over Rome which the gang apparently has made its headquarters.

The Rome newspaper Giornale D'Italia said these air-borne drug smugglers chose their time of delivery carefully, picking the evening hours when the air is full of civil airliners coming in from a dozen different world centres.

Drugs have been traced and found in various hotels and in two of the city's leading beauty parlors.

New Vehicles Arrive At Armouries

The gunners of the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment will get down to serious work for the 1948 training season on Tuesday evening at the Peterborough Armoury when all hands will report for duty on the anti-aircraft equipment.

Over the holiday season, a number of new heavy vehicles were received by the regiment and indications were that the full scale of equipment, including radar, will soon be available. Plotting room equipment, used to follow the course of aircraft in this connection, is already on the rails speeding towards Peterborough.

First parade will be at 7.45 p.m., and a number of new recruits are expected to arrive for signing-up for the season. Indications that the regiment will also recruit a band in the near future have caused a number of inquiries in this connection.

Feature of the winter program will be the re-formation of a military rifle league, when 6 teams, including 4 from the active regiment and two from the associated member lists of officers and sergeants, will engage in competitions throughout the winter. Starting date for this league will be announced shortly.

Better Braces Coming

The Board of Trade announced that all-elastic suspenders are to be manufactured again for the first time since 1943 when rubber became scarce, and should be on sale soon.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott

ICY GALE BLOWS BRONTE LIGHTHOUSE AWAY—The wooden lighthouse in Bronte, Ont., fell victim to the storm when high winds which reached gale proportions sent the lake into a pounding fury. Waves smashed the pier and washed structure into lake where it disappeared. Fishermen saved their shanties from following by tying them down with ropes and wire. At right, heavy waves pound against pier. The lighthouse and pier were built 50 years ago and the pier had been repaired five times.

Geologist Believes Diamonds Can Be Found East Of James Bay

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Jan. 3 — (CP). — Don't all rush, but we are about to infold a multi-million-dollar secret.

It is about hidden treasure—a fabulously-rich lode of diamonds, no less—which may be found with a smattering of geology, the ability to tap a few rocks with a small hammer and the stamina to spend the next few years in the northern wilderness looking for the rocks.

The secret was imparted to us by an ancient and bearded professor at the international gathering of geologists held here this week and he placed the site of the lode "somewhere" in the wild country of Northern Quebec east of James Bay.

The story of the diamonds goes back nearly 100 years to a time when people in the northern United States began finding high-grade diamonds on their farms and in their back yards. They still find them today, although in smaller quantities.

Brought By Glaciers

By geological reasoning, it was determined that the diamonds were carried down from the northlands by the great five and six-mile-thick glaciers which inched over this continent between 25,000 and 800,000 years ago.

Through a complicated process of charting the various areas where diamonds have been found and scratches left on the rockbed of the earth as they were carried by the glaciers, our geologist friend has determined that the diamonds came from the area east of James Bay.

In that region, he says, there must be a great treasure of diamond-bearing rock which will yield gems worth untold millions. He spent three months in the area this year and plans to go again next summer in another effort to unearth the lode.

Just in case you plan to embark tomorrow or next day on a diamond-hunting expedition, you might keep an eye open for black volcano rock. That apparently is the type which contains what geologists call the diamond 'pipe,' the vein through which the diamonds run.

But the exact location of the James Bay area in which these rocks may lie is a secret known to the geologist alone.

The night shift . . .

When darkness falls, the owls take over from the hawks and other predators in the destruction of harmful rodents. The Great Gray Owl is essentially a northern bird, living as far north as the tree line, and comes south to the settled parts of Canada only during severe winters. Because of the ease with which it can be captured (it can sometimes be caught in the hand) it has unfortunately become very rare and every care should be taken to protect this useful rat- and mouse-catcher. To help the public recognize the need for conservation of our natural resources, authoritative literature on this subject and full-colour reprints of wildlife illustrations (without advertising) are available free by writing to The Carling Conservation Club, Waterloo, Ontario.

Discovered in 1741 by Commander Bering, the Pallas Cormorant became extinct around 1852 — another bird which will never again be seen.

Men Campaigning Against Career Women

LONDON, Jan. 3—George Bernard Shaw has given his approval to the tottering "anti-women society" in a letter telling its founder his "men's rights movement is inevitable."

Fred Wormull, 33-year-old president and founder of the anti-women society, hit the jackpot in his efforts to revive his organization, shattered by wartime employment of females in industry and services.

Wormull anticipated publicity from Shaw's letter would give his thinning ranks of less than 500 members new heart for their battle to drive career women back to the kitchen sink.

Shaw, who became famous in his early days when he described women as hunters of men instead of hunted, wrote approvingly of Wormull's efforts and agreed that the time has come to assert men's rights in a world where some of the best jobs are being gobbled up by women.

Shaw refused, however, to become a member of the society.

"It's not my job," Shaw wrote, "and anyhow, I am far too old. I can only send you this, Attaboy!"

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, January 4

Sunday's horoscope encourages a day of rest, relaxation and reflection, with a period of introspection and cogitation rather than active endeavors to reach concrete crises, born or rather seething undercurrents. These new ideas and purposed plans for the future, begot of desire for change, travel and new contacts and arrangements in all life activities, are better for a time for incubation. Spiritual meditation could be illuminating.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are under a rule of stimulating energies and ideas, in which definite moves may be made more secure and lasting by a time of slow motion, in order to give really bright plans and patterns time for development. A desire for change, travel, adventure, might be diverted to fresh enterprises or to new ways and means of putting over established propositions or projects of more than passing importance. Study and analyse calmly, since outside influences likewise consider co-operation. Keep alert to hidden factors or catchy side issues.

A child born on this day has a bright intellectual concept of things generally, with energy and purpose to put over its plans. But it might profit by pausing for behind-the-scenes developments.

For Monday, January 5

Monday's astrological forecast shows that while new, original, and really brilliant ideas and projects are distinctly "in the air" awaiting an adventurous and progressive individual to capture them and divert to materials uses, there is a deep-rooted peril ready to snap up the timorous or unwary. Because of emotional or mysterious angles it might be dangerous to arouse false hopes, with schemes and tricks to lure the gullible. "Stop, look and listen,' prudently, before venturing into the unknown.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, while having certain very definite and workable plans for the future, as well as present experimentation, are urged to subject all propositions, enticements and alliances before either relinquishing their own ideas or adopting another's—until both be submitted to the acid test of reason, good sense and sound judgment. Snares, tricks and subtleties hover in the background, to pounce upon the innocent, gullible or unwary. Vigilance and time should be the test of dubious situations or alliances, personal or business.

A child born on this day while active, energetic, intelligent and ready for adventure, might be caught in a whirlpool of snares, schemes or dubious connections.

Short of Butter? Try This Recipe

Are you just about at your wit's end wondering how you're going to reconcile the price of butter and the amount the family eat with your family budget? Here's a recipe that shows you how to extend butter and another that's a good substitute for butter and will be just grand to put in those daily sandwich lunches.

To Extend Butter

½ pound butter
¾ cup cereal cream.
2 teaspoons gelatine.
½ teaspoon salt.

Cream the butter until very soft. Melt the gelatin in a cup with some of the cereal cream by standing the cup in hot water. When dissolved add salt and rest of cream very slowly and a little at a time. Beat into the creamed butter until all is absorbed. Form into a brick. Allow to harden in ice box.

A Substitute For Butter

2 pounds pork dripping
2 cans consomme
1 tablespoon beef extract
Onions
Salt and pepper
1 envelope powdered gelatine.

Melt the driping on the stove till the two pounds have become one pound. While hot, pass through a sieve, mix with the consomme and beef extract. Remove from the fire. Add gelatine, well dissolved; strain; pour into teacups to cool in the refrigerator.

Informal Dance Marks New Year

Feather Brain Club members and their friends enjoyed a New Year's dance in the YWCA recreation room Friday evening. The room was prettily decorated for the occasion with fancy baskets and nick knacks made of paper. Mrs. Muriel Hawkey was master of ceremonies and prizes were won by Nancy White, June Hutchinson, Adele Miller, Betty Crowe, Albert Cunningham, Kelvin Johnston, Ronnie Miller and Rod Delaney.

Those present were:

Messrs. TREASURE HANDBAG—To compensate for the eclipse of the fine alligator bag during the past season, here it comes, bigger and better than ever. This luxury pouch type bag is of soft alligator, which means that the skins are ultra supple. The gold pleated frame, wide self tailored handle and lining of creamy beige kidskin combine to make this a treasure bag, a fine choice, incidentally for the plane traveller, because it is so capacious without being heavy.

Sergeants Hosts At Armories New Year's Day

More than 75 sergeant's mess members and guests attended the annual "At Home" of the Sergeant's Mess, 50th Heavy AA Regt. (Prince of Wales Rangers) New Year's afternoon in the Armouries.

Administrative and training staff had decorated the mess in a seasonal theme—red and green streamers, a Christmas tree with lights, and sprigs of evergreen. Prominently on display were the regimental flags.

For the first part of the afternoon guests were received by the president of the mess, Battery-Sergeant-Major C. H. Chapman and Mrs. Chapman. Tea was poured by Mrs. James Miller.

Later in the afternoon, Regimental Sergeant-Major James Miller and Mrs. Miller received and Mrs. Chapman poured tea.

Committee in charge of arrangements for entertainment included Mrs. C. H. Chapman, Mrs. H. Davidson, and Mrs. J. Miller. Refreshments were served.

Reverting to an inter-regimental courtesy that had been largely discontinued during the war, permanent force messes had exchanged Christmas and New Year's greetings. On a buffet in one corner of the reception-room were arrayed cards addressed to the 50th Regt. from units scattered across Canada. One was from the Middlesex Regt. of England (Duke of Cambridge's Own) with whom the 50th is affiliated.

Several members from the officer's mess joined the New Year's Day gathering.

Rita Walsh Weds George L. Maloney

A pretty Yuletide wedding was solemnized Monday, Dec. 29, at 9:30 in St. Paul's Church, Norwood, when Mary Rita Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Walsh, Norwood, became the bride of George Leonard Maloney, son of George Maloney and the late Mrs. Maloney of Peterborough, Rev. C. J. Carroll officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dressmaker suit of channel blue wool gabardine and black accessories. She wore a neckpiece of brown squirrel and corsage of white roses.

Miss Theresa Walsh was bridesmaid for her sister and wore a suit of loganberry wool gabardine, black accessories and corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. Harold Maloney was groomsman for his brother and ushers were Mr. Francis Maloney and Mr. Joseph Walsh.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where her mother received wearing a two-piece black crepe dress and corsage of bronze mums. Mrs. Maloney also received wearing a dress of blue crepe and corsage of white roses.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a top coat of brown camel hair and brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Maloney will live in Peterborough.

Eva V. Hendren Weds Harry T. Hill

Rev. Dr. J. Semple officiated at a quiet wedding ceremony in George St. United Church parsonage at 11 o'clock Friday morning, January 2. United in marriage were Eva Vleitta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hendren of Lakefield, and Harry Travers Hill, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hill, also of Lakefield.

The bride's gown was of white brocaded satin, fashioned with bouffant skirt falling in slight train, bateau neckline, long sleeves and long torso bodice giving a tunic effect. A head bandeau of white velvet and gardenias held her full-length veil of embroidered silk net with rhinestones in the border. She carried a shower bouquet of red Briarcliff roses.

Miss Grace Yonge, maid of honor, wore a formal sequin-trimmed gown of honeymoon blue crepe with pink accessories and carried a cascade of pink 'mums. The groom was attended by Mr. Frank Payne of Lakefield.

After a wedding breakfast at one o'clock served in the Empress Hotel, the couple left on a wedding trip. For travelling the bride donned a tan sports dress with brown accessories, muskrat coat and corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mr. Hill will live on Bridge street in Lakefield.

British Hemlines Dipping Despite Austerity

Food and tobacco rationing may pose a problem but reports indicate that British women are not to be denied their one great feminine prerogative— catering to Lady Fashion, fickle as She may be.

Fed up with the severely cut austerity clothes that filled their wardrobe during the war and immediate post-war years, the women of Britain now want to revert to the gracious, the becoming, and above all, to the womanly. As a result hemlines have dipped, shoulders are losing the masculine, squared line that has recently been so fashionable, waist and hip are well defined, many models using softly draped or rouched hiplines, and the remaining inches of visible leg are clad in smoky or misty colored stockings. Shoes are of tailored leather with slim, pre-war height heels without either wedge or sling-back, while small close-fiting hats featuring liberal quantities of soft veiling and flowers, and in some cases offset with sweeping luxurious plumes complete the picture.

Skirt lengths, the most controversial fashion topic of the day, have settled at between 14 and 15 inches from the ground, and this length has been confirmed by London's leading designers as the official "London Line." Color trends follow pastel shades, particularly soft grey, greens, beige, saffron and all muted tones.

The effect of the return to the feminine line is very marked in fur and evening gown fashions. In evening wear there is a definite tendency to revert to Period or Roman toga styles. Shoulders are bared though in some gowns one shoulder only is left uncovered. Evening skirts are long and flowing to contrast with tight, well defined waistlines. Fur designs, on the other hand, are losing the close, nipped-in waist appearance, and following more ample styles with swing-back fullness and shaped sleevelines. The fashionable demand is for fur capes, rather than for the more masculine styled jacket, and there is a vogue for the fur scarf, worn loosely round the neck, made from a mass of sable or mink tails. These fur neckties suit the high, softly draped necklines now in fashion.

The strong revulsion of feeling against the severely practical does not mean, as some may think, that British fashions are tending to become over elaborate and extravagant. The hall-mark of to-day, as before, is one of moderation and compromise with important economic factors overruling human ones and dictating the trend of design. By far the most significant of these considerations is the ceiling price, imposed on all made-up garments for the home market. This price control, while leaving scope for variety of design and fabrics, precludes the possibility of any fantastically lavish styles. But these restrictions, imposed in the interests of national economy are not hampering the inherent and traditional talent of British designers. On the contrary, recent collections in London have shown that the British fashion world is just as brilliant and at the same time temperate and resourceful, as ever.

NEW LINES IN PRINT—Print dresses received an early start this year, judging from reports from all over the country. It's no wonder when the new look is translated into print as shown here. The frock was designed for resort wear, but is worn by stay-at-homes for a sort of consolation prize. The pure silk crepe is printed in yellow and black in an interesting zodiac design. The high necked bodice with its bow-finished sleeves, the slim waist encircled by black patent leather, and the long, flowing skirt add up to a pretty picture.

1947 Fashions Highlighted

Yes, 1947 was the year in fashion when:

The "New Look" was born . . . the word "casual" went out of our vocabulary and five o'clock was curfew for work-a-day dresses . . . clothes made a new woman out of the long-limbed American and Canadian beauty—and made man's favorite topic of conversation for a hectic few weeks . . .

The hemline became twice as famous as thte Maginot Line . . .

The average woman eased timidly into longer skirts, but the college girl ran away with the long skirt idea, surprising the most length-minded designers . . .

Dropped To Hip

The shoulder pad dropped to the hip, to be replaced by large chips on the shoulders of Adrian, Sophie and Nettie Rosenstein . . . These designers stood embattled against the world on the subject. . . . and seem to have won. (Though pads disappeared from many collections in the Fall, they are predicted to return before the first robin) . . . Hats slipped sideward in the general silhouette shift . . .

Christian Dior, the first great designer to emerge in post-war France, innovated both a new shape and a new spirit of mutual admiration by openly praising America's own designers, Dior's swirling skirts, daring necklines, waist minimizer's and rakish little side-swiped hat added up to a delightful picture and the world liked it.

Petticoat fever struck the U.S. and the rustle of its ruffles was heard throughout the land . . .

Fashion was news enough to make the cover of a famous national magazine.

A new Gilded Era began, with everything from carpets to bathing suits and wedding gowns glinting with gold and silver thread.

A corset by many other names still pulled as tight and sold like mad . . . They were called minimizers, cinches, waistlets . . .

Prices Spiralled

Every dress averaged at least one and sometimes five more

British Reds Prepare 3-Year Plan

LONDON, Jan. 3—(Reuters)—A British Communist Party "three-year plan" published today declared that a drastic slashing of Britain's armed forces would permit a large-scale housing and capital development program achievement of the export targets and an increase in consumption.

Britain has been told by the Labor Government that the dollar crisis compels it to limit the housing plans and to reduce industrial development so as to free manpower and steel for the export drive which is to pay for food.

The arguments of this plan are challenged by the Communists in their detailed counter-plan in preparation for their new campaign of intensified opposition to the government.

The Communists' solution of Britain's crisis is to reduce the armed forces, which under present government plans will be down to 937,000 by the end of March, to 500,000 in the course of this year, and eventually to 400,000.

Push Trade Pacts.

Advocating extensive trade agreements with the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, including British development credits to these countries, the plan suggests that, among British imports raw materials such as scrap and timber should be given priority over food. It also urges that British coal exports "must not be thrown indiscriminately into a general European pool, either under the Marshall plan or under any other arrangement."

A blunt retort to the Communist challenge is published by the Labor Daily Herald in an editorial to-day.

"If there is a section of opinion in this land which has forfeited the right to lecture to the people of Britain that section is the Communist Party," the paper said.

"To them no spectacle would be more pleasing than that of a militarily powerless Britain — unable to resist the pressure from outside of the anti-Democratic ideology which the Communists are preaching inside."

Prevent Suicide

NEW YORK, Jan. 3 — (AP). — In a fierce struggle under a stopped subway train, a policeman yesterday subdued a man who police said was trying to commit suicide by seizing the third rail of the track. Police said the man, whom they identified as Joseph Giannola, 35, left his wife on the platform and leaped in front of an incoming train at the 59th Street Station of the Lexington avenue subway line.

Seek Two Bandits

VANCOUVER, Jan. 3 — (CP). — Police yesterday continued search for two red-gloved bandits who robbed the Imperial Bank branch at 65th and Granville of $1,379 Wednesday. The gunman also took a .38 calibre revolver from the bank. Police said the men escaped capture by minutes after they had abandoned the getaway car in a west-end district.

WHAT IS OLD FASHIONED?
Youth Brands Parents For Insisting Upon Virtuous Conduct

The most scathing criticism that the youth of today can bring against their parents, is to charge them with being old-fashioned.

Dorothy Dix

Apparently it is the unforgivable sin, and salt are the tears and bitter the resentment of the teen-agers who write me that they are the victims of their fathers and mothers who inflict intolerable cruelties upon them by reason of their old-fashioned ideas.

They do not deny that Pop and Mom are good and kind and indulgent and provide them with a good home and pretty clothes, but they spoil it all by their poisonous old-fashioned views about lipstick and dates and petting and how late a girl should stay out. This is a sore humiliation, as well as putting a crimp in their activities, and the more broad-minded of the bobby-soxers try to excuse it by attributing it to senility, and feel that they shouldn't expect fathers and mothers, who are all of 40 years old, to keep up with the times. The poor things just can't help being old-fashioned.

Now just what the youngsters consider constitutes being old-fashioned, is a puzzle to their elders, for their children apply this blighting epithet to their parents, no matter how brilliant and intelligent and progressive they are. Father may be a Chief Justice, but he can't hand down any opinion to little Tommy. Mother may be a female Solomon, but she can't tell teen-age Sally anything. What the parents think is old-fashioned and the children are not having any.

Virtue Not Old-Fashioned

Certainly the catch word of today among the young is that it is old-fashioned to be decent. Bad little boys, who need a spanking instead of a psychologist, boast of being problem children. Adolescent girls won't wear a dress that doesn't leave them as naked as a strip tease dancer. Baby girls have boy friends before they are in their teens. And when their mothers and fatehers try to keep them from breaking all the laws of God and man, they call their parents old-fashioned.

But that is where the young make their mistake. It is sin that is old-fashioned, not virtue. Wrong-doing is the oldest thing in the world. Somebody has said that a new sin hasn't been invented since Adam and Eve were expelled from the Garden of Eden. Girls think they are being smart and up-to-date when they have illicit love affairs with married men.

But the prostitute is no new figure in our midst. She is as old-fashioned as vice itself. It is a common thing to hear girls brag about how much they can drink. But there is nothing new about that. The drunken woman, filthy and hideous, has been wallowing in the gutter so long that the memory of man goeth not back to the contrary.

So what do these teen-agers really mean when they accuse their parents of being old-fashioned? Would they respect their father more if he were a philanderer? Would they like to see their mother come staggering home from a tavern? Would they like their pretty young sister to be one of those forlorn outcast girls who must go through life wearing the scarlet letter on her breast?

No, a thousand times no! They want parents whom they can be proud of. They want the protection that has been built up about them by generations of men and women who were old-fashioned, who had high ideals and lived by them.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 — (AP) — Canada has agreed to a voluntary reduction in its imports of certain petroleum products from the United States, the commerce department said last night.

Canada's Prime Minister Pays Touching Tribute To Young Girl

KITCHENER, Jan. 3. — The warm heart of one who walks with kings but keeps the common touch is humanly revealed in a letter received by a four-year-old Kitchener child from Prime Minister Mackenzie King, a leading layman in the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

Not long before Christmas little Marilyn Kilbasko, who lives at 80 Spring St., the "Woodside" home that once was the residence of the prime minister, lost her father by death.

Marilyn met Mr. King in September when the Canadian leader visited his old home city and dropped in at Woodside. Marilyn personally selected a Christmas card for the kind man who had seemed so pleasant when she presented him with a flower for his button-hole and who wrote her a long letter on his return to Ottawa and sent her a picture of the event.

In her Yule greeting she mentioned that her daddy had passed away a few days before.

She was thrilled to receive a reply in the prime minister's own handwriting.

Christian Faith

It was, in truth, more than a reply. It was a tremendously simple and compelling testament of Christian faith from a national leader. A homely, heart-stirring missive of comfort to a little girl whose involuntary gesture had touched the heart of a man who had in 73 years ascended the heights, but whose memories are still those of "the little boy at Woodside."

With the letter to Marilyn came as a Christmas gift a framed photograph of Mr. King and the child, taken on his visit to Kitchener.

To Mrs. Anthony Kilbasko, Marilyn's widowed mother, went another personal letter of condolence and an enclosure of a sizeable sum of money as a Yuletide gift.

Mr. King expressed his pleasure at the way the family had been able to maintain his old home and hoped that they would be able to continue to live in it.

Mrs. Kilbasko is proud and touched that her family should have been remembered by the prime minister and is particularly affected by the letter he sent to her young daughter, which left her almost unable to find words to express her appreciation of the touching gesture.

Deeply Touched

Mr. King's letter follows:

Laurier House,
Ottawa, 23-12-47.

My Dear Marilyn:

Nothing in many years has touched my heart more deeply than the word that came in your letter of a day or two ago. I am indeed pained to know that your dear father has been taken away and that so suddenly and unexpectedly. I think I know just how sad you must feel, also your dear mother and your brothers and sisters, and I feel for you all more deeply than my words can begin to express.

You must try, notwithstanding your great loss, to make Christmas Day at "Woodside" just as bright and cheerful as you can. You may be sure that God did not send into the world the little child born on that day, so many centuries ago, to let us see from His life what God Himself was like as a Father, without God having a very loving heart.

While we cannot see God we have the story of the life of the little Christmas child to let us know what He is like.

So I am perfectly sure that your dear father, while taken away from you, has been taken to Heaven where God Himself is, and that, though you cannot see your dear father, he can see you, and that his spirit will be watching over you and your mother and brothers and sisters at all times.

When I was a little boy at "Woodside" I found all this very difficult to comprehend but as I have grown older I have come to believe it more strongly every year, and I might say almost every day.

Prayers Are Answered

So don't think of your father as gone — when you say your prayers ask him as well as God, to watch over you, and to continue to care for you and your mother and all the family, and you will see by and by how, in some remarkable way . . . your prayers will be and have been answered.

Your Christmas card is a lovely one, and I thank you warmly for it. I am sure you selected that particular card because the little picture looked like "Woodside" in the winter time, and because the red roses and lighted candles looked so bright and cheerful and just the thing for Christmas. I shall keep it and your letter always.

I am sending you, with this letter, as a little Christmas gift from me to you a real photograph of you and me taken on the day of my visit to Kitchener. I had it framed and took it with me to France, and Belgium and Holland and England and always had it on my desk on the boat across the ocean both ways as well as in the hotels. I have had this one framed for you in a frame like the one I have. It will help you to remember the very happy time we had at Woodside and I hope will add to your happiness at this Christmas season and always.

It brings with it lots of love from me to you. Your very true friend,

W. L. MACKENZIE KING.

In this picture taken during the inquiry, Asselin who will be charged with murder in criminal court in Montreal, is shown seated in the centre.

Sullivan Operas Return To Broadway

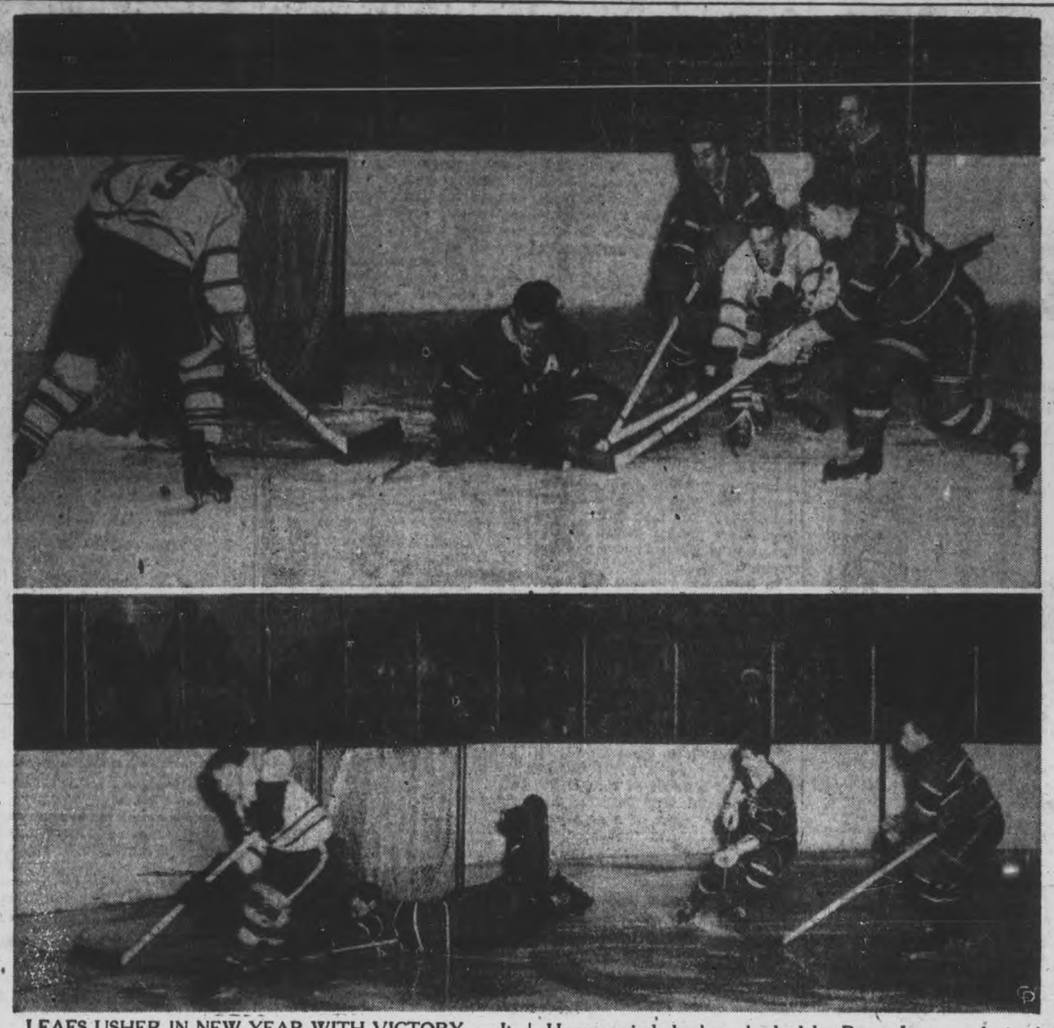
By PAT. USSHER

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(CP). — The needle-sharp wit of W. S. Gilbert and the sprightly music of Sir Arthur Sullivan are back in New York again through the medium of the D'Oyly Caret Opera Company of London.

Their appearance made the holiday season an occasion of special rejoicing for Gilbert and Sullivan lovers and those who crowded into "The Mikado," the first week's offering at the Century Theatre, found most of the old sparkle and zest there in full measure.

Darrell Fancourt again makes an impressive Mikado and Martyn Green goes with gusto through all the antics anyone could expect of Ko-Ko, the timid executioner. Richard Watson, a newcomer to the company since it last played New York in 1939, is splendidly pompous as the Poo-Bah. Thomas Round as Nanki-Poo and Margaret Mitchell as Yum-Yum, both newcomers to American audiences, carry on their roles in the old style.

It was as pleasant as ever to watch the carefully-mannered gestures of the cast, to hear such show-stoppers as "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring" and "Tit Willow" and to gaze at the gay costumes and settings devised by Charles Ricketts.



The company, which is expected to remain until May, continues next week with "The Pirates of Penzance" and "Trial by Jury" and all told will present nine of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas.

Brief Life

"Topazenz," a revival of the Marcel Pagnol comedy about an honest schoolmaster who gets involved in crooked proceedings and begins to like the situation, closed after exactly one performance at the Norosco Theatre. The production had encountered numerous delays and difficulties, including the illness of its leading actor, Oscar Karlweis, and it folded up after receiving generally adverse notices from the critics.

Ruth Draper Again

That inimitable monologist, Ruth Draper, is back at the Empire Theatre in a series of her original character sketches. They range from shallow social chit-chat to scenes of considerable emotional depth such as the study of a woman of County Kerry who has lost a son in war and sees him die in a vision.... "Bononza Bound," the musical show which opened in Philadelphia a week ago, is to be withdrawn for some rewriting and recasting, it is reported from that city".... "An Inspector Calls" is due to leave Broadway and take to the road after its 95th performance here Jan. 10.

LEAFS USHER IN NEW YEAR WITH VICTORY — It was a hard-fought battle that Toronto Maple Leafs gave Montreal Canadiens at Maple Leafs Gardens, Toronto, on New Year's night—a 2-1 victory for the Leafs who needed the win to maintain their two-point advantage over the Detroit Red Wings who have a game advantage over the NHL loop leaders. Max Bentley scored the second Toronto goal on a passing play near the end of the second period, and set up the other tally. He complained of a stiff neck after the game. He was winded when checked by Roger Leger early in the first period. In the dressing room afterwards he could hardly move his neck. These action shots, taken during the game, show: (Top, left to right) Kennedy (Leafs), Bill Durnan (Canadiens), Roger Leger (Canadiens), Howie Meeker (Leafs), Tod Compeau and Billy Reay (Canadiens) as they scramble for puck. Photo below shows Howie Meeker (Leafs), Bill Durnan, Locas and Harmon (Canadiens) after puck.

Campbellford Puckists Tie Lakefield Hockey Team; Final Score 11-11

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 3 — (ENS)—It was opening night for the Trent Valley Hockey League, last night, and enthusiastic fans crowded the Lakefield Arena to see Campbellford and Lakefield settle for an 11-11 tie. Penalties were earned with almost the same abandon as goals with each team being tagged for seven. Whatever other faults may have been displayed, dullness wasn't one of them.

In the first few minutes of play, Blake and Hay set the pace with two tallies for the visitors but that lead was soon cancelled when Chittick, Chappell, Fossett and Hopkins had racked up five goals at the end of the period. Fossett scored two. Hay scored again in this period and it ended 5-3 for Lakefield.

Evened It Up

Hay started off the scoring in the second frame, followed closely by Don Free who banged the puck behind Wasson to even the score. Free tallied again in this period but not until Fossett, Chittick and Hopkins had brought Lakefield's total up to eight.

In the last half of the third stanza the local boys were four goals behind. Chittick had tallied twice and Fossett once, while Blake bulged the twine only once for the visitors. Then Free, Hendy and Hay narrowed down the margin so that Robinson, with time getting short, was able to tie the score.

Lakefield—Goal, Wasson; defence, Birch, Morin; centre, Montgomery; wings. Chittick, Chappell; alternates, Campbell, Stewart, Henry, Hopkins, Fossett, Birch, Clark.

Campbellford — Goal, Donald; defence, Hendy, Tanner; centre, Robinson; wings, Blake, Doherty; alternates, Bristol, Hay, Free, Smith, Peake.

Norwood Victors Against Stirling

NORWOOD, Jan. 3.—(ENS).—Norwood opened their Trent Valley League hockey season here last night with a 4-3 victory over Stirling. They tallied twice in the first period for the margin, and played on even terms with the victors the last two stanzas. It was a very clean and close contest on good ice before a fair-sized crowd.

Webb counted the first one from Hamilton, and Scott got another, aided by Hamilton and Brown. Desjardins put Stirling back in the race in the second, but Hamilton scored another from Brown for the home squad. Desjardins added two in the third, one from Schmidt, and Rogers finished the sniping for Norwood. The visiting goalie was hurt at the end of the first frame but resumed play, and both netters turned in a neat display. The teams:

Stirling—Goal, Armstrong; defence, Cooke and Schmidt; centre, Bastedo; wings, Moffit and Patterson; alternates, M. Armstrong, Twigg, Ingram, Staples, Desjardins, McGee and Pakancik.

Norwood — Goal, Aldred; defence, Payne and Hamilton; centre, Webb; wings, Puffer and Rogers; alternates, Fennell, Scott, Martin, Paterson, Andrews, White, Peterson and Brown.

Referee, J. Brunt, of Stirling; linesman, J. Hamblin, of Norwood.

"IT WAS LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT"—Russian Colonel-General Susaicov solicitously held a match for King Michael when the young monarch lit up his cigarette at a reception at the Russian embassy in Bucharest, Romania, recently. King Michael put the light that lies in woman's eyes before his throne and abdicated so that he can wed without hindrance Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma. Princess Anne said in an interview that, "It was love at first sight" with her and King Michael, and that the young monarch's abdication was a complete surprise to her. The couple met for the first time in London at the wedding of Princess Elizabeth.

Stock Markets Greeting Year Gingerly

By The Canadian Presss

The year which is expected to be packed with vital developments for everyone, started its first working day yesterday with an ample quota of announcements.

Ottawa announced that Britain will play price increases ranging from eight to 20 per cent for Canadian beef, bacon, eggs and cheese in 1948. This seemed to be generally regarded as good news for the farmr, but also as portending price increases for the Canadian householders. Hog prices showed an immediate jump.

Major oil companies announced higher prices for various petroleum products, including gasoline and fuel oil, which brought increases across Canada ranging from ½ cent to 2½ cents a gallon.

From the Labor front Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, commented: "If prices are not coming down then wages will have to go up." He announced that the Congress is seeking information from its affiliated unions as a first step towards coordination of action.

Stock markets, still refusing to enthuse over high production and high earnings, greeted the year gingerly.

New York had its quietest day since Sept. 26 but closed with a late burst in rails which brought some other recoveries. However, the Exchange decided to close down today because of weather conditions and major American security exchanges and some commodity markets quickly followed suit. In Canada Toronto and Montreal are regularly closed on Saturdays.

"SELF-DEFENCE" IS TOJO'S DEFENCE—Gen. Hideki Tojo sits in the witness box before the international tribunal trying him as a war criminal in Tokyo. With him is Capt. D. S. Van Meter of San Antonio, Texas, marshal of the court, who administered the oath to Tojo. General Tojo, who attempted suicide soon after Japan's surrender, is charged with being equally guilty with Hitler and Mussolini in the Axis effort to dominate the world. He bases his defence on "self-defence," claiming that Japan hit Pearl Harbor only after machinations of the United States and Britain had pushed Japan to the "point of annihilation" in 1941.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

President Nelson C. Hart of the Canadian Lawn Bowling Council, announced in London, Ont., last night that a team of lawn bowlers from England is expected to visit Canada next summer.

Playing under their familiar eastern rules, Hamilton Tigers are expected to make a strong bid today to win the Canadian junior football championship against Vancouver Blue Bombers, despite an eight-point deficit in the first game New Year's Day when they lost 13-5.

Joe Cooper, defenceman, traded to Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League by Cleveland Barone last week, told reporters yesterday he planned to quit playing hockey. He said he expected to return to his home town in Winnipeg and continue as a building contractor.

The New York baseball Yankees disclosed yesterday that General Manager George Weiss had conferred with Joe DiMaggio but declined comment on published reports that the American League's most valuable player had asked a 1948 salary of $75,000. At the same time, the club denied current reports that Ed Barrow, former Yankee president, would be offered an executive position in the organization.

Harvey Bennett, goaltender for Providence of the American Hockey League, is back with the Reds after missing two games. Club officials said that Bennett missed the games because h "wasn't feeling well." They discounted reports that he had been absent because of financial disagreements with the Reds management. Bennett played in Thursday night's game against New Haven.

Tommy Gomez, a war veteran from Tampa, Fla., continued along the comeback trail last night by knocking out Fidel Arciniega, a battle-scarred warrior from Bilbao, Spain, in 47 seconds of the second round of their scheduled 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. Gomez who was a heavy favorite, gave away more than 12 pounds to his foe who weighed 195¼. Gomez weighed 182½.

Calumet Farm sent its 1947 champion, Armed, out for his 1948 debut in a six-furlong event at Miami's Gulfstream Park yesterday and was rewarded with victory and a $2,200 cheque which pushed the thoroughbred's all-time winning to $763,700, leaving him $52,360 behind first-place Stymie on the world money winning list.

Carrying Weapons

TORONTO, Jan. 3 — (CP). — Police last night arrested four men on charges of carrying an unregistered revolver and having an offensive weapon. Morality officers reported discovery in a car of a revolver, several rounds of ammunition and a dagger. The men gave their names as William D. Pero, 21; Ogdensburg, N.Y.; Allan Durant, 24, Brockville; George R. Petry, 23, Ottawa, and Omer Beauchamp, Toronto.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TWO EXTRAS EXCEL ONE

EVERY rubber bridge player worth his salt knows that a declarer should not risk his game contract for the sake of extra tricks. But, when the contract is safe against any possible development, he should go all-out in the effort to gain as many extra tricks as he can. Over the span of a year, the fellow who takes one more trick than another, whenever that situation exists, will have a tidy sum of extra points. In fact, they can in some cases mean the difference between his being an over-all winner by a slight margin and an over-all loser by a bit, if he plays with well-matched competition.

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

1♠	2♥	3♦	3♥

West led the heart Q, and South saw at a glance that game was a cinch, plus an extra trick, since nothing could be lost except two clubs. So he won the opener with the heart K, led a club, the A winning, took the trump return with his A, led a second club to the K, took the heart 10 return with the A, ruffed his last club in the dummy, then spread his hand. He had an extra trick and had taken no chances whatever with his contract.

But why shouldn't he have had two extra tricks? They were just as easy to get as one, if he had not been superlatively lazy. Without risk, he could have gained them by proper play. The heart lead could have been won by the A, the diamond 10 led to the A, a first diamond ruffed, a spade led to the J, a second diamond ruffed, a spade led to the 10, a third diamond ruffed, the trumps taken out and the heart K used as a dummy entry to score the now established two diamonds. On those South could have parked two of his clubs and this would have taken all of the tricks except one. That would have given him a gratuitous 50 points without entailing the slightest hazard.

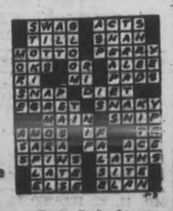
Your Week-End Question



If you learn from the early play that one defender holds more trumps than you have in either your declarer's hand or the dummy, what unusual type of playing plan should then be considered?

Canneries In Picton Decline One-Third

PICTON, Jan. 3.—Prince Edward County's canning factories packed 29,280,000 tins of vegetables and tomato juice during 1947, valued at more than $2,564,960.

Year-end figures from the fruit and vegetable branch of Dominion Department of Agriculture revealed that the 32 county factories canned tomatoes, tomato juice, peas, corn and pumpkin.

The 1947 output represents a decline of 14,880,000 tins as compared to 1946 production, which was close to an all-time record. A wet spring and early frosts were blamed for the decrease in production, but higher price levels largely offset the lower output. The totals will be increased when figures for the fruit pack are available.

Apple Tree

dating back to the Roman conquest, the farmers of England and Scotland pay homage especially to the apple tree on January 1. There is in all countries where the apple tree is grown a general belief that the fruit has medicinal qualities of great value, as well as being decidedly palatable as a food. We still believe it may be a preventer of illness, and though we doubt many of the medical suggestions of the Middle Ages, yet the old saying still has credence:

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away", and——

"If you eat an apple when going to bed,
Your doctor soon will be begging his bread."

And so looking back into the far recesses of history, we find that the fruit we take for granted, so familiar is it on our tables, and in the bins in our cellars, has had a peculiar value, and been enjoyed, by the people of many climates, and of many nations, and is the particular symbol of the New Year.

Junior Farmers Told To Keep On Studying

GUELPH, Jan. 3—(CP)—Agriculture offers satisfaction and a happy life if the challenge is accepted, J. A. Carroll, of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, told some 600 young farmers, attending week-long mid-winter short courses at the Ontario Agricultural College, at closing banquet her last night.

He advised the group that they must always be students of agriculture for it is continuously changing, and they should keep in touch with agricultural representatives and the OAC in solving problems. In the world of science and on the farm of the future we can expect accessories and development to go along at a rapid pace. He warned the group if they expected lots of money and an easy life they should go into farming.

"In the farming of the future mental laziness will be a greater detriment and should be considerd a greater sin than physical laziness. The important thing is not the number of acres worked, but the profit realized per man," Mr. Carroll declared.

Farming would provide reasonable security, but to gain happiness and satisfaction one must enjoy the work. "If you watch the clock you will get tired of farming, but if you are out to build up a herd, or win prizes with produce you will find farming a labor of love."

gation of beaver is surprisingly rapid when they are unmolested by humans, for it seems they do not suffer much from other enemies. The early Indians conserved beaver for they know that it meant so much to their own very existence. Scarcity of beaver to them meant a lower standard of living, but doesn't this basic law of nature still hold good today?

At a later date we should like to discuss in addition to the above, the beaver's value in prevention and control of forest fires, to saying nothing of his great work in maintaining desirable moisture conditions throughout the land.

Ontario Farmer Uncertain Of Costs Of Production As New British Contract Prices Announced — Federation of Agriculture Convention in Toronto Event of Next Week.

Effect of the 1948 British contract prices for Canadian beef, bacon, poultry and cheese, announced Friday by the Hon. Jas. G. Gardiner, would be more clearly understood by the Ontario farmer if he had before him comparative costs of production.

The increases are generally 7 cents a pound on bacon, 5 cents a pound on cheese, 5 cents a dozen on eggs and 1½ to 3¼ cents a pound on beef, according to quality.

When producer costs were under ceilings and control, and thereby a fixed factor, increases in market prices had an immediate and definite meaning to the farmer. But, as conditions are now, after the 1947 experience in uncertainties and in mounting costs, the news of yesterday will leave most farmers wondering what their economic position will be as they move out into the new year.

One aspect of the new prices is that in the midst of her financial difficulties and so-called austerity program, Britain continues short of food, and finds that she has to stretch her slender credits and resources to pay higher import prices for essential foods. Canadian sympathy remains with the people overseas in their trials of recovery from the cost of victory, but the primary producer in this country has his own problem of making elusive ends meet in a market that has got away from his ready reckoning.

Needs Stabilization

If the farmer's costs were stabilized in relation to the returns indicated by the new British prices, he could probably reach an estimate of his prospects. The Minister of Agriculture announced the schedule as in agreement for this year and next. But, how is the Ontario farmer to feel secure in a fairly long term planning of production of bacon, cheese, eggs and beef if he is beset in laying down a program of his own work by doubt of sufficient income to cover his costs and leave him necessary profit for his own needs and for the maintenance of his industry?

It appears at first glance that about all he can do is to wait for expert examination of the present facts, interpretatoin of the new prices as they apply to his business, and eventually try to see his own position as the circumstances of 1948 develop.

It is hardly to be expected of the average farmer that he is likely to be more concerned about world conditions than about his own immediate problem. He knows that the scarcity of food in many countries is as dire as at any other time in recent years. Clifford M. Hardin, Professor of Economics, Michigan State College, in a summary of impressions from a trip to Europe mentioned on November 1 possible political consequences of the economic straits of most of the countries he visited. "Europe is in desperate need of all the food we can supply, and she will need food for at least two more years. This statement is made in full recognition that certain areas and certain groups of people will get along all right". One of them of which he gained some confidence was Britain.

"It seems to me that if we are humanitarian in our attitudes and beliefs, we will want to help to the fullest extent possible. Again, if we believe that it is desirable that the growth of Communism in western Europe be stemmed, we will want to ship all the food possible.

Depends On Emphasis

But if, on the contrary, we believe that the best way to peace is for us to adopt a hands-off policy with respect to Europe, and allow it to become communistic, then we may or may not wish to ship food, depending on how much emphasis we wish to put on the humanitarian aspects."

President Truman was more emphatic about the importance of help, including food, in his declaration: "If we turn our backs on nations still struggling to recover from the agony of war, not yet able to stand on their own feet, we may lose for all time the chance to obtain a world where free people can live in enduring peace."

CHEESE PRODUCERS MEET

George Elliott was re-elected president of Peterborough Cheese Producers Association at their annual meeting at Norwood this week. Vice-president is Gilbert McIlmoyl secretary-treasurer F. C. Paterson; and the directors Arthur Andrews of Asphodel; James Maloney, Douro; R. E. Thurston, Bobcaygeon; Fred Crowe and Stuart Clysdale of Dummer; Harold Van Volkenburg, Asphodel and J. Fitzgerald.

Delegates to the provincial convention are: Fred Crowe, James Maloney, Stuart Clysdale, G. Andrews and Mr. Elliott as director. The association granted $10 to the Federation of Agriculture, and $15 to the Belleville cheese show.

One of the proposals of the meeting was that the federal government make up the difference between the British contract cheese price and the cost of production in 1948. It was also recommended to the provincial department that some financial consideration should be provided to the patron-producers on the basis of clean milk and that similar recognition be made for the cheese - makers for top quality cheese.

This has been a problem of long standing, a bearded perennial. Producers collectively have urged intervention in their business of making Ontario cheese up to its established standards, but measures to that end have always lacked compulsion, and restrictions have been lightly applied.

The present suggestion arises partly from the fact that provincial subsidies are discontinued, and it is thought the provincial Department of Agriculture might be willing to assist the industry by grants for quality milk and cheese. That form of action would afford a premium to the producer of milk and the maker of cheese, and thereby set up a price difference directly recognizing and encouraging the dairy farmers who supply the desired standard of clean milk.

Charles Heath, the new secretary of the Ontario cheese producers, succeeding S. L. Joss, addressed the members at their dinner in King's Hotel.

FARM MEETINGS

The schedule is: Jan. 13—Keene 2 p.m., Norwood 8 p.m.; Wed. Jan. 14: Ennismore 2 p.m.; Coldsprings 8 p.m.; Thursday, Jan. 15: Warsaw 2 p.m., Lakefield 8 p.m.; Friday, Jan. 16, Westwood at 2 p.m., Havelock Jan. 8 p.m.

The program begins with motion pictures, new films in color to be shown by Peterborough junior farmers, followed by Mr. Rickard discussing "Good Farm Practices" and Mr. Paterson on the subject of building farm fertility.

Suggestion to the County

The fact that many rural property owners have waterfront land to sell, prospectively for summer homes, nominates the county council for some of the publicity campaign which has been largely an enterprise of the city council.

Most of the townships have been for years collecting the increasing tax revenue from the owners of summer cottages. Miles of attractive waterfront remain yet to be sold and occupied. Its owners benefit directly from sale or rental, and indirectly from the taxes levied on the buildings that are erected. The more such summer homes there are, the greater the tax income, and presumably the higher assessment valuation, warrantable by demand, on both vacant and improved lots.

Lake and riverfront lands are primarily an asset of the county, but Peterborough county councils, representative of all the townships, have so far shown little interest and activity in promoting it. The ratepayers have apparently been content with the progress of sales and occupation, and have put no pressure for action on their reeves. There is no sharp conviction of common advantage within the council or out of it. Of course, there is opinion, but it is weak and scattered. Tourist figures amaze, but nothing rurally concerted ever happens. Farmers are aware of the summer surge of demand for their products, but the pace of effort to develop the county asset of desirable and saleable waterfronts never quickens at least from county sources.

Peterborough is not alone in this attitude of collective indifference, and that latter phrase is used because there is considerable individual enterprise. Northumberland and Victoria are other Kawartha-Trent counties that have attractive summer wares, property and produce, to offer both to Canadians and Americans. As municipalities they are satisfied to remain separate and dormant instead of impatient with the graduainess of the development of their common asset of summer holiday land, particularly in its potential attraction to persons prepared to buy and build.

One of these days Peterborough county is going to engage an assessor, and his examinations and surveys will likely bring into the focus of his attention lakefront mileage that is now distributed among the townships and their officials. From him may be expected a breadth and liveliness of initiative in publicity that has so far not been attempted. And publicity eventually gets desired results. There is substance in the excess seasonal business in farm products that accrues right here at home during the three or four months of the summer holiday period.

WINTER BROODERS

The present demands for early fall and winter eggs has increased the need for early hatched chicks. Many operators, some of whom are not accustomed to handling early hatched chicks, are meeting difficulties using brooder houses which are not sufficiently well constructed or insulated to withstand the low temperatures and high winds so common in most parts of Canada in the early months of the year.

To obtain information on brooding under such conditions a test was carried out at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Two 10 feet by 12 feet arch-roofed brooder houses of light, though tight construction, were used. One was completely uninsulated, the walls being of 3/16 inch tempered masonite which has very little insulating value. Floors were single boarded, covered with masonite with out paper between The second house was lined with ½ inch insulation board (ten-test) covered on the roof with medium heavy roofing paper. There were no hollow or insulation-filled walls in either house, but both houses were banked with straw at ground level.

Early in February, 250 White Leghorn chicks were placed in each house and were brooded for four weeks, under 56 inch canopies of brooder stoves capable of holding 60 lb. of coal. During the period, outside temperatures ranged from 14 degrees below zero, to 16 degrees above, and wind velocity varied from calm to 25 miles an hour. Lowest temperatures at the edge of the hover at chick level for each week were 92, 60, and 78 degrees for the pen of warmer construction. To maintain these temperatures the stoves were fired at ten o'clock each night.

Mortality was almost negligible and was among weak chicks which died during the first few days. The chicks in the uninsulated house were one-third and one-half an ounce heavier on the average at three and four weeks of age than those in the insulated house. Feed consumption was the same for both lots of chicks, but 40 per cent more fuel was required to maintain the temperature in the uninsulated house.

It is apparent from this test, says, Mr. Novikoff of the Poultry Division at the Farm, that with a brooder house of reasonably tight construction, even though it is not insulated, and a stove of sufficient capacity which is carefully tended, brooding February chicks can be entirely successful under rigorous winter conditions.

SIX FILM MEN

Six junior farmers are about to learn the operation of the motion picture production machine. Prior to their directors' meeting Monday night (Jan. 5) they are going to the Public Library to get their practical instructions from Wm. Graff, librarian, who has been notably active in poviding film and machine operatives for local use of pictures.

As operators these juniors are letting themselves in for a rural service that should be extensively used this winter. It reaches out from the Peterborough Film Council and is intended for rural showing and programs as much as for those in the city.

There may be more than six recruits, but it is understood that the following young men have volunteered: Ron Frankish, Jack Matchett, Kevin Hurley, Reg Ferguson, Keith McIntyre and Don Milburn.

Obviously juniors are planning to make more general use of projectionist facilities, and will be a help in their own communities and elsewhere throughout the country.

One of the first assignments on their list will be a soils and fertilizer meeting at Havelock Friday night Jan. 9.

Train Kills 10 Children On Bobsled

Thought It Clear So Father Drove Tractor Over Tracks

ARCHBOLD, O., Jan. 5 — (AP). — "I thought the track was clear," Jesse Wyse said today in explaining how the New York Central's "Chicagoan" passenger train yesterday smashed his farm bobsled, killing 10 children of three neighbors and severely injuring two others, one of them his daughter.

Wyse and his son John, 13, whom the father believed "too young and inexperienced" to take the tractor-drawn sled out himself, were not hurt. The boy leaped to safety from the rear of the sled.

"I just stiffened in my seat on the tractor," the father said. "The train hit the sled, tore it loose from the tractor and hurled it down the tracks."

The bobsled was scattered for a mile along the right-of-way east of this northwestern Ohio town. Two of the victims were ground beneath wheels of the train. No train passengers were injured and it continued to Chicago after a 7-minute delay.

Wyse planned originally to take the youngsters out Saturday, but was unable to do so until yesterday. He said he stopped at the crossing and thought the tracks were clear.

Thought It Clear

"I started up the tractor again and just as it was clearing the tracks, I saw the train bearing down on the sled," he continued. "It was horrible."

The dead were identified as four children of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Greiser — Gayle, 13; her twin, Charlene; Patricia, 8, and Sharon, 6 — four children of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Greiser — Donald, 13; Marlin, 11; Arlene, 10, and Janet 4—and two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Osborne — Jean 12, and Marjorie, 16.

D. O. Scherer, of Toledo, engineer of the train, said he saw the sleigh-ride party, whistled frantically but was unable to stop in time. He estimated his speed at 80 miles an hour.

Shirley Grieser, in hospital with a broken leg, said "we didn't see the train because we were having so much fun," she related. "All of a sudden we looked up — and there the train was, big as everything and whistling like mad."

CHATHAM, Jan. 5 — (CP). — Chatham police commission, meeting for the first time since the death last Tuesday of Constable Douglas Reynolds, recommended Saturday that the police force be increased with five men and that tear gas batons be issued to all officers.

Reynolds died in hospital without regaining consciousness after being beaten outside a King street restaurant Dec. 28. James Whaley, 24, arrested a short time after the beating, has been charged with manslaughter.

Judge H. E. Grosch, newly-elected chairman of the police commission, emphasized that policemen must be protected and that the public had an obligation to assist officers who needed help.

The "particular area" — known as the "Cockpit"—where Reynolds was assaulted was cited by the commission. A resolution was passed instructing Chief Constable Clare Bagnall and police court clerk L. Tackeray to prepare a statement regarding events in the "Cockpit" during the last three years. The statement will be forwarded to the Ontario Liquor Licensing Board.

Marines Police Adriatic Area

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C., Jan. 5.—(AP). — An undetermined number of United States marines boarded two ships today with orders to clear the port by 2 p.m for duty in the Mediterranean.

They were originally scheduled to sail tomorrow.

A terse navy announcement said that the marines will be stationed on ships operating in Italian and Greek waters. The United States is pledged to resist Communism in both these countries.

The navy didn't say how many marines were going, but its brief eight-line statement did contain one hint: the men will board a transport of 12,000 to 15,000 tons fully loaded.

The navy merely said the marines will serve on the carrier Midway, now at Naples, and three cruisers.

Normally there would be 250 marines on the four ships, 100 on the Midway and 50 each on the cruisers, along with 4,950 sailors

GM Plant At Oshawa Produced 68,000 Cars

OSHAWA, Jan. 5. (CP)—William A. Wecker, president of General Motors of Canada Ltd., said today that during 1947 the company's Oshawa plant produced 68,000 automobiles and trucks for sale in Canada.

This was almost twice as many as the 35,794 vehicles produced in 1916 for sale in the Dominion. Total production at the Oshawa plant had been close to the all-time record.

No Trace Of Survivors

MANILA, Jan. 5. (AP)— The Philippines Naval Patrol reported today a day-long search by a subchaser off Palawan Island failed to yield a trace of seven persons reported clinging to a capsized sailboat. Previous efforts to find survivors with air-sea rescue planes were unavailing. The seven were last reported drifting off Palawan's east coast after the boat capsized Dec. 30.

Beef, Pork Prices Jump 5 to 12 Cents In Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 5—(CP). — Toronto meat dealers today said beef, bacon and pork prices have hiked from five to 12 cents a pound, but they added that retailers who had old stock on hand would not increase prices until new purchases began arriving from wholesalers and packers.

Chain store officials said they did not know whether they would have to jump prices as high as the dealers had.

One large dealer said retail prices of prime roast of rib now is up 12 cents a pound. Porterhouse and sirloin are increased 10 cents and chuck roasts are five to six cents higher.

Other Increases

Other dinner-table hikes are reported as follows:

Bacon—Side, package back and casing back—up 10 cents a pound to 70, 90 and 90 cents respectively.

Pork chops—advanced 12 cents to 60. Butt roasts of pork eight cents to 50 cents a pound.

Pork sausage—climbed 10 cents to 50 cents a pound.

Eggs remain unchanged at 58 cents a dozen, dealers said.

One retail butcher said the trade "expected that buying will drop off at first, but customers will soon get around to buying usual quantities again."

A buyers' strike "is very much needed," Mrs. Rae Luckock, president of the Toronto Housewives' Consumers Association, said. She said a meeting of the association will be held next Monday to discuss prices.

Canada Discussed

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—(AP)—The New York Herald Tribune today published a 14-page supplement on the 'trend of Canadian economy in business and finance,' in which all phases of the Dominion's industry and commerce are reviewed.

Coal Gas Kills Cobourg Grocer

COBOURG, Jan. 5—(ENS)—Coal gas caused the death of Ernest Bryan, west end grocer, and almost cost the life of his wife, Elizabeth, some time Saturday. The body of the man was found lifeless on his bed Saturday night and that of his unconscious wife on the living room floor. It is believed that they were overcome by gas some time Friday night, which escaped from a kitchen stove.

Customers were somewhat puzzled by the fact that the store operated by Mr. Bryan was not open on Saturday but they did not connect his absence with anything of the nature later revealed. However, Mrs. M. Abbey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, telephone several times to the Bryan home on Clyde St. on Saturday afternoon and could get no answer.

Mrs. Abbey decided to go over herself on Saturday night but on arriving in a taxi found the doors locked. One light was burning and by it Mrs. Abbey was able to discern the body of her father on the bed. Repeated knockings on the door failed to arouse anybody so she sent word to the police office. Chief W. J. Carey and Constable E. Butler forced their way through a rear entrance and were met by a thick wave of coal gas. Entering they found Mr. Bryan dead on the bed. Mrs. Bryan owed her life to the fact that she had crawled along the floor in an apparent attempt to allow some air into the room but collapsed before she could reach

Ask 100 More Police After $20,000 Blast

GRAND FORKS, BC, Jan. 5—(CP). — The city council of this southern interior British Columbia city has been asked to swear in 100 citizens as special constables as a precautionary measure following a New Year's Eve dynamiting and resultant $20,000 fire at the Burns business block here.

While police continued their search for an arsonist, the council appealed to provincial authorities at Victoria for "practical action" to protect property against a recurrence of the incident.

During the week-end theatres and public meetings were scantily attended, residents in this city 65 miles southwest of Nelson, BC, fearing new outbreaks of Doukhobor fire raids.

A Doukhobor store was located in the Burns building and authorities believed the explosion originated there.

Little Assembly Gathers Despite Russ Opposition

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 5.—(AP).—Delegates to the United Nations "Little Assembly" gathered today to begin their year-round sittings as a peace-keeping body — a move which Russia warned may lead to "grave consequences."

A Soviet spokesman said in advance of the session that Russia still felt the United States-sponsored "Little Assembly" was unconstitutional and therefore would not attend. Informed quarters said the same attitude had been taken by Czechoslovakia, Poland, Yugoslavia, White Russia and the Soviet Ukraine.

A representative of the United States' delegation maintained, however, that Warren R. Austin, United States delegate, had not given up hope that the Soviet block might eventually join in the new body, which was proposed originally by State Secretary Marshall.

The "Little Assembly," known officially as the interim committee of the General Assembly, was summoned amid these other developments:

The Security Council was summoned to a session tomorrow to take up India's complaint against Pakistan, growing out of the fighting in Kashmir Province.

Reports from Trieste indicated Italy and Yugoslavia had failed to agree on a candidate for governor of the Free Territory by the Jan. 5 deadline set by the Security Council.

Argentina, Canada and the Ukraine will take their seats on the Council for the first time tomorrow, succeeding Brazil, Australia and Poland.

The "Little Assembly" was set up on an experimental basis for a one-year period largely as a result of Russia's 22-vetoes in the Security Council, which some delegates contended had paralyzed this body. The veto does not apply in the "Little Assembly."

Arab Hdqts. In Jaffa Destroyed

Report Three Men Toss Grenade Into Hotel Lobby

JERUSALEM, Jan. 5 —(AP)— Rescuers dug today into the debris of the Semiramis Hotel for 15 persons missing after the three-storey stone structure was levelled by a bomb which police said the Jewish underground had planted. Five persons were known dead.

Four persons were brought out of the rubble alive—one of them a badly injured woman who had been screaming in pain for four hours before she was rescued. It was feared that at least two other persons still were buried alive in the debris.

The blast—which police blamed on the Jewish underground — came at about 2 a.m., and followed by only a few hours a similar explosion which destroyed an Arab headquarters in Jaffa, killing 15 and wounding almost 100.

The two bombings brought to 576 the total of violent deaths resulting from the bitter Jewish-Arab strife touched off by the United Nations Nov. 29 decision to partition Palestine.

Levels Hotel

The Semiramis Hotel—a three-storey stone structure which Arab leaders from other Middle East countries were reported to have used as a headquarters while in Palestine — was almost completely levelled. So terrific was the blast that it shook houses miles away.

Details as to the manner in which the hotel was blasted were sketchy. An Arab passerby told police that three men "who looked like Jews" drove past the hotel and tossed a hand grenade into the lobby.

Seconds later there was a tremendous explosion — apparently from a previously planted bomb.

Troops and police in armored cars were hurried into the area where the explosion occurred to guard against disorders and Hagana patrols appeared on the streets in Jewish residential quarters to guard against possible Arab reprisal raids.

Main target of yesterday's bombing in the Arab port of Jaffa was a building housing the Arab National Committee — a newly-formed body which was set up to deal with the present emergency situation and is sponsored by the Arab higher executive in co-operation with the Arab National Treasury.

The blast not only wrecked this building but also damaged a police station, Barclay's Bank and some 15 nearby shops. Police attributed the bombing to the Stern Gang, Jewish extremist group.

Police today put the death toll officially at 15. Twenty were seriously wounded and 78 received lesser injuries.

Reject Amendment

PARIS, Jan. 5 —(AP)—By a count of 308 to 272, the French National Assembly today voted down another attempt to amend Premier Schuman's anti-inflation bill, upon whose passage he has staked the life of his middle-of-the-road coalition government. The amendment was one of five scheduled to be voted upon today. Schuman has threatened to resign if any changes are made in his program in its passage through the assembly.

Rob Claxton Home

OTTAWA, Jan. 5—(CP).—Police today held Robert Riley, 18, of Val Tetreau, Que., and Gayle Mindach, 17, of Ottawa, and a 15-year-old girl in connection with the Saturday night robbery of the home of Defence Minister Claxton.

Mother Of Three Found Slain In Snow Bank

WINNIPEG, Jan. 5—(CP). — The midnight bludgeoning of an attractive Winnipeg brunette will have a sequel in city court today when, police say, Clarence G. Richardson will be charged with the slaying of 25-year-old Ann Varty.

Body of the woman, mother of three children, including a seven-year-old boy at the Brantford School for the Blind, was found Saturday afternoon under some snow in a lonely, wind-swept section of the city's outskirts.

There were multiple fractures of the skull, caused by an unmerciful beating on the head which police believe was administered around midnight last Friday.

Fifteen hours after Mrs. Varty's body was discovered by two youths passing on the road in a garbage truck. Police arrested Richardson, 26, and announced that a murder charge would be laid against him.

Details of the investigation leading up to his arrest were not revealed, with no motive being ascribed for the slaying.

Police did report, however, that Richardson, a married man with one child, had been a friend of the Varty family for a number of years.

Discover Body

Discovery of the body of the woman, who had been employed in a Winnipeg department store, was made by Anthony Miguez, 19, and his garbage-collector assistant, Watson Robinson, 15.

Miguez said they were driving along the road when they saw a pile of "kicked up snow." Near it were blotches of bright red blood.

At first they thought it was "a dead dog, victim of a traffic accident," but investigation disclosed the frozen remains of Mrs. Varty. Police were then called and they found a hammer nearby, believed to have been the murder weapon.

Surviving the woman are her husband, William Varty, and the three children, the youngest an eight-months-old baby; the others Garry William, seven, at Brantford, and nine-year-old Bernice May.

Bank Has Withdrawn Quotations On Bonds

TORONTO, Jan. 5. — (CP).— The Bank of Canada today withdrew its usual daily quotations on Dominion government bonds, and the market in the securities was carried on in financial centres at a nominal quotation basis, with no clear price established.

Nominal quotations showed long-term bonds off about $2.50, and medium-term $1.50 to $1.75.

Banks and bond houses were lacking in specific information and in the meantime discouraged trading until the situation is clarifned and the market re-established.

Wise Men's Worship, Gifts Placing God First Cited To Council By Rev. C. Moore

Examiner Headlines Of Nativity Play As Presented To Almighty God Said Heartening In Times Of Godlessness

Mayor W. G. Ovens and the five aldermen elected in December took the oath of civic office at the inauguration of the council of 1948 this morning, and after the opening prayer and address by Rev. C. E. Moore of St. George's Anglican Church the first steps were taken in setting up the new administration.

Three of the aldermen were making their first pledges of service and fidelity to the ratepayers. They were Aldermen Douglas Miller, Grant Miller and P. J. Anglesey. The two others renewing their oaths were Aldermen Dick Raine and Hugh Waddell.

Six women were noticed among the citizen spectators comfortably filling the gallery accommodation. Members of the Board of Education were among that company, which also included James Hamilton, former mayor, and retired aldermen of 1947 and other years were Aldermen James Juby, Herb McCannan, John E. Sullivan and Floyd Curtis.

Mayor Ovens thanked the citizens for their presence as the council met in its first session of the new year, and suggested to them and the public generally that they would be welcome at any of the regular meetings throughout the year.

The oaths were administered by City Clerk E. A. Outram, with all the members present. Those who have another year of their elected terms were: Aldermen Max Swanston, Hurrell Dodds, Adam Sands, Gordon Armstrong and Herbert Young.

Think Of Lesson

Rev. Mr. Moore expressed his appreciation of the privilege of saying a few words to the council at the outset of their new year and of asking God's blessing upon their work. With effective simplicity he recalled the feast of Epiphany, Tues. Jan. 6, an immediate date in the calendar of the church. Throughout Christendom services would be held tomorrow, and the gospel read recounting the arrival and worship of the wise men at the manger in the inn of Bethlehem where the infant Jesus was born on the first Christmas.

"It has seemed to me that as you begin another year taking on

Capture Two Men In Radio Theft

TORONTO, Jan. 5 (CP) — Two young men were charged late Saturday with attempted theft of a radio and with theft of $1,000 from a midtown groceteria—after one of them was captured by the proprietors of a downtown store.

Stan and Casey Porebski gave chase when a radio was found to be missing after a customer left their store. They fought with a man who gave his name as William Porter, 28, and held him until police arrived. Three hours later a man identified as David Franks, 27, was arrested on the same charge.

After questioning, both were charged also with theft of $1,000 from a Loblaw's groceteria last Dec. 31.

Canadian Freight Rates Up After U.S. Boost

OTTAWA, Jan. 5 — (CP). — Rates on some types of Canadian railway freight are affected automatically by a December 30 decision of the United States Interstate Commerce Commission to grant a temporary "emergency" increase of 10 per cent to US carriers, officials of the Board of Transport Commissioners said today.

The increase—second of its size since October 1—will be effective on all international traffic crossing the border and on certain export and import traffic moving within Canada and subject to international agreement on tolls.

On the traffic between the United States and Canada, officials explained, a "joint through rate" prevails, so that when one country hoists its rates on this form of freight, they go up on both sides of the border.

On the Canadian sections of the hauls, the added charges will go to the Canadian railways.

The export-import rate increases will send up charges on some commodities moving only within Canada and to or from Canadian ports. These are cases where parity has been established in rates to and from certain Canadian and US ports and in which the 10 per cent increase would disturb the parity if applied only to goods hauled in the United States.

The new rates, which are interim increases pending the ICC's decision on a railway application for general 30 per cent increases, come into effect to-day. They place specific limits on certain heavy commodities such as iron, aluminum, zinc, copper, lead, coal, coke and steel.

Watchman Foils Bank Robbery

HUNTSVILLE, Jan. 5 (CP). — Foiled last night in an attempt to rob the Huntsville branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, a gunman was trapped momentarily by a watchman, Ernest Bowd, but escaped after firing a shot which missed Bowd by inches.

Police said Bowd entered the bank basement to tend the furnace, noticed a broken window and immediately telephoned the branch manager, S. H. Gregg.

The would-be robber appeared, ordered Bowd out of the basement and menaced him with a gun. But Bowd ran out a rear door and held it shut to prevent the man from escaping. The thug fired a shot through the door, narrowly missing Bowd, who turned and fled.

New National Defence College Opened

New Approach To Study Of Defence Questions In Canada, Claxton Says

KINGSTON, Jan. 5—(CP)—Hon. Brooke Claxton, defence minister today opened Canada's new National Defence College here, declaring its establishment "is another stage in the serious acceptance by Canada of its defence responsibilities in the post-war world."

The first class, which began its seven months of study with a lecture by the Minister on Defence Co-ordination in Canada, is composed of 17 senior civil servants and officers of the three armed services.

Courses to be given at the college, located at historic Fort Frontenac, are similar to those of Britain's Imperial Defence College and the United States' National War College.

One of the primary interests of the new Canadian college will be the co-ordination of defence measures with foreign and economic policies

New Approach

Mr. Claxton, in announcing the opening, said "the establishment of the college marks a new and progressive approach to the study of defence questions in Canada."

"It is the first effort to organize in this country an institution for the advanced study of war and security problems in relation to other aspects of national policy in times of emergency.

"The program will include the study of new and foreseeable developments in science, economics and international politics, and their effects upon national security."

In this college an opportunity will be given to civilians and military men "literally to put their heads together on the problem of Canadian defence and study it as a single operation."

Commandant of the college is Maj.-Gen. J. F. M. Whiteley of the British army, who came to Canada last year from the Imperial Defence College in London where he was army instructor, in exchange with Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds of the Canadian army.

Gen. Whiteley's staff consists of Capt. R. E. S. Bidwell of the Royal Canadian Navy from Kingston; Col. A. F. B. Knight of the Canadian Army; Group Capt. W. R. MacBrien of the RCAF from Ottawa, and Arnold Smith of the Department of External Affairs from Toronto

Have To Cut Woman From Smashed Car

TORONTO, Jan. 5 — (CP). — Miss Pauline Cachs of Toronto, suffered a fractured skull and serious internal injuries today when the sedan automobile she was driving collided with a city garbage truck. The car was wedged under the truck's front carrier.

A tow-truck winch was used to separate the car and truck. Police had to cut Miss Sachs from the badly-smashed automobile.

The truck-driver, Joseph Hutchinson, told police the car swung directly into his path, as if it had become wedged in the street-car tracks.

Seize 65,000 Pounds TNT On Board Freighter Headed For Palestine

Broken Crate Labelled Machinery Tips Off Police To Cargo Contents; Find Warehouse Operates Strange Business

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—(CP).—Police seized 65,000 pounds of TNT on board a freighter heading for Palestine Saturday. The cargo was discovered when a broken crate, labelled machinery, was being loaded at a Jersey City pier. Sunday morning police questioned Mr. and Mrs. Leon Chender, parents of Julius Chender, 27-year-old electrical engineer now living and working in Paris. The Chenders vigorously denied that their son had any connection with the shipment. They said they were sending a cable urging him to present himself to the American Consul in Paris, and make his denials there.

After discovery that the shipment to the executor came by truck from a warehouse in the Bronx, police listed Julius Chender as the owner.

With young Chender in Paris, police turned their attention to a youth named Philip Alper. William Hoffman, head of the trucking firm which carried the explosives, had stated to reporters had dealt only with someone named "Alpers" in renting his trucks to the Machinery Processing and Converting Co., which apparently operated from the Bronx warehouse.

Rented Trailers

Mr. Hoffman said "Alpers" as he called him—he did not know his first name—convoyed tractor trailers rented from him in which shipments of "merchandise" were made on the average of two or three times a month.

While police were in the warehouse Saturday night several telephone calls came in asking for "Phil," but when detectives attempted to question the callers they quickly hung up.

Alper's address was learned by the New York Times. A reporter sent to the apartment house on West 112th St. found that he had not been home all Saturday night. Nor did he make an appearance Sunday.

Sublet Rooms

Occupying two rooms of the 4-room apartment was Don Pines, a Palestinian journalist, and Mrs. Pines. Mr. Pines said he and his wife sublet the two rooms which are partitioned from Mr. Alper's rooms and that otherwise he did not know Alper. Alper was, Mr. Pines said he understood, an engineer about 24 years old, whom he saw occasionally early in the morning or late at night. He had not seen him since Friday, Mr. Pines said.

Mr. Pines said he had come to the United States last September, although his wife has been here two years, to report the UN General Assembly's sessions on Palestine at Lake Success and Flushing for the Palestinian Daily Dazar.

A Times reporter in going through the Bronx warehouse with police on Saturday night remembered having come across a stencil cut for "Pines, Tel Aviv." When confronted with this, Mr. Pines said that he had purchased a printing press for his newspaper while on a visit here last June and that, presumably, the stencil was made out for this shipment. He had no idea, he said, that the press might have been shipped from the warehouse.

This stencil was among a number of other things found in the warehouse office. They indicated shipments to Palestine, South Africa, Brazil, and a toy firm in England.

Found also in the warehouse office were a stack of business cards of the Machinery Processing & Converting Co., with a New York City address, in the left lower corner of which was red-rubber-stamped the name Philip Alper.

Japan To Use 5-Year Plan

TOKIO, Jan. 5 — (AP).—The Japanese governmen is preparing a five-year economic program based on the hope Japan can begin exporting more than $1,000,000,000 worth of goods a year by 1951. This is four times the present exports.

United States occupation officials consider the long-range goal attainable at the current rate of economic improvement.

Press reports of the detailed self-help plan said imports would increase annually, so that Japan's unfavorable trade balance would continue through 1952.

Solve Mystery Of Bracelet

Montreal, Jan. 5. (CP)—Municipal police authorities reported today the solving of the mystery surrounding a $40,000 diamond bracelet, brought to Canada by travellers from New York City and thought for a time to have been part of some jewels stolen last year from the Duchess of Windsor.

The owner, police said, was reported to be a Mrs. Clark of Hull, England, who lost it near a large hotel in New York during a visit last summer.

Western Oils Show Substantial Gains

TORONTO, Jan. 5. —(CP).—With nearly every stock listed trading actively, western oils moved ahead for substantial gains on the stock exchange today. Industrials were uncertain with golds and base metals showing signs of weakening.

Volume for the first three hours was 818,000 shares, about 348,000 more than Friday's similar period.

Home Oil led western oils on a gain of 65 cents. Newsprints and Utilities were mixed on a firm tone but steels were stronger, while foods eased. Liquors were off fractions and oils held on narrow gains.

Golds weakened on losses for Anglo-Rouyn, Bevcourt, Buffadison, Coin Lake, Dome, Giant, God's Lake, Lamaque, Little Long Lac, Macassa, Wright Hargreaves, Upper Canada, Sylvanite, San Antonio and Pickle Crow. Base Metals turned soft with Smelters down 1½, and several others down as much as 25 cents. Nickel added ¾.

Abbott Goes To Washington To Sign Loan

OTTAWA, Jan. 5 —(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said last night he planned to go to Washington early this week to complete details of the $300,000,000 loan Canada arranged with the export-import bank as a part of her dollar program, but emphasized that the Dominion might never need to use the money.

"The loan details now have been worked out and I am going down to sign it," said the minister.

Mr. Abbott reiterated his earlier statement to parliament at the time the loan was announced that it had been arranged purely as an emergency measure for use in the event Canada's dollar saving program failed to overcome the Dominion's shortage of United States dollars.

"We may never have to use the loan," he said.

Mr. Abbott said he might also visit New York on private business en route back from Washington if time permitted.

Has No Comment

The minister had no comment to make on the suggestion that he might also investigate the possibility of converting the export-import bank loan into a private transaction during his visit to the United States.

However, it was learned that although this was suggested by Mr. Abbott himself at the time he announced the loan, no serious thought has yet been given to it in the expectation of the success of Canada's dollar-saving program. This program involves banning a major portion of imports from the U.S. controlling others by quota and restricting travel in the United States.

One high source said that it could be taken for granted that Canada was "not interested" in a private loan in the United States at this time.

Team Of Horses Trample Driver

BANCROFT, Jan. 5. (ENS)—Harry Ashley, Faraday township farmer was badly hurt in a freak runaway accident, 15 miles from Bancroft late Saturday.

Ashley along with George Keller was en route to Bancroft from the Standard Chemical Company at Harcourt. Keller was driving his team in the lead, and Ashley's team was following, while Ashley, sitting on the rear of the Keller sleigh talked with his friend. Suddenly an oil truck appeared and the rear team bolted, and climbed up on the Keller sleigh. Ashley was trampled and had three ribs fractured and suffered numerous head cuts.

Mr. Keller was able to subdue his horses after they had gone a short distance, and farmers along the road found the Ashley team stalled in a snowdrift alongside a bush.

Mr. Ashley is in the Red Cross Outpost hospital at Bancroft.

Seeks Commissioner

Engagement of an industrial commissioner will be one of the first proposals to receive the consideration of the city council, Mayor Ovens said in his address this morning at the preliminary meeting of re-organization.

"I hope that before a month is past an industrial commissioner will be obtained for Peterborough," His Worship stated. "Whoever he may be, he will be able to give much attention to our local industries, and also be encouraging new industries to locate here."

the responsibilities of governing the city it might be well to pause and think of the lesson which all Christendom will think of in the visit of the wise men to the Babe in the Manger. In Jerusalem they had come in contact with King Herod who heard their story and was much disturbed by the tidings they brought. He was disturbed because he did not feel secure. He had the sense of insecurity from the possibility of a new king as reported by the visitors.

Today this city council is taking on a great responsibility. We are affected by whatever happens in the world, and we know that everywhere there is fear and mistrust. One reason for those doubts and fears is that so many leaders and people are living in the stress of the times, and where there is that atmosphere there is a lot of bluster and there could be a great deal of slaughter, as there was the slaughter of the babes, the innocents, as ordered by Herod in his feeling of insecurity."

Gained Security

Rev. Mr. Moore quoted from the gospel account that when the wise men arrived at the inn and met Mary and the infant Jesus they fell down and worshipped Him and presented Him gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. In their worship they gave to Jesus all they had, and walked away in security and peace. "It seems to me that we might all take this lesson to heart. You will soon have settled down to the business of the city, and there will be the laying of sewers and looking after our streets and the city's property, and there will be concern for efficiency, and there will be complaints about this and that, all within the spirit of our democracy, but there is a danger to you and to democracy that each of us keep this lesson of Ephiphany in mind and do the first things first. You are aware that we are in the midst of such things as fascism and communism and of the trend to making the state the great end and god, and there might be the danger of making democracy and the democratic form of government the highest things. But, we are grateful that so far we have kept God first and above all. I suggest that in your working and striving for this community that you always remember that if you serve your God it matters not what happens. If you have offered yourselves and your service and have done the right things in the light of your knowledge and wisdom you may be sure that you will rest content."

Ignore Pressure

Rev. Mr. Moore said the council might encounter pressure for this or that, and therefore their office called for courage and faith. The strongest faith was that of the wise men of the Gospel in giving themselves and all they had. Referring to the recent Nativity play at St. George's, Rev. Mr. Moore said that the lines of its theme had kept running through his mind of late, the words "Our play we offer unto Almighty God." And furthermore, it had been a wonderful reassurance that in these days when there seemed to be much godlessness in the world a city newspaper should set in its headline "St. George's Players Present A Play to Almighty God." In our community we can hope that so long as the newspaper and the public can have that thought presented before them so prominently there was great reason for faith and courage, and the city council would find strength in shaping their lives and work to the service of Almighty God.

"I am certain that if you do, Peterborough and all those who come in contact with it will be served well indeed by its council."

For his address and concluding prayer, Rev. Mr. Moore was tendered the thanks of the council by Mayor Ovens.

RCAF Rescue Plane Makes Double Mercy Trip Safely

By BOB JELLISON

HALIFAX, Jan. 5 (CP).—FO R. B. West, pilot of the RCAF search and rescue Canso flying boat which completed a double-barrelled mercy flight here yesterday, is something of a tired hero, but he turned up for duty at Greenwood, NS, today as usual. His crew, an RCN nursing sister and a sick bay attendant—Clifford Watchorn of Kingston—flew a seriously-ill girl to hospital at Goose Bay, Labrador, from Harrington Harbor, Que., New Year's Day. Before they could get back home, they made another flight to Mutton Bay, 50 miles down the St. Lawrence from Harrington where they took abroad another patient for Halifax.

Today 14-year-old Glinda Roberts is still in critical condition, suffering from pneumonia with complications, at Goose Bay, in spite of three shipments of drugs and oxygen flown in by special planes from Ottawa's Rockcliffe airport.

Kept Alive

When the Canso picked her up Thursday, she had been expected to live only half an hour, but oxygen administered by Nursing Sister Elizabeth Sharp of Regina kept her alive during the flight.

Mrs. Alexander Mongu of Mutton Bay is resting comfortably here after yesterday's 350-mile flight. She is expecting a baby in two weeks, and needed immediate medical attention.

Wearing a red plaid hunting cap, FO West hopped down from his Canso at nearby Eastern Passage airport yesterday and immediately began inspection of the front wheel of his tricycle landing gear, which stuck during the take-off from Mutton and caused him "a little worry until we got it worked down."

He added, however, that crash-landing in a Canso was a "piece of cake."

"Everything went fine this trip, though we couldn't land at Mutton on the first try Saturday. There were 10-foot swells with whitecaps and the village is surrounded by mountains. We just had to turn back."

A few minutes later he took off again for the auxiliary base at Greenwood, where he is stationed.

Believe Father Kills Stepson, Takes Own Life

ALLISTON, Jan. 5 — (CP). — Mrs. Jack Pullen, 24-year-old widow of a 42-year-old restaurant proprietor said by police apparently to have taken his own life after fatally slashing his stepson's throat with a breadknife, told investigators Saturday night she could suggest no reason for her husband's action.

Earlier police sought Mrs. Pullen to tell her that the blood-spattered bodies of her husband and five-year-old son, Hugh, had been found Saturday morning in living quarters above Pullen's fish-and-chip shop in this Simcoe county town 20 miles southwest of Barrie. She had left for Toronto about 8 a.m.

Police said later that Mrs. Pullen called the Alliston municipal office from Toronto, was told of the discovery of the bodies and said she would come here at once by taxi. She reached here about 4.30 p.m. in an almost hysterical condition.

Pullen came here with his wife and stepson from Islington, near Toronto, last May.

Edward Robbins, 72-year-old helper in the fish-and-chip shop, told police he found the bodies when he went upstairs Saturday about 10.30 a.m. to ask Pullen if he intended to keep the restaurant open for the rest of the day.

"When I got upstairs and didn't get any answer to my knock. I went into the living room and found the two of them lying in pools of blood," Robbins said. "Then I went to call a doctor and get the police."

Lindsay Voters Poll Big Vote

LINDSAY, Jan. 5 (ENS) — Indications are that one of the heaviest votes in years will be cast in today's municipal elections here, and it is expected the vote will be at least 60 per cent of all eligible electors. Deputy Returning Officer John Lake of the advance polls reported the vote on Friday and Saturday for travelling salesmen, railway men, etc. was heavy. The weather is ideal and electors are faced with important decisions. Not only do they have to elect a complete council, with the exception of a reeve, but there are two hydro commissioners to be chosen, a by-law to be voted on and a $30,000 question to answer. Previously half the council were elected yearly for a two-year term. Now each member has to go to the polls yearly.

Roger Hanbidge President Jersey Breeders

Roger Hanbidge succeeded Gordon Staples as president of the Peterborough Jersey Breeders' Club at its annual meeting Saturday. William Bell was elected vice-president, Harry Young continues as secretary-treasurer, and the directors for the year are: Don Robinson, Keith Larmer, Wellington Sutton and Foster Eagleston. Auditors are W. Bell and Lone Reynolds.

Director to the Federation of Agriculture is Wesley Bell; director to the Jersey Breeders' Association, Lorne Reynolds, was reappointed; Harry Young is the director to the Millbrook spring livestock show; and Gordon Staples is the Club's representative to the Peterborough Exhibition Board.

Gordon Staples proposed that more active interest should be taken in junior calf club work. He said that some boys later graduate into full-fledged breeders from the experience they gain in the care of their first calves. He also suggested that the Jersey breeders should consider supporting a dairy show for all breeds if the other groups were also interested in promoting a collective event of that kind this year. In regard to the Peterborough Exhibition, Mr. Staples said that nobody seemed to have a clear understanding of its position since the Board deferred its ov immediate affairs until the question of the site of the Memorial Centre at Morrow Park was determined.

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, congratulated the Jersey men on their 1947 progress, and particularly for the improvement they have been accomplishing in the quality of the Jersey stock in this area.

Work On Feeds

"I'd like to remind the Jersey breeders that they are essentially farmers, a fact which should not be forgotten in all the attention that is necessarily given to their heards," Mr. Paterson said. "It is likely that this year we will have to depend more upon ourselves especially in the matter of feeds. I know that in recent years we did advise farmers to grow less grain, for the simple reason that it was cheaper to buy western feed, but we all know the extent to which thtat has changed this last year."

Mr. Paterson spoke of the benefits of nutritious pastures, fertility and care of the soil, and generally working toward the best results in the grain, grasses and legumes in this near year.

One of the suggestions of the meeting was that some action should be considered to obtain a T.B. retest of cattle. The Club will co-operate again with the Millbrook show, with the expectation of bringing out 15 to 20 more animals than last year.

Harold Butcher, fieldman and secretary of the provincial association, reviewed the progress of the Jersey breed in Ontario in 1947 with special reference to increased sales, successful shows, calf club projects and other details. He endorsed the recommendation of Mr. Staples that more club effort should be put into stimulating interest of juniors in Jersey calf clubs. Mr. Butcher said there should be a large representation from the district at the provincial convention in Toronto Feb. 3.

Mr. Hanbidge moved a vote of thanks to Gordon Staples for his leadership during the last two years as president.

Inspector Reid testified that both were together on January 3 and evidence showed that both had been drinking.

Another Jump On Pork Faces Shoppers

By The Canadian Press

Canadian shoppers faced another jump in prices of pork products today as wholesalers announced that new lists were being prepared to raise domestic prices in line with the increases announced in the new British food contracts.

In Vancouver, packers announced that the increases will range up to 16 cents a pound in the wholesale bacon price. Other dealers were waiting to see what they would have to pay for hogs on the hoof before setting definite prices but they estimated similar mark-ups would prevail across Canada, all passed on to the consumer.

With Britain now paying $36.20 a hundredweight for bacon sides instead of $29.20, packers reported they were offering $27.85 a hundredweight for Grade A hogs at Winnipeg Saturday, an increase of $5.50 since Wednesday. In Montreal, a livestock official said market hogs would rise Monday to $28.50 from $24.50 a hundredweight.

In Toronto, V. S. Milburn, Ontario Federation of Agriculture secretary, said farmers needed the higher prices to meet increased production costs arising from costlier feed grains.

Hits Consumer

But Agriculture Minister Nollet of Saskatchewan said in Regina that the increased prices "will fall most heavily on the consumer." This, he warned, will hasten "the saturation point when consumption will diminish and finally culminate in a drastic decline in commodity prices."

Effective today, the wholesale price of bacon in Vancouver will be 64 cents a pound instead of 48 cents, packers announced. Other pork products such as hams and sausage will increase from four to 12 cents a pound.

Trade circles predicted that there would be little immediate effect on domestic prices of cheese, eggs and beef—the other three commodies for which Britain will pay higher prices under the new food contracts announced in Ottawa Friday.

Unlike pork, beef was already selling higher on domestic markets than Britain was paying for it so will not be so susceptible to the pressure of competitive buying.

YOUNG VICTIM OF PALESTINE CONFLICT—An eleven-year-old boy, shot by Arab snipers during the violent war of hate that rages in the no-man's-land between all-Jewish Tel Aviv and all-Arab Jaffa, is carried from the scene. U.S. Railroads Raise Freight Rates 20 P.C.

MONCTON, N.B., Jan. 5 — (CP). — Effective today, Canadian freight travelling on American railroads is subject to a 20 per cent increase, replacing the 10-per-cent boost that went into effect last October.

This sudden announcement came last night from Rand H. Matheson, manager of the Maritime Transportation Commission. There was no immediate explanation why no announcement had been made from Ottawa.

An interim meeting of the transportation commission was held here Saturday to consider the new increase and to formulate plans in view of what Mr. Matheson referred to as "important transportation developments anticipated in the near future."

He said the increase was a temporary measure pending decision of the inter-state commerce commission on applications by American railroads for rate increases running as high as 41 per cent.

There was no immediate indication whether this might foreshadow another increase on top of the 20 per cent surcharge.

The increase will expire June 30, unless there is an alteration before that date or cancellation.

The original, 10 per cent increase resulted from the decision of the Inter-State Commerce Commission and it received the approval of the Canadian Board of Transport commissioners.

The Commerce Commission announced Dec. 30 that U.S. carriers had been authorized to make a further "emergency" freight rate increase of 10 per cent, boosting charges 20 per cent above those prevailing Oct. 1.

The railways were empowered to make the changes effective on five-day notice and in most cases the new rates come into effect today.

2 Small Brothers Team Up To Halt Attempted Robbery

LAWRENCE, N.Y., Jan. 5 — (AP)— One suspect was under arrest here today and another was sought by police who credited teamwork between two brothers, aged six and ten, for helping to break up an attempted robbery of a Long Island home.

Irving Zacharia, 10, and his brother, Eli, six, won a share in credit for saving valuables in the home of their parents, Sason and Sara Zacharia, Saturday night.

Two men, saying their automobile was stalled, appeared at the house, asked to use the telephone, pulled guns when they got inside, and demanded that the butler lead them to the safe.

Mrs. Zacharia, her three children, Irving, Elia and Alvin, four, her father, Elia Aphtali, and her mother, Sophie, 70, entered the kitchen to face the holdup men.

The grandparents, recently arrived from Greece, waved their arms and protested in broken English. One of the gunmen split the grandfather's scalph with a blackjack. The grandmother collapsed. The mother, fearing a kidnapping, snatched up Alvin and ran from the house.

Irving, with Eli close on his heels, ran upstairs, shouting "I'm going to call the police."

The elder brother darted in a bedroom where there was an extension telephone and as he grabbed the instrument, Eli slammed the door and locked it.

The boy's call reached police seconds before one his mother made from a neighbor's home.

The manoeuvres caused the holdup men to flee empty-handed.

Two Cars Crash Damage Tops $250

Police estimate a total of more than $250 damage was caused Sunday afternoon when cars belonging to Howard Smith, RR 2 Picton, and Harry Dummitt, 570 Romaine St., collided at George and Antrim streets.

Smith said he was travelling north on George street at about 3 p.m. when at about 75 feet from Antrim he saw the car driven by Harry Dummitt, pulling into the intersection.

Although he applied his brakes and blew his horn, Smith told police, the car drove out in front of his auto and he struck it on the left front fender.

Dummitt claimed he stopped for the sign on the corner and then started across the road. He said he saw Smith's car coming but he was too far out in the intersection to stop and let it pass.

Damage to Smith's car was estimated by police at approximately $250; to Dummitt's, $30.

U.S. Ship Hits Mine Limps Toward Port

LONDON, Jan. 5. (AP)—The United States Lines 6,103-ton freighter Pioneer Cove, damaged when she struck a mine in the North Sea yesterday, limped toward port today, buffeted by a gale that battered the British coast with 60-mile-an-hour gusts and heavy rain.

The storm delayed attempts to salvage the Silvia Onorato, Italian freighter aground on the Goodwin Sands, off the Kent Coast.

The Royal Navy Yard at Chatham reported no further signal from the Pioneer Cove today, indicating she was making good progress.

Questions Affecting Whole World Considered By 80th Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(AP). —Questions bearing vitally on the future of the United States and most of the world confront the 70th Congress meeting tomorrow for its final session.

Help for Europe and Asia, tax cutting, the high cost of living, rent control and the housing shortage, military preparedness and health insurance are a few of the top issues. And the list probably will grow.

A complicating factor is that this is a general election year. Democrats want to regain the control of Congress they lost to the Republicans in 1946. The Republicans hope to put their presidential nominee in the White House for the first time since Franklin D. Roosevelt started his term in 1933.

The first week of the new session will be devoted primarily to speech-making and strategy huddles by Congressional leaders, with a few committees starting to lay the groundwork for future legislative actions.

The first actual battle of the session probably will take place in the House, over the Republican-backed tax reduction bull.

The tax bill under consideration would cut $5,600,000,000 and about 7,400,000 low income and elderly persons from the tax rolls. It goes further than the two bills Truman vetoed last year.

Nothing Definite.

Most signs indicate the foreign aid picture will not take definite shape for several months. While Democrats generally are supporting the administration's Marshall plan to spend $17,000,000,000 during the next four years to help the 16 non-Communist countries of Western Europe regain their economic feet, Republicans are divided.

In addition to the Marshall plan for European recovery, Congress also is due to get a separate State Department program for helping China.

Mr. Truman is expected to submit a record peacetime budget of about $40,000,000.00 in his message next Monday.

Congressional leaders are speculating that the President will ask the lawmakers to:

Approve the Marshall plan quickly.

Extend rent control beyond its February 29 expiration date.

Pass a Universal Military Training Bill.

Approve a national health insurance program.

Do something about the housing situation, and

Give him standby price-wage control and rationing powers.

The special session las month responded with a sharp "no" to that last request, approving instead a program of voluntary action to combat inflation.

1,000 Pullets Killed In Blaze At Picton

PICTON, Jan. 5 — Fire late Saturday afternoon destroyed a three-story chicken house and killed 1,000 pullets on the farm of Karl Euler at Bentley's Corners, eight miles frim Picton.

The blaze, believed to have been caused by defective electric wiring, swept through the frame structure despite the efforts of some 500 residents of the district who gathered the Euler farm. Volunteers were unable to drive any of the chickens from the converted barn. The birds had been sold to a dealer who was to arrive later in the evening to pick them up.

The house and other buildings escaped damage. Loss was estimated at $4,000, partially covered by insurance.

Canadian Arms For China

Two ships with cargoes of Canadian munitions for the official government armies of China were due to sail before the end of the year from Vancouver and Halifax. The Pakistan ship Colima was picketed in Vancouver. In Halifax the freighter Islandside has not been able to get seamen to man her. Seven ships in all have been delayed by the dispute, but one, the Lake Okanagan, sailed last week-end and agreement seems to have been reached.

* * *

These strikes appear superficially to be due to workers' popular, even spontaneous, even sentimental, indignation. The men seem to be saying: "It is wrong for us, peace-loving Canadian seamen, to be helping to arm a foreign government in a wicked war against its own communists". The strikes are not due primarily to high-mindedness and hate of traffic in munitions. They are planned and organized by communist sympathizers. If the munitions had been designated for the Chinese communist forces, there would have been no strikes — at least not by the same people.

* * *

It is notable that the C.C.F., the Canadian Congress of Labour and the Canadian Seamen's Union have all officially disclaimed any responsibility. The C.C.F. called off its pickets; the C.C.L. has declared the strike "unwarranted"; the president of the C.S.U. has said that the Union's Halifax office has requested seamen to sail the Islandside. None of these three organizations wants to be labelled communistic and each probably realizes that the strikes are inspired by communists.

* * *

Communists in Canada or any minority group should not decide whether this country is or is not going to supply the Chinese government with munitions. That is a decision for the responsible government of Canada to make. The fuss in Vancouver and Halifax is not a people's movement having the authority of a rebellion, as in 1919, when British soldiers refused to embark to make war for White Russia.

* * *

Has the Canadian government decided that Canada should support Chiang Kai-Shek's government with Canadian munitions? Or is it just closing its eyes in the name of free trade? Trade in munitions is quite a different matter from trade in cabbages. A weapon stamped "Made in Canada" in the hands of a Chinese soldier is an instrument of Canada's foreign policy — even though the weapon has been bought for cash. Has the government decided to intervene actively in the Chinese civil war?

U.S. Labour And The Presidential Election

One of the riddles puzzling political observers in the United States is the amount of influence organized labour may exert in deciding the presidential year election. Labour suffered a sharp reverse in 1946, after years of influence with the Democratic Party. The Republican victory, however, made the Taft-Hartley Act possible, and that piece of legislation appears to have stirred labour to great activity. There are at least six political movements within U.S. organized labour today, and the puzzled observers are trying to figure out how much political substance these movements have.

The oldest of the movements is the Non-Partisan League, ostensibly headed by a Mr. J. T. Jones, but actually led by John L. Lewis. Next in seniority is the C.I.O.'s Political Action Committee, an active and once-powerful organization which shows signs of having profited from lessons learned through the beating it took in 1946. The three next in line are the Machinists' Non-Partisan Political League, Railway Labour's Political League, and the new A.F.L. Labour's Education and Political League. These five have one thing in common—they will have nothing to do with the sixth movement, the American Labour Party of New York.

Aside from that one point, there appears to be no evidence of any intention on the part of the first five organizations named to unite under central direction or even to co-operate on a nation-wide scale. They are definitely not seeking to form a national labour party. There is evidence, however, that in many voting centres A.F.L., C.I.O., and independent union leaders are meeting and discussing the possibility of direct action in preparation for local campaigns.

United States' public interest in the part to be played by labour in deciding the presidential election — shared to some extent by Canadians—is natural, in view of the fact that U.S. unions have enough potential voting power to swing any election. The unions claim a membership of approximately twenty millions, and the estimate is not far from government figures. If that force, or the greater part of it, could be organized and directed at the unions' target—the Taft-Hartley Law—it might give the Democrats enough votes to reverse the result of 1946, when the Republican Party won control of both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

Councils And Civic Leadership

Earlier in this series of articles on local government, we commented on the failure of some municipal councils to provide leadership, discussing as a possible reason lack of interest on the part of the electorate. In one field of local government, however, there is another reason behind this failure. It is a broad field, covering expenditures on many projects which might appear essential or highly desirable to a municipality looking far ahead to future needs. The field also includes any slightly out-of-the-ordinary current expenditures, although lack of leadership is less noticeable here.

It would seem reasonable to assume that the councils which fail to provide leadership in these matters are influenced, in part at least, by their knowledge that one group of citizens pays the shot for projects or programs which would benefit all citizens. Under the present system, taxation is levied on real estate. It may be argued that all citizens contribute indirectly to these taxes, but it is an argument that carries little weight with the direct taxpayers. If certain projects or programs to be undertaken by a municipality are intended to benefit all citizens, they will answer, then all citizens should share the cost, equally, openly and directly.

The latter argument is probably familiar to councils throughout the province, and is heard most frequently, perhaps, in connection with the provision of social services, a steadily expanding item in municipal budgets. Councillors and aldermen who have heard the argument may be reluctant, and understandably so, to propose additional expenditures in this and certain other departments after hearing such criticism from the people who are directly responsible for payment of a municipality's bills under the present system.

This situation, common in all municipalities today, applies with greater force to urban centres. It raises the question of a possible change in the method of financing a city, a possibility we propose to discuss in another article.

An Aristocrat Comes To Peterborough

Canada's immigration policy — even Mr. Drew's excellent importation scheme —has not resulted in a noticeable flow of blue blood across the Atlantic. The reason may be that aristocratic blood has a tendency to thin out when removed from indigenous air and habitual fountains. Nevertheless the translation of aristocrats from lush England to ruder Canada is sometimes accomplished successfully. Six superior males are coming out under Federal auspices, and one of them will be resident in this county.

Surnamed Pembroke, his father is a French aristocrat named William of Valence, who in turn is a half-brother on the sire's side of the celebrated, nobly-proportioned Bois Russel. Bois Russel has long been Anglicised, so the Gallic name should not alarm Ontario people who dislike foreigners other than those from the "Old Country".

We welcome the aristocratic Pembroke, for though he may not lay claim to an earldom, his lineage is impeccably noble, his blood truly blue. It is the general expectation that his union with good Canadian stock will result in superior progeny who will be a credit to our beloved Canada. After all, his uncle gets a service fee of about $2,000 in his role as a stallion.

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

CHARLES DODGSON (Lewis Carroll), the creator of Alice in Wonderland was in many respects an eccentric man. He never [illegible]led and was mainly happy with mathe[illegible] when not spending his time with Alice. In Victoria Through the Looking Glass (the most recent biography of Dodgson by Florence Becker Lennon, Simon and Schuster), the author speaks of his peculiar habits.

◇ ◇ ◇

"TESTIMONY to Dodgson's insomnia includes the title of his book, Pillow Problems, and the various devices he used when sleep denied itself to him. He invented several night-writing aids; the best was the Typhlograph, which he later rechristened the Nyctograph. This was a series of cardboard squares; in a blind alphabet of his own invention he wrote in the edges and corners of the squares."

◇ ◇ ◇

"ONE of the Miss Dodgsons wrote: 'To get rid of mice in his rooms, a square live trap was used, and he had a wood and wire compartment made which fitted on to the trap whose door could then be opened for the mice to run into the compartment, a sliding door shutting them in, and the compartment could then be taken from the trap and put under water, thus all chance of the mice having an agonized struggle on the surface of the water was removed'."

◇ ◇ ◇

"ISA (his good friend) says that to improve his stammer he read a scene of Shakespeare aloud daily for years. The reading was pleasurable in itself too—stammers take an added pleasure in speech, and tend toward loquaciousness rather than taciturnity."

◇ ◇ ◇

WHEN Alice in Wonderland first appeared, its reception was indeed mixed and like so many works of fame it was not immediately popular. Sir Arthur Sullivan who was already quarrelling with W. S. Gilbert over the respective merits of his music and Gilbert's verses, did not think highly of Dodgson's work. Miss Lennon continues:

"Even Sir Arthur earns a harsh word for having 'prostituted his noble art to set to music such vile trash.' (Carroll had tried, in March, 1877, to get Sullivan to write music for the projected dramatization of Alice. Sullivan had begged off, presumably because of the difficult rhythms.)"

"Thackeray's first visit to Oxford, to judge from a possibly apocryphal story, was not so fortunate. His bigrapher gives, without being willing to authenticate, an account of the Vice-Chancellor who questioned the novelist before granting a license for the lecture, and who asked if Vanity Fair had 'anything to do with John Bunyan's book?" The same Vice-Chancellor had never heard of Pendennis either, and asked if Punch were not a ribald publication. The biographer deduces that the Oxford official was not greatly interested in modern literature.

JOHN E. DREWRY has edited twenty-two articles, mostly about journalists which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post (More Post Biographies, University of Georgia Press) and tells a priceless story which happened to Horace Hooper. Hooper bought up thousands of reserve sets of the Encyclopaedia Britannica from the London Times and sold them like they had never been sold in England before.

"During Hooper's high-pressure selling of the Encyclopedia in Great Britain and its Dominions, a number of the usual form sales letters were sent over a period of time to a farmer in the backwoods of Australia.

"The letters, each more urgent than the last, told him that a set of the Britannica was being reserved for him in Sydney and urged him to place his order immediately.

"Finally he received a telegram warning him that only two days remained for him to pick up his reserved Britannica in Sydney "at a ridiculously low cost." That got action from the bewildered Australian. Deciding he could afford to wait no longer, he hitched up his buggy and drove two nights and days without a rest, until he reached Sydney.

"Rushing breathlessly into the office, he demanded, 'Where is my Britannica?' When the salesman pointed to a set standing in the corner, the farmer put his head in his hands, groaning with amazement and no little despair, 'My God! Books!' "

SOMETIME after World War I, T. E. Lawrence (better known as Lawrence of Arabia) spent a few years in the R.A.F. At that time (1932) the nautical experts were complaining to the Admiralty that each seaplane should be equipped with a pair of oars. This, of course, was considered necessary because of possible engine trouble. Lawrence, who was interested in this, drafted a memorandum to the Admiralty, it ran as follows:

"Objections noted. Oars will be provided according to recommendation. It is submitted that this principle should be extended to the land vehicles of the R.A.F.: a set of harness should be kept in all motor trucks."

Anna Buchan, perhaps better known as O. Douglas describes the almost incredible industry of her famous brother, John (in Unforgettable Unforgotten).

"The days in London were very full, and at home he was writing continuously. The extraordinary thing was he never seemed in the very least oppressed with work, nor even very busy. He sat at his side of the big writing-table in the library—Susie had the other side—and wrote without appearing to be disturbed by the clamour of laughter and talk that went on around them. He never worked after dinner, but talked or read aloud, and went off early to bed. He was an excellent sleeper.

The secret was that he was exact about everything and never wasted a minute. When he was writing Lord Minto's life he said to us one evening, "I'll finish Minto tomorrow at eleven o'clock." As the clock struck eleven the next morning he laid down his pen—and at eleven-fifteen he had begun another book!"

Walking was not always the drudgery it has become of late. In his student days, John Buchan used to cover the distance between Oxford and London (and return) on the week-end and used to look forward to this form of exercise as a treat.

◇ ◇ ◇

TALKING about walking, that reminds me about the story of George M. Trevelyan, the English historian. While American Ambassador in Rome, Lloyd Griscom had the good fortune to meet Trevelyan on a week-end. "At the arrival of the young George Trevelyan" (he writes, in his Diplomatically Speaking, Little, Brown & Co.—read it and enjoy it) "the field of sightseeing was enlarged. He conducted me over every inch of the ground where Garibaldi had campaigned against Rome. I had always been a good walker, but Trevelyan tired me out, and I was somewhat chagrined until I discovered he belonged to an English pedestrian Club, the members of which prided themselves on their ability to cover phenomenal distances on foot. Once after he had been absent for several days, I asked where he had been. He named a village on the farther side of the Apennines.

" 'Did you go by motor train?'

" 'Neither, I walked.'

" 'Hold on.' I produced a map. 'It's a hundred and sixty-one miles. You've only been gone three days. That's a daily average of fifty-three miles.'

" 'That's right. I did two days at sixty, and then had a shorter one over the mountains.'

"With some annoyance at my skepticism, he described his method—to sleep in the middle of the day, and then walk all night when the roads were cool and most free of traffic and dust.'

NEW YEAR HEADACHES

Alfred North Whitehead

(NEW YORK TIMES)

THERE is a character in one of Gogol's novels who is harassed by this question: If elephants laid eggs what would be the colour of their eggs? It is by asking such seemingly mad questions that the mathematical physicist of today arrives at valid conclusions about the universe and about atoms. Of course nothing is discovered about elephants' eggs, but much that was not known before is discovered about elephants by this peculiar form of reasoning. Here we have one reason why Bertrand Russell, the most distinguished pupil of Alfred North Whithead, remarked in a widely quoted epigram that a "mathematician does not have to know what he is talking about."

In a sense that epigram crystallizes Whitehead's mathematical philosophy. For to Whitehead mathematics was a system of logic and not a science. Even as a young man, when he wrote his "Universal Algebra"—no mere textbook for high schools—Whitehead had been wondering just what mathematics was driving at and what its processes signify. Since mathematics was a system of logic, he saw that he could not escape a study of meanings, and so he plunged into language, only to discover that "there is not a sentence or a word with meaning which is independent of the circumstances under which it is uttered." Hence the conclusion that "logic, conceived as an adequate analysis of thought, is a fake."

What logic needs is a background of common sense, and it was common sense that Whitehead tried to supply in all his philosophical writings. Hence his "endeavour to base philosopnic thought upon the most concrete elements in our experience." His physical world is a complex of events — not Eddington's metaphysical "pointer-readings," which indicate merely that there is something "out there" that we call trees and houses—but "slabs of duration," which are real and which we see in space and which persist. A whole new vocabulary had to be invented to express such ideas, which explains why Whitehead was never read with avidity by the multitude. With him passes a distinguished scholar who regarded himself as a Victorian but who belonged so very much to our time that he could discuss relativity and the quantum theory with the best mathematical physicists and suggest common-sense approaches to cosmology and matter that deserve more attention than they have received.

"Sorry, madam. I can't give you that information."

"Aren't you the paying teller?" she persisted.

"Yes," he answered, "but I'm not the telling payer."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now as he walked by the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea: for they were fishers. And Jesus said unto them, Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men...

And they went into Capernaum; and straightway on sabbath day he entered into the synagogue, and taught. And they were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had authority, and not as the scribes....

And forthwith, when they were come out of the synagogue, they entered into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John. But Simon's wife's mother lay sick of a fever, and anon they tell him of her. And he came and took her by the hand, and lifted her up; and immediately the fever left her, and she ministered unto them. (Mark 1: 16, 17, 21, 22, 29-31.)

If there be a messenger with him, an interpreter, one among a thousand, to shew unto man his uprightness: then he is gracious unto him, and saith, Deliver him from going down to the pit: I have found a ransom.

His flesh shall be fresher than a child's: he shall return to the days of his youth: he shall pray unto God, and he will be favourable unto him: and he shall see his face with joy: for he will render unto man his righteousness. (Job 33: 14, 23-26.)

Letter To The Editor

WHAT PROSPECTS FOR PETERBOROUGH FAIR?

Sir: Please allow me a small space for a few remarks about the Peterborough Exhibition.

In your editorial of December 20, you pointed out that Lindsay has gone into Class "A" type of Fair.

What class will Peterborough's be?

Well, by the look of things at present it does not seem as though we are going to have a Fair in 1948. It is now two and a half years since the war was over, and the directors have had ample time to get started in making plans for another fair in Peterborough in 1948.

If the present Board of Directors feel they are not capable of putting on a fair, why don't they step out and let the directors who were on the board previous to the war, put on a fair? The time is now at hand if we are to have a fair in 1948!

There should be an annual meeting in January, and they have a large sum of money in the bank, in fact, more money than any previous board ever had to work on. What are they going to do with it?

Yours truly,
"AN EX-DIRECTOR."

PERSONALITIES IN THE NEWS—One of the personalities Canadians are reading about in today's news is tinplate heir Henry J. (Bob) Topping (left), who will marry screen star Lana Turner as soon as his divorce from Arline Judge becomes final, according to reports. One of the most lavish parties ever staged in Hollywood is planned to celebrate the formal announcement. Meanwhile, on the other side of the world, "Miss Philippines" (left centre), in the recent "Miss America" contest, Evangeline de Castro, 17, announces that she plans to enter a convent in the Philippines. She told reporters in Manila that she was 'bored with social life." James C. Petrillo (right centre), president of the American Federation of Musicians, comes into the news again as he stands trial for the second time on charges of violating the Lea act. The law forbids a union from forcing a radio station to hire unneeded musicians. A radio station executive testified that the Petrillo union had attempted to force his station to hire musicians it did not need. Also shown above is the only woman member of the U.S. legal team prosecuting 12 officials of the Krupp Arms Works as alleged war criminals, Cecelia Gotz (right), at her desk at Neurenberg, Germany. Ontario Zoned To Boost Fur Production

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—Greater fur production is looked for in Ontario in years to come as a result of a new method of zoning the provinces for trapping purposes. Dr. W. J. K. Harkness, director, Fish and Wild Life Division, Department of Lands and Forests, said last night that with zoning it will be possible to manage production so as to get the best possible return on the valuable wild life.

Previously, he said, zoning was attempted in some areas on a township basis but it was found that rivers would cut through these boundaries and thus interfere with the natural course of a trapline.

As a result of a series of conferences with the trappers concerned, the various zones were set up through mutual agreement and only one trapper will be allowed to work each zone. A yearly license will be issued to a trapper and his zone will be described and registered by order-in-council similar to that of Crown game reserves.

"If a trapper is conscientious in his care of his area and develops its fur resources, he can expect to have his license renewed without difficulty," explained Dr. Harkness. "This will give him some incentive to build up his potential in order to get the greatest annual returns without cutting in on his basic reserves. By taking off only his surplus crop annually, the trapper in effect becomes a fur management agent in co-operation with our overseer staff."

Dr. Harkness explained that the beaver is one of the basic fur producers and lends itself to management. If given protection, it will multiply. At the same time, by their damming operations, beavers also improve the country and attract other fur game to it.

REPUTED LEADER OF COLORADO PRISON BREAK — Head bloody and arms chained behind him, Werner Schwartzmiller, reputed leader of the break from the Colorado state penitentiary, is shown back in the arms of the law after he was recaptured. Werner met his Waterloo when he sought refuge in a ranch house and was subdued by a militant lady with a hammer. James Sherbondy, 28, last of the 12 escaped convicts, was captured a few hours after he relaxed his vigil to let a family's sick boy be taken to a doctor. Sherbondy went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bauer, three miles north of Canon City, Colo., and obtained food from them. None of the 12 criminals made good in his bid for freedom. Two were slain, four more wounded, the leader (above) beaten and all the rest but Sherbondy behind walls 18 hours after the break.

Blame Controls For Drop In Employment

OTTAWA, Jan. 5 — (CP). — Canada's employment chart reached a peacetime record in 1947 and though unemployment now is on the increase in almost every province on slightly more than a seasonal scale, the labor department said the outlook still remains promising.

In a review of 1947 labor conditions in the Dominion and prospects for the future, the department blamed the world's dollar-saving program with its import restrictions for putting more than a seasonal damper on the labor picture.

Canada's dollar-saving program came as seasonal activity was ending in agriculture and construction but logging expansion, Christmas trade and service activity helped absorb the slack of displaced workers.

The department noted that this seasonal slackoff in employment usually continued until spring but added:

"Indications are this year that the decline in employment is slightly more than seasonal, since uncertainty as to the effect of import restrictions is dampening many employers' demands for labor, particularly in manufacturing industries.

Outlook Promising

"But the outlook once temporary difficulties are solved, is promising and optimism prevails among business men in general. They do not foresee any recession in 1948, according to most recent information."

At Dec. 18 unplaced applicants registered at National Employment Service offices across Canada totalled 135,000, some 23,000 below the same period in 1946 but an increase of 29,000 over Nov. 13 this year. Those seeking employment included 103,000 men and 32,000 women, compared with 73,000 and 33,000 respectively at Nov. 13.

Ontario had 35,000 unplaced applicants against 17,000 unfilled vacancies and labor demand there had declined sharply. However, unplaced jobseekers had not increased markedly because of the acute labor shortage which previously prevailed.

Former RCAF Officer To Make Hazardous African Film Trip

By MICHAEL O'MARA.

LONDON, Jan. 5 — (CP). — James Swackhammer, 34-year-old former RCAF officer from Hamilton, will lead what his studio calls "one of the most hazardous film-making expeditions ever to be carried out"—the filming of "Trek," a story of an overland trip from Cairo to the Cape of Good Hope.

He will fly to Juba in the Sudan next month where a caravan of specially equipped vehicles to carry his location unit on a three-month journey is being assembled. Gainsborough Pictures bill the picture on which he is working as "a saga of modern pioneering."

Swackhammer has packed plenty of variety into his career —including acting, producing, gold-mining, and professional hunting. His first fling at the stage came at the age of 19 when he left the University of Toronto to join a San Francisco stock company.

After another spell at college he went prospecting in the James Bay area. The following summer he worked in the bush around Moosonee.

Gets Around.

He came to Britain after a year as associate producer at a Chicago theatre and worked for a casting agency, also appearing in BBC dramatic broadcasts.

He had two film roles—both as a young Canadian—in "Night Invader" and "This Was Paris" before he joined the Canadian Army in 1940. Two years later he transferred to the RCAF, and was assigned to that service's film unit, helping to make pictures for the National Film Board.

He was discharged with the rank of flight-lieutenant in 1945 and joined Gaumont-British as a writer-director. The following year he became an "expert" on Africa the hard way as a member of a three-man team making a documentary on life in the Sudan and Southern Rhodesia.

Swackhammer's work on "Trek" will bring a re-union with his English wife and their three-year-old son who now are living in Rhodesia.

17 People Flee Fire Wearing Night Attire

OTTAWA, Jan. 5 — (CP). — Seventeen persons were forced to flee to the street in their night attire early this morning when fire swept through a combination barber shop and beauty salon in Ottawa south causing damage estimated at $5,000.

Breaking out on the lower floor housing the shops, the fire sent billows of smoke into apartments on the second storey, forcing residents to flee. The apartment dwellers were able to return after firemen quelled flames.

Barefoot At Communion

HINCHLEY, Leicestershire, England, Jan. 5.— (CP).—Canon Christopher E. Turner, Vicar of Hinckley, for a second time yesterday went barefoot while celebrating Holy Communion. Canon Turner, who lived in Vancouver and elsewhere in British Columbia from 1922 to 1929, had announced on Friday that he intended to do daily penance until the person who stole parcels from a Christmas tree outside his church during a midnight Christmas service made proper reparation.

Name Committee For Drama Festival

GUELPH, Jan. 5.—Members of the committee in charge of the forthcoming annual three-day festival of the Wetsern Ontario Drama League to be held at the Ontario Agricultural College here on Feb. 5, 6 and 7, include Prof. R. H. Ozburn, Dr. Hugh D. Branion and Victor L. Smeaton. The festival will be staged in War Memorial Hall on the campus, it was learned Saturday.

Four entries will be selected out of 12 for inclusion in the forthcoming Dominion drama festival, it was learned. Final competitors will be selected in Guelph immediately following the city's second entry, "Quiet Week-end," directed by John H. McElderry.

Michael Crosses Swiss Border

BUCHS, Switzerland, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The special train carrying former King Michael of Romania to Switzerland arrived at this Swiss frontier town at 8:07 a.m. (3:07 a.m. EST) today and departed an hour later for Zurich and Lausanne without the young ex-monarch making a public appearance.

An aide to the former king said that Michael was expected to receive on his arrival in Lausanne a telephone communication from Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma, whose hand he reportedly is seeking in marriage.

Only a handful of villagers and a group of photographers were on hand to greet Michael's train this morning as it crossed the border from Austria. The curtains of Michael's private car remained tightly drawn and none of those on the platform had a glimpse of either the ex-king or his mother, Queen Helen.

Want Farmer Control

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 5—The Lincoln County Federation of Agriculture went on record yesterday as favoring Dominion marketing legislation to give the Ontario farmer some control over his produce after it has left the province. H. L. Craise of the Peach Marketing Board said that at the present time low-grade peaches can be sent out of the province for processing and then returned to Ontario, competing with fruit grown and processed in Ontario.

Two Men Face Mischief Charge

In police court Saturday morning before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, Daniel Flynn, 298 King St., and Karl Chapman were convicted of committing the offence of mischief. It was charged they "wilfully destroyed and damaged drinking glasses, bed linen, wallpaper" on the property of the Empress Hotel Jan. 2.

They agreed to make restitution to cover the estimated damage of $25, and were both given suspended sentences by the magistrate.

Bruce Parker, 341 Reid St., pleaded guilty to illegal possession of liquor on Jan. 3 and was fined $15 plus $2.50 costs.

Bert O'Reilly pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness Dec. 31 and was fined $50 plus $2.50 costs as this was his second offence.

Blame Icy Road For Car Collision

Minor damage resulted when cars owned by Vince Dineen, 171 Adeline St., and John W. Frizelle, 140 London St., collided just before noon Saturday at George and Rink Streets.

Frizelle told police he was driving south on George when a city bus ahead of him stopped to discharge a passenger outside the curb-side snow pile. He slowed down and started to swing around the bus when he noticed an oncoming taxi that could not pass due to the snow heap on the other side of the road.

He said he slammed on his brakes and Dineen coming from behind also tried to stop, but due to icy conditions the taxi slid into the rear of Frizelle's car. The oncoming northbound car also tried to stop suddenly and swung to the right, running into a snowbank.

Damage to the taxi was to the front grill, and Frizelle's vehicle had a small dent in the trunk.

Three Cars Damaged In Freak Mishap

Three cars were involved in an accident late Friday afternoon when the left front tire of a car southbound on Water St., driven by George Paudash, Hiawatha, clipped the rear fender of a northbound taxi driven by Mrs. A. Would, 21 Aylmer St. It then swung to the right, striking a parked car, and finally came to a stop 100 feet south of the Liquor Control Board store, Brock and Water Streets.

Paudash said after striking the parked car his own vehicle swerved to the left, narrowly missing two other parked cars on the opposite side of the street. None of the five passengers in his auto were injured. They were Vern Morrow, June Paudash, Jim Howard, Eldon Musgrave, Boyd Cowie—all of Hiawatha.

Damage to Paudash's car consisted of a punctured left front tire, a dented right rear fender, and licence plate torn off. The taxi had a damaged rear fender and bumper. The parked vehicle sustained slight damage.

Polar Bear Breaks Loose Runs Race With Visitors

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 5 — (AP). — A full-grown polar bear romped for almost an hour inside the Washington Park Zoo's main cage room Saturday night, trapping Superintendent J. L. Marks atop a cage after sending four visitors scurrying for safety.

The 700-pound anmal was lured into its cage with a meaty bone by zoo tender William Clark, who earlier had out-distanced the bear in several turns around the main zoo building.

Clark explained that the bear—named Mischa by Russian sailors who presented the animal to the Portland Zoo when it outgrew its mascot quarters aboard a Soviet vessel in port here — broke a padlock on an outside cage door.

The first that the zoo keepers realized the animal was free was when several visitors pointed frantically toward the main zoo doors. There the big animal was —calmly looking into the building.

The visitors dashed through another exit for their automobiles. Clark, who feeds the bear daily, also stepped outside the building to distract the animal, and the bear started toward him. In a moment it was a race around the outside of the building.

"About the third or fourth lap I ducked into a basement stairway alcove, waiting for the bear to run past," Clark said.

Clark entered the building through the basement and joined Superintendent Marks, who had remained inside. They directed W. D. Bozman, one of the visitors, to herd the animal with his automobile toward the building's main entrance, which Clark had opened.

Bozman circled the building about 40 times — this time with Mischa in front. Finally the bear tired of the fun and dodged inside the one open door. By this time Superintendent Marks was atop the bear cage.

Clark kept thinking of the merry-go-round chase and said: "Every time around, that bear looked bigger, and I kept feeling smaller."

Marines Take A Victory In Cage Fray

Marines took a 54-33 exhibition cage win at the "Y" on Saturday night over the college crew, consisting of former PCVS stars, home on vacation. Bev Goulding sat with his former players and a general hometown reunion atmosphere prevailed. The college boys, sparked by Richardson, Matthews, Weir and Kidd, turned in a fine effort, despite lack of practice together. Individually they played fine ball and were only outscored by Marines' teamwork.

In Control

The game was rugged in spots but kept well in hand by Referees Dyer and Grose. After playing evenly for 10 minutes, the Outboards gradually pulled ahead to hold a 31-20 lead at the half. In the second, it was rougher as both teams turned it on. Marines still held an edge to the finish. Weir, Kidd and Richardson were most effective for the visitors, while Capt. Joe Stewart stood out for the victors and scored 10 points, brother Al getting 11, and Ed Nicholls 12. A packed gallery saw a good tussle. The teams:

College: Weir 2, Gray 5, Kidd 9, Harle, Matthews 9, Gillespie 1, Ferguson 2, Graham, Richardson 5.

Marines: Gillespie 2, Smith 4, A. Stewart 11, Burns 6, Csumrik 4, J. Stewart 10, Nicholls 12, Edger 5.

Referees—Dyer and Grose.

House Loop

Two "Y" House League teams put on a curtain-raiser with Jim Flowers' team taking a 34-17 margin over Bus Manbeck's squad, mainly on the sniping of Don Griffin. The half-time count was tied at 9-9 but Griffin broke loose in the second half to run in 15 points and settle the issue. Burrows and Payne went best for the losers. The teams:

Manbeck's: Payne 9, Chapman, Burrows 6, Conlin, Manbeck 2.

Flowers: Hempstead 9, Griffin 17, Grose 2, Hill 4, Flowers 2.

Referee—Dyer.

Senators Back In Second Place

By The Canadian Press

The fast-skating Ottawa Senators were back in second position in Quebec Senior Hockey League standings today following their two victories in the three-game scheduled week-end. By downing Valleyfield Braves 7-1 Saturday and Montreal Royals 7-4 Sunday, the Senators moved to within a point of the league-leading Shawinigan Falls Cataracts who also overpowered Valleyfield 8-2.

In the Provincial Hockey League, second-place Sherbrooke St. Francis swept both ends of a doubleheader with the third-place St. Hyacinthe Gallos. They came up with a 3-1 triumph Saturday and won 6-5 Sunday In the only other game, Lachine Rapides edged the cellar-dwelling Cornwall Cougars 4-3.

Ottawa marksmen Saturday were George Greene, Eddie Emberg, Stu Smith, Ray Trainor, Jackie McLean, Alex Smart and Jack Irvine, each with singles. On Sunday Trainor, McLean, Irvine and Smith repeated the effort with the other counters going to Copp, Mathers and Watson.

Marcel Bessette notched the lone Valleyfield counter Saturday while Montreal scorers Sunday were Cliff Malone, with two, and singles by Gerry Plamondon and Pete Morin. Ralph (Bucky) Buchanan led Shawinigan scorers with three goals while singles went to Bernie Limoges, Jack Carthy, Eddie Theberge, Maurice Deslongchamps and Dal Dewey. Moe White and Jacques Belanger connected for Valleyfield.

We wish you all a very Happy and Prosperous New Year

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

The first bobsleigh race ever recorded took place, 50 years ago to-day at St. Moritz, Switzerland, where the bobsleigh had been invented eight years earlier. Time for the mile-and-a-half course was 2:54, compared with the present running time of about 1:40. Bob sleighing was first incorporated into the Olympic Games in 1928.

CAHA Official Norman Dawe Dies Suddenly

MONTREAL, Jan. 5 — (CP).— Sportsmen and friends today paid tribute to the late Norman Dawe, first vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and seven times president of the Quebec AHA who died of a heart attack shortly after being admitted to hospital here yesterday.

Mr. Dawe, 49, was born in suburban Verdun and took an active part in hockey affairs right up until the time of his death. As late as Saturday night he had attended a minor hockey meeting. However, he had been under doctor's care several times during the last three years.

Mr. Dawe joined the Canadian Car and Foundry Company Limited 30 years ago and rose to the position of assistant director of personnel.

His early interests were centred about junior hockey, baseball and rugby teams; he grew with the organized hockey movement and subsequently became president of the QAHA.

Mr. Dawe, who acted as a liaison man between the CAHA and RCAF Olympic team officials, was a guiding hand in helping the team collect players to represent Canada at the Olympic games. His suggestion at the CAHA annual meeting last summer that an all-star team of college players represent Canada at the Olympic games, was turned down.

George Dudley, secretary-manager of the CAHA, expressed deep sympathy when told of Mr. Dawe's sudden death. At his home in Midland Mr. Dudley said, "we all had the highest regard for Mr. Dawe. He was a very sincere sportsman and a very hard worker, particularly for the cause of junior hockey."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Public school puck loop schedules are in tonight, senior and junior. They open next week and run till around the middle of Ferbuary with playoffs following. Six squads in the senior setup and eight in the junior, making another 14 local minor hockey teams playing on city rinks. These rinks are used by this loop from four to six Monday to Thursday: King Edward, Riverside, Confederation, Bonnerworth, Inverlea and High Street. The various teacher-coaches, who do a fine job starting the kids off in athletics, take their turn as referees, too.

Freddy Garvey is playing for the Petes this season, his release coming through Saturday from Legionnaires. They weren't for granting it at first—there's a lot of keen rivalry betwixt the two local OHA senior "B" squads—but finally relented without it going to a dogfight before the OHA, with the player possibly being kept out of hockey for the season. That's the spirit of sportsmanship — do the fighting on the ice. Petes one season back permitted Ned Vitarelli to go with Legion as coach. Legion also waived on Jack and Freddy Mortimer and on Ron Horton. With two clubs in one city in the same category and grouping, these little differences are bound to come up.

Legion Versus Petes

The old Petes-Legion rivalry will be served up to a big crowd in Omemee tomorrow night in their first clash of the season. At 8.30 o'clock and a full house will see this pair — sounds like a poker phrase, eh? Yeah, and they'll be playing for keeps, don't worry, as both their large following well realize. Several new faces from '47 on both teams and tomorrow's tilt should give fans a slant on the prospective strength betwixt the Petes and Legions. Petes had the edge last year and seem somewhat stronger this semester, but Legion look to have improved considerably. We'll see.

* * * * * *

At least one thing can be said for the two local senior "B" outfits, they're pretty evenly-matched on condition. Give or take a few puffs or pants by the odd guy. But both OHA games our teams have been in to date have shown the difference. Legion beat Bella Villa but an early lead is all that did it, as the Quinte crew were crowding them plenty the third heat. And the same was true in Kingston on Saturday as the Limestone City lads had it their own way in the last chukker. The old story for good Peterborough teams—they can't pick up that conditioning in a hurry that other clubs get by being on home artificial ice in November.

* * * * * *

Saints Ended On Top

Kingston beat the Petes 4-1, though it was anyone's game till out in the third when the Saints scored three. Local penalties hurt, too, in that frame. Goalie Udall was plenty hot to theft Tompkins, Garvey and Freddy Mortimer of almost sure markers. Ray Harding had little chance on the four they blasted home. Petes are working in new players this year and it'll take a game or two for them to fit into the pattern woven so long and so successfully by the veterans of this crew. But they'll be plenty potent, don't worry, as in the past—and rival clubs under-rating 'em will wake up with a jolt one morning. Yeah, Red's team has what it takes.

Concerning the Belleville-Legion game, the Scugog scribe says: "Not one complaining word did we hear about Peterborough Legion playing hockey in Lindsay late Friday night as 1,200 fans filed out after taking in a thrill-filled match against Belleville. 'Twas fast and rough and senior 'B' all the way, and the fans just ate it up as the penalties kept pace with the scoring." And the Quinte columnist comments, "This Legion squad, although riding high, doesn't spare the horses. They are big, rangy and fast, and they can throw everything but the new sports foundation at the opposition." But he figures Goalie Hayes fanned on a couple.

Concerning Cagers

Marines beat their old college chums 54-33 in a lively cage exhibition before a goodly gallery at the "Y" on Saturday eve. The college chaps were good individually but teamwork paid off. In a prelim, Jim Flowers' dudes defeated Bus Manbeck's men 34-17. Two men's melees next Saturday at the Collegiate. Marines' "B" bunch open their Lakeshore League schedule against Cobourg at seven, while Toronto York Belting seniors meet the "A" Marines afterward. Up there Friday, North Toronto Collegiate juniors and seniors play PCVS senior "A" and junior "A" teams at 7.30 and 9.00, with the outstanding Toronto gym team giving an exhibition of tumbling and bar-work betwixt times. Girls go Friday, too, with CGE vs. Lock Co., and Kawarthas vs. Neill's.

Touring Pros Have Big Season

NEW YORK, Jan. 5—(AP)—While golfers in general are debating whether Great Britain and the United States can afford to stage cup matches annually, the touring pros are bound to have a big international seasons...Some of them hope to make as much money out of it as South Africa's Bobby Locke did last year. In addition to Locke, Norman Van Nida of Australia and Roberto de Vincenzo of Australia began the 1948 winter tour in the Los Angeles Open. Dai Rees, the Welshman, is coming back and Henry Cotton who has gone to take his winter post at Monte Carlo will return in March for the Augusta Masters tournament and an exhibition tour. Cotton likely will team up with Locke, Byron Nelson and Babe Zaharias...Von Nida, who is the same size as Ben Hogan, looks like the most dangerous visitor. He was the leading money winner in Great Britain last year.

Hold Up Man

With the indoor track season getting under way, John Beer of the Newark N.J. News recalls an ingenious dodge used by the started at a Jersey meet to keep the sprinters, a group of notorious gun beaters on their marks until the pistol cracked. As they lined up the starter gently reminded them: "If there's a false start it will be excused. But if the man makes two false starts he'll be disqualified with no expense money."

Trojan Results

Red Wings edged Rangers 3-2 on Saturday in a Trojan AC peewee tilt. McDougall, Batley and Rose went best for the winners while G. Kearns, Ball and Flint looked good for the other side. Kearns, Ball and McDougall counted with Rose coming through late with the winner.

Leafs beat Canadiens 5-3 in another peewee joust. Leafs went three up in the first on goals by Foley, Frizzelle and Doris. Canadiens came back on markers by Dunn, Griffin and Merrett, but Frizzelle settled matters with two long-range goals. Neil Clarke checked well and Pete Carveth was strong in goal. Frizzelle shone on the attack and Doris looked good.

MCGILL TAKES SERIES

McGill University hockey team defeated Lake Placid Roamers 5-3 at Lake Placid Saturday to capture a three-game series 2-1.

New York Rovers Keep Up Terrific Pace

By BERT ALLEN.

MONTREAL, Jan. 5 — (CP)— Old-timers like to tell of the real iron men of hockey, players who three decades ago used to play 60 minutes of every game, and generally agree that modern players have a pretty soft touch, what with 15-man teams and frequent substitutions.

But it's doubtful if any hockey players ever put in as much puck time as members of the New York Rovers and Boston Olympics who play in two leagues this season, the Quebec Senior Hockey League and the Eastern United States Amateur Circuit.

Al (Montreal Herald) Parsley caught up with Freddie Metcalfe, the Rovers' coach, while the New York Ranger farmhmands were here last week, and they talked about the gruelling schedule this season.

Metcalfe said Rovers play an 84-game schedule, 48 in the QSHL and 34 in the EUSHL, and more than 70 of these are on the road because of a lack of sufficient home dates at Madison Square Garden.

Never See Families.

The boys are in trains, buses and airplanes and sleep in hotel rooms and Pullman berths so much they are never sure whether the address is Lower 12 or Room 4623. In fact, Metcalfe told Parsley that the players' families sent their Christmas presents to the Montreal Forum so they would catch up with them on their latest junket into Canada.

The parcels came from faraway at Vernon, BC, the hometown of Larry Kwong, Rovers' top-scoring Chinese star.

"Since Metcalfe is a tour conductor," wrote Parsley, "he has to know his time-tables, because he is the man who must be sure the party doesn't wind up in Omaha, Neb. When the next game is in Valleyfield, Que."

But all the same, the long schedule seems to agree with the Rovers.

"We sent 16 players to the pros this season," said Metcalfe, "and there are a lot of fellows here now who will be in such form a year from now you will know that our plan in the organization is right. Results prove it."

After talking to Metcalfe, Parsley came to this conclusion headed "strictly for the young athlete."

"If you are strong and robust, a good skater, don't easily become homesick, and are fond of travel and above all love hockey, then join the New York Rovers. You will get a whale of a lot of these ingredients."

Trojan Bantams Stage Two Tilts

In the Trojan Bantam Hockey League last week, Rangers beat Canadiens 3-1, with the Saturday tilt going to Canadiens over Leafs 1-0. In the first game, Smith scored from Dauncey, Shears got two for them, while Guthrie tallied for Canadiens from Reid and Armstrong.

Rangers — Goal, Braund; defence, Shears, Dauncey; centre, Smith; wings, Boate, Deck; alternates, Holbrook, O'Dette, Foster.

Canadiens— Goal, Evans; defence, Jennings, Lockie; centre, Reid; wings, Guthrie, Armstrong; alternates, White, Hewie, Stewart.

In the other joust, Lockie scored the only tally of the tussle unassisted in the first frame. It was a keen contest all the way with some nice goaltending. The teams:

Canadiens— Goal, Curtiss; defence, G. White, Henderson; centre, Hewie; wings, Lockie, Jennings; alternates, Armstrong, Guthrie, Reid, White, Stewart.

Leafs—Goal, Panter; defence, Graham, Foster; centre, Gilmour; wings, Williams, Kent; alternates, Downer, Graham, Pullyblank.

Kingston Saints Victors 4-1 Against Petes In First Game

KINGSTON, Jan. 5.—(CP). — Kingston Saints waited until the last seven minutes to score enough goals to down Peterborough 4-1 Saturday night in the opening game here of the OAHA series "B."

Lacking their own artificial ice rink, the Peterborough squad was far short on condition. In the last period they were slowed to a walk, and the Saints poured on speed to swamp the visitors in the closing minutes.

Fred Harrison, playing his first and last game for the Saints as a replacement for the injured Bill Hastie, opened the scoring at 1.52 minutes of the second period. He took a pass from Keith Belwa and went right in on top of goalie Ray Harding before flipping the puck home. Easily the best player on the ice throughout, Harrison left last night for Toronto where he will take a special D. V. A. course. Besidse his goal he picked up two assists.

Tied It Up

Tompkins of Peterborough tied the score at 4.15 of the second period on a pass from Kingdon. Then with seven minutes of the last period to play the Saints' polish showed. Tommy Goodfellow scored the winner on a pass from Harrison at the 13.10 mark while Horton was off for roughing. Jack Aitken got the third Kingston goal at 17.55 on passes from Mortimer and Armstrong, while Armstrong counted the final marker on a double pass from Andrechuck and Harrison with 10 seconds left.

Line-ups:

Peterborough— Goal, Harding; defence, R. Creighton and Jopling; centre, Kingdon; wings, Tompkins and F. Mortimer; subs, Burton, Parsons, Garvey, J. Creighton, Horton, J. Mortimer and Blewett.

Kingston—Goal, Udall; defence, Plumb and W. Mortimer; centre, Harrison; wings, Ohlke and Belwa; subs, Jarrell, Armstrong, Aitken, Casterton, Andrechuck, B. Goodfellow, T. Goodfellow.

Oilers Use Rangers To Get Out Of Cellar

By The Associated Press

Tulsa Oilers have been using Fort Worth for a ladder in their effort to climb out of the United States Hockey League's southern division cellar.

The Oilers cracked the Rangers twice in week-end games, 6-0 and 4-3, for their sixth straight triumph over Fort Worth. Tulsa, trailing badly early in the season, has won its last four games, three of them from Fort Worth, to come within five points of third-place Dallas.

Meanwhile, Dallas and Houston split two games. Houston won Saturday 4-2, and Dallas retaliated last night, 3-2.

Omaha, now in the cellar, lost its sixth and seventh successive games—to Minneapolis 4-2, and to Kansas City 7-2.

Minneapolis and St. Paul battled through an overtime to a 3-3 deadlock last night before the largest crowd ever to witness a league game at St. Paul—8,271.

Mercurys Trim Marlboros In 6-3 Victory

By The Canadian Press

Tommy Burlington's Owen Sound crew rubbed a little salt into old wounds when they trimmed the league-leading Toronto Marlboros 6-3 Saturday for their second successive win over Toronto in an Ontario Hockey Association senior 'A' tilt at the Georgian Bay arena.

The Mercurys turned back Joe Primeau's Dukes 6-2 at Maple Leaf Gardens Friday. Saturday's battle was Toronto's fifth loss in 22 league starts and their third in four tries against Owen Sound.

In their last scheduled meeting the fourth-place Galt Rockets took their first victory in four starts against the third-place Barrie Flyers 8-3 at Galt in a junior fixture.

The week-end's other senior game saw Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen swamp the cellar-place Brantford Redmen 13-0 at Waterloo and remain in fourth-place tie with Owen Sound.

The top-place Windsor Spitfires downed the bottom-place Toronto Young Rangers 6-1 and the sixth-place Toronto Marlboros defeated the eighth-place Guelph Biltmores 6-3 in a junior twin-bill at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday afternoon.

Blank Teepees

The second-place Oshawa Generals blanked the seventh-place St. Catharines Teepees 2-0 in a junior tilt at Oshawa for their fourth shutout of the season and their 17th win in 22 tries.

Early season forecasts on the success or failure of Owen Sound, depending on whether Tommy Burlington would be released from the American Hockey League, were well remembered this week-end.

Playing coach Burlington was play-maker and tallied five goals in the last two games against Marlboros.

The Mercurys actually won the game after the first period's 10-minute mark, with three goals within 68 seconds. They added another in the second and Marlboros didn't answer until halfway through the final stanza.

Doug Gillespie led Owen Sound marksmen with three counters. Burlington tallied twice and Bun White once. Marlboros' scorers were Johnny McCormack, Johnny McLellan and Ike Hildebrand.

Coach Alfie Moore of Galt, hard pressed because of casualties, called in two junior B's at Galt—Forest Gay and Johnny Dobos—to help out and both figured in the scoring. There were 21 penalties handed out.

Galt Scorers

Galt scorers were Harry Hopper, Bob Robertson, Sam Mulholland, Forest Gay, Lyle Gibson, Harry Marchand, Pete Tkachuk and Ken McNally. Barrie marksmen were Sid McNabney, Paul Meger and Ray Gariepy.

In the senior tilt at Waterloo the Dutchmen played wide open. They tallied once in the first round, eight goals in the second period and four in the last.

Flash Hiller, Johnny Blute and Johnny Verity led the Dutchmen with three goals each. Dick Behling tallied twice and Ray Bauer and Ted Grasser scored one apiece.

Lowly Hawks Trip Rangers And Leafs, Rangers Tie

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Rookies shone brightly on several rinks as the four week-end games helped square the National League away on its second-half drive to the play-offs.

But the rookies were not enough to upset the growing trend of late weeks, which now sees Toronto and Detroit far ahead of the pack and Montreal Canadiens sunk in fifth place.

Both Saturday games were ties, the New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs finishing 5-5 while Boston Bruins drew 2-2 at Montreal. On Sunday the Canadiens took a 6-2 beating at Detroit, while the tail-end Hawks rose up and smashed New York Rangers 4-1 right in Madison Square Gardens.

With the second half of the schedule now well under way Toronto today holds a one-point lead over Detroit, The Wings have an eight-point margin over the third-place Rangers. In turn, Rangers are two ahead of Boston, and Boston is two ahead of Montreal, the latter having a nine-point edge over the Hawks.

Scores Tying Goal

It was Rookie Jacques Locas who scored the tying goal for Montreal against Boston. The teams finished the first period at Montreal all even after Roger Leger's goal for Montreal was countered by Kenny Smith of Boston. Johnny Quilty put Bruins ahead in the second frame, and Locas tied it when he grabbed passes from Joe Carveth and Leger to fool Goalie Frank Brimsek from a scramble. Just before this, Locas had tangled with Billy Taylor of Boston and the resulting penalty to Taylor opened the way for the tying marker.

Another Canadiens' rookie, Norm Dussault, was signed by Canadiens Saturday from Victoriaville Tigers of the Provincial League. His first National Hockey League goal came at Detroit last night, but Canadiens' only other goal was scored by old Hector Toe Blake and in the meantime the Wings had fired six past Bill Durnham, Canadiens' great netminder. Rookies figured in the Detroit scoring too, with Don Morrison opening the scoring and Jim McFadden getting himself one. Detroit's other goals included two from Gordon Howe and one each from Bep Guidolin and Jim Conacher.

It wasn't a rookie, but a sort of regular substitute who starred in the game at Toronto, Henry handled 46 shots against 30 fired at Turk Broda in the Toronto goal.

The third period was about half gone when Toronto finally got ahead of the Rangers, only to have Rangers come right back and take the lead, and the tying goal was scored by Ted Kennedy of Toronto at 18.46 of the last frame. Max Bentley scored twice for Toronto, and Syl Apps and Harry Watson got the others.

Colville On Toes

Old Neil Colville opened the scoring for New York, Tony Leswick scored twice, and Buddy O'Connor and Brian Hextall got the others. At New York last night the lowly Hawks started off like fireballs and were leading 2-0 before the Rangers finally started clicking.

The Hawks' strategy was to check the New York forwards like leeches, and it worked fine. Goalie Emile (Cat) Francis from Regina had only 19 shots to handle in the Hawk nets and even on the two occasions they were shorthanded the Hawks dominated the territorial play.

Bill Mosienko, Gus Bodnar, Red Hamill and Bud Poile were the goal-scorers for Chicago while New York's only counter was scored by the league's top marksman, Buddy O'Connor.

Two mid-week games are on the card before all teams battle again Saturday night. On Wednesday the Rangers go to Detroit, and on Thursday Detroit are at Canadiens. The Wings will probably be minus Defenceman Doug McCaig, who was taken off the ice at Detroit last night and moved to hospital for examination of a possible fractured ankle received when he slid into the boards.

LEAFS' FIRST — Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers went on a crowd-pleasing scoring binge at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night, with the exciting contest ending in a 5-5 draw. Here Syl Apps, centreforeground, waves his stick while the light still flashes after scoring on a nice play started by Max Bentley (extreme right). Rangers shown, from the left: Tony Leswick (18); goalie Jim Henry and defenseman Frankie Eddolls (behind net), and Neil Colville. Leafs' Bill Ezinicki (12) is partially obscured by the jubilant Apps.

Reds Continue Hottest Team In AHL

By The Canadian Press

Providence Reds continue in their role as the hottest team in the American Hockey League with two victories over the week-end, both by the score of 4-2.

Saturday the eastern loop leaders disposed of Springfield and came back again last night to down Philadelphia Rockets.

Meanwhile, the western division leaders, Pittsburgh Hornets, maintained their two-point edge over the charging Buffalo Bisons by edging the second-place sextet 2-1. Buffalo came back last night to stay right behind the Wasps with a close 4-3 decision over Cleveland Barons, fresh from a 9-2 conquest of New Haven Ramblers Saturday.

Indianapolis Capitals and St. Louis Flyers split a twin bill with Caps winning 7-3 while Flyers came out on top 3-1 in Indianapolis Sunday.

Philadelphia dumped Hershey 8-1 and New Haven disposed of Washington 6-3 to round out the weekend card.

Jack Stoddard showed the way for Reds against Springfield with two goals while Harry Liscombe and Roger Bedard each found the mark once. Eddy Kabussen and Harry Frost were the Indian scorers.

Last night it was Bedard, Johnny Chad, Pete Kaputsa and Harvey Fraser sharing the scoring honors against Philadelphia with Eddie Bush and Alex Motter counting for Rockets.

At Pittsburgh, Fleming McKell and Pete Langelle scored the Hornet goals while Murdo MacKay averted a shutout for Buffalo late in the third period.

Les Hickey scored Bisons winning goal against Barons. Jerry Brown, Tommy Cooper and Joe Bell also found the mark for Buffao while Pete Leswick scored twice and Johnny Holota once for Barons.

Queen's Seniors Win

NEW LISKEARD, Jan. 5—(CP)—Queen's University senior hockey team from Kingston, Saturday night scored an 8-6 victory over New Liskeard Flyers, Northern Ontario Hockey Association intermediate team. The Queen's team is on a Northern Ontario tour.

Robert Stack Staging Film Comeback

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 5 (AP).—After a slow start, Robert Stack's movie comeback is gaining speed.

A promising juvenile at Universal before the war, Stack spent four years in the United States Navy and then had to rest a year and a half because of a rare tropical blood disease. His first picture in six years is "A Date With Judy" at MGM, with whom he may sign a contract. In addition, he is set for "Brother Rat" and a musical at Warners.

"It's a tough fight after such a long absence," Stack declared. "Peter Lawford was an extra in my last picture; a month ago I would have thought myself lucky to get an extra role in one of his."

Grievance Department.

Red Skelton and Edna Skelton Borzage are having conversations with MGM executives about a new deal for the comic. It looks as though Red won't get a chance to get outside pictures, but he may get other concessions such as record rights.

Dana Andrews has made four pictures in a row and wants a vacation. But he added, if 20th-Fox wants him for "12 O'clock High," an Air Force story, he might forego a rest. "It's the best part I have seen in years," says Dana.

Kathryn Grayson plans a European concert tour this summer. She wanted to make the trip this winter, but MGM didn't want to risk the soprano in the cold clime. Before the tour she will make "This Summer Is Yours," which appears to have an all-musical cast of Mario Lanza, Lotte Lehmann, Jose Iturbi, and Eugene Normandy.

Physical Culture.

Gene Kelly is getting around on his broken leg quite handily now and even did some dancing (ballroom, with his wife) the other night. But for safety's sake his fencing scene in "Three Musketeers" will be saved until the final shooting of the picture.

Alfred Hitchcock, one of Hollywood's biggest personalities, is starting the New Year with a pledge to lose 15 pounds. He is enlisting the town's other heavyweights, Charles Laughton and Sydney Greenstreet, to follow suit and aid the food conservation campaign.

Signs of the Times.

RKO will be devoid of production until well into February, perhaps March. The publicity department of a major studio failed to put out one item, phony or otherwise, the other day. And has anyone noticed that the British and American film production is about equal (in the number of pictures being filmed at this time)?

Clare Boothe Luce was visiting the "That Lady in Ermine" set and reminiscing about one of the performers. "I gave him his first writing job when I was editor of the old Vanity Fair," she said. "He was 17 years old then and took a job writing a column called 'Profiles of the Stars.'" The young journalist—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

Teachers and the school's 300 students have been notified not to report for classes before Wednesday at the earliest. Arrangements are under way to find temporary accommodation and to make repairs.

Oliver Chown Dies In Kingston

KINGSTON, Jan. 5. — Oliver Chown, 86, chairman of the board of directors of Chown, Ltd., hardware firm, died early Saturday morning at his late residence, 164 University Ave., after an extended illness. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chown, of this city, and was born and educated here. He was associated for many years with the firms of A. Chown and Co., Ltd., and Edwin Chown and Sons, Ltd. With the amalgamation of the two firms he became chairman of the board of directors.

He was a member of Sydenham St. Methodist church and later United church, being recording steward of the official board and a member of the trustee board. He was interested in the work of the Sunday school. For many years he was associated wtih the YMCA and was a member of the board of directors.

Surviving are his widow, the former Annie Louise Marshall; three sons, Douglas M., Kingston; Wilbur F., Ottawa; Hubert V., Peterborough; one daughter, Miss Olive Chown, Kingston; one brother, Harvey Chown, St. Catharines, and one sister, Miss Frances Chown, Kingston.

Report Warrants Issued For Publisher and Writer

EDMONTON, Jan. 5 — (CP). — Attorney General Lucien Maynard of Alberta indicated yesterday he may make an announcement today regarding a report that the provincial government is taking action against Jack Kent Cooke, president and publisher of New Liberty Magazine, and Harold Dingman, Ottawa writer.

The magazine published in its Dec. 27 issue an article dealing with child welfare in Alberta and entitled "Babies for Export."

Meantime Mr. Maynard declined either to confirm or deny a story carried by the Edmonton Journal Saturday which said the newspaper had learned that Mr. Cooke and Mr. Dingman would be charged with criminal libel arising out of the article in question, and that two R.C.M.P. had left here Friday with warrants for their arrest.

Has No Word

An Ottawa Commissioner S. T. Wood of the R.C.M.P. said yesterday that he had no word that two constables were en route to eastern Canada with warrants for the arrest of Mr. Dingman and Mr. Cooke.

Commissioner Wood said that if the constables had been dispatched he would have heard about it.

Meanwhile, Mr. Dingman and Mr. Cooke had no comment to make on the matter.

Wind of Warrants

However, Joseph Sedgwick, Toronto lawyer for Cooke and Dingman, admitted last night that he "had got wind of the warrants." He understands that they charge Cooke and Dingman with conspiring to publish defamatory libel, not simply with publishing it, as the Edmonton report stated.

"Of course I have not seen the warrants and I have no idea when they will be executed," said Mr. Sedgwick, "but we will be prepared to face them. The issue here involves the freedom of the press and concerns the rights of every publication in Canada.

"I understand that the warrants claim the article is defamatory of the welfare commission generally and C. B. Hill, provincial child welfare superintendent in particular.

"I have never heard of a similar action before and to me it seems outrageous. The law provides that in libel cases the accused persons must be tried at the place where the alleged offense was committed and this would be in Toronto.

"If an attempt is made to execute the warrants here I will submit a motion before the presiding judge in chambers at Osgoode Hall that they be quashed."

Britain Improves Its Production

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 5 — (Reuters). — The gap between Britain's visible imports and exports has been narrowing during recent weeks but there is a long way to go to close it, H. A. Marquand, paymaster general in the labor government, said here last night.

Giving some "good figures," Marquand said that cotton yarn production in October was about 6,000,000 pounds a week above the monthly average of 1946. Railway car production reached 4,119 cars in October, compared with the 1946 monthly average of 3,280.

In October 152,300 tons of compound fertilizers were produced, against 109,500 for an average month in 1946. Main line locomotives produced in 1946 numbered 60 a month, whereas in October last year the figure was 77.

"The steel industry has hit its target for 1947, but if it is to hit the much more difficult target for 1948 it will need more scrap than it has been getting," he said. "I would urge that all works should clear every available pound of scrap, especially heavy scrap, and return it to the steelworks.

"Our future output of steel depends on it."

Taxi Driver Arraigned For Murder

MONTREAL, Jan. 5—(CP)—Roland Aselin, 37-year-old taxi operator of Coteau Landing, 32 miles west of Montreal, was arraigned here Saturday on a charge of murder in the death 13 months ago of Ulric Gauthier, 35-year-old well-to-do farmer of St. Telesphore, Que.

The arraignment followed the third inquest into the death of Gauthier, found near Coteau Landing dead of bullet wounds on Nov. 10, 1946.

Preliminary hearing was ordered for Jan. 9 after provincial police reported that Asselin, following his arrest, made a statement in which he claimed he shot Gauthier in self-defence after the victim drew a gun on him while they were driving together.

Soon after Gauthier's body was found police said they suspected foul play but at the first coroner's inquest the jury disagreed — some claiming the death accidental and others maintaining it could not be. A second jury returned a verdict of suicide and for the time being the case was closed.

A few weeks later Gauthier's wife committed suicide which aroused interest in the case and in subsequent investigation, prior to a third inquest police rounded up 57 witnesses to testify. Their testimony resulted in a verdict of criminal responsibility and filing of murder charges against Asselin.

U.K. Tasters Like Chicken Eggs Best

LONDON, Jan. 5 — (AP). — Scientific tasters who ate 91 kinds of birds' eggs announced today they found that chicken eggs still taste best.

Dr. Hugh B. Cott of the Cambridge Museum of Zoology, who directed a three-man tasters' panel, reported the results.

With 10 as the highest possible flavor rating, chicken eggs tallied 8.8; turkey eggs 7.2; gulls 7.0; crow, 6.6; duck, 6-5.

Wren's eggs, at 2.0, were lowest.

In general, the investigators reported, most big eggs taste good, and the little ones poor. Dr. Scott suggested little birds can't fight off predatory attackers easily, and possibly lay bad-tasting eggs in self-defence.

Going Too Fast

CALGARY, Alta., Jan. 5.—(CP).—The Alberta Federation of Agriculture at a special executive meeting here Saturday endorsed the new prices of the British agreement as reasonably satisfactory under existing price levels, adding that it is only unfortunate the price announcement could not have been made at the time ceilings were lifted and subsidies discontinued in October.

Former Sailor Enlists With Provincials

Douglas Starke, 23, Sherbrooke St., an employee of Kingan Hardware for the past six years, has had his application to join the Provincial police accepted, and he has now gone to Toronto on a four-week training course.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Starke, RR 7, Peterborough, Doug received his primary schooling at Providence school, on the 6th Line. He later attended night school in Peterborough.

A naval veteran with two and a half years' service, Doug was overseas about 12 months but saw lots of action in that time. He was on board the Aircraft Carrier "Nabob" when it was torpedoed by enemy action while the hunt for the German battleship Tirpitz was at its height. A destroyer screened the crippled carrier from the next torpedo, and the vessel was able to limp back into an Irish port for repairs.

When he returned from overseas and was discharged from the navy, Doug worked on his parents' farm for a while and then took employment with Kingan Hardware.

SPRINKLER HEAD BLOWS

Early Monday morning a defective sprinkler head blew off in the boiler of the G. Whitaker and Co. Auburn building. Fire department arrived but returned immediately when they found it was a false alarm. Slight water damage resulted.

UNDERGOES APPENDECTOMY

Doug Weaver of Lakefield, present District Deputy Governor Lions Club, was removed to Civic Hospital Friday for an appendectomy. He was returning from a train trip to Ottawa and had to be rushed to Civic for an operation. His progress is described as satisfactory.

WHERE'S THE SNOW-LOADER?

Enquiries from main streeters and bus drivers as to the whereabouts of the snow-loader prompted a telephone call to the city yards. Street Commissioner James Burgess said "We just haven't started to use it yet, it should be going later in the week."

AMPUTATE FINGER

When he caught his right hand in a coal-loading machine on Saturday, Manson Nicholson, 264 Mark street, had to have his middle finger right hand amputated at the first joint. The tip of the finger had been badly mangled in the machinery. Doctor W. J. Wills, Hunter street, performed the operation.

DUCKS, GEESE OR WHAT?

Observers at Lakefield, although unable to swear to the identity of the group, noted a group of about 40 geese or ducks over the village yesterday afternoon. Flying at the usual height for geese, observers noted that the birds had the faster wingbeat of ducks. In V-formation, they were headed—north.

LIONS INVITE SECRETARY

District secretary Bruce Malcolm, several district and zone officers, and some 40 Millbrook men are to be guests of the Peterborough Lions Club tonight in their regular fortnightly meeting at the Kawartha Club. The Millbrook guests are said to be considering the formation of a Lions Club there.

SLEEP DISTURBERS

Residents in the Harvey street district will soon be in the market for .22 rifles or shotguns. A pack of about 12 dogs are causing them considerable concern. The dogs swarm over verandahs, engage in fights, bump against front doors, and make far too much noise in the wee hours of the morning. Fortunately for the mongrels, the disturbed residents don't own guns. If your dog is in the gang, better make him comfortable in the woodshed overnight.

Cat Surprises Robin In Garbage Pail But Alert Employee Rescues Song Bird

Peterborough is one of the greatest visitor cities in the Province, especially in summer, when they come for vacation trips to stay two weeks or in cottages for the full summer season. Among the birds of passage that like it so well are the wild birds, themselves. Some of them that have heard of the high cost of vacationing in the Sunny South stayed on to the delight of bird lovers.

Conservation Officer Alex Kay, has a lot of interesting data at his finger tips and reports having seen a flock of ten robins at the Peterborough - Haliburton Counties boundary as late as Nov. 25. He has been host to several song birds and lets them use his back shed to roost in. A young cock robin who fancied the rear of a Charlotte St. dry cleaning establishment for a feeding place, nearly became a New Year's "turkey" dinner for a Persian puss by the ugly name of "Bull Head." But for the timely interference of Emile Lamore, there would have been little doubt as to who killed cock robin. The bird was rescued and suffered a bruised wing and now lives in a spacious cage on all sorts of good food until he is strong enough to take care of himself again.

There has been a robin seen in Lakefield and three more reported around Lindsay. Douglas Carlisle has had a bluebird feeding around his premises for some time and J. D. McIntosh, 979 Ford Ave., reports one eating buds in his trees. By this time of year citizens are usually telling the newspapers of seeing grosbeaks, and snow buntings but there are no stories to date. Perhaps they are still up North and regardless of snow and fuel problems, Peterborough is in the Banana Belt after all.

TRAIN VS. TRUCK SMASH — A coal truck and CNR freight train came together at the Reid and McDonnel Sts. crossing late Saturday morning, and the impact, which fortunately had no serious consequences to the truck riders, possibly did more damage to the train than the vehicle. Jardin, pointing to a blow-off cock that was smashed on engine No. 3415, while the Lower picture shows driver Sherwood Martin pointing to the slight damage to his truck. —Examiner Staff Photo

Train Damaged In Collision With Coal Truck

Although both a C.N.R. freight engine and a McCarthy and Johnston coal truck were damaged when the two collided at the C.N.R. rail crossing, Reid and McDonnel Sts., just before noon Saturday, the three occupants of the truck escaped with the total injury of one slightly cut ear.

Sherwood Martin, 559 George St., employee of McCarthy and Johnston, Hunter St. east, told police he was driving north on Reid St. and did not see the west-bound freight approaching, nor did he notice the wig-wag, until about 30 feet from the intersection. When he applied his brakes, he said, the wheels skidded on the icy road surface and the vehicle slid on to the tracks.

Struck on the left front fender and wheel, the truck was spun around in a half circle with the engine jammed against the north-west corner of the building owned by Beatty Bros.

The "blow-off cock" was knocked from the freight engine in charge of Conductor W. B. Everson, and Engineer Fred Saville, both of Lindsay, and it had to be taken away for repairs. Before the damaged locomotive was replaced, it had tied up rail traffic for almost half an hour.

Damage to the truck was to front left fender, front left door and running board.

Two Elderly People Escape House Destroyed By Fire

ST. OLA, Jan. 5 — (ENS). — Two elderly people, George Berkett, 79, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Reid, had a narrow escape Sunday night when fire destroyed the two-storey frame dwelling in this Hastings county village.

Mrs. Reid smelled smoke and when she went upstairs to investigate found the upper portion of the house in flames. She assisted Mr. Berkett, who is quite feeble, from the house, and to the home of a neighbor. She had considerable difficulty with the elderly man because of his physical condition.

It was shortly after 7.30 and the majority of the villagers were at church, so that by the time the alarm was spread it was too late to save either the house or any of the contents.

Fire Damages SA Sunday School

LINDSAY, Jan. 5. (ENS)—Services in the Salvation Army citadel here had to be cancelled last night because of a stubborn blaze in the basement. The fire started in the boiler room, according to Fire Chief Campbell and caused an estimated $500 damage. Cause of the fire had not been determined but overheated pipes are blamed. The blaze started in the ceiling of the boiler room and the joists. The Sunday School was filled with smoke but the first floor was undamaged.

Two Get 3 Months

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, sentenced two men to a three-month term in the county jail when they came before him in the Police Court today. Joseph McMurray, Rogers Street, and Joseph Huard, Lake Street, both pleaded guilty to charges against them under the Liquor Control Act.

McMurray admitted that this was his third conviction on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place, while Huard admitted that this was his second offence of consuming liquor while being an interdicted person. Both offences occurred Jan. 3.

Edward Herron, Bridgenorth, was also charged in the same court with being intoxicated in a public place. Magistrate Philp, KC, fined Herron $10 and $2.50 costs. Accused was unable to pay the fine and accepted the term of 10 days in default of payment.

HE NEARLY KILLED COCK ROBIN — But for the alertness of Emile Lamore, Charlotte St., of Lansfield's Dry Cleaners, "Bull Head," the Persian puss, nearly made a meal of "Perks," the robin who was blissfully feeding on garbage New Year's Day back of the shop. The robin is recuperating in a fancy cage and the cat glares at him from the floor. Kay Coughlin and Conservation Officer Alex. Kay let them have a close look at one another. —Examiner Staff Photo

Record 27 Days Below Zero For Year 1947

With 27 days below zero in 1947 and 31 days below the line in 1946, Peterborough might as well get set for the law of winter averages and for dips that will shiver the coal piles and the domestic oil tanks.

So far this community has been hibernating on what might be mistaken for the tropic fringe, as distinct from the arctic. Memory says there have been so far only two or three days of sub-zero weather since winter set in, and they belong to 1947 rather than to the new year.

At that rate and according to some loose law of expectations we might as well get out the ear muffs we have been neglecting, because somewhere into the last half of this winter we have to tuck away a score or more of days that will blast and sting as the season finally rings the changes of its rigors.

James Harrison, Peterborough's weather recorder, reads from his files that the maximum temperature last year was 92 degrees August 12, and the low was 19 below January 14, and the average for the year was 42.8 deg. And to repeat experience, the number of below-zero days was 27.

Snowfall was 85¼ inches,—at least that is the Harrison total, if anyone is inclined to doubt that seven feet that packed the CNR cuts between Peterborough and Port Hope, leaving snow levels above the top of the caboose.

Rainfall was 20.53 inches, and total precipitation, rain and snow, 29.059 inches.

Going back to 1946 for purpose of comparison, the heat peak was 81 deg. Aug. 8; low 20 below zero Jan. 16 and Feb. 14; average mean temperature 44.34 degrees; and there were 31 days below zero. Snow depth 55¼ inches, rain 21.53, total moisture 27.055 inches.

The thermal statistics for December were: high temperature 44 deg. on the 8th, low 8 degrees, average mean 19.4; snowfall 14¼ inches, rain .63; total moisture 2.055 inches.

December 1946: highest temperature 52 on the 12th, 11 below on the 30th; average mean 19.1 deg.; snowfall 9¾ inches; total moisture 2.325 inches.

Convict Driver Despite Defence

Arthur Barrett, Nicholls Oval, pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless driving when brought before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in the police court today. Accused was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair. Considerable evidence was heard in the case and Magistrate Philp on the evidence submitted found Barrett guilty and he was fined $10 and $13.10 costs.

E. G. Jackson, RR 3, Peterborough, testified that at 1.30 a.m. December 7, he was driving his car west on Lansdowne and when approaching the intersection at Lock street a car approaching Lansdowne failed to stop and crashed into him, doing considerable damage to his left front wheel, and side of his car. He testified that he did not see the accused's car until it was right on top of him. Mrs. Jackson, wife of the witness gave the same evidence.

Police Constable William Aggas said that he found the accused standing by his car. "Accused said he was travelling west on Lansdowne at the time of the accident," said the officer. "He seemed very confused and argued that the accident had taken place at the corner of Park and Lansdowne not Lock and Lansdowne. When I brought him to the station he still was very confused and still maintained that the accident had taken place at Park and not Lock."

Police Sergeant Percy Sexsmith also agreed that when accused

[illegible] been to a wedding anniversary and he was accompanied by G. Chard, 887 Water street and also Mrs. Isabelle Williams, accused's housekeeper. There were three other passengers in accused's car. Both accused and Chard said that he had stopped at the stop sign on Lock street, and as he made a slow turn into Lansdowne, Jackson's car came up and struck his car.

Conflicting evidence was heard as to which car struck the other, but there was nothing to prove that accused had not made a stop at the sto sign.

In summing up Mr. Philp said that though accused may have stopped, as he was entering a main highway it was imperative that he should have been certain that no other oncoming traffic was approaching before he made the turn. He found accused guilty of negligence and fined him as reported.

Mayor Pays Warm Tribute To Service Clubs At City Council Inaugural

The service clubs of Peterborough received from Mayor William G. Ovens in his inaugural address to the council today a grateful tribute for the extent and importance of their work in the community, and especially for their various interests in the city's younger generation. His Worship departed from the customary scope of the mayoral review and outlook of the civic administration to express appreciation of the programs and accomplishments of the service clubs with which he had become more closely acquainted during the last two years.

Beginning his third year as president of the council, Mayor Ovens welcomed the three new members, Aldermen Douglas Miller, Grant Miller and P. J. Anglesey, and commended them for offering their services to the citizens.

"This is a worthy contribution, and while it makes certain demands on your time, I am sure you will enjoy the work that will be assigned to you. It is also very gratifying to me to have Aldermen Raine and Waddell back with us for another term of two years, as they have contributed a great deal in the work of the council during the last two years."

Heavy And Trying Years

"As we begin another year in the history of Peterborough may I again thank all members of the council for their splendid co-operation, and for the thought each of you has given to the matters that have come before the council. Without your assistance we would not have accomplished all we did as we have emerged from heavy and trying years with far more accomplished than any other municipality I know of.

This was not brought about by the efforts of two or three members, but rather by the team work that has existed at all times. I would appreciate this co-operation during 1948, as this alone will give our citizens good civic government, and should result in another successful year."

Mayor Ovens said Peterborough had not yet overtaken its shortage of houses, but with a larger volume of materials in 1948 this scarcity of accommodation should be remedied. "This council will continue to encourage the building of homes, and take every step within our power to bring about more satisfactory housing conditions."

Memorial Centre

"A lot of people are going to be disappointed by the recent announcement that it is not possible under the present trust deed to place the Memorial Centre in what is called the Exhibition Grounds. After careful consideration was given to this matter, and competent legal opinion obtained, it was found that the interests of the two projects conflicted. To add to your troubles, recent government restrictions on certain types of buildings are further complicating the matter. I wish to assure you that every channel will be explored, and if it is possible to start this building in 1948 this will be done."

His Worship said the Utilities Commission had fulfilled a large program last year in supplying services, and expressed the hope that they would complete their commitments in 1948. "I would recommend to the council that we should not undertake any new work along this line until this is completed."

Clean Up Little Lake

"Should manpower and material be available this year I would like to see Little Lake cleaned up and our backlog of road and sidewalk work completed. I am also hopeful that our Utilities Commission will be able to start their plan to improve our street lighting.

"In regard to an airport I may say that considerable progress has been made to establish a landing field and for local and tourist use, but it would appear that the only successful way of obtaining an airport would be by joint, federal-provincial and municipal undertaking. Because of the cost involved, this appears to be the only feasible solution."

Mayor Ovens said the bus service was not taking care of all the city's requirements. The franchise was approved by the citizens, and the transportation system had been operating under the new terms for five years. "The agreement calls for a certain number of buses on specified time schedules. Those conditions have not only been met, but have been doubled in the five years. I am hoping the company will expand and improve the service in the early part of this year, particularly during rush hours, shopping hours and for Sunday requirements. Negotiations to bring this about will take place at an early date."

His Worship left the beaten administrative track to recommend active participation in the religious life of the city.

Attendance at Church

"While we are a happy and thriving community, we have one important institution that is not receiving the attention it deserves. I refer to your churches. Some people are most faithful in their attendance and interest in church work, but generally speaking the attendance has been disappointing. From these buildings the whole spiritual, cultural and social life of the community should emanate. I am sure we will be an even happier community if during the years that are ahead we give part of our time and our lives to the church. This, of course, will not bring about perfection; that would be wishful thinking.

"We are entering 1948 with our city finances in excellent shape. While our hospital and school debentures were issued during 1947, adding to our debenture debt, we must keep in mind that our former obligations will be paid off in the course of the next three years, and the major portion of these funds is now available to meet this obligation. Due to the large amount of building that has taken place in the past few years, plus increased government grants, our revenue has kept pace with the increased demands on the treasury. The cost of education and other municipal services has increased considerably in the past three years. We therefore, must anticipate an increased mill rate for the next three years and if the present trend of building continues, the mill rate should level out at that time. It will however be our desire to give good civic government at a minimum cost, keeping in mind that your council controls less than 30 per cent of your tax dollar."

750 Skiers Out On Two Hills

Excellent skiing was the report from over the week-end at both Bethany and Kemp's hill. Plenty of snow and mild weather combined to draw a large number of enthusiasts.

At Bethany about 150 were present Sunday afternoon — a couple of carloads of Toronto guests included. Skiing conditions were described as almost perfect and the tow was working well.

Some 75 to 80 sport lovers crowded the slopes of Kemp's hill on the Warsaw road Sunday afternoon, to take advantage of the equally good surface and weather. The tow didn't start till afternoon.

Peterborough Ski Club said it will give instructional classes at Kemp's hill Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7.30 p.m. Any beginner will be given the full benefit of veteran skiers experience, said club members.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

NOBLE HOUSEWIVES

Woman Busy With 2 Children And Housework Is Creditable Character

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: The recipe for a happy marriage that was recently sent to you was marvelous, but this couple didn't seem to have any of the matrimonial complications that throw a monkey wrench into the average marriage. I am sure for instance, that I would make an ideal wife, who would keep any husband on his tiptoes, if I could always keep rested and beautifully dressed and with nothing to do but to make myself agreeable.

Dorothy Dix

BUT we live in the country on a farm, and we have two children and I have to cook and wash and iron, do the gardening and canning and milking and churning and sewing and patching, and I just haven't time to beautify myself, or to entertain the children.

I would like to be a better wife and spend more time with my husband and join him in a card game, which he would like very much, instead of facing a sewing machine when my other work is finished. Also, I would like to set a better table for my family. I'd like to cook a lot of dishes my husband enjoys but most of the meals have to be short and snappy, so I fix things that are quickly cooked.

Most of all, I would like to have at least one night out of a month to go to a movie with my husband, or do something interesting and forget all other responsibilities for just a couple of short hours.

Can you give me any suggestions as to what to do about being a perfect wife, with all of these drawbacks?

A WIFE AND MOTHER.

✧ ✧ ✧

Fine Characters

ANSWER: It seems to me that you, and thousands of other women situated as you are, are filling the bill with marvelous success under what one of Dickens' characters called "creditable circumstances."

When the roll of the heroes is called on the Judgment Day, the names of the wives and mothers, who toiled without reward to keep their homes going, will lead all the rest.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young mother 22 years old and have three small children. My husband is a good provider and he works hard, but every day as soon as he comes home, right after he has had his bath and his supper, he goes off and stays until 8 or 9 o'clock. I beg and plead with him to stay at home, or take me with him, but it does no good. I get so lonesome I nearly die. I am by myself all day and when in the evening he could be with me, he steps out. There is no woman in the case.

Is there anything I can do to change him?

LONELY WIFE.

ANSWER: I am afraid not because your husband feels so justified in neglecting you when he is spending his time so innocently in just an hour or two's gossip with other men. No women, no love affair, no getting drunk that would give his wife a right to reproach him. Just a good gossip.

And he overlooks the fact that to leave a young girl-wife alone, with no companionship except three babies, with whole days in which she has no one to talk to, nor any of the fun and amusement that belongs to her time of life, can be just as cruel a crime against her as if he were being unfaithful to her and there was another woman in the case, instead of just men pals.

But your husband is not alone. Plenty of other husbands, whose wives are not congenial, feel that they are under no obligation to do anything to make life entertaining for them. I think you should tell your husband that he must either hire a baby-sitter two or three nights a week, or else stay at home and bear you company.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a husband who thinks he is the greatest lady-killer there is. Every day he raves about the pretty girls who work where he does, and when we go out together he embarrasses me by gazing enraptured at some little bobby-soxer who doesn't even notice him.

Yet he claims he loves me very much, which I doubt. I am at my wits' end and if he doesn't change I am going to leave him. change I am going to leave him.

UNHAPPY WIFE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband probably does love you and it is just his vanity that makes him think that every woman falls for him. Or rather tries to kid himself into thinking they do, and that is what causes him to make himself ridiculous with his bragging of non-existent conquests.

Super Sense Sells Hats Picky Hubby

By MARILYN LAMBORN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—(CP). — Advantages of being psychic vary from selecting a "satisfactory" husband to selling hats.

At least that's the claim of Mrs. Catherine Whaley, whose ability to "see into the future" led her to Christie Street Hospital where she cheers up bed-ridden veterans by giving them pleasant glimpses of what fate has in store.

The daughter of an Irish detective and a psychic mother, Mrs. Whaley says she picked out the best husband in the field—and it was all done through psychology and psychic power.

"Of course I was much younger and didn't know then what I know now," said the motherly woman with a flash of her penetrating blue eyes.

Even though few persons have the "super sense" attributed to Mrs. Whaley, she says most bright girls on the look-out for a husband can develop their powers of observation and use a bit of intuition enabling them to "see right through a man and be three jumps ahead of him."

Another practical application of her psychic ability is placing the right hat on the right head, a trait which makes cash registers ring at the two millinery shops she manages in downtown Toronto.

But "most fun of all" is dropping into Christie Street Hospital Saturday nights where her fortune telling is regarded as beneficial to morale as well as entertaining.

"Mind over matter," is Mrs. Whaley's philosophy when she talks to veterans who might be worried about coming operations.

Tea cups and cards have been her fortune-telling medium for years, but she freely admits that she ignores their messages in favor of the individual. Character analysis, psychology and psychic power are the things that really count.

By looking at individuals she says she can approximate their mentality. A "super sense" tells her if anyone has had an accident or might have one. In fact, when driving, she knows if an automobile is approaching around a curve.

"My husband always lets me drive the car," she said as final proof that her type of psychology really works.

One-Burner Dinner

Directions

This mixture of parsnips and carots mashed together is surprisingly good. For the low calorie dinner you would not add butter, but do use a little homogenized milk when you are beating them together. Add also salt and pepper. For those who do not have to reduce cook the parsnips and carrots together in salted water until very tender. Then mash them—using a potato masher—the electric beater or ricer will not do the job well enough on these rather firm vegetables. Then add butter and cream and reheat stirring.

To make Lemon Jelly from fresh juice soak 1½ tablespoons gelatine in ½ cup cold water 5 minutes, then add ½ cup sugar and ½ cup boiling water and stir over boiling water until gelatine and sugar are dissolved. Cool a little and add ½ cup lemon juice and if desired ½ cup orange juice. If orange juice is not used replace it with water. Strain and chill in moulds.

To make the Cherry Bavarian Cream, soak 1¼ tablespoons gelatine in ¼ cup cold water 5 minutes. Stir together 2 egg yolks, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup sugar. Gradually add 1 cup scalded milk, stirring, then put in top of double boiler. Add the soaked gelatine, stir smooth, then cook over hot, but not boiling water, while stirring, until mixture coats spoon. Remove and chill until it begins to thicken ever so slightly, then fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites, ½ cup sliced, drained cherries, and 1 cup heavy cream whipped. Pour into large mould or individual moulds to chill. Serve garnished with cherries or use any other drained red fruit or sliced peaches.

High Cost of Living Hits Harem, Camels in Morocco

By ROBERT C. WILSON.

FEZ, Morocco, Jan. 5 (AP) — The high cost of living is slowly wiping out the harem in Morocco. More and more Arabs are restricting themselves to one wife at a time.

The Koran entitles a man to four official spouses, in addition to an unrationed number of concubines, but that is just too expensive these days.

Before the war an Arab could "buy" a wife for 5,000 francs. Now a wife costs from 100,000 to 200,000 francs (from $1,000 to $2,000).

Inflation is rampant in all the phases of Moroccan life. Seven years ago a man could buy camel for 400 francs. Just try to find one now for less than 12,000.

While there are few pashas or caids able to afford the jewels and "babouche" (gilded slippers) for four wives, there are ways of arriving at the same end.

An Arab can divorce a wife merely by telling her before witnesses: "It is better that you return to the house of your brother." And that is all there is to it. That's the divorce.

Should it happen that the wife is guilty of a serious offence, such as adultery, the husband can even get his money back.

Must Return Money.

When an Arab marries he gives a sum of money to his bride's parents with which they outfit her with clothes and the cushions that constitute the furniture of an Arab room. In divorce cases in which the wives are at fault, the parents are obliged to return the money.

Consequently, if a Moroccan can't afford to put on the dog by having four wives at the same time, it is a simple matter to have four different wives within a year.

Divorce is far easier than in Reno, and, what's more, there is no sentimentality involved. The Koran puts marriage on a strictly business basis.

Arab sources agree that there is no real feminine movement in Morocco, but that—

"The women are becoming more and more exacting. So, it is not only too expensive, but too much trouble to have a harem of quarrelling women. It is better to have one wife at a time."

For Tuesday, January 6

The lunar transits suggest an excellent period for launching out upon a new and ambitious career, in which seething talents and purpose yearn for expression in fresh pastures, possibly in an effort to put over important new ideas. Quick decisions, with communications, travel, correspondence and personal contacts of prime importance, are indicated. Astute and clever ideas and plans attract co-operation from high places, with public recognition for constructive work. No time to let the grass grow under your feet.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are on the eve of excellent prospects for launching treasured ideas and plans of major significance, in which quick change, travel, new contacts and associations reach splendid culminations for bright ideas, with fresh slants on static conditions serving as a dynamic impetus. Out-of-the-ordinary or exceptionally progressive and productive propositions are bound to meet support from influential sources, with probable public recognition as well.

A child born on this day should be versatile, clever, with keen and alert grasp of career openings, ultimately finding public recognition. A life of change and pleasant adventure is shown.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I was wondering if you could tell me how to go about stiffening a crocheted basket? Of course a glass is used inside for the flowers. Thanking you, I remain Alice in Wonderland.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: This is amusing because I cannot crochet! But—I did telephone one of my friends at the library to ask her for instructions for you and here is what she said: Make starch to dip the crocheted basket in of 4 tablespoons cornstarch mixed with 1 cup cold water and stirring over high heat until it thickens. Dip the crocheted basket in this, do not wring it out, but fit the glass insert into and stand on heavy towel to dry. Before it is quite dry, slip it off the glass form and with hot iron iron the flared top of the basket—if it does not keep its stiff shape just as you wish, wet it a little and continue ironing. The girl at the library did not tell me this but I know one lady who wires a white crocheted basket with white pipe cleaner at the bottom of the basket and weaves it between the crocheting until it just comes to the top edge. This might help you.

Hoping this is helpful and wishing you a Happy New Year.

QUESTION: I want to know two ways of serving potatoes. One of them is called Duchess potatoes and the other is something like mashed potatoes only it contains cheese and is rich and creamy looking Would you have room for those two recipes next week? Wishing you the compliments of the Season. Ivy J.

Duchess Potatoes

Beat together 3 cups cooked riced potatoes, 3 tablespoons butter, ¾ teaspoon salt and 2 eggs yolks which have been slightly beaten. When smooth "pipe" this through pastry bag or tube onto platter or plank on which roast of meat or steak or cooked fish are served. Brush with white of egg, using pastry brush. Brown in hot oven for about 10 minutes to give it an attractive golden-brown tinge. Serve at once.

Mashed Potatoes With Cheese

Mash 6 medium-sized cooked hot potatoes until entirely free of lumps, add 2-3 cup hot milk, salt to taste and anywhere from ½ to ¾ cup finely grated old cheese. Beat very well over low heat until very hot. Serve at once garnished either with powdery grated cheese or paprika.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Our doctor told me to serve plenty of egg nogs to my husband and to my son too who are both underweight, but have enrmous appetites and work very hard. He said if they get a little tired of them to change my ways of flavouring them. I did not want to admit my ignorance to the doctor, but I do not even knw how to make an egg nog, let alone how to vary them. Please help me out as you did last year when my boy was sick.

Anxious Mother.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Hello again, A. M., I am glad at least to hear your boy is well enough to "work very hard" and that he has a good appetite.

Egg Nog (one serving)

One egg very well beaten with two teaspoons sugar; add ¾ cup whole or homogenized milk, shake of salt, and dash of nutmeg.

Variations: 1. Use part cream instead of all milk. Flavor with almond or vanilla. 2. Use half cream and half pineapple juice. 3. Instead of one egg use two yolks. 4. Use half cold strong coffee and half cream. Good luck on your nourishing campaign.

Phyllis Rosborough Is Wed To Robert James Doherty

With a background of fern and baskets of white chrysanthemums Trinity United church was a pretty setting for the wedding on Friday, January 2, of Phyllis Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Rosborough, 267 King St., to Robert James Doherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Doherty, 211 Carlisle Ave. Rev. Dr. D. B Gordon officiated at the ceremony Miss Mabel Clarry, organist, played traditional wedding music, and during the signing of the register she played "O Perfect Love" on the chimes.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white brocaded stain which had a very slight trim. The long torso bodice was topped wtih a wide band of satin at the edge of a net yoke and had long pointed sleeves. The graceful skirt had a bustle back. Her finger-tip veil of white net, with fine satin scroll trim, was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of red roses.

The bridesmaid was Miss Beatrice Parsons, who wore a dress of pink eyelet, made with ruffle edge on the low neckline, short sleeves, long torso bodice and full skirt. With it she wore white mittens, a shoulder veil of pink net with a bandeau of white flowers and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was attended by Mr. Emil Hawara. Ushers were Mr. Paul Reeds and Mr. Joe Byrnes.

Afterward, a reception was held at the bride's home, where her mother received, wearing a black ensemble and corsage of red roses. Later the bride changed to a pale blue suit with black accessories and grey fur coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Doherty will live in Peterborough.

Your Baby and You

by Ruth Parsons

Bathing baby can be fun, especially when the sponge bath period is hurdled, and he's old enough for a small tub. If you're careful, he'll love the water!

So that he won't slip or be frightened, always place a folded towel in the bottom of the tub. Fill the tub with four to six inches of water, nicely warm by the elbow test, or around 95° by your bath thermometer. After you've soaped baby all over, support his head and back with one hand, hold his feet with the other, and lower him gently into the tub. Still supporting his head and back, let him quietly enjoy it for a little while. Then rinse him, lift him out, gently pat him dry.

✧ ✧ ✧

When baby is three or four months old, your doctor will probably approve the addition of solid foods to his menu. Choose these, with confidence, from the 22 varieties of Heinz Baby Foods. The fresh colour, smooth texture, and tempting flavour of every single variety, is a result of carefully selecting and cooking only the choicest, freshest food. When baby is older, he will also enjoy the 12 delicious varieties of coarser-textured Heinz Junior Foods. Both Heinz Baby Foods and Heinz Junior Foods offer a wide choice of soups, meat products vegetable and desserts.

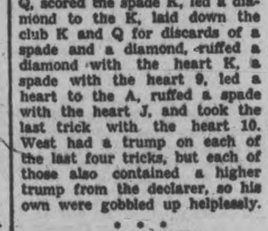
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

FOILING LONG TRUMPS

IT IS POSSIBLE sometimes to shut out completely a defender's string of trumps which is longer, by one or more cards, than the declarer's holding in either the dummy or his own hand. Offhand it would seem that a defender with five trumps, for instance, would be certain to take at least one trick against a declarer who had only four in his own hand and four in the dummy. But suppose the declarer can manage a cross-ruff, toward the close of the play, always using a trump which is higher than any against him. In that circumstance, the defender's smaller trumps dissolve under the larger ones.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	5 ♥



South passed at that undesirable height, instead of going for slam, because he felt he had already done enough bidding, in view of his second round spade jump. Furthermore, the opponents had been apprised of the cross-ruff nature of the situation with South holding spades on the side and North diamonds, so that an efficient defense of trump leading was foreseen by South as probably weakening the trick-taking potentialities of his assets.

Sure as you live, West led a heart, the semi-false-card 2, on which East discarded the club 10 making it clear to South that a fifth-best had been opened, not a fourth-best. He saw just one possible way to thwart the holder of five trumps, which he had to do if he was to make his contract, since a loser apiece was indexed for spades and diamonds.

South won the opener with the heart 8, and embarked on preparation for the necessary cross-ruff by leading a spade to the Q. East topped that with the A, cashed his diamond A and returned the club A, hoping to set the five-odd contract in a hurry. But South ruffed with the heart Q, scored the spade K, led a diamond to the K, laid down the club K and Q for discards of a spade and a diamond, ruffed a diamond with the heart K, a spade with the heart 9, led a heart to the A, ruffed a spade with the heart J, and took the last trick with the heart 10. West had a trump on each of the last four tricks, but each of those also contained a higher trump from the declarer, so his own were gobbled up helplessly.

6—In Memoriam

LEE—In fond and loving memory of our dear father, Mr. G. A. Lee, who passed away January 5, 1945.
His smiling way and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all;
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land
Never to part again.
—Sadly missed by Dorothy, Ken, Allan and Gordon.

ROOKE — In loving memory of Sarah Elizabeth, who passed away January 5, 1947.
In our hearts, your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true;
There is not a day dear mother
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by the family.

DELAHEY—In loving memory of a dear father Frederick Delahey, who passed away January 4, 1946.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here
And who though absent is just as dear
—Sadly missed by Helen and Wally.

Vancouver Blue Bombers today were Canadian junior football champions after they out-fought rain, mud, eastern rules and Hamilton Tigers 6-2 in the final of a two-game series at Vancouver Saturday. Hamilton was trounced 19-8 on points having suffered a 13-5 reverse in the first game under the western code with the Blues New Year's Day.

The Tigers looked smoother and faster playing under Eastern rules but were no match for the Bombers who went over for the only touchdown of the game after but seven plays and one Hamilton fumble following the starting whistle. They never relinquished that lead. Hamilton scored their three points on rouges, two in the first half, one in the last.

Norm Duddault, 22-year-old left winger up from Victoriaville Tigers of the Provincial League on a three-game tryout basis, Saturday signed a two-year contract with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Doug Webster, rightwinger from Cornwall, is en route to join Sydney Millionaires, leaders of the Cape Breton senior hockey league. Webster played last year with Stratford of the OHA and this year had a whirl with Atlantic City Sea Gulls of the Eastern United States league.

Jimmy Demaret of Texas and California, in addition to winning the Harry Vardon trophy for the best golf scoring average in 1947 also walked away with top money-winning laurels for the year. The Professional Golfers Association of America today released its official money winning record for 1947, and as previously known, Demaret led the list with $27,936.83. Runner up was Bobby Locke of South Africa, who was not eligible, as a foreigner, for the Bardon Trophy.

Pro rookie Jack Kramer, challenging Bobby Riggs' right to the title of professional champion of the world, scored his second victory over Riggs at Detroit Saturday night 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, in the fifth match of their five-month transcontinental tennis challenge series.

Calumet Farm's Armed and King Ranch's Assault will duel under top weight of 130 pounds in the $50,000 added Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park Feb. 21. Calumet's 1947 horse-of-the-year is after his third consecutive Widener victory.

Terranova Tackles Toronto's L'il Arthur

TORONTO, Jan. 5 — (CP). — Operation Lightweight, headlining the pro boxing card at Maple Leaf Gardens tonight, seems assured of a chain reaction of considerable proportions. Two lightweight bouts are scheduled, the eight-round main event pitting Toronto's Li'l Arthur King against Phil Terranova, former world's featherweight champion, and the six-round semi-final with Simeon Waithe against Juan Manuel, Mexican fighter from Cleveland.

Terranova has fought five Canadians and defeated all of them, four by knockouts. Undoubtedly he's King's toughest opponent to date and the young Negro would be cinched as a headliner if he got the drop on wee Phil.

Bobby Flannigan, London, Ontario's middleweight here returns to a local ring against Jimmy Guey of Detroit, who is rated highly. Toronto fans are sure Guey will need his wits about him to out-slug Flannigan in the six-round preliminary.

Wagers No U.S. Team Appears At Olympics

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, Jan. 5 — (CP). Anybody want to bet?

This correspondent is wagering eveh money that no United States hockey team competes in the St. Mortiz Olympics Jan. 30-Feb. 8. Bets are under "gentleman's agreement" rules.

Here's what I believe ultimately will happen when the all-powerful international Olympic committee meets at St. Moritz a day or two before the games open.

1. The Amateur Hockey Association's United States entry will be turned down although it already has been accepted by the Swiss organizing committee and by the International Ice Hockey Federation, controlling organization of amateur hockey.

2. The United States Olympic committee will make a bid to have the Amateur Athletic Union team represent the U.S. and this also will fail. The AAU is not affiliated with the IIHF and Olympic rules state that only teams linkel with the international association are eligible.

At Zurich in September, the IIHF decided, with Canada alone dissenting, to adopt the Olymoic definition of an amateur. The AHA, duly-recognized American member, broke a previously-arranged agreement with Canada, perferring to swing along with Britain and Europe in the issue.

Walter Brown of Boston, vice-president of the AHA, said he accepted "in the best interests of American amteur hockey."

Swiss organizers pledged they would accept only the AHA entry from the United States.

Then the fun started. Avery Brundage of the U.S. Olympic committee rejected the AHA entry. The Swiss organizers accepted it through the IIHF.

Clement Attlee Denounces Russian Methods

LONDON, Jan. 5 —(AP)— Prime Minister Attlee denounced Russian Communism Saturday night as "a new form of imperialism" threatening the rest of Europe.

"Today in Eastern Europe the Communist party, while overthrowing an economic tyranny of landlordism and capitalism, has renounced the doctrine of individual freedom and political democracy and rejected the whole spiritual heritage of Western Europe," Attlee said in a broadcast speech.

His attack came in a party political broadcast in which he raked international Communism as hard or harder than he did his main domestic opponents, the Conservatives.

He asserted that "Soviet Communism pursues a policy which threatens with a new form of imperialism — ideological, economic and strategic—the welfare and way of life of other nations of Europe."

Attlee contrasted the Labor party's conception of a combination of political and economic democracy with the Russian system and argued that modern Russian history warns that "without political freedom, collectivism can quickly go astray and lead to new forms of oppression and injustice."

"Where there is no political freedom, privilege and injustice creep back," Attlee said. In Communist Russian 'privilege for the few' is a growing phenomenon, and the gap between the highest and lowest incomes is constantly widening,"

"It is ironical that today the absolutists who suppress opposition much more vigorously than the kings and emperors of the past masquerade under the name of upholders of democracy."

1947 ENDS UNHAPPILY — Seventy Edmonton, Alta., residents watched their lodgings and all possessions, save what they were wearing, go up in smoke as fire destroyed the Fairview hotel, North Edmonton, Alta. About $50,000 damage was suffered as the three-story building burned for about three hours. Although the building was not burned to the ground, it is considered almost a total loss. No one was injured in the fire, although there were many narrow escapes. Cause of the fire was not known. Firemen can be seen battling flames as residents watch.

12 Fatalities Reported In First Weekend Of 1948

By The Canadian Press

A Maritimes country store fire and what police in Ontario described as a case of murder and suicide each took two lives and eight other fatalities were reported in Eastern Canada during the first week-end of 1948, a Canadian Press survey showed.

Phyllis Gamblin, three, and Gordon Woods, 22, died in a fire which destroyed a country store and dwelling at Coles Island, NB. Philip Gamblin, father of Psyllis, escaped from his flaming home at which Woods had been an overnight visitor.

Their throats slashed with a bread knife, John Pullen, 42, and his five-year-old stepson, Hugh, were found dead in their living quarters over a fish-and-chip shop Pullen had operated in Alliston.

Victims of separate traffic accidents were Mrs. Frank Fetes, 74, of Kenmore, NY, who died in Hamilton, and Orick Gallinger, 73, of Cornwall.

Jean Baptiste Vinet, 76, was crushed to death by a falling tree at St. Lois de Gonzague, Que., near Valleyfield.

Hit On Head

Struck on the head by the buffer bar of a passing train, G. C. Lafitte of Lewisville, NB, was killed in railway yards at Amherst, NS.

The bullet-pierced body of Arthur Files of Stanstead, Que., was found beside a shotgun in woods near Georgeville, Que., 35 miles east of Sherbrooke. An inquest will be held today at Magog, Que.

The death in London of Herman Liersch, 42, was attributed to southwestern Ontario's New Year's night sleet and ice storm. Liersch suffered a heart attack after pushing his automobile from a snowbank.

Grocer Ernest Bryan was asphyxiated in Cobourg by coal gas fumes which overcame his wife. Mrs. Bryan was taken to hospitaly. In Ottawa the 26-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan C. Norris was suffocated in bed while sleeping between his parents.

Cabinet Wrestles With Figures Trying To Decide On Estimates

OTTAWA, Jan. 5 — (CP). — This is "estimate time" for the Cabinet.

It now is coping with its annual task of preparing estimates of the amount of money the government will ask Parliament to vote for the coming fiscal year, starting next April 1.

It's a complicated and difficult job, and it has to be completed within the next few weeks for the estimates likely will be presented to Parliament shortly after the session resumes January 26.

The estimates always provide a good many surprises and an interesting feature this year will be the amount of money the government intends to devote to public works and housing.

Public works expenditures frequently give broad indications of the government's private estimate of economic trends ahead. If the government thinks there may be a business recession coming along, the funds it is asking for public works may give the tip-off.

The Budget.

Once estimates of expenditures for the coming year have been approved, Finance Minister Abbott likely will put his senior officials to work on preparation of the budget for the 148-149 fiscal year.

In the 1947-1948 budget presented last April 29, the tax reductions were confined practically exclusively to the income tax field. The wide range of excise or "hidden" taxes were left untouched and drew widespread criticism.

When Mr. Abbott announced the income tax changes, which he estimated would mean reductions of about 2 per cent to the average taxpayer, he had behind him a fiscal year in which a surplus of $352,000,000 was built up.

When he introduces the new budget, it is expected he will have behind him a year in which the surplus will reach at least $500,000,000.

Political observers believe that this surplus, coupled with the fact that expenditures in the coming year likely will be lower than in the current year, will give Mr. Abbott sufficient leeway to cut excise and indirect taxes by a fairly wide margin.

Altogether the excise taxes yield about $600,000,000 in revenue. They include the 8 per cent sales tax, and taxes on such things as liquor, candy, cigarettes,, furs, amusements, toilet preparations, jewellery, and the like.

Whatever reduction is made it is expected it will be consistent with the government program to conserve American dollars. When the exchange conservation program was announced, the government disclosed that it was slapping a 25 per cent excise tax on a lengthy list of consumer goods to discourage purchases of non-essential products.

Service Not Restored

WINDSOR, Jan. 5.—(CP). — Hydro and telephone officials last night estimated that it may take six weeks to restore power and telephone service to normal in the Essex-Kent-Lambton area torn up by last Thursday's sleet and freezing rain storm. Overall damage was placed at more than $100,000.

World Demand Halts Recession

By The Canadian Press

World demand is the basic fact behind all business calculations as the New Year starts into stride.

It is a demand as elemental as food for hungry or near-hungry people, and the bare necessities of life.

And it is the over-riding reason why forecasts for a recession in 1947, based on ordinary factors, failed to be fulfilled, and why, now recognized for what it is, there are few forecasts of a recession in 1948.

Those who refused to accept possibility of a recession last year based it on the fact that the demand for goods was too great—and their belief that no "artificial" barrier, such as shortage of dollars, could stand against it. In effect they stuck with the basic fact of demand, believing that details, however difficult, would be worked out. So far they have been right.

Meantime, the two capitals whose debates and decisions will have most effect on the Canadian economy, prepare to move into action following the holidays.

In Washington Congress goes back to work this week with debate on the European recovery program and steps to avoid inflation high on the list, and parliament resumes in Ottawa Jan. 26.

Strip Clothing Stores

HAMILTON, Jan. 5.—(CP).—Thieves who struck at two clothing stores during the week-end made off with merchandize valued at $2,500 altogether. They stripped the Serafino De Rubies tailor shop of its entire stock of $2,000 worth of suitings and stole women's clothing, hosiery and lace worth $500 from the McClung dress shop.

Charges Literature Censored In Quebec

OTTAWA, Jan. 5—(CP)—Rev. Murray Heron, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Noranda, Que., charged in an address to the congregations in Westboro Baptist and Calvary Baptist Churches yesterday that religious literature sent to points in Quebec had been censored by Quebec provincial officials.

He told the two congregations of attempts made to halt his open-air meetings in Quebec and of alleged "opposition" to his preaching of the gospel.

He said that his church group had applied for permission to distribute religious literature in Quebec some four months ago but so far had received no answer.

4,000 Well-Armed Raiders Attack Indian Army Positions In Kashmir

Indian Air Force Helps Infantry Beat Back Several Attacks, Kill 200; Tribesmen Surround Division At Karachi

NEW DELHI, Jan. 6—(CP).—Four thousand uniformed and steel-helmeted raiders, using artillery, mortars, medium and light machine-guns, today made the first major daylight attack on Indian Army positions in Kashmir since operations began almost 10 weeks ago. Indian infantry supported by Spitfires and Tempests of the Royal Indian Air Force beat back several attacks and killed at least 200 of the raiders, an Indian Defence Ministry communique said.

The attack was made in the Naoshera sector, south of Poonch. Indian troops withdrew to Poonch last month after severe fighting in western Jammu.

Surround Division

At Karachi, Moslem tribesmen were reported to have surrounded an Indian division in Jammu, winter capital of Kashmir, and to have laid siege to the city.

The invaders are protesting the accession by the Hindu Maharajah of predominantly - Moslem Kashmir to Hindu India.

The tribesmen had cut the Indian Army's lines of communication and the trapped troops had been without supplies except by air for two days, Pakistan intelligence officials said.

KARACHI, India, Jan. 6 — (Reuters).—About 70 persons were killed today when a crowd attacked and set afire a Sikh temple in which 250 Sikh men, women and children from Upper Sind were quartered for transit after evacuation.

Troops were rushed to deal with disturbances as communal strife spread through the city, with angry crowds looting Hindu quarters. By late afternoon the disturbances appeared under control.

Cutter Rescues 13 Stranded On Arctic Point

KODIAK, Alaska, Jan. 6 (AP) —Thirteen persons, including a mother and her six children, sped toward Kodiak aboard a Coast Guard cutter and navy tug today for hospital treatment after being rescued from an ice-sheathed point of the Alaska peninsula where they had been stranded for up to five days.

Ten of the frost-bitten survivors were aboard the wrecked cannery tender Spencer, which smashed into the rocks opposite Kodiak Island New Year's Eve and broke up in the pounding swells.

All are reported suffering from frost bite and exposure but are not believed to be in serious condition.

The other three were rescuers from the navy tug Mataco who struggled to shore after their small boat overturned Saturday night in a daring attempt to reach the stranded party.

The rescue, balked for three days by 60-mile-an-hour winds and gale-tossed seas, was completed yesterday during a lull in the storm. Although only five miles from the village of Kanatak, the scene was unreachable by land because of high cliffs and impassable terrain.

Oldest of the survivors is Mrs. Skonberg, in her middle-fifties. She is the mother of six other Skonbergs aboard the tender.

The vessel was en route from Chignik to Kodiak when it piled up in the Shelikof Strait. Chignik is along the Alaska peninsula approximately 150 miles southwest of Kanatak.

Pirates Demand $50,000 For Men

HONG KONG, Jan. 6—(AP).—Pirates who looted the Dutch steamer Van Heutz and kidnapped six of its wealthy Chinese passengers Dec. 14 demanded 100,000 Hong Kong dollars ($50,000) today from each.

The demands were reported by the newspaper Wah Kiu Man Po, which said Swatow relatives of the kidnapped men received identical ransom notes, signed Ling Ling. It added that Ling Ling presumably is the leader of the pirate band, supposedly based at nearby Bias Bay, near where the Van Heutz was looted.

The pirates took charge of the ship four hours out of Hong Kong on the way to Swatow, held it nearly 15 hours and leisurely robbed the 1,600 passengers of cash and jewelry amounting to approximately $500,000.

Hint Vegetable Ban May Be Lifted Jan. 15

MONTREAL, Jan. 6—(CP). — Fruit and vegetable brokers today said reports were current that the ban on importation of certain produce from the United States would be lifted temporarily Jan. 15 to offset a dwindling supply in Canada.

Most likely to be affected, they said, were cabbages, carrots, spinach and celery. One broker said the present supply of those vegetables would not last until the end of the month.

He said small quantities of celery are coming from Ontario but at a record price of $8.50 a carton.

CPC President Denies Big Gain

TORONTO, Jan. 6 (CP)—J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers Ltd., today described as "absurd and irresponsible" a statement by Fred Dowling, Canadian director of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.), that recent boosts in meat prices will mean "an inventory gain for the packers of over $10,000,000."

Mr. Dowling based his estimate on reports by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics that there were 110,000,000 pounds of meat in cold storage Dec. 1.

Mr. McLean said that amount included "not only freezer stocks but all current stocks in all houses, large and small, including meats in process of cure." The stocks included some 55,000,000 pounds of pork, 39,000,000 of beef, 7,000,000 of veal and 8,000,000 of lamb.

Mr. McLean added: "There will almost certainly be an advance in veal and lamb, as an indirect result of the British contracts, but this cannot at present be calculated."

King Denies Leaving Just To Get Married

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Jan. 6 — (Reuters). — Former King Michael of Romania today issued an official denial of reports that he had left Romania "just to be free and enjoy himself and get married."

Members of his suite said the ex-King also wished to deny press reports that he had left Romania with a train loaded with valuables; that he had brought a lot of money; that his train was filled with refugees from the new Romanian regime.

"In fact, the royal party consists simply of the ex-King, Queen Helen, eight other people and four servants—14 in all," the statement said.

Maggie, Last of Pioneers Prefers To Be Snowbound

SUFFERN, NY, Jan. 6—(AP). — Eighty-year-old Gracie Pitt, one of the last two Ramapo Mountain pioneers, is dead.

She died Sunday in her cabin on Half Moon Mountain, and her body was removed yesterday by five men who had to climb through snowdrifts, three to five feet deep.

In bed under 12 blankets in another cabin 250 feet away the party found Maggie Gannon, 72, who insisted that she would stay out the winter the mountains, into which her ancestors moved in pre-revolutionary days.

The Ramapos, almost inaccessible in winter, are 30 miles northwest of New York City.

Gracie was the widow of the late Albert Pitt. Maggie was the housekeeper for Albert's brother, Gilbert, who died at the age of 82 last May 12. Theirs were the last occupied cabins on Half Moon Mountain.

"You take Gracie and bury her, I'll stay in my mountains," Maggie told Bert Nidd, Ramapo township's welfare officer.

Nidd and the three patrolmen and undertaker who had made the trek didn't argue with Maggie. Her cabin seemed well stocked with food and firewood. Too, they remembered that Maggie had been placed in the Rockland County Home for poor and aged after Gilbert's death, but a short time later took off afoot and returned to the cabin.

When the party arrived at the cabins today, Maggie hadn't heard of her only neighbor's death. She hadn't left her cabin since before Christmas, she said, but was making out all right.

Baby Can Eat

One-year-old Suzanne Eggleton, 96 Aylmer St., born without an oesophagus, food pipe between throat and stomach, today celebrated her birthday anniversary by eating cake.

Suzanne's life was saved last year by insertion of an oesophagus of body tissue. The operation, performed in Toronto, is believed the first successful one of its type in Canada.

Reduce Cheese Shipments To Great Britain

TORONTO, Jan. 6 — (CP).—Canadian cheese shipments to the United Kingdom have been reduced because of declining production and increased domestic consumption not only of cheese but of other dairy products, W. C. Cameran, Federal dairy products specialist, said today.

In an address prepared for delivery before the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, Mr. Cameron said Canada is "at least" the sixth largest producer of milk in the world today and the third largest exporter of cheese.

Chief of dairy products grading and inspection services for the Dominion Agriculture Department, he said there have been marked changes in the production and utilization of milk in Britain which are of "significant importance" to the Canadian cheese producer.

The fluid milk requirements of that country increased during the war and are still far from being met, with the result that only a small proportion is used for manufacturing purposes. For instance, the total amount of milk used for the manufacture of all types of cheese in Britain in 1945 was only 51.72 per cent. of that used for similar purposes in 1939.

Requirements Up

"Thus, the UK market for imported cheese will be enlarged to the extent of the decrease in cheese production in the UK, providing there is no decrease in the requirements of cheese.

"Second, the apparent marked decrease in production of farmhouse cheese, which has always been considered by many buyers of cheese as the finest cheddar produced, and commanding a premium over all other cheddar cheese, leaves a market open to some country exporting cheese which can produce a cheese of satisfactory quality for that market.

Canada is the country which can and should produce that quality of cheddar cheese."

Racketeers Caught By New Order

Rule Army Currency In Germany No Longer Legal Pay

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—(Reuters).—Berlin's "Black Bourse" was thrown into unheaval today after a British war office announcement that from midnight last night all British military currency ceased to be legal tender:

The war office action, carried out with the secrecy of a military operation, left currency racketeers with hundreds of bank notes which would be worthless by the end of this afternoon when all exchanges into new currency were being completed.

Reports from the main black market centres this mornng showed that British armed forces special voucher £1 ($4) notes were selling for as little as 30 marks a time, against yesterday's black rate of 300 and the official rate of 40.

Long queues formed at British pay offices today as control commission officials and occupation troops exchanged their "B.A.S.F. V.S." for the new notes, which are similar in design to the old but are printed in different colors.

Black marketeers in Germany are believed to have been caught with millions of pounds worth of the invalidated "B.A.S.F.V.S."

They were introduced in the summer of 1946 as the only currency acceptable in British clubs, canteens and shops.

British authorites in Vienna sued a similar order invalidating "B.A.S.F.V.S." in Austria.

Will Ease Import Ban As Soon As Possible

MONTREAL, Jan. 6—(CP).—Finance Minister Abmott, reviving Canada's dollar-saving program with its restrictions on imports, said no government decision ever was taken with greater reluctance but it was one that was necessary if Canada was to remain solvent and in a position to contribute to world trade recovery.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Montreal Rotary Club, the Minister said the dollar-economy restrictions — those on imports, those imposed through commodity taxes and those on travel—would be removed at the earliest possible moment. And he again expressed the hope for the carrying through of the Marshall aid-to-Europe plan so that some purchases would be made in Canada and thus help solve Canada's shortage of American dollars.

Child Killed By Truck

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 6 —(CP)—Six-year-old Billie Mountenay of suburban Hillcrest was killed when, police say, he darted into the path of a truck driven by Raymond Crowe of nearby Picton on No. 7 highway near this city's northern limits.

SEIZED WAR MATERIAL—A reporter examines cartridges (left) and a Palestine-addressed crate (right) seized by police and U.S. customs men in a bronx, New York, warehouse, recently. The crate contained heavy machinery, the purpose of which was not immediately determined. Among other seized items was a stencil which Police Inspector William McGowan said, was used in addressing packing cases, containing a quantity of TNT, consigned to Palestine, discovered the same day on a Jersey City pier. Various other war material has since been discovered.

UAW Requests Full Autonomy Across Canada

WINDSOR, Jan. 6 — (CP). — Full autonomy for the Canadian region of the United Auto Workers (CIO) in the matter of staff appointments was asked by a delegation which met yesterday with President Walter P. Reuther in Detroit, it was learned today.

The delegation, headed by George Burt, Canadian director, presented their arguments and came away with a promise that they would be considered.

Comprising 20 of the Canadian local union presidents, the delegation met in closed session with Reuther for two hours. The international president is reported to have told the Canadian delegation why certain department heads and international representatives must go. He is said to have laid down the hard and fast rule with respect to those names under consideration for removal.

As many as six members of Burt's international staff are reportedly threatened by the edict.

Present developments are apparently the outgrowth of the landslide victory for Reuter at the UAW's international convention last November.

Reuther has placed himself on record as opposed to Burt politically. While Reuter candidates swept most of the regional directorships in the international elections, Burt was one of the opposition representatives returned to office.

Hint Truman Plans Higher Tax

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP).—Fresh signs of deep-seated differences between Capitol Hill and the White House were clearly apparent today as the 80th Congress reassembles in an atmosphere of election-year wariness.

The gulf which divides the President and the Republican-controlled legislative branch was pointed up by a new report that President Truman might propose higher taxes on corporation profits in order to leave a margin for low-bracket personal income tax relief without cutting total government revenues.

This was only one of the plain indications that the session will develop into a running controversy between the White House and the law-making majority from the fall of the opening gavel at noon right up to adjournment in June for the national political conventions.

Even as the President was putting the finishing touches to what lieutenants described as a "slugging message" to be delivered in person tomorrow, Republicans staked out the lines for a fight of their own to cut taxes and slash government spending.

Arabs Press 3-Way Fight To Prevent Partition Plan

JERUSALEM, Jan. 6—(AP).—The supreme command of the Arab allied forces (SCAAF) has a three-phase operations plan to prevent the partition of Palestine and right now is about half-way through phase one, it was learned today from reliable sources. A military scheme designed to "make it impossible for the United Nations to turn Palestine into Jewish and Arab states" has been revised in these three stages, these sources said:

1. Eviction of the Jews from quarters where the Jews and Arabs have lived as neighbors.

2. Isolation of Jews of the north coastal plain and the southern desert by driving Arab wedges between them.

3. Final drives to exterminate or subjugate Jewish communities such as Tel Aviv, Jerusalem's Rehavia, Haifa's Hadar Hacarmel and hundreds of Jewish villages and settlements.

In Jerusalem, Jews already have fled upper Bakaa and Katamon, two fashionable residential quarters mainly owned by Arabs but about half rented to Jews.

Next Objective

Still mixed is Talbieh, "and that's next," the sources said. The evictions, which in effect are partitioning Palestine into Arab and Jewish cities, were described as "security measures."

"If our men want to attack Rehavia, for instance, we want to be sure the Jews can't counter-attack from Katamon or Talbieh, which would be at our back," one informant explained.

"SCAAF at present is composed of six men in six cities. All are veteran warriors and all served in one way or another in the Arab revolt of the late 1930's. At the top is Tahil Pasha Hashimi of Baghdad, one time war minister of Iraq and a relative of the Kings of Iraq and Trans-Jordan. He was appointed supreme commander by the Arab league at

21 Top Nazis Stand Trial

NUERNBERG, Jan. 6 — (AP). — Twenty-one top ranking Nazi civil servants, including eight foreign office executives, stood before a United States War Crimes court today and heard themselves described as key figures in Adolf Hitler's plans for world conquest.

"Here are the men who transformed the plans and ideologies of the third Reich into action," Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief American prosecutor, told the court in a five-hour speech opening the trial.

Characterizing the defendants as "comparable in importance" to Hermann Goering and other top Nazi leaders condemned to death in the same room. Taylor declared:

"These men had great power and they have much to answer for . . . without the directive orders which they prepared, no Hitler, no Goering could have planned or waged aggressive war; no Himmler could have wiped out 6,000,000 Jews."

Those in the dock with von Weizsaecker included Otto Meissner, state secretary under President Hindenburg and Hitler; Otto Dietrich, chief press control officer under Paul Joseph Goebbels; Richard Darre, former agriculture commissioner; Gottloeb Berg, chief of prisoner-of-war affairs, and Paul Koerner, Goering's deputy.

May Send International Force To Greek Borders

ATHENS, Jan. 6—(Reuters).—Countries represented on the United Nations Balkans committee were reported to be discussing the dispatch of "international forces" to Greece, authoritative quarters disclosed today.

The powers mainly concerned were said to be the United States, Britain and Greece.

Such a force, the same sources said, would come to Greece to seal her northern borders if the situation deteriorated as a result of further support by the Slav countries for the Greek guerrillas, or even if they recognized the "free Greek government" set up by Gen. Markos Vafiades.

Maj.-Gen. William G. Livesay, head of the military section of the United States mission, who arrived back in Greece from the United States today is expected to study with Greek military authorities, the application of the extended aid program by transfer of lend-lease equipment announced last night by Dwight P. Griswold, head of the United States aid mission to Greece.

In Paris a French Foreign Office spokesman said that no proposals had been made by members of the United Nations Balkans commission for sending an international force to Greece.

"The Balkan committee of inquiry has just begun its preliminary investigations," he said. "It is absolutely untrue that any proposals have been made for the sending of an international force to Greece."

In London also, the reports were officially discounted. It was pointed out that any decision to send such a force to Greece would rest with the United Nations itself and was not a matter for the Balkans commission to decide.

Mayor, Clerk Sound First Alarm

Rouse 12 Tenants Who Escape Unhurt; Kitchener Sends Aid

ELMIRA, Ont., Jan. 6 — (CP). — The worst fire in the history of this Waterloo county town of 2,500 persons today gutted six business establishments, a dental office, two apartments and the quarters of two fraternal organizations.

Believed to have started from an overheated furnace in a shoe store, the fire caused damage estimated at $100,000.

The spectacular blaze was brought under control at 6 a.m. after six hours of fierce battling by Elmira, Kitchener and Waterloo fire departments as flames swept through three three-storey buildings in the heart of the town.

Flames which lit the countryside for miles around gutted the O. W. Richard and Son drygoods store; E. S. Otto, gentlemen's furnishing's; Brubacher's shoe store; O. U. Hambly grocery; Fred Miller electrical shop; Oscar Weismiller job printing shop; Dr. A. C. Carbert's dental office; I.O.O.F. and Masonic halls and Read and Wolfe apartments.

For nearly 3½ hours firemen prevented the smouldering buildings from breaking into open conflagration but at 3.30 a.m. flames belched from windows and the block was enveloped in a mass of flames.

Help From Kitchener

Seventeen volunteer Elmira firemen battled for two hours until help arrived from Kitchener, when eight streams were used to pour tons of water onto the blaze. Sparks landed on the roof of a furniture store and a funeral chapel but volunteers doused the smouldering embers.

Mayor C. E. Gibson and town clerk D. E. Wade of Elmira, walking with Charles Davis, publisher of the Elmira Signet, discovered the outbreak as they left a council session.

They walked about a block past the burning building but were attracted by smoke. They at first considered it to be exhaust fumes from a bus but rushed back when they saw it pouring from the

U.S. Controls The Seas—Nimitz

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP). —Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz says the United States navy holds "undisputed control of the sea" and could establish floating air fields off any shore to attack inland areas.

The former chief of naval operations, in a report made public today, also predicts the navy of the future will arm its carrier-based planes with atom bombs.

The United States is "relatively deficient" in manpower compared ct Central Asia, East Asia or Western Europe, but could win a war nevertheless with superior weapons and naval air-sea strength, he said.

He said a radar screen, built on submarines, airplanes and surface ships, should surround the continental United States and its possessions.

Bell-Boy Suicides When Finds Job Taken

CHATHAM, Jan. 6 (CP)—Freeman (Bud) Roper of Dresden, Ont., 16-year-old bell-boy employed by the Chatham Hotel reported to work last night after being absent for a couple of days.

He found another boy in his place.

Roper became hysterical. Dr. W. L. Glen was called, gave him a sedative and put him to rest on a hotel cot.

Thirty minutes later, Mrs. Jack Ellis, on duty in the hotel office, saw Freeman's body hurtle past the window and hit the pavement.

He had jumped or fallen from the roof of the four-storey building. He died shortly after entering hospital of a fractured skull and multiple head injuries.

An inquest will be held

Living Cost Jumps 2.4 Points

Report Index Reaches An All-Time High Doesn't Include Dec.

OTTAWA, Jan. 6 (CP)—Pumped steadily upward by inflationary pressures, Canada's official cost-of-living index has jumped another 2.4 points to an all-time high of 146.0 and today Canadians, looking ahead, could as yet see no end to the upward spiral.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, keeper of the nation's economic pulse, reported that higher prices for foods, clothing, home furnishings, services and miscellaneous items were responsible for the climb of the index 143.6 at Nov. 1 to 146.0 at Dec. 1.

That figure was about a point above the highest previous period in Canada's economic history — 1920 when prices skyrocketed following the First World War and the cost-of-living index averaged around 145.

Don't Include December

The latest 2.4 point rise did not include any price increases which occurred during December. These will show when the index, calculated on the basis of 1935-39 equals 100, is reported again next month.

An indication of further price rises to come was seen in the renewal of British food contracts at higher levels. The upward adjustment of these agreements brought a rising trend in prices for bacon, beef, eggs and ham but these advances won't be indicated in the index until it is next reported.

At 146.0 the general cost-of-living index now is 18.9 points higher than at Dec. 1, 1946, and 15.4 points above the rating for April, 1947, and a point above the level of 145 at which Finance Minister Abbott predicted three months ago that it might settle.

Next in rank and highest with the combat forces is Fawzi Bey Al Kaukji, leader of the Palestine Arab rebel forces in the fight of 1936-39. He fled with the Kufti to Iraq and through Turkey to Germany when Britain cracked down, and escaped to Cairo as did the Mufti.

Snipers' Duel

Gunfire sounded almost constantly in Jerusalem today as 1,500 beleaguered Jews in the old city kept up a sniper's duel with numerically superior Arab riflemen.

Arab sources meanwhile reported that Hagana machine-gunners had made dawn attacks on two Arab villages on the outskirts of Jerusalem but had been beaten off by the villagers. Casualties in these engagements were believed to be light.

The only known fatality of the day was recorded in Jaffa, where a British constable was shot to death near the centre of the city, raising to 594 the unofficial count of persons slain in Palestine's bitter communal warfare since the United Nations' partition decision last Nov. 29.

In the Katamon quarter of Jerusalem British troops and police continued to comb the wreckage of the bomb-razed Semiramis Hotel. Police complained that they had been shot at during the night by unidentified persons—whom they believed to be Jews—but there were no casualties.

Just before noon rescue workers removed from the hotel ruins, alive but badly injured, a 28-year-old Arab woman who had lain buried in the debris for 30 hours.

For four hours she directed British troops as they struggled frantically with bare hands to remove the mass of stone which held her prisoner. Beside her was the dead body of her four-year-old son.

Western Oils Post Substantial Losses

TORONTO, Jan. 6 — (CP)— Stocks eased generally in slow action today with western oils posting substantial losses as profit taking cut gains established in the last few sessions on the stock exchange. Base metals held for minor gains but golds and industrials were soft. Lower government and corporation bond prices, following withdrawal by the Bank of Canada of bids for government bonds yesterday, were believed to have unsettled the stock market.

Volume for the first three hours was 462,000 shares, about 356,000 below yesterday's similar period.

Losses in golds included Conwest, East Malartic, El Sol, Giant, Kenville, Kerr Addison, Lake Shore, Leitch, Louvicourt, Macassa, Madsen, Malartic and Sylvanite. Base Metals were quiet with Smelters down 1, Labrador up 35, Noranda down ⅛ and Waite Amulet up 10.

Claims Lifting Margarine Ban Would Disrupt National Economy

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 6—(CP) —Relaxation of the ban on oleomargarine would disrupt national economy and throw the Canadian Dairy Industry into confusion, R. F. Jewell, field man for the Middlesex Federation of Agriculture claimed in a brief tabled last night by city council. It will be discussed next week.

Recently council adopetd a resoultion urging the Dominion government to lift the ban on importation, manufacture and sale of margarine in Canada because of the high price of butter.

The brief reads in part: "In Canada a higher proportion of all milk produced goes into butter on the domestic market than in most countries. To interject a major disturbance such as oleo into the butter branch of the dairy industry would throw all of the $40,000,000 industry into confusion. This would affect 500,000 dairy farmers in Canada some 5,000 milk processing plants and their employees

"Such unfavorable disturbance affecting so large a section of our economy would very effectively withdraw purchasing power from our economy. The $400,000,000 dairy industry represents a market for a vast amount of manufactured goods.

"It would place control of the dairy industry in Canada in the hands of a very few companies controlled outside Canada who in the final analysis control the world's edible oil supply..."

building.

Rouse Tenants

Mr. Davis sounded the general alarm while Mayor Gibson and Mr. Wade aroused tenants on the second floor. The Wolfe family fled in their night attire, saving some furniture but breaking most of their chinaware. Mr. and Mrs. John Read and three children escaped uninjured but lost all their belongings.

Ironically, the annual meeting of the Elmira fire department wound up just before the fire broke out. Two new men, Cecil Saddler and Cletus Cole, found themselves garbed in firemen's regalia and handed a hose within an hour of their appointments.

Shortly after 5 a.m. Mrs. C. Hoffer, answering the fire department's emergency telephone, said the fire in three three-storey buildings from the corner along Arthur street seemed to be held, although showers of sparks flew through the glassless windows.

Shortly before, the floors collapsed in a roaring mass of flames as firemen poured tons of water into the blaze and other volunteers worked feverishly along nearby roofs dousing sparks that threatened to spread the fire.

No one was injured and occupants of apartments above the first-floor stores in the buildings were able to escape in plenty of time as the fire worked from the basement.

Save Furniture

The slow spread of the flames enabled occupants to rush most of their furniture into the street and then move it out of danger as some 500 spectators at the height of the fire lent willing hands.

At least 12 persons were rendered homeless by the blaze. Although official estimates of the damage were lacking, firemen judged it would be at least $100,000.

Thick smoke hampered firemen in their search for the source of the blaze.

Power Shortage Blamed On Pact Delay

TORONTO, Jan. 6 — (CP). — N. O. Hipel, president of the Ontario Liberal Association, said last night the provincial power shortage was caused by Premier Drew's "delay" in putting into effect the Ontario-Quebec Hydro agreements signed in 1943.

"I suggest that Mr. Drew did not want to acknowledge the merits of the sound business agreement made by the (Ontario Hydro-Electric Power) Commission and the Liberal Government of that time," Mr. Hipel said in an address prepared for broadcast over station CJBC.

He said the Premier was quoted as saying in an address in London, Ont., last November 15 that "any shortage existing today rests squarely on the shoulders of the (Liberal) Government" and that the present Progressive - Conservative Government "will not accept any responsibility for the inactivity of the Hepburn regime."

Mr. Drew had said the former Liberal Government "cancelled Hydro contracts which would have given more power to the province."

Mr. Hipel continued: "Mr. Drew deliberately omitted to tell his supporters that new agreements were made. These were made at lower prices for horsepower, thus saving many millions of dollars for the people of Ontario."

Opposed Bill.

Before the agreements were ratified by the Legislature in February, 1943, "the Conservative Opposition led by Mr. Drew and Mr. (George H.) Challies, the present vice-chairman of the Commission, definitely opposed the Bill at every stage and voted against it on a recorded vote," said Mr. Hipel.

"Before the Bill was finally passed, Mr. Drew himself stated that if and when he formed a Government he wolud refuse to carry out the agreements.

"Unfortunately for the people of this province, a few months later Mr. Drew did form a government and did nothing at this time to either ratify or cancel the new agreements to develop power on the Ottawa River."

In November, 1945, Mr. Drew had announced an Ontario-Quebec agreements "to start immediately the development of the power sites on the upper Ottawa." When asked in the Legislature in February, 1946, if there had been any change in the agreements from those of 1942 he had replied: "No."

Davis Wins Reeveship In North Hastings

BANCROFT, Jan. 6 (ENS). — A tie vote for a township council seat highlighted the civic elections at Bangor, Wicklow and McClure townships yesterday. Ray Pritchard gained the decision when the vote was broken by William Carswell, township clerk. Pritchard and Vern Mayhew had each polled 68 votes.

W. J. Davis won over Joseph Musclow in the contest for reeve of the townships with 163 to 81. Heading the polls in the seven-way race for the four council seats was Gideon Jessup with 117 votes. Elmer Frantz received 111 and George Foyle 93. Unsuccessful candidates were Albert Jenkins with 60 and Frank Linke with 57.

School board trustees are George Steel (81 votes), H. Bourlonyette (71), R. A. Davis (68). Ernie Nieman (68). Defeated were Ed Foster (67), and Aben Russett (28).

In Dungannon township, the reeveship was the only contested post. R. T. Adams was returned with 191 against 117 for his opponent, Oscar White.

Millbrook Plans To Form New Lions Club

With District Governor Gord Belyea and District Secretary Bruce Malcolm in attendance, some 22 Millbrook guests decided to form a local Lions Club branch at the fortnightly meeting of the Peterborough Lions Club held at the Kawartha Club Monday night.

After a slate from the nominating committee had been proposed, the prospective Lions from Millbrook elected this list of officers: Gordon Powell, president; Gord Baker, 1st vice-president; Dr. M. H. Hobbs, 2nd vice-president; Ron Palmer, 3rd vice-president; Percy Hamilton, secretary; Howard Collins, treasurer; Homer Oulette, Lion tamer; Ralph Adair, tail twister.

Election of four directors will be left till the next meeting of the Millbrook members.

It was decided that a charter meeting would be held Feb. 5 at the Kawartha Club to make them an official branch of the Lions Club. The Peterborough club would be the sponsoring branch.

In an address specially designed for the would-be Lions, District Secretary Bruce Malcolm gave a resume of the club's history, outlook and ethics. He reviewed it from the time of founding and pointed out that since 1932 only two of 176 clubs founded had proved unsuccessful.

He said that the club was organized on a democratic basis whereby work was done through a series of committees, not through a "12-man club" consisting of the executive imposing its will. And he said that the organization received its vigor by working through the membership and taking its ideas and policy from the main body; not by passively accepting every suggestion of the executive. This was advanced as one reason for the popular growth of the Lions Club.

Reading over the code of ethics he asked those contemplating membership to consider it carefully and try to abide by it. Admitting that his was a counsel of perfection, he asked them to strive hard nevertheless, and he said they would make friends by doing so.

Mr. Malcolm told how the club had grown, and stated that some 6,500 branches had enrolled from 335,000 to 340,000 members. But often clubs of from 200 to 300 members were more effective and generally better than larger clubs in the big cities, he pointed out.

It was not a case of "what we can get out of this association, but what we can put into it," he said. And he claimed that the justification for the existence of service clubs was that we should "do unto others as we would be done by." Paraphrasing this, he added: "Do other to others than to just chose the mighty dollar."

District Secretary Malcolm drew the name of Mac McIntosh as winner of the mighty raffle.

District Governor Gordon Belyea presented past - president Doug Anderson with a badge as token of faithful service in the club.

Sitting at the head table were: Ron McGee, secretary; Gord Powell, Millbrook, president; Bruce Malcolm, district secretary; Pat Scollard, president; Gord Belyea, district governor; Stan Darling, vice-president; and Doug Anderson, past president.

Guests of the evening included: J. B. Stratton, Hamilton; R. White, Peterborough; G. H. Hutchison, Peterborough; Chris Parr, Toronto; J. S. Henry Hare, E. S. Browne, Peterborough, and B. Reid, Peterborough.

Millbrook party consisted of: M. Weidman, H. Crowley, H. Oulette, P. Stinson, J. Stinson, A. Payne, P. Hamilton, R. Gibbs, W. McCammus, Howard Collins, Wm. O'Brien, Ron Palmer, Gord Baker, Reg. Gibbs, Rev. C. M. MacLean, F. Lowrey, H. Bigelow, Dr. M. H. Hobbs, Gord Powell, S. Snelgrove, Herb Kerr, R. Adair.

The regular meeting adjourned early to allow the Millbrook guests to elect their officers.

Whitby Mayor Asks More Taxes

WHITBY, Jan. 6.—Mayor William Davidson suggested today that Whitby, in common with other interested municipalities, should do everything possible to have federal, provincial and county buildings within the town limits made subject to municipal taxation. Outlining a 15-point program to the inaugural session of the 1948 town council, Mayor Davidson stated that 39 per cent. of property within the town is at present non-taxable.

Included in this estimate are the county jail and courthouse and the Ontario Mental Hospital. Reeve Andrew Muir made a further suggestion that the Ontario Ladies' College, private school for girls, owned by the United Church of Canada, should also come under local assessment.

Mayor Davidson also predicted that "new industrial development should provide at least $1,000,000 additional assessment, resulting in a $30,000 tax gain for the town in 1948." In this connection, he urged implementation of his suggestion that the town should negotiate for construction of 100 new low-cost homes.

Hijacked By United States Army Ex-British Seaman Tours Country

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 — (AP).— The New York Daily News said to-day that a 23-year-old former British seaman, a native of Glasgow, Scotland, with relatives in Niagara Falls, Ont., was 'hustled' into the United States Army at Southampton, England, and "shipped home" to the United States some six months later after a strange odyssey involving an army court-martial, imprisonment—and military benefits and decorations.

The News published a picture of the Scot, identified by the newspaper in a copyrighted story as Alastair Nicholson, "conferring" in Niagara Falls with his aunts, Mrs. Peter Gordon and Mrs. Kenneth McLeod.

The army adventures of Nicholson started in a Southampton restaurant in the summer of 1946 "because Americans have it in their heads that no Britisher drinks coffee," the account related.

When Nicholson ordered a cup of coffee in the Southampton restaurant, the story said, he aroused the curiosity of an American Army officer, sitting next to him.

After a conversation concerning the comparative beverage tastes of Americans and Englishmen, the story quoted the American officer as saying to Nicholson:

"You must be an American — no Englishman would order coffee. You must be an American seaman who has jumped ship."

"In no time at all," the News quoted Nicholson as saying "Four MP's pulled up in jeeps," handcuffed the Scot, and "hustled" him off to "Hut City, an American camp nearby."

Sure He Was Deserter.

There, "they finally decided I must be a deserter from the American Army. They wouldn't believe I was British," and pointed out that I had no British accent."

After grilling by the American military authorities, the story added, Nicholson "gave up in despair," and said: "All right. I'm an American and a member of the Army."

At Paris, the News said, Nicholson "was tried by a special court-martial for violating the 96th Article of War, for being in Southampton without proper written authorization."

The Scot was sentenced to three months and a $99 fine, the story said, and eventually was released and "shipped home" to the United States through Bremerhaven, Germany, arriving in New York City September 21, 1946.

On the following December 9, the story continued, Nicholson, who gave the name of Fred P. Bast at the time he "entered" the US Army was released from the Army at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

The News said Nicholson to date has received the following amounts from the US Army: $1,257.31 back pay; $300 mustering-out pay; $14.50 travel pay; $920 service men's readjustment allowance; total, $2,496.81.

Sees Trouble.

The News quoted Nicholson as saying that he expects to "be in lots of trouble" with the authorities. According to the story, he has been touring the United States on the money received. He said he surrendered to a newspaper first because he feared a cover-up of the Army's part in "impressing" him into the service through their methods in Southampton.

Nicholson was quoted adding: "They might send me to prison, where I might be buried for years. I realized my story sounded so fantastic that no official would believe me. I would like a chance to pay the government back the money and live in this wonderful country, or else go to Canada, where I have many relatives in Niagara Falls, Ont."

The News said it had "verified in this country and the British Isles most of the details in the amazing story of official blundering and army red tape that Nicholson tells." The paper did not give the Scot's present whereabouts.

However, mathematicians at the University of Chicago said he didn't follow all the rules laid down by the ancient Greek geometrician Euclid—who said it couldn't be done.

Decide Friday About Warrants

TORONTO, Jan. 6 — CP) — Legal argument here Friday may decide whether magazine publisher Jacke Cooke of Toronto and newspaper man Harold Dingman of Ottawa, author of a New Liberty magazine article entitled "Babies For Export," can be arrested on Alberta warrants which charge them with conspiracy to publish a defamatory libel.

The article complained of criticized child adoption practices of Alberta's Social Credit government. Its publication Dec. 27 led Alberta authorities to send RCMP officers here with warrants they cannot use until an Ontario magistrate signs them.

The hearing Friday at Osgoode Hall, home of Ontario's Supreme Court, will decide whether the warrants are to be signed in Ontario. If the decision of the specially-appointed judge is against signing, the federal police will go back to Edmonton empty-handed.

But if the Supreme Court judge rules for signing, Cooke and Dingman may be arrested. Cooke is said to be in Buffalo on business and Dingman is covering the United Nations Security Council in New York.

A decision either way can be appealed.

Winner Of VC Enters Ministry

WELLINGTON, NZ, Jan. 6 — (CP). — Winner of the Victoria Cross for outstanding gallantry in the Western Desert during the Second World War, Keith Elliott of Wellington has been ordained as a clergyman of the Church of England. Although several clergymen have been awarded the famed decoration in the past, it is believed there is only one previous instance of a VC entering the Church after winning the award.

As a sergeant, Elliott was serving with a battalion which was surrounded on three sides at Ruweizat Ridge in September, 1942. In spite of this Elliot led his platoon in an attack and captured 130 prisoners. Though badly wounded in four places, Elliot refused to leave his men until he had re-formed them and handed over the prisoners. The citation referred to his quick grasp of a difficult situation, his great personal courage, and his undoubted leadership, He was awarded a commission in the field.

After the war Elliot returned to his farm, but after some time there he decided to study for the church and will shortly be made a curate in the Palmerston North district.

ATOM TEST ISLE ORDERED "FENCED IN"—Through the year of 1948, the Atomic Energy commission in Washington warns that "hazards will exist" in the Eniwetok Atoll area where new A-bomb tests are to be staged. A huge danger zone around this south Pacific isle has been officially announced. Above is shown "Shanty Town," along the shores of Aomon Island, on Eniwetok, Marshall Islands. Vegetation on the islands is sparse and rainfall practically non-existent. There are some 145 natives in the bomb-experiment zone. A thick curtain of secrecy surrounds developments in the military use of atomic energy.

Indians Making Headway On Flood Claims

BRANTFORD, Jan. 6 (CP). — Headway in a $1,250,000 claim was seen by Six Nations Indians today as two of their officials left for Ottawa for a government hearing scheduled to open Jan. 7.

In the claim, pressed since 1860, the Indians ask compensation for lands flooded when a canal was built between the Grand and Welland rivers and repayment of trust funds they assert were invested without their consent in stock of the Grand River Navigation Company.

As chief councillor Leonard Staats and William Powless, secretary of the Indian council, left for Ottawa last night, Powless remarked: "This is the furthest we have been able to get with it. We are confident the Ottawa hearing will result favorably for us."

5,000 Indians

The Six Nations number about 5,000 Mohawks, Tuscaroras, Oneidas, Senecas, Onondagas and Cayugas, most of them living on the reserve near here.

The statement of claim says the amount invested in the Grand River Navigation Company stock "absolutely without any sanction," was $160,000. They want this back plus interest amounting to roughly $1,000,000. The company collapsed when the railroads captured its business.

The Indians declare that Joseph Brant, their chief warrior in the 1830s when the canal was built, exceeded his authority when he granted 369 acres of land to the navigation company. They want some restitution for that, too. lastly, they want payment for 1,836 acres flooded near Dunnville by the feeder canal connecting the Grand and Welland rivers.

They assert that the land flooded and the land the navigation company operated over was granted to them by the Haldimand Treaty of 1784 which was signed by "two sovereign states" —the Six Nations and Great Britain.

Tear Gas Used By Guards To Quell Prison Rioting

WINNIPEG, Jan. 6 — (CP). — Guards at Headingley provincial jail were disclosed today to have used tear gas to quell a disturbance last Friday—second outbreak in the week—and Attorney-General J. O. McLenaghen said one prisoner was injured slightly.

The attorney-general said the 150 prisoners gathered in the jail power house and remained there for several hours instead of going out on work parties. Then they returned to the main jail but refused to go to their cells.

Mr. McLenaghen's statement, which covered both disturbances, said the "recalcitrant" prisoners attempted to leave the institution by breaking down the back door. Guards used tear gas to restore order and prevent damage to the institution" and "succeeded in getting the prisoners to their cells."

Only damage was the breaking of a number of windows. One prisoner was injured in putting his fist through a window, Mr. McClenaghen said. Some Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers were called, but were not needed.

Jail Governor E. G. Weekes reported some prisoners refused to do outside work last Wednesday because of the cold. The governor said that the trouble was soon quelled and the men went about their work after donning heavy clothing.

Mr. McClenaghen said unrest could be blamed on several recalcitrant and hardened prisoners intent on fomenting trouble. He added that "All necessary steps are being taken to insure that order will be maintained."

The attorney-general said the prisoners had made the following complaints to Inspector of Jails D C. M. Kyle following the first trouble:

An insufficient variety in meals; not enough sugar at meals; no cocoa and biscuits in the evenings before going to bed; reduction of remission through illness; that they were being deprived of remission by guards.

The attorney-general added that from his knowledge of the conduct of the institution, the complaints "are without foundation."

Fire Dept. Rescues Lad Locked In Room

OSHAWA, Jan. 6 — It's all in the day's work to members of the Oshawa Fire Department. Today they were summoned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Branton, 75 Elgin St. W., to free 4-year-old Richard Branton, who was locked in his sister's bedroom for half an hour.

The little boy had been playing with toys when he discovered the key in a drawer and managed to turn it in the lock. He was able to get the key out, but a button jammed into the key-hole didn't work so well. His mother became alarmed by his shouts and when efforts to pry the door open failed, the Oshawa Fire Department was summoned. With the aid of a skeleton key Richard was soon at large again.

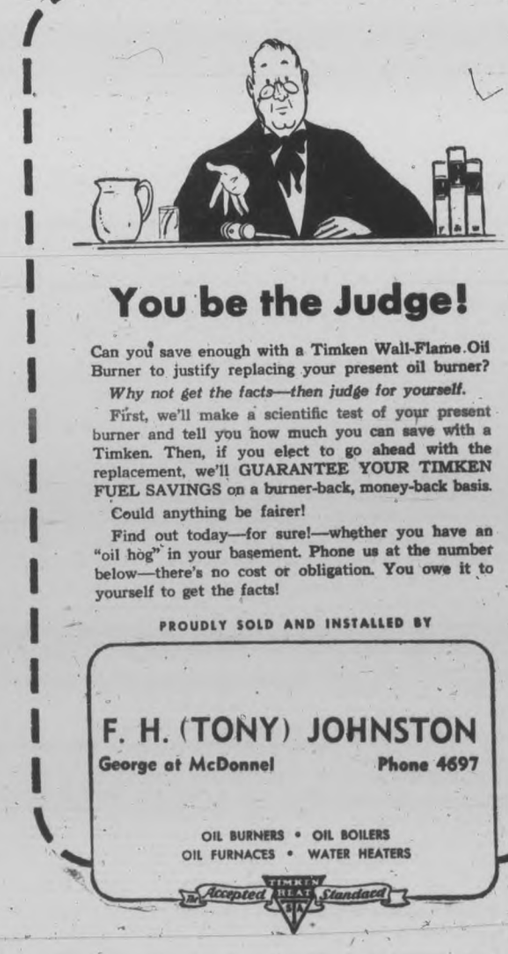
Lindsay Voters Re-Elect Charles Lamb

LINDSAY, Jan. 6 — (ENS).— Charles Lamb was Monday returned as Mayor for the seventh consecutive year. His opponent, the 1947 Warden of Victoria County, Richard Butler, trailed by 536 votes. Fifty-seven per cent of total vote was cast. J. M. Nesbitt was elected Deputy-Reeve, defeating L. T. Braunton by a majority of 137 votes. Reeve H. H. McFadden was elected by acclamation.

Several men contested the six seats in Council with James C. Kingsborough, Frank Speer, C. E. Ferguson, Lloyd Burrows, G. K. Garbig, and Vincent Cote being elected. Harry Peirce made his fourth straight unsuccessful start.

J. G. Baldwin, A. T. Claxton, and H. S. Johnston sought the two vacancies in the Board of Hydro Commissioners. Mr. Johnston, a member of last year's board, was not re-elected.

The voters strongly supported the by-law authorizing the adoption of the Public Parks Act and the property owners favored the installation of artificial ice in the community arena.



Returning Officer W. R. Allely said the vote was the largest since 1936 when 2,985 ballots were cast. The total yesterday was 2,832, with approximately 5,000 eligible voters.

The number of votes received by each candidate:

For Mayor—Charles Lamb 1,684, Richard Butler 1,148. For Deputy-Reeve— John Nesbitt 1,347, Leslie Braunton 1,210. For Council — James Kingsborough 2,001, Frank Speer 1,487, Lloyd Burrows 1,442, Charles Ferguson 1,399, Kenneth Garbig 1,397, Vincent Cote 1,343, Harry Peirce 1,108. For Hydro Commissioners — George Baldwin 2,090, A. T. Claxton 1,267, Harry Johnston 988. The Parks by-law — Yes 1,907, No. 630. The artificial ice question — Yes 785, No 369.

Voters had six ballots to mark and this coupled with the heavy voting made the tabulating by the deputy returning officers a lengthy job. Polls closed at 5:00 p.m., and it was not until shortly before 10:30 that last returns were posted. The ballot boxes were not large enough to accommodate all ballots cast in two polling booths and emergency ones had to be used. The boxes were bread boxes used in the 1936 election when the same difficulty was encountered.

The inaugural meeting of the new Council will be held Monday morning, January 12.

Mr. Attlee Attacks Communism

Speaking on the occasion of his birthday, last Saturday, the Prime Minister of Great Britain, Mr. Clement Attlee, made a vigorous and pointed attack on the new imperialism of Russia. Russia's assault on the western world, he said, was ideological, economic and strategic, and was calculated to extend Russian absolutism, but not the communism of Karl Marx, or of any of the heroes of the Russian Revolution. To sum up Mr. Attlee's address in a popular phrase, he said that Russia was simply a country "on the make" and that its supposed concern for the masses was all eyewash.

• • •

Of course, many millions of people came to this conclusion long ago, but it is very important that the prime minister of the senior state in the British Commonwealth of Nations has said it publicly. "Today in Eastern Europe", said Mr. Attlee, "the Communist party, while overthrowing an economic tyranny of landlordism and capitalism, has renounced the doctrines of individual freedom and political democracy and rejected the whole spiritual heritage of western Europe". Now this is partly true, but Mr. Attlee has not carried his line of reasoning quite as far as we could wish. Russia overthrew one tyranny of landlordism and capitalism—that of the Russian aristocracy — and substituted another economic tyranny for it—that of the U.S.S.R. The plain fact of history is that all absolute governments are tyrannous. We sometimes wonder if Mr. Attlee knows how many arguments in favour of an absolute socialist government in Britain are contained in the writings of his political colleague, Professor Laski.

• • •

We cannot think, offhand, of a single revolution in history, of any importance, which did not substitute one tyranny for another. The overthrow of Charles I brought in its train the tyranny of Cromwell; the French Revolution deposed Louis XVI and shortly put in his place the tyrant Napoleon; the Russian Revolution overthrew the weak tyranny of the Czar in favour of the present strong tyranny of Stalin and his colleagues. Revolutions do not improve bad conditions—they merely change them: absolute power is always used to oppress the masses. These are the simplest maxims of history, and what we see happening in Russia should not surprise anyone. It should, however, warn us to take very good care that nothing of the sort happens here.

High Prices And New Food Contracts With Britain

Bacon at 82-85 cents a pound? Pork up 15 cents a pound, butter going up, beef going up, cheese going up, eggs going up. We could face without despair increased prices of caviare or toy trains. Those are not essential. But most people need meat and cheese, and must have eggs. A psalmist or a G.B. Shaw might get along on a vegetable diet, but now even a vegetarian's pocketbook feels the pinch.

• • •

Why are prices rising? The Canadian economy is closely linked with the United States', and as long as American prices climb ours will climb. It is also apparent that the large export of goods and foodstuffs from Canada and the United States to Britain and Europe creates here and in the United States a "buyers' market". Goods are easily sold and there may even be a shortage of some of them. So prices in a free market rise.

• • •

The higher rates now to be paid under the new food contracts with Britain are being blamed for threatened sharp rises in meat and dairy products. However, before the new rates were announced, prices were higher than the domestic market warranted, because producers and distributors anticipated higher rates. The prices now and last week were already as high as or higher than the new British rates. But pork (to take one example) is to sell at fifteen cents more a pound, according to report. Why? The new British price is increased by only 7 cents.

• • •

The industry has a notion—which it is able to act upon when it sets its own prices — that it does not make any money out of the export to Britain, and that even at the new rates, it will probably lose money. It must therefore, according to its reckoning, make good the losses by increasing domestic prices. In other words, we are to pay 82 cents for a pound of bacon which can be bought in Britain for about 50 cents (if you have ration coupons).

• • •

That kind of bacon price seems to be capable of producing a lot of gravy for somebody—or good rich lard for distributors' and producers' money pots. It is invidious to select one industry or one group of people as targets and shout "profiteer!" Everybody who has anything to sell these days, from primary producers to shop keepers, seems to be grasping for big profits while the markets are good. They close their eyes to the economic clouds and make hay while the sun shines.

• • •

Canadian business is in a lush condition. The emergency import ban has ended outside competition for many firms (even the producers of lettuce). The agricultural industry has a guaranteed market in Britain for the next two years—at good prices. The excess profits tax has been abolished. That is a real plum. For the last eight years, Canadian firms have been able to make adequate profits. Now the money which the government used to collect in the excess profits tax stays with the companies. Will they reduce their prices?

• • •

As the consumers face a lower standard of living, because they cannot afford bacon and butter and new suits and fresh vegetables and cars, they have a right to squawk when prices arbitrarily rise and further increases are smugly prophesied.

Women In The Teaching Profession

A curious fact is made plain by a recent report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on teachers' salaries, and it is this: Canadian secondary schools now tend to have more men teachers than women teachers. Unless we are greatly mistaken, this is contrary to popular belief. But here are figures from eight Canadian cities which may be considered representative:

Toronto, 558 men and 244 women; Hamilton, 149 men and 73 women; Ottawa, 125 men and 42 women; Regina, 75 men and 35 women; Saskatoon, 85 men and 24 women; Edmonton, 64 men and 38 women; Calgary, 66 men and 39 women; Vancouver, 216 men and 91 women.

In the P.C.V.S. there are more men teachers now than there have been in twenty years, and the proportion of men to women is about fifty-fifty.

We do not attach much importance to these figures. The gift for teaching has nothing to do with masculinity or femininity; it is an ability to arouse curiosity, and to make learning seem like play and not like work; it is an ability to illuminate the path to self-knowledge. As disciplinarians men may have some advantages over women, but in well-conducted schools acute problems of discipline do not often arise. We have commented on this matter merely because the general belief is that there are more women teachers than men in Canada, and it seems that this condition is changing in our secondary schools.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The federal Department of Agriculture is taking about reimposing price ceilings on butter. That smells as if Ottawa and the dairy industry were trying to butter-up the people who want the ban on margarine lifted.

Van Meegeren is dead. Did he die of a guilty conscience, he the master forger, the great modern Dutch artist who created Rembrandts and Vermeers so fine that the experts were deceived? Can it not be said that his death so soon after his trial proves that crime does not pay?

On Sunday Burma became an independent republic outside the Commonwealth. When the formal grant of independence was made on December 11th to both Burma and Ceylon, Ceylon chose to remain within the British family of nations with a kind of Dominion status. We regret that Burma did not choose a similar political future.

The Examiner's London Letter

By J. D. CAMBRIDGE

CHRISTMAS Day was bright and clear in the London district, except for an unseasonable hail and lightning storm late in the afternoon. Fortunately it was late enough so that outside activities could be enjoyed in the sunlight. Boxing Day is also a general holiday, and again the people of London were favoured with a sunny if somewhat wintry day. The BBC announced that 650,000 persons attended the regular league football and soccer matches, which gives you some idea of the popularity of these games. While many people went out to cheer their favourite teams, many more stayed home and enjoyed the quieter delights of the family circle, and this of course particularly so on Christmas Day.

❖ ❖ ❖

AN event of the week was the presentation of an enormous Christmas tree from the people of Norway. This tree has been set up in Trafalgar Square, and large crowds have been swarming about it nightly, admiring the bright coloured lights. Unlike Canada, it does not seem to be the custom here for trees outside the house to be lit up at Christmas time, so the tree in Trafalgar Square has a uniqueness it would not have to Canadian eyes. Even indoors the trees are not always lit up, or if so, candles are frequently used. Perhaps many "Examiner" readers will remember when this was also common in Canada, but in my lifetime at least I cannot recall Christmas trees lit by candles in my own or friends' homes.

THE holiday season in London would be considered incomplete without the "Pantomimes",—stage presentations of the old traditional tales, and running at present are more than thirty, including such old standbys as Cinderella, Jack and the Beanstalk, Alice Through the Looking Glass, Treasure Island, Peter Pan, and the Wizard of Oz. My dictionary defines pantomime as "a dumb representation", in which case the origins of the name for these plays are hard to guess, as they are anything but mute. Semi-musical productions, they traditionally have a Prince Charming, played by a girl, and an old witch, played by a man. Elaborately staged, they are presumably intended for children, but it is my observation that the children over 40 are those who enjoy them the most, which is no doubt as it should be, as the young have too much anyway. It is a pleasing tradition that could well be introduced into Canada.

This week I have been able to attend two art exhibitions that are currently showing in London; the Tate Gallery's exhibition of the paintings and sketches of Van Gogh, and the Royal Academy's "Art of India & Pakistan". These have been heralded as the most complete of their type ever seen here, and have been drawing large crowds. In fact one afternoon they actually had a queue waiting to get into the Tate Gallery, which is surely the ultimate of queuing.

THE "Art of India and Pakistan" is very comprehensive, covering as it does sculpture, painting, textiles, embroidery, ivory carving, and jewellry from the 10th century B.C. until the present. Nearly fourteen hundred items are displayed altogether. Indian art is so different from the western concept that the two cannot possibly be judged on the same basis. Meticulous care and formalized style are very evident throughout. Having a complete ignorance of Indian history, many allusions in the exhibits were quite above my head. Very diverting were the other visitors, especially elderly clerics and their wives, who consulted their guidebooks with a worried air, not quite sure of the proper response to the challenge of the East. Many newspapers have remarked on the significance of the fact that only after British rule has ended in India was there enough interest to secure such an exhibition for Britain.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE New Year arrived quietly. In London there was some street celebrations, but in most places the pealing of the church bells at midnight was the only indication that anything unusual was taking place. The BBC extended their operations until midnight on both their main networks (they usually close down at 11 p.m.) and for the last hour carried a special New Year's Eve drama on one programme, and on the other dance music from Scotland followed by a watch-night service from St. Paul's Cathedral. Both networks promptly closed down at 12.05. Only in the broadcast from Scotland was there anything familiar to the Canadian ear; noisy crowds singing Auld Lang Syne with the usual screams of laughter and sounds of merriment in the background. The "Times" reported that there were a number of private parties complete with pipers, in the Scottish tradition, and all the theatres and night clubs were heavily reserved. Several thousand persons gathered outside of St. Paul's at midnight to sing hymns, and many others were in Trafalgar and Piccadilly. To the average person however it was just another evening, and all work goes on today as usual. Only in Scotland does the common person partake in full-scale celebrations, so no doubt many persons there are suffering from those New Year's Day indispositions that are only too well known in Canada. In any event, in the little town where we live the authorities thought so little of the occasion that they turned the street lights off as usual at 11.30 p.m.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE long expected action on the Direction-of-Labour Act began on the 1st of January with a notice of compulsory registration of certain occupational groups; those listed as street traders, night club workers, race track employees, and all those not employed 30 hours per week for the last two months. The first category would not be important in Canada; I cannot ever recall seeing a street trader in Peterborough. Here however they are to be seen in thousands, wheeling their barrows about the streets, usually selling fresh fruits and vegetables, but frequently almost anything you would expect to find in a store. I have even seen a street trader selling sets of chinaware. Also listed as street traders are such as those who take candid photos of passers-by, newspaper boys, shoeshine boys (in London the "boys" usually appear about 70 years old), in fact nearly everyone who does not operate in a regular private place of business. It has always puzzled me that street traders are permitted; paying neither rent nor taxes, they would seem to have a most unfair advantage over regular merchants, and their barrows frequently block the streets to a considerable extent, creating an unnecessary traffic hazard. In this land of tradition they probably are the descendents of the days when farmers' markets were held in London, and have street rights accordingly. I repeat, there are many thousands of them in the London area.

❖ ❖ ❖

ONE organization that will be glad to see the end of the holiday season is the post office. The heaviest mail ever known occurred this year, which is remarkable, considering how little was offered for sale that was suitable for presents. No matter how heavy the taxes, presents continue to be given and Christmas cards sent. The sending of Christmas cards is as widespread here as in Peterborough, although they differ somewhat in design and style. It is very fashionable, in personal cards, to have on them the family coat-of-arms, and views of old English villages and scenes are popular. Here the post office activities are much broader than in Canada. Not only is mail delivered to every house in the land, town or country, but they operate a savings bank that is very popular, as you can deposit or withdraw money on demand at any post office in the country; all pensions are paid at the local post office, as are family allowances. As never before, Christmas parcels poured into the country from abroad, gifts of food by the million. Our own experience with all these parcels was a bit of a letdown; 5 parcels were delivered on Christmas Day at our house, but every one turned out to be for the Canadians who lived here before ourselves.

ANOTHER STOP-GAP?

Letters To The Editor

TROUBLE FOR THE COUNCIL AND CENTRE COMMITTEE

Sir: So the Memorial Centre is stalled again, and apparently really stuck in the mud this time.

In a recent Examiner news article reference was made to the east side of Burnham street, between Hunter and Robinson streets as a possible site. I went over and looked at this spot, and there is certainly plenty of room there. Now, all that is required for the city to expropriate the properties, and the first four houses south of Hunter on the east side of Burnham, pay the price as set by the arbitrator and get going.

They won't run into any quicksand there, the site is such that the Centre will stand out beautifully as a monument as well as a centre for sport and cultural activities. If the building is put 50 feet back from the street, a nice job of landscaping can be done at the front. Then again, because it is a Memorial Centre and not just an ice arena, it ties in with all the other sports which are played at Riverside, the Ashburnham Bowl, the Lions playground, and on the Quaker Oats playground. The property is high and dry, and can be seen from Hunter street and from the west side of the river.

Why worry about parking or traffic? The people who built Maple Leaf Gardens didn't worry about where patrons would park or what means of transportation they would employ.

Burnham street could be widened by eight feet as far south as Robinson without any apparent difficulty. Parking could be prohibited on both sides of the street. Buses and cars could discharge their passengers and move along. And if people persist in this parking argument, there is the property north of the bridge owned by the Quaker Oats, the roads leading into Riverside and the Lions playground, and a big space at the rear of the proposed building, all of which could be used for parking cars.

The Centre should have been built in Ashburnham in the first place; the first stories written about it said it would be located there.

Downtown traffic conditions are such that eventually the city will have to build a vehicular bridge across the river from Point St. Charles to Burnham's Point within the next ten years anyway, and this move would make the Centre even more accessible to people living in the south end of Peterborough.

I do not own any property in this city, so I have no ulterior motive for suggesting this site, but I did travel with minor hockey teams to Lindsay, Omemee, and Lakefield last winter, and it wasn't fun getting home at two in the morning, when one had to be at work the next day. The parents of these young people are no longer disappointed. They are getting ugly, and if something is not done soon, I'm afraid public opinion will cause the City Council and the members of the Memorial Centre committee a lot of unpleasantness that nobody wants.

Yours sincerely,
"I'd Like Some Action".

CENTRE NOT NEEDED

Sir: Re civic pensions: Have these civic employees who are getting a pension been paying into a pension fund all the years they have been getting a good salary or is the council paying it out of their own pockets? If so, O.K., but the taxpayer has no call to be taxed. We would like to ask the council did the city get $10,000 worth out of zoning the city a year ago. The council needs to let all other construction work alone for some time and speed up the new Civic Hospital; it is the most needed thing at present.

The Community Centre is not needed at present. The council needs to be a little more careful about the taxpayers' money. It is about time we would have a say in where it is going.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Job spake, and said, Let the day perish wherein I was born, and the night in which it was said, There is a man child conceived. (Job 3: 2, 3.)

❖ ❖ ❖

Every man is brutish by his knowledge; every founder is confounded by the graven image.... They are vanity, the work of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish. The portion of Jacob is not like them; for he is the former of all things: and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts in his name. (Jer. 51: 17, 18, 19.)

❖ ❖ ❖

Let Israel rejoice in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their King.... For the Lord taketh pleasure in his people. (Ps. 149: 2, 4.)

A BRITISH OPINION

Blackwell Wants Gambling Law Rationalized

TORONTO, Jan. 6 — (CP) — Noting that under provisions of the Criminal Code certain gambling is permitted, Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell of Ontario said yesterday that some reasonableness should be given to the laws respecting lotteries and bingos.

"Although I am not advocating any substantive changes in the law in question, they at least should be rationalized and a workable administrative provision established by statute," he told the Canadian Club.

Provisions of the Criminal Code enable agricultural fairs to let concession for gambling, he declared. A municipality is also authorized to permit certain small draws and what are called "occasional" bingos.

"It is extremely difficult for public opinion to understand that inconsistency and the lack of mechanics for administering such laws," he continued. "For example it is difficult to understand why professional engaged in commercialized gambling should have concessions at the Toronto Exhibition while a service club should not be permitted to raffle a car for its charitable objects because the price exceeds $50."

Closer Co-operation

Hope for closer co-operation between federal law makers and provincial law enforcement agencies was expressed by Attorney-General Blackwell.

As long as the Criminal Code of Canada remained unamended by the federal government, provincial police had the duty of enforcing some laws which are unpopular and confusing, he told the Canadian Club of Toronto.

Especially in enforcement of laws dealing with insanity and sex deviation, it was impossible to dispense justice except by collaboration between the dominion and the province.

CBC Now Ready To Enter Television Field

MONTREAL, Jan 6—(CP)—The CBC is all set to enter the television field but the starting signal will have to come from a high level, J. Alphonse Ouimet, assistant chief engineer of the corporation indicated last night.

He explained in an interview that the CBC has been devoting much time to the study of television and that CBC engineers have the necessary know-how and could solve technical problems involved.

From Ottawa it was learned that A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC's board of directors, confirmed Mr. Ouimet's statement. He added that the whole future of television in the Dominion is under study at the moment.

It is up to those who frame the policy to decide on the proper time to start television broadcasts in Canada. Mr. Ouimet said.

"We don't want to have television just for the sake of having television. What we want is a service," he declared.

The financial problems involved in starting a television service are enormous. One station would cost about $250,000 not including studios. Each studio would have to have a few cameras costing $25,000.

Although television is at a high stage of development, Mr. Ouimet said, the public must not expect too much as the image often blurs and cannot yet be compared to the movies.

As far as television is concerned private stations may operate as in radio, although the CBC will recommend private licenses to the Department of Transport as it does in the radio field.

Landlord Fined

Two More Men Plan To Sue The Government

MONTREAL, Jan. 6 — (CP). — The disclosure today that Joseph P. Lalancette, middle-aged insurance man, and Mikhail Magda, 42-year-old handyman, are suing the Canadian Government, brought to five the number of Montrealers who have launched actions in the Exchequer Court as a result of wartime internment.

Saluste Lavery of the firm of Lavery & Guay said Lalancette is seeking $25,000 for loss of earnings, business and a heritage as a result of his eight months' internment.

Magda, a Romanian native who was detained for seven years in Canada, is seeking $42,000.

Previously, it had been announced that Dr. Noel Decarie, dentist; Adrien Arcand, one-time leader of the National Unity Party and G. Romeo Barck, tailor, had launched actions seeking a total of $737,000. All three were interned during the war.

Magdo, a donkeyman, signed aboard a Belgian ship in Lisbon in 1940. After being detained briefly in Gibraltar and Kingston, Jamaica, his ship arrived in Canada where he was brought ashore. He was freed this year, Mr. Lavery said.

At Ottawa, Exchequer Court officials said there is no First Great War precedent for the actions. The cases of Lalancette and Magdo were the first to be filed with the court. There was no indication of when the cases will come up. Those of Decarie, Arcand and Barck have not yet been filed.

Persons cannot sue the government without the government's permission and the normal procedure is for the person to petition the Secretary of State asking such permission. The applications is passed to the Justice Department which issues a fiat if the application is approved. Eventually, the case comes before the Exchequer Court.

Canada Needs Cooperative Spirit Bruce McNevin Tells Rotary

The spirit which inspires co-operation within organized groups of Canada is necessary to ensure the welfare of Canada as a whole, declare Bruce McNevin, former Member of Parliament for Victoria in an address before the Rotary Club here Monday.

Having learned to work together as groups such as unions, co-operatives, teachers' federations and similar bodies, the leaders of such organizations should meet every year or two years to discuss ways and means of promoting the general good. The objective of the smaller units is to obtain a larger share of the national income for its members. If these groups could fully realize the interdependance of all classes of society, there would be "a more abundant living for the citizens of our country," the speaker said.

Using strikes as an example, he said that this "formidable weapon" should be used only after all other avenues of settlement had failed. He stressed the need for a desire on the part of each individual to give one's best possible work to whatever line in which one was engaged.

Would Avoid Striking

"If this feeling were present, he maintained, small groups would not use methods of attaining their own ends which caused stoppage of production." For, as he pointed out, actual production of goods represented the real national income.

In regard to the present economic situation in Canada, Mr. McNevin predicted that 1948 would see the price peak reached. When the time was reached with the "lines of production and consumption come closer," purchasers' resistance will be increased. This may result in forcing out of business some inefficiently management, pointing out that "this period is a good one in which to set our house in order."

"The greatest problem facing this — and every other country — is that of maintaining full employment and a reasonably high level of prosperity in every home."

"Canada is in a good financial position at present," he remarked, commentng that the natonal debt of Canada was much lower proportonately than that if the United States.

Besides the need of unified thinking for the common good, he listed three principal steps to insuring a continued prosperity.

First, it is estimated that $1,500,000 will be required incapital investments in Canada. Taxation rates greatly effect possibilitise of obtaining this.

Second, domestic consumption —dependent upon the internal level of purchasing power — and third, external trade, which affects one-third of Canada's national income, must be "fostered to the highest possible extent."

Mr. McNevin, who represented Victoria for 10 years as federal member, is actively engaged in farming near Lindsay and is a prominent figure in farmers' co-operative and union movements of the district. He was introduced by James Thompson. Thanks of the club were extended by P. J. LaBranche.

Bank Allows Bonds To Level Off

By FORBES RHUDE

TORONTO, Jan. 6 (CP)—Government and corporation bonds took a tumble yesterday when the Bank of Canada withdrew its customary quotations on government securities.

This means that the bank has stopped maintaining the high prices which have been prevailing for government issues, and that they will be allowed, to some extent at least, to level off at their normal market price.

Nevertheless the bank remains in the background as a buyer and seller and, accordingly, a regulatory force. It seems likely that the bonds will continue to sell at a premium for some time to come, but unlikely that they will return to their high figures unless conditions change.

Yesterday they seemed to level off at losses ranging up to $2.50, but dealers were unwilling to predict whether or not they had found a steady value there.

The move was generally interpreted as a step to increase interest rates on money and thus discourage loans which might tend to add to inflationary or high price influences.

Big News

Yesterday's development was big news for big investors, but it also meant considerable to the man or woman who holds a few bonds. It means that his $100 bonds are worth up to $2.50 less, depending on the date of issue, than they were last week, but they still are worth more than he paid if he bought them for $100 when issued.

For instance, if he holds a $100 bond of the ninth Victory Loan, some one last Saturday was bidding $104.37 for it, and he, as represented by all those who wanted to sell, was asking $105.12. At close of business yesterday some one was bidding only $101.75 and he was asking $103.25. Thus the bidder was trying to get his bond $2.62 cheaper than Saturday, but he was being more stubborn and was reducing his price by only $1.97. Somewhere between those figures was what his bond was worth Presumably there will be further fluctuations today.

Of course, the individual wanting to sell a bond doesn't go to the bank and haggle until a price is set. But the price the bank gives is the end result of a lot of haggling between the total of those who wish to sell and the total of those who wish to buy, as carried on through dealers.

Dunton, chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, announced yesterday that the exchange of frequencies by two Toronto stations — the CBC's CJBC and the privately-owned CFRB — will be made next July 1. "Station CJBC will go to the power of a 50 kilowatts on the frequency of 860 kilocycles," he said. "On the same date, station CFRB will move to the frequency of 1010 kilocycles."

Three Retiring Governors Re-appointed To Board

Mr. John R. Marshall, Dr. G. S. Cameron and Mr. J. L. Welsh were re-appointed to the Board of Governors of Peterborough Civic Hospital for three years as the council Monday night continued with details of the municipal organization for 1948.

Appointments to the Board of Health were James Dutton, D. V. Canning and Alderman Grant Miller, the latter replacing ex-Alderman John E. Sullivan.

Mr. Canning is retained as representative of the Board of Education, and Mr. Dutton has been for years chairman of the Board of Health. Their appointments are for the current year.

Welfare Officer A. G. Metheral continues for two years as a member of the county committee for the distribution of charity funds of the Almira Grover Foley estate.

Rev. C. E. Moore of St. George's Anglican Church was named again for three years to the Public Library Board.

Recreation Commission

Accepting the nominations of the Recreation Commission, the council's six appointments to that body were:

Mr. R. J. Bolton, public school principal, three years, succeeding Mr. Robertson Davies, who retired.

Albert E. Borland, three years, replacing Mr. Leo Copp.

Mrs. Richard Whalen, three years, to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Armar Butcher.

William C. Bennett, two years, replacing Mrs. Frank Sullivan, who resigned in consideration of her health.

Dick Ouimet, three years, replacing Eddy Murphy, whose term as substitute for Mr. Bennettt expired.

Eddie Murphy, one year, replacing David Kerr, who resigned his term ending Dec. 31, 1948.

City Clerk Outram explained that these recommendations from the Recreation Commission followed two public meetings to which citizens interested in the Commission and its work were invited.

A resolution by Aldermen Swanston and Armstrong instructed Mr. Outram to write to the retiring members of the Commission conveying to them the council's appreciation of the foundation work they did last year.

"It is regrettable that we are losing the services of those members of the Commission," said Ald. Swanston, "and I think all the members of this council feel that it is too bad they could not have been prevailed upon to continue in office for another year, because I think the second year is going to be just as difficult as the first in getting this community effort established."

Ald. Armstrong said he considered that the Recreation Commission had done an outstanding job. "A dozen or more citizens have volunteered to me very favorable comments about the Commission this last year, and the very least we can do is to see that they get some recognition from this council for what they have done."

NORWOOD, Jan. 6 — (ENS) — Norwood Women's Institute met at the home of the president, Mrs. A. Gill, on Friday. Owing to the inclement weather, road conditions and sickness there were only ten members in attendance. A number of cards and letters of thanks were read from the recipients of the Christmas boxes sent to the sick and shut-ins. Mrs. Fred Gardner gave an interesting reading. Mrs. L. H. Edmunds gave the report of the convention held in Toronto in November.

Final arrangements were made for the euchre party to be held on Friday evening in the King's hotel. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Gardner, Spring street.

Say 100 Rinks To Play At Car Bonspiel

NIPAWIN, Sask., Jan. 6.—(CP).—Eyes fixed on four new automobiles, the major prize, the cream of western Canada's curling might today was converging on Nipawin, Sask., 145 airmiles northeast of Saskatoon, where tomorrow close to 100 rinks begin competing for a total of $23,000 in prizes in the second annual Nipawin bonspiel.

Lured by what is possibly the Dominion's richest sporting event are many greats of the Canadian curling world with Jimmy Welsh, 1947 Dominion champion, in the van. Back for another try is Howard Wood of Winnipeg, last year's winner.

Reported strongly opposed last year by the Saskatchewan Curling Association on grounds that the game was being commercialized, Nipawin's venture this year has received no spoken disapproval. No official censure has been heard.

Denying any connection between their club and commercialization, the sponsors, Nipawin's Curling Club, commented this year's event:

"Our main objective in staging this 'spiel is to raise money for our new rink," said Cliff McDonald, president.

"Secondly, we want to show curlers in our country some of the finest masters of the game in the world. We did that last year and we will again this year."

Four events and a two-group round-robin playoff are scheduled, all rinks to start in event No. 1 until defeated and similarly in No. 2 and 3 to which they are relegated by losses.

Persons reaching the fours in the Nos. 1, 2 and 3 events qualify for the round-robin playoffs leading to the 'spiel's major award of four automobiles.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Tonight's the night the Legionnaires and Petes clash at 8.30 in Omemee, and this one should draw a full house. Legions, with an improved squad, will be trying to crack the Petes' jinx over 'em and take a firmer grip on top spot in the group. Sure to be a swell scrap between classy clubs. Petes' probable lineup with numbers is: Goal, Harding (1); defence, Jopling (11) and Creighton (3); centre, Kingdon (5); wings, Tompkins (7) and F. Mortimer (6); alternates, Garvey (9), Blewett (10), J. Creighton (12), Horton (14), T. Parsons (4), Burton (2) and J. Mortimer (8). Don't pass this one up if you like keen puck action.

* * * * * *

We've been asked why the rivalry betwixt Legionnaires and the Petes. Well, there are various reasons but probably the underlying one is a desire to obtain the top franchise here when, as and if the Memorial Centre becomes a fact. Rather foolish, probably, on the part of both clubs as the top team then may be senior or junior "A', or even minor pro, who knows? However, neither club will back down an inch and when one goes senior "B", the other immediately does, too. There has been some squabbling, too, over players—which is but natural with two senior "B" teams in the same city. That's one for the book, being the only city in the province having such a condition.

* * * * * *

Lack Only Condition

But they've both come up with strong squads—lacking only condition yet, due to no artificial ice here. Which shows there's plenty of high hockey talent in this town when we can supply two teams good enough to hold their own (or a bit better) with single clubs from places like Kingston and Belleville, with two months jump on us in conditioning. Most of the rival local players are good friends off the ice but they play for keeps on it. For instance, Red Creighton and Ron Horton of the Petes, and Mick Magee and Dootch Vitarelli of Legion, played on the same championship lacrosse club the past season. Yeah, it's an odd setup.

* * * * * *

Personally, we have no preference. Fans are generally divided into two camps—and they may be plenty hostile camps ere the season ends. We don't give a hoot which club wins, as long as it makes a good showing in playoffs and playdowns. We have too many friends of long standing on both sides to worry about the outcome of any single contest. Both Legion and Petes are prepared this season to aid the minors as much as possible, and that'll all we ask of the senior hockey teams in Peterborough. And we look for some swell competition betwixt these local teams, and their outside rivals, for the next two months or so.

Some More About Dit

Someone sent us an article from the Sportfolio magazine, a condensation from the Boston Sunday Post. It was headed "Dit Did It", being about Dit Clapper, of course. It intimated that Dit did about everything in hockey during his long career at the game, amateur and pro. A good item, though nothing really new in it, as Dit's hockey history is pretty well known wherever the game is played. In his time, he had his Achilles tendon cut, suffered a crushed cheekbone, two broken toes, one broken finger, a cracked left jawbone, bad separation of his right shoulder, and sundry minor bumps and bruises. Dit says: "If you want to stay in hockey, you can't let yourself go during the off season. Conditioning and keeping in condition means everything."

* * * * * *

Meeting of church hockey team captains and coaches at seven Friday p.m. in the "Y" and all are urged to attend. Also, coaches should phone hockey scores to the secretary at 4264. Couple of the scores weren't sent in last night, so we don't know how St. Andrew's and All Saints Bantams made out, nor Salvation Army No. 1 Seniors and Mark St. S.A. No. 2 took a 7-1 win over George St. Seniors, St. George's Midgets edged St. Paul's 5-4, George St. Midgets beat Murray St. 6-3, St. James Bantams had an 8-5 margin on Park St., and George St. Bantams blanked St. Luke's 3-0. All were reported as clean contests.

On Track And Field

Number of chaps for the past year have been trying to revive interest in track and field activity in Peterborough. They held several small events which turned out successfully and now they're planning to organize into a club. Anyone interested in this sport is requested to be at a YMCA meeting this Thursday eve at 7.30 of the clock. Further info may be had by contacting Al Clark at the "Y" or Jim Flowers at 6834. With the Olympics coming up this year, this should be a good time to put track and field back in the sports spotlight.

Tee to Hack

By HERB MARTIN

The entries are still coming in for the big open bonspiel next week, and it looks as if we will have a fair-sized event. Yesterday's mail brought entries from Gravenhurst, Paris, Cobourg, Lindsay and Lakefield.

Playing up Toronto on Monday at the Granite Club, in the Robertson Trophy, Mrs. Dulmage won her first game but lost the second; Miss Munro lost her first game by a close score. Play continues to-day.

When Mrs. Wood won her game here yesterday afternoon, she maintained the lead in the ladies' schedule. Mrs. G. Green is a close second. In yesterday's games Mrs. Green started off with a big five on the first end, playing against Mrs. Metcalfe. She needed every one of them as Mrs. Metcalfe tied the game up on the ninth end. On the 10th end the umpire had to measure for shot—Mrs. Green getting it. But it was close.

The men must have been right on their toes on Monday night. Look at the scores, particularly in the 9 o'clock draw. Not a one-sided affair—one and two points was the margin. Nice going.

Gord Buck Breaks "Y" Swim Record

Gordon Buck, who is one of the outstanding junior swimmers in Ontario, turned in a splendid effort last night at the YMCA pool to break the tank record of 25 seconds for 40 yards back stroke set by Ted Clarke back in 1939. Buck, who has knocked on the Ontario Championship door several times lately, was clocked at 24.8 seconds. The record was made in winning the YMCA Swimming Club weekly handicap swim in one of the closest races of this season.

Frank Wright, who turned in his fastest time in the semi-finals, was second; Jack Forbes placed third and Ken Currie was fourth in the final. Jack Boorman and John Cusimano broke their best times by over three seconds each to be disqualified in their heats.

During the month of December, John Cusimano ran up a total of 31 points to win the Swimming Club Shield. Gerard Armstrong was runner-up with 29, Hugh Outram had 28 and Jack Boorman earned 26 points.

Don Duncan, Y Boys' Work Secretary, was on hand to present the shield to Cusimano and he urged the club to back up their coach, Gord Minty, and continue the good work done by the club this year.

ROY ROGERS, cowboy star who has never kissed a girl in a movie, kisses Dale Evans, leading lady in several of his horse operas. The occasion was their wedding at the Flying L Ranch in Davis, Oklahoma.

Bottle-Tipping Hockey Fans Beware of Toronto Police

TORONTO, Jan. 6 — (CP) — Bottle-tippling hockey fans who mix booze with boos better beware, Toronto's anti-bootlegging police squad announced today.

Next to ticket-scalpers they are causing Sergeant of Detectives Harry Sutton and his men plenty of concern.

This is his warning: "We are determined to stamp out public drinking at hockey games. We made a drive last year and we will make another this year.

Persons found drinking in the washrooms or on stairways at next week's Toronto-Chicago game will be arrested, he added. And that goes for women who pack fire-water to Canada's largest puck-house.

Not Flattering

MOSCOW, Jan. 6 — (Reuters). — Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime prime minister, is portrayed in the new Russian play "Great Days" as offering during his visit to Moscow in 1942 to send British troops in defence of the Russian oil town of Baku at the time when the German army was advancing on Stalingrad. The role of Churchill is played by actor K. V. Aleixiev and is presented as rather colorless, scheming and wily.

Owen Sound Mercurys Hit Stride In OHA Group

By The Canadian Press

A strong rally by the much-improved Owen Sound Mercurys stood out today as the Ontario Hockey Association's senior A race reached the halfway turn.

Coach Tommy Burlington's Owen Sound crew have trimmed the league-leading Toronto Marlboros three times in their four meetings. Mercurys are in sixth place in the seven team circuit while coach Joe Primeau's Dukes have suffered but five losses in their 22 starts.

Windsor Spitfires still are ruling the 10-team loop of the OHA's junior A slate with 19 victories in 22 tries, as this circuit also reaches the halfway mark.

South Porcupine Porkies lead the Porcupine Mines Senior Hockey League in Northern Ontario and Sudbury Sacred Heart College is in top place in the Nickel Belt loop.

The Owen Sound Mercurys jinxed earlier in the season by injuries, owe their present success to the efforts of their playing mentor, Burlington, who was recently released by the Providence Reds of the American Hockey League. He has set up most of the scoring plays and has tallied most points against Marlboros.

Tigers There

The perennial OHA finalists, Hamilton Tigers, are clinging to Toronto's coat-tails in the senior race with 31 points, two behind Marlboros.

Seven points behind Tigers, Stratford Indians hold down third position two points ahead of the new entry Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen. Qwen Sound follows with 20 points then Hamilton Patricias with 15.

Brantford Redmen still rest in the cellar with five points gleaned from two victories and a tie. But they have displayed strength in recent weeks.

Pressing Windsor Spitfires in the junior race are three strong clubs, Oshawa Generals, Barrie Flyers and Galt Rockets, respectively in second, third and fourth spots.

Toronto junior Marlboros of the Toronto Maple Leafs chain are in a fifth-place tie with Stratford Kroehlers. St. Catharines newly-formed Teepees, proteges of the Boston Bruins, have slumped into seventh position with just nine victories in 22 tries.

Guelph Biltmores have tried three different coaches to pull them out of their eighth-place hole—but to no avail. Last season's Memorial cup champions, Toronto St. Michael's Majors have won but four games in 18 starts this season to claim ninth-place. Ed Wildey's Toronto Young Rangers repose in the cellar with only two victories.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Season-long efforts by Chicago Black Hawks to obtain a goaltender from New York Rangers are no nearer completion following Chicago's latest swap offer.

The Hawks, in last place in the National Hockey League and plagued by a netminding weakness, made their latest proposition Sunday—leftwinger Alex Kaleta and goalie Emile (The Cat) Francis for Claude Rayner of the Rangers.

Nothing doing, said manager-coach Frank Boucher of the New York club. "We told the Hawks that we'll trade one of our goalies if we get a suitable player in return. In the case of Chicago, Doug Bentley is the only player we'd consider."

The world's [illegible] ing champion, [illegible] $600,000 damage suit against an airline yesterday and announced he was "permanently and partially" disabled in an airplane crash, a year ago yesterday.

George Agar of Houston Huskies continued to pace United States Hockey League scorers today with 56 points from 21 goals and 35 assists. And pressing behind in second place is teammate Paul Mundrick, six points back.

Joe Louis will defeat Jersey Joe Walcott next June, probably by a knockout, in the opinion of more sports editors who participated in than 80 per cent of United States the annual year-end poll conducted by The Associated Press.

New York Yankees yesterday announced the signing of Tommy Henrich, regular right [illegible] number two man in the batting order.

The American Hockey League scoring race was deadlocked today with two players—Carl Liscombe and Ray Laplante, both of Providence Reds—tied at the top with 52 points. Cliff Simpson of Indianapolis holds down third place with 51 points.

Upsets A Feature In YMCA Bowling

Three upsets were registered in the YMCA Men's League last night, the major one being B'nai B'rith's 6-0 victory over the strong Tip Top entry. Jay Bees created a real surprise when they blanked Aberdeens 6-0, and Canada Packers continued the string by whitewashing Quakers 6-0. In the other contest Vic Sedgwick's Commercials retained first place by winning 4-2 from Artists.

Pat Blodgett nosed out Zimmel Levine for high three honors with a 736 count against Levine's 722 mark. Levine captured high single with a smashing 352 score.

Canada Packers had high team score with 3212 for the triple and 1157 single game.

Jay Bees success may have been the fact that they used the same five bowlers instead of seven as they have been doing right along. It is a very rare occurrence for any major squad to use more than five men, and not more than once this season has the City League had a squad use extra men.

Those Poor Little Rangers Fourth Heaviest In NHL

By BERT ALLEN

MONTREAL, Jan. 6.—(CP).—Don't worry about those "little"—everyone's been calling them that—New York Rangers, they have the fourth heaviest club in the National Hockey League.

The experts, while conceding that Rangers have been playing great hockey of late, like to hint the Broadway Blueshirts current spurt will prove a flash in the pan, that they'll fold up in the latter stages of the campaign and drop down from their lofty third-place position.

The National Hockey League office here has compiled a list of the average weights of each team and the clubs in order of most poundage runs like this: Boston, Toronto, Montreal, New York, Detroit and Chicago.

Rangers have the heaviest and lightest players in the circuit, Eddie Slowinski at 207 pounds and Buddy O'Connor—the loop's leading scorer—at 145.

Still, it's hard to believe that the New Yorkers, with 150-160 pounders like Grant Warwick, Tony Leswick and Edgar Laprade, being bigger collectively than both Detroit and Chicago.

Boston Huskies

Always noted for their big clubs, Boston boast the huskiest team in the N.H.L. The average weight is 180 pound.

Bruins have a pair of 200-pounders in defenceman John Crawford and left-winger Woody Dumart, while Kenny Smith at 155 pounds is the lightest man on the squad.

Toronto are the second heaviest team with an over-all average of 176 pounds. Heavyweight on the Leaf squad is Harry Watson, 200-pound left winger. Wiry Max Bentley is the lightest player on the team at an even 150 pounds.

With an average weight of 175 pounds, Montreal ice the third huskiest crew. The average weight of the Detroit roster is 168 pounds.

Lightest team in the loop is Chicago with a 164-pound average.

There are 60 players in the league who weigh 175 pounds or more and 15 players at 160 pounds or less.

O'Connor Talks Scoring Lead In NHL

MONTREAL, Jan. 6 — (CP). — Buddy O'Connor, often called the "player's hockey player," is leading the National Hockey League scoring parade for the first time in his seven-year National Hockey League career.

Official statistics released today show the lightweight New York Ranger centre with 34 points, two more than Syl Apps of Toronto who led the marksmen for the five previous weeks.

Probably the slickest skater in the National League but never a prolific scorer during his tenure with Montreal Canadiens, O'Connor has found the Broadway scenery to his liking to become the scoring sensation of the current campaign.

Buddy's total is made up of 15 goals and 19 assists while Apps has 14 and 18. Deadlocked for third spot are Toronto's Max Bentley and Jim McFadden of Detroit Red Wings, each with 30 points.

Next In Line

Then come Ted Lindsay of Detroit, Doug Bentley of Chicago and Canadiens' Elmer Lach have 29, 28 and 27 points respectively.

Lindsay with 17 heads the goal-getting department while O'Connor's 19 assists makes him tops in that column.

Bill Barilko, Leaf defenceman, is a good bet to break the all-time mark for most penalties in a season. With the schedule just half over, Barilko has 107 minutes in penalty time. Red Horner, Toronto's hard-hitting rearguard of the '30s, set the record in 1935-36 with 167 minutes during the 48-game schedule.

Goalie Turk Broda of Toronto has the best record among the circuit's netminders and has allowed 73 goals in 31 games for a goals-against average of 2.43 a game.

Kieran Wants More Accent On 'Hab' Team

By ROSS TRUEMAN

MONTREAL, Jan. 6 (CP). — John Kieran's assertion that the Montreal Canadiens no longer play hockey with "a French accent" has led members of this city's sports fraternity to believe that the man who was for many years sports columnist with the New York Times has left himself a little off base.

In an article Kieran bemoans the presences of such names as Bill Durnan, Kenny Reardon and Toe Blake on the Habs' roster as not in the tradition to which he has been accustomed.

On a note of nostalgia he recalls the days when there was a Stanley Cup line-up that included "Silvio Mantha, Armand Mondou, Pit Lepine, Al-Bear (Battleship) Leduc, Wildor Larochelle, Aurel Joliet and Howie Morenz."

Well, anyone around Montreal Forum could tell you that Kieran overlooked the fact that at least eight French-Canadiens are playing for Habs.

Takes Up Issue

Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll was one of the first to take issue with Kieran.

"Apart from catching the scholarly John in spelling Sylvio Mantha's name incorrectly," he said, "it could be pointed out that Howie Morenz was not French . . ."

Actually, Morenz was of Swiss extraction and came from Stratford.

On the other hand, says Carroll, Toe Blake is French on his mother's side—her maiden name was Philion. Toe's father grew up around Buckingham, Que., and spoke French as much or more than he spoke English. Toe himself is bilingual.

"Every now and again someone calls this department and asks if it isn't true that Toe is French—that his right name is Blais?

"For their benefit," adds Dink, "let it be known that his right name is Blake. The report that his name was Blais got around when Ernie Savard, who then controlled the team, asked the then president of the N.H.L., Frank Calder, if he couldn't change it to Blais in the hope that it would give the box office a shot in the arm."

IMMIGRANT TEAM

Toronto has a new soccer club—St. Andrews—composed entirely of immigrants from the United Kingdom. No decision has been made yet as to what league the team will enter.

Work Faster To Produce "A" Pictures

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6 (AP). — Here are some things a reporter sees and hears while covering the movie sets:

Moves toward economy can be noticed all over town as the movie industry faces the rugged future of the new year. At Republic, Director Frank Borzage is demonstrating how an "A" picture can be made in 30 days. By working with a fast and eager crew and planning each shot beforehand, he is making "Moonrise" in half the ordinary time.

Another example of "how to save" was seen on the "Carmen" set. With one day left to shoot on location in the Sierras, a winter storm swept down. Rather than wait out the storm and the snow-melting, the company returned to Hollywood. Rock for rock, tree for tree, the location site was recreated on a studio stage, still photographs being used as a guide.

At Warner Brothers a bunch of tough guys are acting in "Key Largo." But a scene which will match the film's toughness was played during my visit.

It happened when Edward G. Robinson discovered that Humphrey Bogart had burned a hole in the upholstery of "Little Caesar's" new sedan. "All right, you mug, I'm going to get tough—see?" muttered Robinson. "Yeth?" snarled Bogart. This repartee continued for 10 minutes and I'm not sure whether they were kidding . . .

A Hollywood reporter has to ask a lot of people "What picture are you doing next?" Not often does he get an answer like Billy Wilder's on the "Foreign Affiar" set. The director considered the question seriously, then answered: "It's a honey. Big production. I'm using the San Francisco telephone book for a script. Should have a large cast."

Dane Clark was among the many who mourned the death of Mark Hellinger and he had better reason than most. Dane was telling me about how he got his start in films. He drove out from New York to try his luck here and was promptly turned down by every studio.

Clark especially wanted to crash Warners and arrived there often, leaving his hat in the talent office when he did. Thus he would have a better reason to return. One day he ran into Hellinger and gave him a letter from a mutual Broadway friend. Hellinger took him to the talent boss and wouldn't leave the office until Clark was signed for a test. The actor landed a role in "Action in the North Atlantic" and has been going well since.

Three Ontario Centres Voted "Dry"

By The Canadian Press

Three Ontario municipalities voted "dry" yesterday, the mayor of Port Arthur was returned to his 15th year in office and the mayor of Thorold was turned out after 15 years as chief magistrate during which he received 13 acclamations.

Voting took place in 70 municipalities, including one city, 14 towns, 10 villages and at least 45 townships as citizens trooped to the polls to select their representatives for 1948 and vote on questions ranging from the liquor issue to money by-laws.

The liquor question bobbed to the top in the neighboring Northumberland county villages of Brighton and Colborne and the Lambton county township of Sombra. All these voted dry, Brighton and Colborne overwhelmingly so, with dry votes more than doubling the wets in some of the proposals such as the establishment of men's beverage rooms and a liquor store.

The voting in Sombra climaxed a bitter contest between wets and drys with indications the final vote would give the drys 150 majority. Two polls at Port Lambton, regarded as the stronghold of the wets, failed to turn in the required 60-per-cent majority in favor of beverage room sale of beer.

Hold To Line

The drys are members and supporters of the Sombra temperance organization headed by Allan Meredith of Wallaceburg and William Huey of Sombra. The wets rallied around the Sombra township citizens league sparked by president John Bettleton, of Port Lambton. The township has been dry since 1916.

Re-election of Mayor Charles Cox of Port Arthur for his 15th consecutive term was conceded 1½ hours after the polls closed. In Thorold Mayor William A. Hutt was defeated by Dr. W. H. McMillan in a two-man race.

A weighty question on which some Ontario towns and hamlets have expressed approval—whether to accept Provincial Police services in place of a municipal force—was answered in the negative by Grimsby's townspeople but intereset was apathetic. Only 298 of the 1,532 eligible to vote in the plebiscite marked their ballot.

Rork Ferguson Is Defeated

Rork Ferguson, dean of the County Council bowed in defeat on Monday when William E. Pakenham, a former reeve of Norwood took over the reins. The count was Pakenham 241 and Ferguson, 179. Ferguson has successively represented Dummer, and Asphodel townships, and for the past seven years at least has been reeve of Norwood village. At one time he was member in the Federal House for the riding of Hastings-Peterborough.

In the council there was another upset, Walter Bitten council member for 21 years was defeated. Perrin Rork, a former councillor, returning to the field headed the polls with 312 votes. Rod Webb was next with 310, Dan Nixon third with 259 and William Garden, fourth with 253.

Property owners decided by the small margin of 14 votes to provide a waterworks system for the village. The plebiscite authorizes the expenditure of $100,000 for this purpose. 167 voters said yes to the proposal and 153 no.

2 Youths Remanded In Claxton Theft

OTTAWA, Jan. 6 — (CP). — Two Ottawa district youths pleaded guilty in city court today to breaking into the home of Defense Minister Claxton during the week-end and stealing a quantity of household items valued at $390. They were remanded a week for sentence.

The incident occurred while the minister was holidaying in Ontario, and involved Robert Riley, 18, of near-by Val Tetreau, Que.; Gayle Mindach, 17, of Ottawa; and a 15-year-old girl scheduled to appear in juvenile court later this week.

Some official departmental papers, jewelry, a radio and several men's shirts were included in the loot, all of which was recovered.

Riley and the girl were arrested Saturday night in a midtown hotel room, where police found two suitcases containing articles believed taken from Mr. Claxton's home. A third suitcase, containing letters signed by the minister, was seized later when police arrested Mindach at his home.

Griffith Leading In Belmont Race

HAVELOCK, Jan. 6. (ENS)—With Lasswade, South Lake, and Oak Lake to hear from, William Griffith is leading for the office of reeve by a 32 majority, the above polls are all so small that it is not likely that they will alter the present returns.

Two members of the 1947 council were re-elected. They are Ross Barrons and George Newton, the former headed the poll two years ago, when he was one of the new members elected at that time. With incomplete returns he leads the polls with one vote over Norris Whitney, a new nominee. Mr. Newton is in third place and at the last election was in second place and the only one of the old council to retain his seat at that time. Last year all were returned by acclamation. According to past records, the three polls to report usually poll a total of about 46 votes. Donald Anderson, a new comer, is in fourth place on council.

Asphodel Returns Jim Humphries

Asphodel voters re-elected James Humphries for his seventh consecutive term as reeve on Monday, when he defeated the veteran campaigner John McColl, 365 to 241.

They tossed the entire old council out and named four new men to tackle the township problems in 1948. Apparently cost of snowplowing and gravelling irked the electors and they showed their dissatisfaction in their voting. The new council consists of B. Graham, M. Scott, James Beamish and William Sedgwick. Old councillors who went down to defeat were Thos. Stevenson, James Healey and H. Neilson. Gideon Brown, the other member, did not qualify because of illness.

Teen-agers who were in charge were the Misses Barbara Cuthbertson, Jacqueline Rogers and Angela Garden, Harry Kavanagh and Bob Edwards, assisted by Mrs. O. R. Edwards, Messrs. Albert Throop, Mr. Wm. Garden Sr., and Mr. William Parcels.

H. Deyell Named Omemee Reeve

OMEMEE, Jan. 6 (ENS). — Omemee voters enjoyed a three-cornered battle for the reeveship on Monday when two former councillors, H. Deyell and F. Parsons, along with a newcomer H. Endicott, entered the race. H. Deyell won with 117 votes, Endicott had 115 and Parsons was last with 71.

Two new faces will be seen on the council this year and they headed the polls. George Stephenson polled 217, and Walter Mitchell, 153. H. J. Jones had 148 and C. G. Shaw 145. Both of the last-named served as councillors in 1947. The defeated candidates are James Gladding, who secured 141 and H. Laidley with 95.

In Emily township, Vincent Fee had been elected by acclamation on nomination day when Paul McGuire withdrew.

The new council were elected in this order: Ellwood Faulkner, 313; George Magee, 300; J. M. Thurston, 262, and Thomas Morrisey, 243. The last three served in 1947 along with Fee who moved up to the reeveship. The unsuccessful candidates are E. Germyn, 190, and A. McQuade, 207.

F. Faulkner was re-elected to the hydro commission in Omemee with 167, and C. Elliott with 108 is the other member. Wm. Howden with 73 votes failed to place.

Bank Of Canada Begins Inflation Fight

By The Canadian Press.

The battle of governments to hold the line against inflation was further evidenced yesterday by the action of the Bank of Canada in withdrawing its fixed daily bids for government bonds.

The action in effect raises the cost of money to borrowers, and follows steps both in Washington and London leading away from the "cheap" money policy of war years.

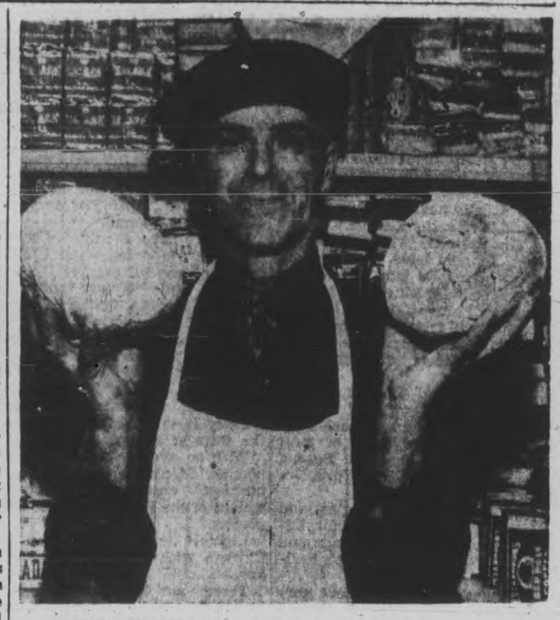
Governments and their advisers are not free with information as to what they have in mind in monetary matters and the Bank of Canada said little more than that it was discontinuing the daily bids.

However, discussion in Canada and the United States indicates that mildly deflationary measures are being taken at the same time that the continent is being called upon to produce to its utmost to meet European and world needs, as well as its own.

Presumably it is hoped to put a brake on the possibility of runaway prices as production strains to step-up.

There may also be a hope to use the present period of heavy demand to accomplish a step-by-step progression to a price structure proper to modern economic conditions. Ordinarily it is difficult to bring about a managed deflation without causing a recession.

The effect of the action on the bond market was to bring a decline ranging up to $2.50 in government issues, while corporation bonds in Toronto declined 50 cents to $1 on the bid side.



New Man Heads Alnwick Polls

ROSENEATH, Jan. 6—(ENS)—Fred Broadworth headed the poll for councillor in the municipal election held in Alnwick Twp. on Monday. Broadworth is a new man as are Harold Taylor and James Thompson. Fred Murphy, a councillor of several years' standing, was the only member of the 1947 council returned to office. The also rans were Harvey Eddy, Clarence Thackeray, William Halstead, and Arthur Braithwaite. Thackeray, Halstead and Eddy were members of the 1947 council. The vote as recorded in the wards was as follows:

Roseneath	No. 1	No. 2	No. 3	Total
Broadworth	66	25	25	—116
Taylor	90	13	9	—112
Murphy	51	24	30	—105
Thompson	73	13	18	—104
Thackeray	56	20	26	—102
Braithwaite	48	14	37	— 99
Halstead	69	15	12	— 96
Eddy	49	9	10	— 59

The first four names comprise the 1948 council.

Reve O. J. Robbins for 1947 was re-elected for a second term by acclamation, as were two township school board trustes, Frank Adams and Ross McCracken. Bruce Arthur, the new member, was elected also by acclamation. Arnold Elder and Charlton Grigg still have one year of a two-year term to serve.

POOR HOUSEWIFE—Ballooning prices of meats, groceries and vegetables spoiled a lot of appetites last night as housewives got a first-hand taste in hundreds of grocery stores, of what Ottawa's most recent action has done to food prices. As of yesterday, every woman wore the "New Look." It was a worried look. Part of the reason is exhibited by Grocer Walter Gerus (left), of Toronto, who holds two cabbages selling — when any one has that kind of money — for 15 cents a pound. Sales price of these two is $1.15.

Believe MacArthur Would Be Candidate

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 6—(AP). — Gen. MacArthur, supreme Allied commander in Japan, definitely has indicated that he would be receptive to the Republican nomination as President of the United States, a prominent supporter said today.

The supporter is Fred Zimmerman, State Secretary for Wisconsin, who said that a message from the General expressed the belief that "there can be no greater satisfaction than such as comes from the confidences reflected in the selection by one's neighbors for public service—no more challenging responsibility than lies in the fulfilment of their trust."

"I am sure," Zimmerman said, "the General meant he would perform any public service he was called upon by the people to render—whether it be as President or in the army. . . ."

Present number of persons in Victoria county receiving unemployment insurance benefits is now 160. This figure, which includes male and female, was given by officials of the unemployment office there.

GIVE FISH AND GAME CRESTS

Peterborough Fish and Game Association, in response to requests by many members, is offering crests suitable for wear on windbreakers and sports clothing. They are available from President Bob McCabe and Secretary Jack Baldwin.

INTEREST IS HIGH

Interest in district election results was high Monday evening; and telephones in the editorial department of the Examiner kept two men busy. Most interest centred on Norwood, Asphodel and Lindsay. Complete returns from all points are being carried in both editions of The Examiner today.

AND AT "HIKED" FEE

For the first time in ages the council of Peterborough had last night an application for a lantern job permit. And like everything else these days, the prospective operator would like to "hike" the price, using a handy phrase of Canadian Press. That letter was sent to Ald. Swanston's finance committee.

FISH AND GAME TICKETS

Membership tickets for the Peterborough Fish and Game Association will be available beginning next Monday. First meeting of the new year will be on January 26, at a location yet to be decided on. Arrangements are being made for entertainment consisting of movies and lectures.

COURTESY IN A FUR CAP

Maybe the regulations were against it, but it looked friendly as a city policeman on George Street this morning demonstrated and explained in detail the workings of the parking meter to two ladies who had apparently not inspected one before. The officer went to the extent of opening the locked side to show them the springs and what-nots which operate the meters.

UTILITIES BORROWING

Utilities Commission has asked the council to issue debentures for $115,000 to pay for the 24-inch force main from the pumping station to the corner of Park Hill Road and Bethune St. Estimated total expenditure on that job is $160,000, Ross L. Robbin, manager, wrote the council, but it is unlikely that the work will be completed this year. The Commission is recommending 30 year term in this borrowing.

SNOWLOADER WORKING

The question most often heard on Main street on Monday was "Where's that snowloader we taxpayers bought?" On Tuesday the query was answered: for it was at work. After the snow had been cleaned away from the curbs and piled into the middle of the road the loader with several trucks attending, made short work of it. By noon the downtown section of George and Water streets had been cleaned.

Department Objects To City's Assessment

Federal Department of Transport objects to the city levying the tax rate on four houses in the Trent Canal service. Three are at the lift lock and the other is the caretaker's house at the Lansdowne St. lock.

Assessment Commissioner Bert Graham proceeded with the assessment of these dwellings because they are occupied by tenants. This point of difference with the government was referred Monday night by the council to its finance committee.

Lindsay Arena To Have Artificial Ice In Operation By Next Winter Chairman Says

LINDSAY, Jan. 3 — (ENS) — Following the announcement of the election results here Monday night Col. R. I. Moore, KC, a member of the recreation committee which administers the community arena, said artificial ice would be installed in the arena this year. The plant will be in operation before next winter. Lindsay property owners voted two to one in favor of the installation of artificial ice in the arena. The question asked was "Are you in favor of the installation of a commercial and artificial ice plant in the community arena at a cost of $30,000?" The vote was Yes 785, No 369.

Col. More said they already had quotations on artificial ice plants that could be procured soon. The question put to the land owners was not in the form of a bylaw but the very favorable reply may bear weight with the Ontario Municipal Board. At a recent meeting of council Clerk W. R. Allely pointed out the Municipal Board could dispense with a vote on a monied bylaw if it wished.

Gunsmith 'Sees the Light' Becomes Conservationist

By WILLIAM STEWART

QUEBEC, Jan. 6 — (CP). — Maurice Livigueur's ardent wish, with 1948 in its infancy, is that the game wardens outsmart more poachers than ever before and, oddly enough Lavigueur is the first to admit that not too long ago his New Year's resolves were just the reverse.

The 36-year-old Quebec gunsmith declares:

"No one likes it to be said he is a poacher. But if it helps conservation any, I don't mind if you tell that I used to be one."

Leaning over the counter in his little shop in narrow St. Ambroise street, the chunky gunsmith, wearing a green eyeshade and puffing a cigar, tells that he knows the bush around Quebec from 20 years' experience, a good deal of it as a night hunter which the law doesn't like.

He was taught as a youngster how to get a deer by men who paid no attention to the Fish and Game Act—"You know how it is when you are 16 or 17. It's great fun to put one over the wardens."

But not long ago, Lavigueur affirms, it came to him that Quebec's deer would have a short life if they were killed at the rate of 100 by poachers for every 30 shot by huntsmen observing the law.

Overnight, the gunsmith became an apostle of protection of the deer, ducks, moose, trout and everything else in Quebec forests and streams. His circle's Club de Chasse Savane also became strictly conservationist and has since enforced on its members rules that mean expulsion as quick as you can say "Jacklight" for any who break the hunting laws.

Lavigueur is glad to note that now another district club is setting itself up on the same basis and that fish and game clubs elsewhere in Quebec are banding together in a federation dedicated to conservation.

Poaching, he says, is the real menace to Quebec's game and that to stop it you would probably have to carry out a severe drive against the people who slyly buy venison from the poachers and retail it to customers with the right wink. There's enough profit in poaching that a few well-organized and agile Jacklighters don't need to do anything else for a good living.

Fine Caretaker On Liquor Count

Gerald Whatman, 506 Sherbrooke St., was found guilty on a charge of having liquor in his possession in a place other than his residence, and was fined $15 and $4.50 costs. The incident dated back to Nov. 16 when the accused was found, by Police Sergeant Percy Sexsmith in a room in a public school shortly after midnight.

Accused who had pleaded not guilty was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair whose main defence was that the liquor was in transit.

Magistrate Philp, KC, read from the act that the transport from warehouse to the home or place of residence of any purchaser was permitted, but the magistrate concluded that in this case the liquor had not been taken home. It was found in accused's car outside the place of his employment.

Magistrate Philp found accused guilty and fined him as reported. An order was made confiscating the two cases of beer.

Observe Epiphany

The significance of Epiphany was the manifestation of the birth of Jesus, as the redeemer of mankind, to the Gentile peoples, said Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. J. O'Brien at the celebration of this holy day at the Church of the Sacred Heart this morning.

Jesus was born in the Jewish race, and the three Magi, the wise men who were miraculously directed to Bethlehem were Gentiles "of whom we are descendants" as Christians. Monsignor O'Brien said that the meaning of Epiphany was that in the visit of the wise men to Jerusalem, and thence to Bethlehem, "we recognized Jesus as our saviour."

Remove Trees Fire Chief Says

Acting Fire Chief Geo. Smith advises householders to get rid of Christmas trees now that Ephiphany has arrived, the traditional day for taking down decorations. At present they are being collected, and he says they should be taken not only out of the house, but also out of the back yard as well, thus reducing fire hazard substantially.

As an extra precaution he asks citizens to see that the snow is cleared away from hydrants. If a fire should break out the valuable seconds lost in removing the snow about the hydrant in order to cope with the fire would mean extra loss to those concerned.

Council Buys Lot For New Substation

Purchase for the Utilities Commission of the lot at the southwest corner of Armour Road and Clifton St. was authorized by the council Monday night in a motion by Adermen Hugh Waddell and Herbert Young.

The Commission selected that lot as the site of an electric substation, similar to the auxiliary transforming equipment that has been set up on Romaine St., west of the CNR. It is owned by K. T. Swinson of Kinmount whose agent is Mr. J. A. Gibbs. The amount asked by the owner is $500.

The property becomes vested in the city, but it is turned over to the Utilities Commission for their purpose. The Commission will pay the council the $500 expended for the lot.

Nipped In Time

Diners at the Churchill restaurant moved fast Sunday afternoon at 2.30 when smoke poured through a cold air grate from the cellar. Firemen discovered some papers and kindling wood in the furnace room alight, and dense clouds of smoke hampered them. Bill Holland, an employee who discovered the blaze had it pretty well under control when the firemen arrived, and Acting Chief George Smith said, it came close to being a dangerous blaze. The only damage of any account was from smoke.

Dodged Police Is Nabbed Entering Theatre

Stanley W. Finn, 650 Gilchrist street, found that the arm of the law was both long and firm when he appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in the police court today.

He was charged with driving at excessive speed and also to driving without a licence on October 26, 1947. Evidence was given by Police Constable V. J. O'Donoghue that on the night of October 26 he saw a car being driven down George street at a high rate of speed. The officer stopped a passing taxi and gave chase. "We followed the car which was travelling at between 50 and 55 miles an hour. The car was driven through a red stop light and near McDonnel street slowed down and made a U turn. As it made this turn, said the officer, "we managed to stop it and I told the driver to get out. When I asked him for his licence and he told me he had left it at home.

"When questioned again in the station accused admitted that he had no licence to drive, and I learned that the car was loaned to him by Carmen Deck, 482 Reid street."

Accused was charged and ordered to appear at the police court the following day but he did not appear. Each time he was ordered to appear he failed to come to the station and considerable trouble was experienced by the police officers in trying to locate him. On Monday afternoon January 5, Police Constable O'Donoghue was standing in the vestibule of the Centre Theatre when he spotted accused going into the theatre, and the officer made an arrest on a warrant.

Magistrate Philp found him guilty on his plea of guilty and fined him $7 and $2.50 costs on the charge of speeding and in default seven days. On the charge of driving without a licence he was fined $15 and $2.50 or in default 15 days. In case of nonpayment of the fines accused was to serve the sentences which would run consecutively. Accused elected to serve the 22 days in the common jail.

Also charged with the incident of October 26 was Carmen Deck, 482 Reid street, with permitting accused to use his car knowing that he had no licence. Accused was fined $15 and $2.50. The fine was paid.

Oil Prices Affect 3,000 City Homes

An estimated 3,000 Peterborough households and business places will be affected by the two cent per gallon increase in the price of fuel oil announced Friday by the Imperial Oil Company.

A distributor said today that approximately 1,500 oil burning furnaces are in operation in the city. Heaters, stoves and small burners are said to bring the total number of city consumers to well past the 3,000 mark. Many business places in the city use as many as three oil heaters to heat their premises.

There are at present 7,650 households in Peterborough, along with 782 business addresses according to statistics obtained from the Post Office.

YOUNG DIRECTOR

Douglas Burrows, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Burrows, 232 McDonnel Street, who was an announcer over CHEX has received an appointment to CKGB, Timmins, as program director. Douglas is only 21 and is the youngest program director in the province.

VETERAN DEFEATED—Rork Ferguson, reeve of Norwood village for the past seven years, was defeated for the reeveship on Monday by William Pakenham, another veteran campaigner. Ferguson has at different times represented Dummer, Norwood and Asphodel on the County Council, and was once member of parliament for Hastings-Peterborough.

Norman Lee Remanded To January 24

Norman Lee, 21, Minden, charged with assaulting Provincial Constable Lloyd McClure and causing him bodily harm, on Oct. 4, 1947, appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today. Accused pleaded not guilty.

Magistrate Philp had previously tried Lee when the charge originaly read that he did assault Provincial Constable McClure while the officer was making an arrest at the time he was assaulted.

Lee was re-charged in that he assaulted McClure causing him bodily harm and counsel for defense, W. J. Arthur Fair, contested this on a plea of autre fois acquis. Magistrate Philp found that this plea could not stand and Lee again came up for trial. By mutual agreement of the Crown Attorney, V. J. McElderry, KC, and the counsel for defense, all the evidence heard in the first trial would apply in the new trial. No further evidence was heard and Lee was remanded to Jan. 24 when judgment will be given.

Alderman Wants "Right Of Way"

If the community cannot have the use of a corner of Morrow Park as a means of solving a pressing need, Ald. Max Swanston asked the council last night whether it was going to do anything to protect George St. southerly through the park to McGill St.

"We would probably have to expropriate a right of way" he said. "It is a matter of importance to the south end of the city. A large new area is practically shut off from the rest of the city."

Ald. H. Dodds said he would take up this question at the first meeting of the board of works.

Ald. Dick Raine estimated that the number of residents south of Lansdowne St. exceeded the population of Lakefield. "It seems strange that we can't have a right of way through there for the convenience of the people."

Quaker Oats Lays Off Surplus Workers

Despite the layoff of an undisclosed number of employees at the Quaker Oats Co. plant officials say this is not a confirmation of Labor Minister Mitchell's statement regarding the Canadian employment picture generally "that the decline in employment is slightly more than seasonal."

Mr. Reginald R. Faryon, president and general manager of Quaker Oats Co. told The Examiner Tuesday that the plant had taken on temporary employees some time ago to cover a period of peak production. This abnormal number of employees helped to fill large export orders and now that peak is past, the temporary help has been let go, said Mr. Faryon.

He said there was little likelihood of any threat to the jobs of regular employees; and said that the only troubles encountered by the plant were with a short wheat crop — 80 per cent of normal — and what he regarded as lack of policy on the part of the government regarding the coarse grain market.

"Lack of policy on the part of the government on the coarse grain market (oats and barley) has slowed the feed picture," said Mr. Faryon. "The farmers have been reluctant to buy because the government has been promising for six weeks to do something—and it hasn't."

Until this matter is settled by Agriculture Minister Jas. Gardiner, by subsidies or some other solution, Mr. Faryon said it is bound to affect his company adversely.

But he said he saw no reason for pessimism; the latest import adjustments with tariffs and quotas imposed hard affected the local firm at all. Nor, he repeated, did he believe that general unemployment was coming—certainly not to the Quaker Oats Co., in any case.

Peterboro Rinks Lose At Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 6 — (CP). — Play continued at the Granite Club today for the William Robertson Trophy, emblematic of the ladies' single rink championship of Ontario. Results involving out-of-town rinks yesterday included:

Mrs. Harry Dulmage, Peterborough, defeated Mrs. E. M. Thompson, Granite, 12-5.

Mrs. C. S. Robinson, Granite, defeated Miss Helen Munro, Peterborough, 9-6.

Mrs. T. C. Hudson, Granite, defeated Mrs. J. R. McIntosh, Bobcaygeon, 8-7.

Mrs. Roy Smith, Toronto, defeated Mrs. Dulmage, Peterborough, 12-9.

Transient Fined

Leon Alfred DeRoche, Moncton, N.B., pleaded guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance on Water Street on December 29, when he again appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in the police court. On his plea of guilty accused was fined $5 and $2.50 costs, in default seven days. He took the jail term.

On a similar charge Geraldine Armstrong, 20 Earnbridge St., Toronto, appeared before the Magistrate. The incident arose from an altercation she had had with DeRoche on December 29. She pleaded guilty, and was remanded to January 13 at the request of the Crown, when she would appear for sentence.

Suggest Burnham St. Site For Memorial Centre Committee Meets Thursday

The Memorial Community Centre returns as a tangled and knotted skein of disappointments to a meeting of its committee Thursday night. Most of the members of the City Council will be there with a new site proposal—on the west side of Burnham St., south of the softball bowl. Most of that property was bought by the city from the Calcutt owners, and would have to be enlarged, it was said, by purchase of three or four houses to the south, along Burnham St.

The community's acquisition of the park section, which lies to the east of the Riverside baseball enclosure, was chiefly sponsored by the late Roland Denne, who conceived the idea of the general park plan which has since developed.

Two shots in the arm of a hockey rink project for Peterborough were devised by Ald. Hurrell Dodds and Ald. Doug Miller, but neither reached the point of application.

At the last meeting of the council in December, Ald. Dodds gave notice of a motion to request the Memorial Centre Committee to give consideration to the erection of a covered "building" with accommodation for 2,000 spectators. His proposal was to the effect that the Centre committee might be able to use some of its funds for a secondary rink which he contended Peterborough would need in the future. Ald. Dodds suggested that at the present delay in trying to get a location for the Community Centre it would be five years before that accommodation would be available.

Urge Secondary Rink

Recalling that about a year and a half ago he and R. M. Glover and Frank Buckland were appointed a subcommittee to enquire into the proposal of a secondary rink, Ald. Dodds said consideration had been given to it, but nothing was done.

"For $100,000 we can put up a secondary rink that would hold around 3,200 people," he stated, and manifestly had in mind a new building as part of the Exhibition plant. "We might get $40,000 from the Morrow Trust, put $40,000 into it ourselves and get a grant of $20,000 from the government for a building that could be used for agricultural purposes. All that I was interested in when I gave the notice of motion was to get something started. It is humiliating when we've got 80 hockey teams and no rink."

Ald. Dodds agreed to withdraw his motion, which Ald. Sands had seconded.

Ald. Doug Miller's attempt in a similar urge for early action was embodied in the following motion: "That this council consider requesting the executive committee of the Memorial Centre, which committee did such excellent work in conducting the campaign for funds and also in preparing plans and estimates for the proposed Memorial Centre building, to study the advisability of calling a general meeting of subscribers to the Memorial Centre fund, in order that consideration may be given to ways and means of amending the building requirements of the Memorial Centre building as presently proposed, so that work on a suitable building to serve the needs of the community, in the light of present construction conditions, may be commenced at an early date."

Ald. Dodds seconded the Doug Miller motion, and on division it was declared lost by Mayor Ovens. At Ald. D. Miller's comment that members might not have thoroughly understood his intention, Mayor Ovens called for a second vote, and again declared the motion lost. The division was not recorded.

He Wants Action

In that stage of the discussion Ald. Dick Raine had suggested that perhaps the first step the council should take in reorienting to Centre plans was to meet the Centre committee and talk the matter over with them.

Ald. D. Miller said his desire was to "bring this question into the light and try to get action."

Ald. Swanston reminded the council that when the funds were collected promises were given by the Centre promoters that a certain type of building was to be designed and constructed with special features which subsequently entailed substantial costs.

"I think subscribers should be consulted as to any proposed changes," Ald. Swanston said. "I know that several lawyers told me when similar alterations were being put forward that, if changes were adopted, they were to have instructions to enter an injunction against the Centre committee."

Mayor Ovens had previously informed the council that he wished the members to remain for a meeting in committee of the whole to discuss the Community Centre as a result of the letter from the R. A. Morrow Trust informing the council that at their meeting Dec. 22 they decided to advise Mayor Ovens that "in view of the opinion obtained from counsel they do not see how any feasible solution can be arrived at whereby the Memorial Centre can be erected on the grounds." That ultimatum extinguished any surviving hopes that the Centre might be located at the corner of Lansdowne and Lock Streets.

Renewing in committee his agitation, Ald. Doug Miller said that if something was not accomplished in planning in the next three or four months it would be impossible to build a rink by Dec. 1 next.

Discuss Several Sites

From the financial information Ald. Grant Miller said the total funds available were around $350,000. He asked what the outlook was for the cost of the project.

Ald. Swanston replied that a year and a half ago a contractor had quoted approximately $750,000.

Pushing off from Morrow Park, the committee got around to possible sites on Robinson St., Nicholls Oval, Park St. opposite Lake St. and one or two others. Ald. Herbert Young proposed that the council report its approval of the west side of Robinson St. to the Memorial Centre committee.

From his experience at similar sessions, Ald. Swanston inserted the remark that it was up to the Community Centre committee to select the sit "and then it is up to us to get it for them".

Ald. Doug Miller recalled that the original site was on the north side of Hunter St. at the east end of the bridge. It was thrown out because of the parking and traffic problem. "I don't see now you are going to eliminate those problems simply by going to the south side of the bridge."

"The traffic wouldn't be any worse than it has been for the ball games in the last two years," said Ald. Herb Young.

They Were Opposed

"The Hunter St. area was twice turned down by influential citizens who were instrumental in obtaining donations of thousands of dollars for the Centre," Ald. D. Miller said.

City Clerk Outram recalled that the Hunter St. site was submitted to the Town Planning Committee, and they did not recommend it because parking facilities were not sufficient. There was also a question of opening up several new streets for traffic flow.

Mayor Ovens said R. H. Parsons, former city engineer, had estimated that new streets in that section might cost up to $100,000. Ald. Grant Miller commented that nothing was to be gained by considering any part of Nicholls Oval because the beauty of that park would be destroyed by building there. Ald. Anglesey enquired about the suitability of Park St., part of which is used this winter as a rink operated by the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club.

Mayor Ovens told the committee of a suggestion to him that the block on which the Children's Shelter stands was mentioned to him as a possible location. Ald. Armstrong expressed the opinion that the Burnham St. site appeared to promise most in the consideration of avoiding deficits in the operation of the Centre.

Ald. Young suggested a small committee be named to meet the Centre committee, but it was decided that all members of the council who could attend Thursday night should do so.

Housewives Recoil As Pork Prices Zoom To New Levels

Bacon Ranges From 74 To 79 Cents, Even Lowly Spare-Ribs And Sausages Hit By Upward Trend

Housewives and butchers in the city had a communal reason for mourning today as both looked forward to the price increases with equal lack of enthusiasm. Retailers, waiting for the day's shipments which would bring with them definite word of the increases, sounded as unhappy as their customers, who are faced with the alternative courses of cutting their consumption of the affected pork or paying more over the counter for the same amount.

One meat counter man, after a few cheerful opening sentences over the phone, finally expressed the general sentiment when he croaked gloomily, "Frankly, I can't afford the stuff myself—can you?"

The housewife has a feeling of being caught from all sides. If she recoils in horror at the new prices of bacon (it is selling at close to 80 cents a pound in some stores in Peterborough today) she can turn hopefully to the spare-ribs counter, to receive another blow in the pocketbook.

Cafe Prices Up

Eating out will not help either, as some restaurants and hotels were busy this morning scratching old prices from their menus.

The basic bacon-and-eggs may cost another five or ten cents.

Comparison of prices in "the good old days"—away back a full month ago—and those being charged today gauge the size of the increase. Pork loins—cuts and chops—retailed in city stores at that time within a range of 39 to 45 cents per pound, depending on the choice of cut. Today the same pound costs 55 to 60 cents.

Bacon has taken an impressive (or depressive) 20-cent leap, now selling at 74 to 79 cents. Advertisements in the December 4 issue of the Examiner offered choice sliced breakfast bacon at 59 cents.

If you have come to the conclusion that the household must economize with sausage, there's little joy there, for even that lowly meat has felt the blow. Pork sausage today will wholesale at the approximate level of retail prices a month ago—which works out to a 25 or 30 per cent increase to the consumer.

Canada Packers here were paying increases of $4.50 to $5.50 per hundred pounds to farmers, in line with the recently announced increase in meat prices to Britain. Bacon hogs bring the farmer $27.60 per hundredweight, an increase of $4.50. Sows are up to $5.50 to $20.50.

Many of the city dealers were holding out to the last. Several large chain units stated that their prices would not be increased until present stocks are used. There was also the suggestion advanced by one that his store was considering a lower margin of profit in order to keep prices at the lowest level.

"Although it may seem tough on you," he pointed out, "just stop to think what it means to us. We make our living this way. If the prices reach a point where people stop buying, it hits us where we live."

The farmers are not bursting with joy either. Recent jumps in feed prices have put them in the red. These increases now leave them in the same position they were in befor th feed subsidis were removed.

Feminists Fight Divorce Court Value On Wives

LONDON, Jan. 6—(Reuters)—The ultra feminist married women's association of Britain is launching a campaign to abolish the divorce court procedure of placing a monetary value on unfaithful wives.

This procedure has long been deplored by womn who resent being still regarded in the eyes of the law as chattels. Judges have likened the practice to be of slavery. The late justice McCardie declared that "in arriving at the damages a good deal depends on the value of the woman and you have to assess her as you would assess the value of a slave in some of the eastern parts of the world."

The award of 1,000 pounds ($4,000) in one case and 750 pounds ($3,000) in another within the last few weeks has led the 2,000 members of the married women's association to renew their objections to what they call "this judicial evaluation of a divorced woman in cold terms of cash."

The first move is a strongly-Shawcross, attorney general, complaining that "the law enables a woman literally to be sold by her husband to the other man, he paying toll for having won her affections."

The letter, written by the association's chairman, Miss Juanila Francis, a married woman with a family who is so insistent on her personal rights that she does not use her married name, describes the existing law as archaic and pleads for its abolition.

Meanwhile, judges and juries continue to place their own value on an erring wife, mostly based on a wife's services as a housekeeper.

One man was given 1,000 pounds for "the loss of a very charming wife who was also a good cook and a good housekeeper—assets of the greatest possible business value," the judge said.

DOROTHY DIX . . . .

MARITAL SADISTS
Hurting One's Dearest Unnecessarily Most Inexplicable of Mysteries

Why is it that families who really love each other so often treat each other with a brutality that they show to no one else on earth?

No one knows the why of it. It is just one of the mysteries of human behavior for which no one can offer an adequate explanation, for the very people who run roughshod over the sensibilities of those nearest and dearest to them are meticulously careful not to tread on the feelings of strangers.

Dorothy Dix

If only the husbands and wives who have lost all affection for each other fought like the kilkenny cats, you would set it down to their sense of frustration at being tied to mates they had come to loathe. If it were only the parents who regarded their children as burdens who were tyrannical and abusive to their youngsters, you would think that it was a sadist finding pleasure in torturing a weak and helpless child.

But, curiously enough, such is seldom the case. Oftener than not the man who insults his wife with almost every word he speaks to her is a devoted husband who works his fingers to the bone to give her luxuries. And the wife who is a nagger and a henpecker, who drives her husband almost insane with her fault-finding, adores him and would do anything for him, except to be pleasant to live with.

Odd Contradictions

This brings about a situation that is full of strange contradictions. For here are millions of intelligent people who crave nothing so much as a peaceful home, but who are always hurling the fighting word at each other; who are suave and diplomatic with even a chance acquaintance, but who do not hesitate to stab their own families with criticisms that cut like a knife; who want to be appreciated and loved by their wives and husbands and children, but who alienate them by their treatment.

Why, the average family does not even use common politeness in dealing with each other, yet they know perfectly well that good manners are the lubricant that makes the social machinery run smoothly. None of us would think of telling a stout woman that she was getting too fat, nor a scrawny one that she looked like a beanpole in her new dress. Nor would we stop one of the endless talkers in his ofttold tales by telling him we had heard them a million times before. Nor would we warn an elderly wolf to be his age and lay off the debutantes.

But just let Father or Mother or sisters or brothers try to tell a story and they are choked off in the first sentence, which is the main reason that there is no little conversation in the home. Few people waste any soft soap on the family. They keep us ever reminded of our faults and weaknesses. There is even a phrase for it. They call it telling us "home truths" when they remind us of things that burn us up.

In all life there is nothing more ironic than the cold, hard fact that the secret of a happy marriage is for husband and wife to treat each other as they would strangers. If every husband and wife would ply each other with the flatteries and cajoleries that they used during the days of courtship; if they would keep themselves looking as attractive; if they would take us much trouble to keep off of each other's pet prejudices, if would practically do away with divorce. It is when a married couple begin to treat each other like home folks that a marriage goes on the rocks.

When we learn to be as polite to our families as we are to strangers, we will stay married.

Mrs. Ross Williamson Heads Civic Hospital WA for 1948

Annual meeting of Civic Hospital Women's Auxiliary was held in the green room of the YWCA Monday afternoon. Chairman of the nominating committee, Mrs. S. J. Graham, presented the slate of officers for 1948 and a list of newly elected board members who will hold office for two years, as well as the names of those who are continuing to serve for a second year. All members were approved by the members.

Presidency for the year is held by Mrs. Ross Williamson, succeeding Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, who held the post for one year. Vice-presidents are Mrs. E. Breckenridge and Mrs. E. Braund. Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy remains in office as recording secretary and Miss E. Morrow will continue to be corresponding secretary. Finances for 1948 will again be in the capable hands of Mrs. F. Barrie.

Honorary presidents of the auxiliary are: Mrs. F. M. De la Fosse, Mrs. G. K. Fraser, Mrs. H. R. Scott, Mrs. J. R. Marshall, Mrs. W. G. Ovens, Mrs G. McIlmoyle and Mrs. R. Ross.

Board members continuing for one year are: Mrs. F. Barrie, Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell, Mrs. E. Braund, Mrs. E. Breckenridge, Mrs. E. Chambers, Mrs W. T Fanjoy, Mrs. W. E. Fanning, Mrs. W. J. Gilling, Mrs. A. B Mann, Mrs. G. Miller, Mrs. E. C Moore, Miss E. Morrow, Mrs. A. Rosborough, Mrs. R. Taylor, Mrs. C. L. Upper, Mrs. R. Williamson.

Elected to the board for a two-year term are: Mrs. G. S. Cameron, Mrs. A. E. Cauley, Mrs. E. Dinner, Mrs. L. G. Dobbin, Miss M. English, Mrs. G. K. Fraser, Mrs. S. J. Graham, Mrs. W. G. Hall, Mrs A. G Howson, Mrs C. H. Huffman, Mrs J. Low, Mrs. I. McRae, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, Miss A. Morgan, Mrs. S. Northrop, Mrs. W. K. Sloan and Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss.

Past President Mrs. H. A. Mitchell was in the chair for opening proceedings and reports. In a brief resume by the secretary, Mrs. Fanjoy, it was stated ten board meetings had been held in 1947 with an average attendance of 22 members. Three general meetings were also called. Three delegates were sent to the Hospital Associations convention held in the fall. A creditable financial report was presented in complete detail by Treasurer Mrs. F. Barrie.

Correspondence, read by Miss E. Morrow, included a letter which has been sent to 95 organizations of the city and district, stating that if donations are to be made toward furnishings for the new Civic Hospital, planned assistance will be given by the Auxiliary. It is thought best to handle matters in this way so that gifts may be kept in line with requisites of the hospital, and plaques with donors' names can be attached. Favorable replies have already been received in this connection. There was also a letter from the nurses-in-training thanking the Auxiliary for an album of records presented as a Christmas gift.

Report of the travelling library committee which commenced activities on April 7, 1947, was read by Mrs. R. Williamson. Two visits were made each week, except in July and August when one sufficed. New books purchased number 176 and 53 have been donated. Subscriptions have been taken to the more popular magazines and these are distributed among the wards. Visits made with the library totalled 65 for the year.

An arrangement for fruit to be delivered to the hospital every Friday was made by the visiting committee, headed by Mrs. A. M. Rosborough. Visits to patients made by 73 annual members and five board members totalled 3,300.

A most popular addition to the Auxiliary services is the travelling "tuck shop" which receives special attention from Miss M. English. In her report of the financial standing a substantial credit balance was showing. Sincere thanks for supplying the attractive cart on which luxuries and necessities of a department store are brought to the patient's bedside was extended to Mr. Ian McRae. Calls are made twice each week with two members looking after sales.

Annual memberships in the Auxiliary total 3,322, an increase of 227 over any previous year. There is one additional life membership on the report filed by Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell. As head of the buying committee, Mrs. W. E. Fanning reported a stove, refrigerator, and marboleum table tops had been supplied in the Argyle St. nurses' residence during the year, as well as the usual gifts of clinical thermometers for the graduating class.

The decorating committee did their work on such occasions as Valentine's Day, Easter and graduation as mentioned in the report of Mrs. C. L. Upper.

Nurses-in-training were entertained at the home of Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser and at a bridge held in the residence. A report from the committee working on occupational therapy among patients showed several articles of work have been completed. Transportation has been provided on various occasions during the year by Mrs. E. Braund. Scholarships awarded by the Auxiliary at graduation exercises are being looked after by Mrs. E. Breckenridge.

A discussion of activities for the sewing committee, headed by Mrs. F. Barrie, took place. Majority of members were in favor of a plan to give each baby born in the hospital a pair of bootees, and a donation of ten pair was received at the meeting from Mrs. J. R. Marshall.

Miss A. M. Thompson, principal of Civic Hospital School of Nursing expressed thanks and appreiation to the Auxiliary for all the help that has been given her during a very busy year. Mr. John Hornal, hospital superintendent, told the members that their assistance is a most valuable asset to the hospital.

Before vacating the chair, Mrs. Mitchell thanked Mrs W. J. Gilling and Mrs. E. Chambers for so capably filling vacancies on the Board during the year. Their election was also ratified by the nominating committee chairman.

To mark a year of pleasant and profitable associations a life membership in the Auxiliary was presented to Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, as she retired, by Mrs. Ian McRae.

In taking over her new duties, Mr. R. Williamson asked for continued support and also welcomed new members to the board. She appointed Mrs. S. J. Graham to take her place as representative on the Board of Governors of the hospital.

Showing of a French-Canadian film had to be postponed, and Mr. Quirt McKinney substituted films entitled, "Conservation of Hydro Power" and "Feeling of Rejection."

A most interesting talk followed on audio-visual aids in education, given by Mr. McKinney. He was thanked by Mrs. Wallace Hodgins.

Class attendance prizes went to Miss Connolly's room for juniors, and Miss Telford's room for seniors. Mrs. Wm. Lang, president was in the chair. She announced the February meeting will be a joint gathering with all Home and School Associations of the city to celebrate Founder's Day.

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

Queen Mary Home and School Association held their January meeting Monday evening with the fathers as their special guests. Mrs. C. G. Collins, president, welcomed the men and expressed pleasure at the presence of so many.

Mr. H. L. Garner was the speaker for the evening. Impressions gained on his recent trip to Great Britain were told in a most interesting, and often amusing, manner. He paid tribute to the British housewife for her courage and perseverance. The situation of most people in their need for clothes and food is most pitiable, yet there is a strength of character and an outlook on life which will surely see them through to better times.

Mr. Jack Comstock, introduced Mr. Garner to his audience and at the conclusion of his talk he was thanked by Mr. Wilson Gemmel.

Mr. Jas. Sharpe gave two amusing recitations in Lancashire dialect entitled "Joe Dokes and His Elephants" and "The Battle of Trafalgar." These were greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Collins resented sweaters for the junior boys' hockey team, to Mr. A. Weir who supervises their sports. Mrs. G. Hutchinson and Mrs. C. Huffman assisted.

Members were asked to prepare articles for the bazaar table for the tea which is being planned.

It was announced that February meetng will be an assembly of all the Peterborough Home and School groups.

Attendance prize was won by the mornig kindergarten class.

After a short sing-song under leadership of Mrs. O. Jamieson, refreshments were served by Mrs. R. Burnside, assisted by Mrs. N. Elliott and Messrs. J. Comstock, W. Gemmell, C. Ruth, R. Honey, S. Heard and E. Pridham.

Legion Ladies Hold Banquet Preceding Annual Meeting

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion enjoyed their annual banquet Monday evening, in the YWCA gymnasium. Present were Mrs. Waller of Cobourg, zone representatives, Rev. W. J. Gilling of St. Luke's Church, Mr. P. Burke, president of Branch 52, Canadian Legion, and Mr. George Gimblett, past president, and 57 members.

A toast to Branch 52 was proposed by Mrs. Waller, with Mr. Burke replying. Mr. Gimblett offered a toast to the Ladies' Auxiliary, and Mrs. A. Parrington, president, responded. Rev. Gilling spoke on the importance of Ladies' Auxiliaries to any organization, especially the Legion and the churches.

After a toast to the King and the national anthem, the meeting adjourned to the Legion Hall where customary opening proceedings were conducted by Mrs. Parrington.

Annual reports presented showed a very profitable year with 138 members enrolled. Mrs. F. Merrett, visitations convener, reported 277 calls had been made, 70 cards mailed, 15 bouquets of flowers and 17 baskets of fruit presented.

It was decided to have a "country store" at the February meeting. A card party will be held on Monday, February 9, at the home of Mrs. P. Gynane, 118 Aylmer St.

Mrs. Parrington read the annual report from Comrade Cameron, provincial president. Mrs. Waller took the chair for the installation of officers who were elected at the December meeting.

A draw on a box of chocolates was won by Mrs. F. Leether.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"THE SUPREME THRILL"

THERE is nothing at all ordinary about the play known as a "trump coup," in which a declarer has to shorten his own trump holding so that at the end he can have the lead come from the dummy through the dangerous defender's guarded honor or honors. Still rarer is the "grand coup" in which the shortening is done by trumping a card that otherwise would be a trick winner. Repetition of that process on a single hand makes a still more unusual play known as a "double" or "triple grand coup." You can't blame the operator of such a play for calling it "the supreme thrill."

Phil Wade, one of the greatest bridge players on the New York headquarters staff of King Features Syndicate, did not report that guessed-at bidding, merely confessing that "I was too obstinate to consider anything but spades." But no confession was needed for his play.

"When the dummy went down," he said, "I saw that the only excuse for a double was heavy trumps. Five in one hand licks me; with 4 and 1 a coup might do the trick. Without the double, the natural play is to return to the South hand with a heart, then play for 3-2 trump division. But with the double—." Now note what he did.

The diamond 3 lead was won by the A and the spade A cashed, showing West was not void of trumps. The diamond J was ruffed for coup number one. The club A was an entry for coup number two, a ruff of the diamond Q. The club K was a re-entry for the third coup, a ruff of the club 10, the Q falling.

With his trumps shortened to three, same length as East had, he entered dummy with the heart K and led the good club J, discarding the heart Q, and then the diamond K, discarding the heart A—fancy enough plays for any connoisseur. Then came the killer. As the heart 7 was led from dummy, East had nothing but three trumps. He ruffed with the 8, was over-ruffed by the 9, and the spade K was laid down. The J was then given up to the Q, only trick for East, who would have scored two with his trumps except for the triple coup.

HAIL, THE GROUNDHOG

With prices advancing, there seems no reason why nature should not creep up a couple of months on the normal arrival of signs of spring. One of the old reliables—the groundhog—was seen yesterday at Bailieboro by Ken Hall, a CGE employee. A perfectionist might begin to inquire about the shadow of the old prophet, but with the latest weather reports locally threatening snow, any little ray of hope helps.—R.B.

SHE DIDN'T TUMBLE

Perhaps this isn't original. Maybe it sprung from a movie or perhaps from the pages of a funny book, but at any rate it brought a hearty laugh to all who heard it at 10.30 Monday night.

Two snappily dressed school-age girls were walking home, skates slung over their shoulders. Behind them, about 20 feet distant were two 15-year-old males, apparently anxious to escort the girls home but handicapped by lack of an introduction, and obviously not making much progress. Finally when the boys reached the Examiner, they turned north and the girls continued west, and as a parting quip one youth turned and shouted in all seriousness. "You'll be sorry, I won't pass this way again." Who knows but may-e be one of the world's great romances was nipped in the bud. —McG.

BELTON, Tex. — The battle of the bees was fought in Belton yesterday, with an estimated 300 casualties among school children. Some children were stung so badly they were sent home.

DECATUR, Ga. — The pain of two charges of birdshot in the back failed to dim the fatherly affection of Joe Dodd for his 18-year-old son, Otis. The father pleaded with police to dismiss a charge of assault with intent to murder, and free his son. He was turned down and Otis was put under $500 bond for further action. King Pastes Terranova In Surprise Win

By BRIAN SWARBRICK

TORONTO, Jan. 6.— (CP).— One rhetorical question stands before Toronto's boxing fraternity today: How did Phil Terranova ever win the world's featherweight championship?

Last night 6,500 fans could hardly be expected to believe Terranova was anything more than a second-rate fighter. He took an eight-round pasting from Toronto lightweight Li'l Arthur King and returned no more than his own labored breath. King weighed 134 pounds, Terranova 132½ pounds.

Not once did Terranova show willingness to engage with King —not even in in-fighting, at which he supposedly excels. Instead, Referee Billy Burke had to badger him to throw leather. Not that Phil ran away, however, but because he continually advanced on King but didn't loose any punches.

Left Gasping

King, meanwhile, threw smashing lefts that made Terranova's head wobble, uppercuts and flurries that left the former champ gasping.

Simeon Waithe, 132¼ pounds, decisioned Cleveland's Mexican Juan Manuel, 130 pounds. In the six-round semi-final to strengthen his bid for a shot at King

Bobby Riannigan of London, Ont., fighting at 166 pounds, had a bad night as he gained a loudly-booed decision over Jimmy Guey, 157-pound Detroit negro, in a six-round preliminary. Flannigan wasn't nearly as sharp as he appeared here previously, and looked poor against Guey.

The best bout of the night was the four-round scrap between Sammy Sauve, 146½ pounds, Sudbury, and Johnny Camarapo, 145 pounds, Detroit, which ended in a draw. Both in fine condition and ready to fight, they boxed and slugged with gusto.

Busy Sports Year Predicted

LONDON, Jan. 6 — (AP) — Britain may not win much in the sports year just started, but at least it will probably be the busiest any fan can remember.

Leading the way in the invasion of athletes will be the Olympic games, scheduled for July 30-Aug. 14, and the four-month tour of the Australian cricket team, always a stellar summer attraction.

For the first time in the history of cricket test matches between England and its chief cricket enemy, Australia, the games between the two countries here will last more than five days. On previous visits of Australian cricket teams four days have been allocated to each international match.

In may the golfing women of Britain will meet the best women players of the United States for the Curtis Cup, and two weeks before the all-England lawn tennis championships begin, Britain's women tennis players will try to regain the Wightman Cup from the U.S.

As there is no Walker Cup on this year's sport schedule here, it's possible Britain may regain the amateur golf title, currently held by Willie Turnesa, a member of the United States Walker Cup team which defeated Britain in the trophy match at St. Andrews last May.

While the summer sports get into shape for what should be a really great year, the biggest money-spinner of them all, soccer football, will be with the fans until the first week in May.

Carried To Safety

OTTAWA, Jan. 7 — (CP). — A 57-year-old woman was carried to safety from her sick bed by her son last night and 16 persons were left homeless by a fire which destroyed a two-storey frame dwelling on suburban Tremblay Road with damage estimated at $10,000

Indians Trip Brantford In 7-2 Triumph

By The Canadian Press

Stratford Indians climbed into sole possession of third place, two points above Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen, by taking a 7-2 decision from Kenny Kipp's cellar-place Brantford Redmen in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A fixture at Brantford last night.

It was Stratford's 11th victory in 22 starts and Redmen's 20th loss in 23 tries.

Stratford opened up within the first minute when Mike Dziura beat Redmen goalie Buzz Cockburn at the session's 55-second mark. Jim Eady tallied six minutes later, followed by Pete Long.

The Redmen entered the game slightly past the period's half-way mark when "Walt" Pidgeon took a pass from Robin Hewson to beat Maxie Haunn in Stratford's nets.

Mickey Roth and Dick Blake, both up from last season's juniors, tallied Indians' second frame counters, unanswered by Brantford.

Blake and Long again scored in the final frame with Cruikshanks notching Brantford's last counter. There were seven penalties handed out.

The sixth-place Hamilton Patricias visit the fifth-place Owen Sound Mercurys in tonight's lone senior tilt. The last place Toronto Young Rangers go to Galt in the only slated junior fixture.

Marmora Victors Over Hastings

NORWOOD, Jan. 6 (ENS). — Fading in the third period, Hastings took the short end of an 8-2 decision in their "home" game here last night against Marmora. It was a typical TVL tussle before a fair-sized crowd, keen and fast most of the way, and touched off by a free-for-all in the second period of the rugged contest. Marmora showed more condition and combination to have an edge in the third period, though the last goal came after the gong should have sounded.

V. Harrington and E. Leonard tangled in the second period and drew majors. The latter just got back when he mixed it with Crowley, and they all got into it. When peace was restored, Crowley drew a major penalty and E. Leonard was given a match one. Despite the score, Goalie McKenty turned in a fine effort in the cage for the losers.

The teams:

Marmora: Goal, Koski; defence, E. Leonard and G. Leonard; centre, Cousins; wings, Goodchild and K. Trumble; alternates, McInroy and Loveless, E. Trumble, Smith, Doyle, Forestell, Brooks and Maloney.

Hastings: Goal, McKenty; defence, L. Pettigrew and Muncey; centre, P. Petticrew; wings, West and V. Harrington; alternates, Crate, Crowley, Phillips, J. Harrington, Scriver and Clayton.

Referee, Shannon; linesman, Calberry.

Young Runners Nuisance To Veterans

NEW YORK, Jan. 6— (AP). — Off the season's first returns, it appears that some ambitious young runners will have a lot of nuisance value in stirring up excitement during the indoor track season. Racing without spikes on flat armory floors Saturday, Browning Ross of Villanova ran a 4:13.7 mile and Larry Ellis, a New York University freshman, did 4:16.9 through a big handicap field. Such things while they help to bring out new talent, can be a pain in the neck to veteran cup chasers during an Olympic year. These youngsters are willing to go all out from the start in hopes of qualifying for the Olympic team. The veterans, while they like to win the big winter races, want to reach their peak for the mid-summer games.

It Should Happen Oftener.

The last sentence of the minutes of the recent meeting of the Western conference of tennis coaches reads: "It was moved by Brain, seconded by Braun, that the meeting be adjourned. The motion passed."

Down Under Joltings.

United States financial support may be sought for the proposed American tour of the two Australian rules football teams. Percy Page, secretary of the Australian National Football Council, said that the cost would be too great to be met by the four state leagues that make up the council.

It was estimated that a month's tour with matches at the principal cities only would cost up to £50,000 ($200,000). The only way to meet this expense would be for American business men or sports men to provide a guarantee.

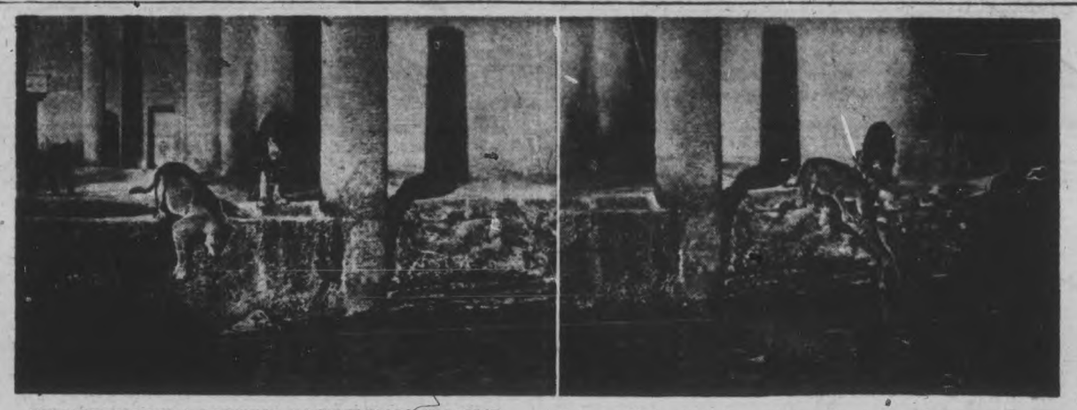
DEAR, DEER, DEER, AND IN JAIL, TOO!—Three deer—a doe and two fawns—look questioningly at Patrolman Frank O'Keefe at the police station in Sioux City. The deer had roamed the west side of the city on Christmas Eve just about the time Santa was due to arrive. A game warden removed them from the jail and, in a regular patrol wagon, took them to the outskirts of the city.

Burma Plans To Rebuild Armed Forces

RANGOON, Jan. 6 — (CP) — The New Union of Burma which came into being yesterday will speedily build her own forces to defend the country against external aggression, President Sao Shwe Thaik declared in the Republic's first statement of policy released today.

"The aim of my government is to enable the people to defend the country against the danger of external foes and to that end military, naval and air force units composed of the races of Burma will quickly be established and trained," the President said.



Affirming Burma's foreign policy of friendship with all countries, the President said: "though we seek friendly relations my government will tolerate no infringment of the territorial integrity of the Union of Burma by any other country."

The internal policy of the country would be to establish State Socialism and eliminate capitalism, he said.

Crowds surged through the streets yesterday celebrating Burma's independence as parliament, in its first act as a sovereign assembly beat down Communist opposition and ratified a new treaty with Britain.

The treaty cancels $60,000,000 in Burmese debts to Britain, gives Britain permission to maintain military bases in Burma and provides for transfer of 27 small vessels to the Burmese navy.

In London, the ocassion was observed with ceremonies at the Burmese embassy, where Sir Maung Gyee, the ambassador designate, said: "The people of Burma are deeply grateful to the British government and also to the British people for meeting their wishes so readily and in such a friendly spirit."

STRATEGY OF A LIONESS IN RECUING HER CUB—The mother instinct and reasoning process of a lioness are dramatically demonstrated in these pictures which were taken recently in a Continental zoo. The lion family had been temporarily installed in a polar bears' enclosure which contained a high wall running along the bears' bathing pool. The cub slipped from a high part of the ledge into the water. The lioness (left photo), realizing the impossibility of reaching the cub, patted it along with her paw until a broken wall section afforded her a better purchase and the opportunity to get a firm grip on the cub (right) when she dragged it to safety. Father lion, in both pictures, merely stands aside and watches admiringly, but growled disapprovingly at the cub after the rescue had been completed.

Wartime Device May End Jolts Of Fast Trains

By WILLIAM G. SMOCK

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6—(AP)—A "first cousin" of the wartime gadget which enabled tank gunners to fire accurately at high speeds over bumpy terrain soon may give the railroad dining car a "cushion" against drink-spilling jolts.

The new device is a revolutionary shock absorbed. Evenually, it may also be applied to buses and passenger automobiles.

Created for war use, the absorber was called a tank gun stabilier. It won a presidential citation for its inventor, Dr. Clinton R. Hanna, who also developed its first cousin, the railroad shock absorber.

Railroad engineers made substantial contribution to adapting the device to trains, said Dr. Hanna, associated director of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation's research laboratories.

The invention, now being road-tested by one of the nation's leading railroads, is designed to eliminate more than 60 per cent of the bumps and sway caused by track irregularities.

Its backers hope it will enable trains to take curves at 25 per cent greater speeds without so much as splashing a drop of coffee from a full cup in the diner. The result, they say, will be faster train schedules at greater comfort.

The tank gun stabilizer that helped Allied soldiers blast Rommel at El Alamein had a gyroscope to do its brainwork, but the vehicle stabilizer depends jointly on floating weights that feel up-and-down motion, and a pendulum that senses the pull of centrifugal force and gravity.

Intricate Mechanism

"Working together or seperately, these two elements can detect and respond to bumps or sideway in just three one-thousandths of a second, thus anticipating the movement and correcting for it before it is felt by the passengers," Dr. Hanna explained.

The stabilizer automatically moves car trucks or bus wheels up and down to compensate for bumps in the road surface and train wheels are moved from side to side to correct for track weaving. A "tilter" banks the car as it rounds curves.

Dr. Hanna simplifies the operation of his invention this way:

"When the car comes to a bump or dip, the floating weight instantly senses the motion of the body as it begins. This movement opens one valve and closes another, causing oil under high pressure to flow into the proper cylinder. The pumping of oil drives the piston in the cylinder with just enough force in the right direction to counteract the bump and hold the car body virtually motionless.

"What actually happens is that the wheels are pushed down into the valleys and raised over the peaks while the car floats on a cushion of oil in the cylinder. The same type of suction moves the wheels right or left to correct for side-sway and the car body moves forward in a straight line."

Somewhat like his new shock absorber, Dr. Hanna's career also has been well-regulated. He has devoted a 25-year stint with Westinghouse Laboratories largely to developing apparatus regulating speed, position and electrical voltage. He has about 100 patents in his own name.

Milk Production Drops 53 P.C.

TORONTO, Jan. 6—(CP)—A 5.3 per cent decrease in whole milk used for the combined Ontario production of creamery butter and Cheddar cheese was reported in November as compared with the same month last year, it was shown in a report today by the Provincial Agricultural Department.

Production of creamery butter for this comparison showed an increase of 7.2 per cent while Cheddar cheese production was reduced by ten per cent. Cumulative output of creamery butter for January-November period showed a 12.9 per cent gain and Cheddar cheese an 11.2 per cent decrease.

Commercial dairies sold 37,181,500 quarts of fluid milk during October at an average retail and wholesale price of 15.3 cents a quart, a 1.6 per cent decline from October, 1946, at an average price of 15.1 cents. Fluid cream sales jumped 3.2 per cent over a year ago October.

Dairies reported their sales of chocolate dairy milk had decreased 11.9 per cent as compared with October, 1946, while cultured milk sales increased 20 per cent.

The report showed that processed milk products are being produced in greater volume than a year ago. During the first 10 months of 1947 output of powdered, condensed and evaporated milk products was 13.5 per cent greater than in the corresponding period of 1946.

General Strike Hits Messina

ROME, Jan. 6 — (AP) — Messina, a Sicilian city of 200,000, was caught to-day in a general strike called in sympathy with strikers inn earby Barcellona.

The new labor unrest came as the Communist National Congress in Milan mapped a program aimed at overthrowing the government of Premier De Gasperi. Palmiro Togliatti harangued the Communists with a four-hour speech yesterday, denouncing the United States and the Vatican, among other things.

Millions went without pay on Saturday because of a continuing strike of 60,000 bank employees, demanding more money and other benefits.

Street cars in Messina were not operating, but the Italian News Agency said many workers reached the places of employment, regardless. Food stores and public buildings remained open. Police forces were strengthened.

Another general strike was called in Barcellona in protest to the arrest Saturday of a score of demonstrators, including local labor leaders.

Doctors Asked For Atom Cure

CLEVELAND, Jan. 6—(AP)—The United States Atomic Energy Commission today asked the American Medical Association to undertake protection of the public from atomic bombs, atomic explosions and atomic radio-activity.

The request said that in war or in peace new medical problems are faced because of atomic energy.

Although the radio-active diseases are known, the scale on which they must be fought is unprecedented, the request said. It also asked the doctors to explore all possible health benefits to mankind that may come from atomic energy.

Thousands of Japanese lost their lives because of a single instant's exposure to a flash of X-rays from bombs. It was announced that there were no known remedies.

Now a start has been made. Last week it was announced in the journal Science, that a new drug, rutin, largely reduces this atomic bleeding in dogs.

Says Gov't Lawyers Looking For 'A Victim'

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 — (CP) — Harold Dingman, Ottawa newspaper man, asserted today that Alberta government lawyers are looking for "a victim" in seeking to charge him with criminal libel in connection with a magazine articles, "Babies for Export," dealing with Alberta's child welfare problem.

Dingman, in New York to report the United Nations Little Assembly and Security Council meetings, said of an unconfirmed Edmonton Journal report that warrants had been issued for his arrest and that of Jack Kent Cooke, publisher of New Liberty:

"The whole business about the warrants is stinking Alberta politics. Government lawyers are obviously looking for a victim . . . I am certainly not going to play politics with them."

$40 Tax Cut Requested By Truman

Raises Corporation Taxes 3 Billion; Asks Universal Training

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7—(AP).—President Truman asked the United States Congress today to give every individual taxpayer an immediate $40 tax cut for himself and each dependent and to raise corporation taxes by $3,200,000,000 to offset it.

He thus laid the groundwork for another tax battle with the Republican-controlled House of Representatives and Senate in an address on the state of the union on the second day of the 1948 session.

Truman labelled his recommendation a "cost-of-living" credit designed primarily to relieve the small taxpayer.

Because of inflation, the government should not reduce its total revenues—and he described corporations as well able to take up the slack.

The recommendation ran sharply counter to a $5,600,000,000 Republican tax-cutting measure sponsored by Chairman Harold Knutson (Rep., Minn.) of the House Ways and Means Committee which would give income tax payers percentage cuts all along the line and leave corporation taxes unchanged.

Truman's 5,000-word message to a joint session of the two chambers also called for:

1. Enactment of the 10-point anti-inflation program he submitted to the recent special session, including stand-by wage-price control and rationing authority. The bulk of this program was turned down by the Republican leadership.

2. Prompt congressional approval of an initial expenditure of $6,800,000,000 to finance the European recovery program—the Marshall Plan—for 15 months from next April 1 as a "decisive contribution to world peace."

Universal Training

3. Quick action to set up a program of universal training as the foundation of a national security program, and maintenance of strong armed forces as long as "there remains serious opposition to the ideals of a peaceful world."

4. An increase in the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour.

5. Extension and strengthening of rent controls which are due to expire Feb. 29.

6. Broadened social security coverage and increased benefit payments.

7. Legislation to protect civil rights.

8. A national health program finance by compulsory insurance.

Truman coupled American economic aid under the proposed European recovery plan with armed might as equal necessities in keeping peace.

Power Demand Up

TORONTO, Jan. 7—(CP).—Primary demands for power in Ontario last November totalled 2,193,317 kilowatts, an increase of four per cent. over November, 1946, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission announced today. Total power generated by the commission was 2,013,777 kilowatts, a 3.4 per cent. increase over the same period in 1946.

Two Explosions Level Gas Works Building

MONTREAL, Jan. 7—(CP)—Two early-morning explosions today levelled a two-storey gas works building at the Montreal Locomotive Works in the city's east end and sent six men to hospital, one of them in serious condition.

Damage was heavy but first fears that there might be heavy loss of life were not borne out.

The first blast in the gas-making shop came at 7:55 a.m. and was heard over a wide area in east and north Montreal. The second blast came at 8:18 a.m. Immediately the call went out from the plant for ambulances and three sped to the scene.

One man taken to hospital was described as in "serious condition." Others were said to be "horribly burned."

The sprawling plant covers possibly a square mile in the east end on Notre Dame St. East. Nearby buildings were shaken and some damaged.

Debris Scattered

Parts of the debris of the gas works were found as far as 2,000 yards from the scene of the blast.

In main works buildings windows were shattered and brickwork damaged. A tall brick chimney a considerable distance from the origination-point of the explosion suffered a gaping hole.

Witness said that just before the explosion all workers' acetylene torches went out because no more gas was coming through the pipelines.

But a company source said the exact cause of the blast was unknown. No immediate estimate of the damage was given.

Oshawa Lad 3 Dies After Good Christmas

OSHAWA, Jan. 7 — (CP). — Three-year-old Johnny Buechler died to-day of leukemia.

Stricken last August by the dread blood disease in which the white cells crowd out health-giving red cells, Johnny barely survived the Christmas which the doctors knew would be his last.

But it was a happy Christmas. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buechler, did everything possible to make it the biggest day in Johnny's life. And added to the decorations, the Christmas tree and the gifts they had for him were many toys sent by manufacturers who heard of the little boy's plight.

Need US Aid To Keep On Cripps Says

Must Use Own Efforts To Help Reduce Big Dollar Deficit

By JOHN DAUPHINEE

LONDON, Jan. 7. — (CP).— Britain must not count on aid under the Marshall plan, Sir Stafford Cripps said today, but he admitted that "we shall be in a grave position" without it.

Telling his fortnightly press conference that despite the country's best efforts there will be a dollar deficit of £300,000,000 ($1,200,000,000) during 1948, the Chancellor of the Exchequer said that Britain, without United States help, would be forced to reduce stitll further imports of food and raw materials from the western hemisphere.

"Without assistance as far as the dollar shortage is concerned, we could not play our part in European recovery and therefore in recovery of the world as a whole, but should be driven back upon a policy of immediate self-preservation."

Even Marshall aid, he warned, would allow no let-up in Britain's fight for survival.

"We must rely more and more on our own efforts than on any form of outside aid. And let's have no doubts that these efforts will have to be determined and sustained."

The Chancellor estimated 1947 imports at £1,600,000,000 and exports at £1,140,000,000 leaving a visible current trade deficit of about £460,000,000. The gap still is about £32,000,000 monthly.

The dollar drain is even greater, now running to something less than $45,000,000 weekly, he said. That was less than half the rate in the month after the suspension of sterling convertibility Aug. 20. But reserves at the year-end were only about £500,000,000 plus about £145,000,000 of United States and Canadian loans.

"We cannot afford to continue drawing upon reserves for the sterling area at that rate," he said.

British exporters also were running into price difficulties. Exports in November were 112 per cent of the 1938 value and the target for the end of 1948 was 140 per cent. But "many of our products now are beginning to meet competition."

Union Demands DP's Be Halted

MONTREAL, Jan. 7 (CP) — The Canadian district office, United Textile Workers of America (AFL) in a statement to-day said the union had called on Labor Minister Mitchell to halt importation of displaced persons by a textile concern in Welland.

In a letter to Mr. Mitchell. R. Kent Rowley, Canadian director, asked "that you intervene immediately in this situation in order, firstly, to halt the plans of the Woods Manufacturing Co., and, secondly, to institute an inquiry into the whole matter."

The letter stated: "We are strongly opposed to the whole principle of importing workers to this country through the hands of private industry, as this right of organized immigration should remain the sole prerogative of the Dominion Federal Government. Secondly, we are specifically opposed to the bringing of these workers to the Welland plant in view of the company's clear refusal to co-operate with the union in this matter."

Forger Floods Britain With Clothing Coupons

LONDON, Jan. 7—(Reuters)—Scotland Yard headquarters today searched for the man believed to be behind large-scale production of fake clothing coupons flooding Britain and threatening to disrupt the clothes rationing system.

The manhunt began after detectives swooped on two houses in west London last night and seized printing machinery believed to have been used by an expert forger to turn out coupons which only an expert could distinguish from those issued by the Board of Trade.

CAKE AND CANDIES FOR SUZANNE — Baby Suzanne Pamela Eggleton was one year old Tuesday. She was born with an incomplete oesophagus, but in a operation performed for the first time in Canada on a newly-born infant, she was able to take solid foods within four months. Tuesday, at a modest party, she proved that she could eat solid food by putting away a sizeable helping of birthday cake.

Minus Food Pipe At Birth Child Eats Cake On Birthday

A happy, normal child marked her first birthday Tuesday —thanks to the skill and knowledge of modern surgery in performing the first operation of its kind in Canada. The little girl is Suzanne Eggleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eggleton, 96 Aylmer Street. About 53 weeks ago, at the time of her birth, nature played a mean trick on Suzanne by providing her with an incomplete oesophagus, the pipe which carries food from the mouth to the stomach. Only one-quarter the necessary length, the vital tube was not open at the lower end, leaving no passageway for food. Dr. Ralph Clark, Peterborough, the attendant physician at the birth, had the child sent at once to the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children.

The operation, performued for the first time in Canada on the new-born child within a few days after its birth, was a complicated one which held danger. It was carried out skilfully.

The surgeon made the difficult connection between the gullet and the short throat tube by making an incision between the spine and shoulder blade. One lung had to be moved slightly forward to accomplish this.

Yesterday, Suzanne shared her 365th with her parents and a small group of relatives at their home here. Now able to eat normally (she began eating solids at four months), she demonstrated this by eating birthday cake. Her last trip to the Toronto hospital was four months ago, at which time the tube was dilated. Except for a routine general check-up a little later, no further hospital attention will be required, it is believed.

Included in the visitors to the party were Mrs. C. Macintosh, Suzanne's grandmother, Mrs. Haylock, Mrs. M. Perry and Sherry and Alan Wesenberg.

15 Passengers Killed In Crash

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 7.—(AP).—Fifteen persons were killed and nine injured today when a Coastal Airlines twin-engined plane crashed in a marsh on the Savannah river.

The plane, on a chartered flight, was en route from Philadelphia to Miami, Fla.

Frank Bell, reporter of the Savannah Evening Press, reported from the scene that the pilot and co-pilot were among the dead. All the passengers were Puerto Ricans en route to their homeland. Bell said that all the injured appeared to be in serious condition. They were transferred to the Coast Guard cutter Auroro which started for Savannah.

The crash occurred in the thick marshland about three miles off the Wilmington island airport. The huge DC-3 ship was practically demolished.

The civil aeronautics authority said it had conflicting reports as to whether the plane burned.

Heavy Seas Hamper Attempts to Locate, Aid Five Ships Battered Off British Coast

LONDON, Jan. 7 (Reuters)—Heavy seas today hampered attempts to locate and help craft which ran into difficulties during gales which have been sweeping Britain's coastline since the middle of last week.

Nothing has been heard of the Cardiff motor vessel Teasel, 290 tons, since she sent out an SOS in the Irish Sea last night, and the Isle of Man lifeboat returned to shore to refuel after a fruitless all-night search. Anson aircraft of the RAF based in Northern Ireland, joined in the hunt. A coast guard official said today "I doubt very much whether the Teasel can have survived."

The United States freighter Lawrence D. Tyson was brought safely into Plymouth after a tow of more than 100 miles through heavy seas by the tug Dexterous. The American ship had been drifting helplessly, with engines out of commission, for nearly 12 hours at the mercy of a 60-mile-an-hour gale.

Two of three ships which were aground last night are still fast. The third, the 9,000-ton City of London, inward bound from Rotterdam, was refloated from sand banks off Margate on which she stuck last night. The Italian steamer Silvia Onorato was still firmly aground on the Goodwin Sands at mid-day today, although it was hoped to jettison her lead ore cargo before nightfall. The third ship, the 340-ton Yarmouth coaster Lynn Trader, on the rocks in Bridlington Bay, Yorkshire, was reported to be in no immediate danger.

TLC Protests Spiralling Meat Prices

Farmers' Federation Can't Understand Reason For Big Jump

TORONTO, Jan. 7 (CP)—Don Dunlop, president of the Ontario Federation of the Trades and Labor Congress, said today a formal demand for reimposition of price controls will be made at the federation's forthcoming convention.

Mr. Dunlop, who said the 300 convention delegates represent 200,000 organized workers, added that the gathering will "unquestionably take a position in favor of substantial wage increases to compensate for increases in the cost of living."

The three-day convention will start Jan. 16.

The labor official's statement was the latest local reaction to a new wave of food price increases, particularly on pork and beef products.

Side bacon is being sold here at as high as 85 cents a pound, a 20-cent increase over last week's top price. Other pork products now cost up to 12 cents more than they did a week ago.

Similar increases have gone into effect in many other parts of Canada. Galt butchers boosted prices to 75 cents a pound for side bacon and $1 for back bacon. Side bacon shot up to 95 cents a pound in Edmonton and 90 cents in Medicine Hat, Alta.

Increases were reported today in Stratford where pork product prices advanced by from four to 15 cents a pound and most beef cuts were three and four cents a pound more expensive.

Fowl prices have been boosted three and four cents a pound in Calgary.

Mrs. R. J. Marshall, national president of the Canadian Association of Consumers, said here that an "emergency" meeting of the association's executive will be held in Toronto Jan. 14.

Dan Roose, past president of the Toronto Retail Butchers' Association, said "hundreds" of butchers are in favor of reimposition of price ceilings "but only if the federal government have the courage to put a ceiling on livestock."

Can't Understand Jump

Two officials of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, here for the opening of the federation's three-day 11th annual convention, said they cannot understand the reason for the sudden jump in meat prices.

"We don't feel there is any justification for the exorbitant increases that have taken place in meat prices this week," said R. A. Stewart of Timonte, federation president. He added that as long as consumers are willing to pay the increased prices, they are likely to continue.

V. S. Milburn, federation secretary, said: "Farmers now are receiving five cents a pound increase on bacon—dressed weight basis — while overseas contracts have been increased seven cents. So it's hard for us to see why the prices should have to be jumped to the extent which they have."

Marooned Trapper Taken From Island

NEW GLASGOW, N.S., Jan. 7—(CP)—Rescue parties today brought to safety 65-year-old Louis Sapier, peg-legged Indian trapper who had been marooned on a deserted Merigomish Harbor island since Christmas.

The trapper was stranded when ice formed over the water between Indian Island, eight miles northeast of here, and the mainland.

Planes were unable to land on the island because of the rocky shoreline.

Yesterday, while a chartered plane dropped food to the marooned trapper, Chief Bernard planned another rescue attempt.

This time he and four young Micmacs started for the island with a small dory which they pushed before them over the ice as a safety measure.

Appoint Conciliator

OTTAWA, Jan. 7—(CP).—Labor Minister Mitchell announced today the appointment of H. R. Pettigrove, industrial relations officer, as conciliation officer in a wage dispute involving Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railway Company and an estimated 115,000 employees. Mr. Mitchell said Mr. Pettigrove is expected to confer with the two groups in Montreal next week.

Jews Disguised As Policemen Hurl 2 Bombs

JERUSALEM, Jan. 7—(AP)—Jews disguised as Palestine policemen rolled a bomb into the Jaffa gate of the old walled city of Jerusalem today from a crudely armored motor car and killed 10 Arabs.

The first official announcement said at least eight were killed and 42 injured.

An Arab policeman and a Jew were killed by another bomb tossed from the car in flight.

Police said two Jews subsequently were shot to death in fleeing afoot after the car was wrecked and that two others were wounded and captured. The police said the vehicle was a Jewish settlement police car stolen form a garage "by 10 armed Jews."

A witness said the car, armed with machine-guns, drew up to the Jaffa gate firing into the crowd and moving slowly.

"Then as we thought they were turning away," he said, "the bomb rolled into the street and the explosion followed."

Some shooting followed immediately and a column of smoke several hundred feet high arose from the area of the wall, from which Arabs have been beseiging 1,500 Jews. Private sources said an Arab crowd was the target.

The attack car sped away through the crowded Arab quarter to the corner of Mamillah Road and St. Julian's Way, where another bomb was hurled, killing an Arab policeman and a Jew and injuring a British constable.

The occupants soon abandoned the car and fled by foot through an ancient Moslem cemetery.

The Jaffa gate lies next to the Damascus gate, the most heavily used entrance to the old city.

Other violence marked this day of the Christmas observance of nearly 100,000 Christian Arabs of the eastern churches, which use the Julian calendar. Mayor Issa Bandak of Bethlehem, an Arab, issued a Christmas plea for peace —and an Arab victory.

Brick Schoolhouse Destroyed By Fire

MIDLAND, Jan. 7—(CP)—Fire early today destroyed a brick schoolhouse at Perkinsfield, four miles west of this Georgian Bay port town, causing damage estimated at $50,000.

Michael Asselin, Tiny township clerk, said only a small part of the loss is covered by insurance.

Although hampered by a poor water supply, the Midland fire brigade, assisted by some 25 citizens, were able to save an adjoining one-classroom building. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

Workers Out For Lunch Time Of Fire

Temporary Wall On First Floor Wrecked By Blast

LINDSAY, Jan. 7 — (Special to Examiner) — An explosion followed by a fire wrecked a portion of the Varcuum Chemical Company factory in the east end shortly after 12 o'clock today, and only the fact that employees were at lunch eliminated the possibility of injuries.

The explosion occurred in a dust collector and firemen are of the opinion, the collector became overloaded and a spark from the motor caused the blast. The gases forced their way through a metal emergency duct, tearing it apart and blew out a large section of a temporary wooden wall on the ground floor. Fire followed and spread to the second floor, where much valuable machinery is located.

Use Gas Masks

The firemen had to don gas masks to get through the gas and smoke-filled second-storey, and while they had little trouble subduing the flames, the damage from water will be heavy. The loss is mostly to chemicals which have been partly processed.

One employee, Noble Dean, 37, was standing alongside the dust collector less than 10 seconds before the explosion and is alive because he walked away before the blast took place.

Damage according to reliable sources will run into several thousand dollars and work will be suspended pending rebuilding of the wall, and general cleaning up of the plants. The blast rocked the entire plant, but employees were eating lunch some distance from the collector and no person was injured.

Assisted Firemen

Employees of the Dominion Brake Shoe Company close by, hurried to the scene carrying fire extinguishers, and gave valuable assistance to the Lindsay Fire Department.

The plant is mainly engaged in the manufacture of chemicals used in the processing of brake linings, and the gases which harried the firemen were more distressing than dangerous, causing a smarting of the eyes, and irritation of the nasal passages.

W. W. Parker, manager of the plant refused to make a statement on either the possible cause of the blast or the extent of the damage, but an Examiner reporter was at the scene of the explosion a short time after it occurred.

The Lindsay Fire Department made a fast run to the plant and had everything under control in less than half an hour.

Three Poisoned

YOUNG'S POINT, Jan. 7 — (ENS)—Dr. Gastle of Lakefield attended the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Crapp on Monday, when the family and one boarder were stricken with ptomaine poisoning. It was thought that the cause of the poisoning was a tin of corn. This was ascertained because two other boarders, who had eaten no corn, were the only members of the household not stricken. All have recovered.

Singapore Unions Refuse To Unload Canadian Ship

SINGAPORE, Jan. 7 — (AP). — The Singapore Federation of Trade Unions announced today that a boycott had been proclaimed by all harbor workers against the Canadian vessel Oceanside, which it said "is carrying arms and ammunition to the Nanking government" in China.

The Singapore Harbor Board said the Oceanside is waiting to discharge local cargo for Singapore before proceeding to China. A trade union spokesman said all Chinese, Indian and Malay workmen voted yesterday to refuse to unload the Oceanside or any future ships carrying ammunition to China. He said the amount of arms aboard the Oceanside was unknown but "considerable."

Patterson, Simons and Company, the ship's local agents, denied the Oceanside was carrying arms. They said the 7,158-ton Oceanside was owned by the Andros Shipping Company of Montreal and sailed from Montreal.

Peter MacRitchie, former city editor of the Montreal Gazette who is a passenger aboard the ship, termed the trade unions charges "absolute nonsense." He said stevedores had already discharged a local cargo of onions and potash despite the union's announcement that the ship was being boycotted and would not be unloaded.

"There is no explosive of any kind aboard," MacRitchie told reporters.

It was the second boycott by harbor workers here since Christmas. They refused to handle the Canadian ship Cliffside, which arrived in Singapore on Christmas Day, carrying 2,500 tons of ammunition, four Mosquito bombers and an unassembled small arms plant destined for the Nanking Government.

Government sources in Ottawa said recently the arms shipments from Canada were part of a $10,500,000 Mosquito plane deal negotiated between Canada and China some time ago, under which Canada is to ship 170 surplus planes, equipped with guns and ammunition and ground maintenance equipment.

Abdicate Or Be Prisoner Ultimatum Handed Michael

GENEVA, Jan. 7.—(Reuters).—Former King Michael of Romania had either "to bow to force or be taken prisoner," the Journal De Geneve declared today quoting a "sure source" for a dramatic account of the methods said to have been used to secure Michael's abdication.

The newspaper said that on Dec. 30, on an urgent and unexpected summons from the Romanian Prime Minister Groza, Michael drove to Bucharest with a secretary from his palace at Sinaia, where he was spending the Christmas holidays.

In Bucharest, at the palace of his aunt, Princess Elizabeth of Romania, he found awaiting him Dr. Groza and the Communist vice-premier.

The newspaper report said the ministers presented him with the act of abdication, in the terms in which it was later published, and asked him to sign it at once.

Extremely surprised, said the paper, Michael asked for time to study the document. But, looking out of a window, he saw that the palace had been surrounded by a regiment loyal to the Government, and that some empty cars were waiting outside.

The paper continued: "Michael either had to bow to force or be taken prison at the risk of disturbances in the country, and of repressive measures of which his subjects would have been the victims.

"The King did not wish to bring frseh tragedies upon his country. He signed."

The newspaper added that this dramatic scene had scarcely ended when placards bearing the words, "People's Republic of Romania," appeared in the streets.

Confidential Pipelines Bring Information From Capitals To UN Chief

11 Now Operating, Another Soon Will Open In Russian Capital; Reports On Internal Affairs Of World Nations

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 7—(AP).—Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general, has laid confidential pipelines to siphon information from many of the world's major capitals, including three cities in the Russian sphere, it was learned today. Material is fed into the lines from a network of UN information centre established and still being set up around the globe. The 12th office in the string, at Moscow, will be in operation by the end of this month.

UN offices already are functioning in Warsaw, Prague, London, Paris, Washington, Shanghai, Rio de Janeiro, Mexico City, Copenhagen, New Delhi and Geneva. Another will be opened in the Middle East and still others in three cities to be selected in Latin America, Asia and Africa.

Publicly, the offices are responsible for dissemination and collection of UN intelligence by parcelling out documents and pamphlets, arranging for speakers and reporting reaction back to Lake Success. These reaction reports cover newspaper and radio treatment of UN news and are distributed here weekly in an opinion survey.

However, one of the major tasks of the overseas offices is to send confidential reports direct to Lie's office on the internal situation in the respective countries as it affects the UN distribution of such highly-classified reports is carefully restricted to Lie himself and the top men in his "cabinet" of assistant secretaries-general and closest advisors.

The amount and extent of the confidential reports depends entirely on the director of the UN office in each of the respective cities. So far nationals of the home countries have been employed by the UN to run these centres.

In assigning the men, the UN has stipulated that each UN information director must dissociate himself from political movements in his own country in order to maintain "an impartial and international view."

Report Reuther Orders Purge

TORONTO, Jan. 7 (CP)—A Toronto paper said in a newspage story today that a "housecleaning" of the international staff of the Canadian Region of the United Auto Workers Union (CIO) had been ordered by Walter Reuther, international president of the union.

The newspaper said that staff members dismissed include Mr. Drummond Wren, educational director of the union in Canada; Harry Rowe, public relations director; and international representatives John Eldon of Windsor and Fred Steeve of St. Catharines.

"The shake-up in staff has apparently been ordered by Reuther in an effort to balance the pro-Reuther strength in the union against followers of Canadian director George Burt, who hold most of the staff posts," said the newspaper.

"Previously two staff representatives were fired by Burt on orders of Reuther to reduce the Canadian staff."

Blame Wiring, Furnace For Blaze In Elmira

ELMIRA, Jan. 7 — (CP) — Either faulty electric wiring or an over-heated furnace last night was blamed by Fire Chief Henry Conrad for the $100,000 conflagration which early yesterday destroyed or damaged six business establishments, two apartments, a dental office and the quarters of two fraternal organizations.

Chief of the fire department in this Waterloo county town 12 miles north of Kitchener for the past 28 years, Mr. Conrad could scarcely open his eyes, swollen and smarting after the battle against smoke and fire that lasted more than seven hours until the blaze was brought under control at dawn.

Final Returns Show Purdy Down 32 Votes

HAVELOCK, Jan. 7.—(ENS).—When full returns were received from the eight polls in Belmont and Methuen townships, William Griffith retained his majority of 32 over Carl Purdy for the reeveship. Mr. Griffith had a total of 292 votes against Mr. Purdy's total of 260. In the election two years ago Mr. Purdy defeated Mr. Griffith by a majority of 166.

Norris Whitney of Oak Lake, a newcomer, headed the poll with a total of 292. Ross Barrons came next with 272 votes, and George Newton in third place with 267 votes. Both Mr. Barrons and Mr. Newton were members of the 1947 council, the latter having eight consecutive years of service as councillor to his credit. Donald Anderson, the second newcomer, came in fourth place with 253 votes.

The defeated candidates are:

R. Wrightly	210
E. Keating	197
W. Ketchen	195
O. Brown	133

A coincidence is that the reeve-elect and high man on council polled the same number of votes, 292.

Stanhope Farmer Sets Record, Reeve 32 Years

Ben. J. Sawyer, brawny six-foot farmer from Stanhope township in the heart of the Haliburton Highlands has set what may be an Ontario record for municipal service.

On Monday he defeated Clayton Rogers, Carnarvon storekeeper, 144 to 81, to regain the reeveship. Thus he starts his 32nd term as reeve. For 31 consecutive years Ben Sawyer directed the finances and government of the picturesque township. A year ago he quit and Clayton Rogers was named by acclamation.

Ben didn't like the way the reeve handled the job, he figured he could get larger road grants, so this year he tossed his hat into the ring, and the people gave him the go signal again.

One of Ben's five sons, Peter, served for four years as councillor under his father, and one year under Clayton Rogers, but pressure of wok forced his retirement this year.

Keene Hunter

Ben Sawyer is a colorful, well known north country character. A keen deer hunter, he has been a guide for years, and his hunting camp is a favorite with many Canadians and Americans. He is a fisherman par excellent, and can recall when 40-pound lake trout were as common as small-mouth black bass in the Highlands. Sawyer knows the lakes and rugged country like few other men, and his broad knowledge and great hunting and fishing ability makes him a favorite with the Americans. He has successively been farmer, lumberman, guide, deer hunter, fisherman, trapper and resort owner. For some years he owned and operated Maple Lake Lodge, but sold it about five years ago.

His home is located on the east shore of Maple Lake, in a beautiful spot, and the owner, now 74 years of age, is just as active and vigorous as he was a quarter of a century ago.

Stanhope township is about five miles north of Minden and within its boundaries are some of the finest fishing spots in the Highlands of Haliburton.

Find Trapper Missing For 2 Years

Hunter Sees Arm Hanging Out Window, Finds Body In Shack

HEARST, Jan. 7 (CP)—A two-year hunt for Adelard Laroche, 37-year-old trapper, ended yesterday with identification of a skeleton found by a hunter in a tiny, snow-covered shack five miles north of here.

The hunter, Howard Gino, almost passed the shack, he told police. But a casual glance back showed him a broken window from which protruded a bandaged arm.

Ontario Provincial Constable T. N. Holledge went on snowshoes to examine the shack, just big enough for a bunk and a stove.

A ration book and an old arm injury identified the remains as those of Laroche, object of a long search by his father, Joseph, and a brother, Arthur, both of Hearst.

Constable Holledge found the shack in order. Laroche's body had been twisted as from a painful illness. Wild animals are thought to have pushed in a window in attempts to drag out the body. There was no food in the shack.

Very Sensitive

Laroche's father said that Adelard broke his left arm about 15 years ago. With no medical attention available, the injury had become complicated and tuberculosis had set in. The younger Laroche went finally to Toronto, where several operations were performed on the arm.

The adversity tended to make Laroche a recluse, the father said. The trapper stopped his visits to Hearst and had his brother Arthur bring him supplies and pick up pelts.

Two years ago, Laroche visited Hearst and announced he had abandoned his shack. He disappeared shortly afterward.

16 Die, 7 Hurt In 2 Crashes

LONDON, Jan. 7.—(CP).—Sixteen persons perished and seven others were hurt in two separate plane crashes last night in London and Paris, and two persons were feared missing in a third plane reported down in the English Channel.

An Air France DC-4 from Brussels crashed and burned while coming in for a landing at Le Bourget Field in Paris, killing 15 of the 16 persons on board, including three Americans. A Polish woman was the only survivor. She was thrown clear with two other persons who died later from their injuries.

The plane was gliding in for a landing at Le Bourget when it scraped the tops of some trees, fell into a clearing and burst into flames.

The London crash also was a landing mishap. A British European Airways twin-engined Viking hit a tree in the rain while coming into suburban Northolt airdrome from Glasgow. The pilot was killed and six of the other 14 persons aboard were injured, three seriously.

The plane circled the field several times, then on the last attempt crashed into a tree and slithered nearly 100 yards along a ploughed field.

Meanwhile, rescue boats searched the channel for a small civilian aircraft feared down 10 miles off Margate. The RAF reported it had lost contact after the pilot reported he was running short of fuel with one passenger aboard.

Woman's Taunt and Drinks Drive German To Surrender

PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 7—(CP).—A small, balding German prisoner of war, Willi Henrich Ott Paezel, who surrendered to Fort William police New Year's Day after 18 months of freedom, was en route to Halifax today in custody of two members of the Canadian army provost. He is to be deported to England. The 35-year-old German, captured in the South Pacific by a boarding party from the Royal Canadian Navy cruiser Prince Henry, said in an interview just prior to his departure that he would "like" to stay in Canada—I will call it my country."

Since his escape August, 1946, from internment on a fruit farm at West Lorn, Ont., near London, he had worked in bush camps in the Lakehead area and aboard Great Lakes vessel.

Moved Around

Paezel, who took the alias of Max Raynold after his escape, said he made his way along the highway to St. Thomas and boarded a train there for London. From that city he went by train to Toronto. From Toronto he boarded another train for North Bay.

Paezel said that he was hired as a timber worker near North Bay. He worked on the job for some months but decided that he had better move on when the camp clerk began to ask him questions about his ration book. The German said he told the clerk that he had lost his book. The clerk told him where he could get another but Paezel figured he might have difficulty in convincing ration authorities he was a bona fide Canadian.

Fearful of discovery, he moved on to Sudbury, where he worked 2½ months for a construction company. Paezel then came to Port Arthur for Christmas, 1946.

Asked why he gave himself up, he said that a woman friend had called him a liar and this had led to a few drinks too many. He talked too much about himself and on sobering up realized his mistake and decided to surrender.

To Stand Trial On Charge Of Killing Wife

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 7 —(CP)—Despite a defence proposal that the charge be reduced to manslaughter, Joseph Vernon Welch, 24-year-old war veteran of nearby Aylmer, today stood committed for trial on a charge of murder in the poison death of his wife Florence in their apartment here last Aug. 21.

Expert crown witnesses testified at the preliminary hearing yesterday that poison was found in the body of the 31-year-old woman who had served overseas with the C.W.A.C. and police said a quantity of the same poison was found in a shaving kit in the home.

Defence counsel George McNabb appealed for reduction of the charge to one of manslaughter on the grounds no evidence had been given "to show in any degree that the poison had been administered by the accused," who was arrested at Chorley Park Military Hospital in Toronto Nov. 20 while awaiting posting after application for re-enlistment in the permanent army.

Dr. Joslyn Rogers of Toronto, provincial pathologist, said that in the autospy he had isolated one-eighth of a grain of poison in the stomach and that traces were found in other internal organs. He told Magistrate E. Donald Smith that more than a grain would have to be administered to leave that much in the stomach.

Dr. Rogers was one of five who testified. Others were: Harley Johnson, Aylmer, brother-in-law who identified the body; Dr. F. W. Luney, London, district pathologist who conducted the autopsy; Dr. E. W. Kierluk, Aylmer, who had treated the woman several weeks before her death, and Cpl. Ben Milligan of the provincial police.

Firming Tendencies Noted On Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—(CP). — Firming tendencies were noticeable as action improved after a listless opening of the stock exchange today. SERVED 27 YEARS—Walter Bitten, Norwood, was defeated in the civic elections of the village on Monday. With more than a quarter of a century of service on public bodies, he had been a village councillor for 23 years and a member of the Board of Education for four years. His defeat at the polls came as a surprise.

Praises Dam Project

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (CP)—Sir Miles Thomas, president of a new commission to plan industrial development of Rhodesia, returned from a visit to the territories and described a dam project across the Zambesi River as "an engineering achievement as great as the four most modern dams built in the United States in recent years combined."

Thousands Flee Flood In Oregon

Six Days Of Rain, Chinook Winds Cause Disaster

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 7 — (AP). — The flood crest of the Willamette River swirled northward today from this stricken upper valley area, leaving thousands of persons in the care of relief agencies.

One child was drowned in a rain-swollen ditch.

Along a hundred-mile stretch of the rich farmlands in the middle and lower valley, where tributaries have already burst their banks, communities braced for greater inundation of lowlands, highways and more evacuations.

Six days of incessant rains have pounded western Oregon and the weather bureau forecast was for continued rain today and tonight. Warm Chinook winds off the Pacific have caused mountain snows to melt, adding to the flooding conditions in the valley.

Evacuate 1,400

A dozen families were made homeless when a creek overflowed, sweeping away a tent colony. In the lowlands the Red Cross directed evacuation of some 1,400 persons to higher ground. They are being cared for in school auditoriums, fire halls and lodge rooms in the area.

The United States Army Engineers' Corps, which issued orders placing its major flood control plan into effect yesterday, has instructed farmers in lowlands of the middle valley to remove livestock from fields along the rivers. At Portland, the coast guard auxiliary prepared motor boats for use in possible rescue activity.

The principal north-sound highway route through the heart of the state was severed at several points. In scattered areas of the upper valley there were half a dozen villages isolated by broken communications and power service. A few were cut off when roads were flooded.

Canadian householder's budget, this capital was humming today with rumors of new price ceilings and relaxations of import controls.

But all of them went without official confirmation as the government kept secret any plans it might have for bringing down the rocketing costs of meats, butter and fresh vegetables.

However, official quarters made no secret of the fact that some prices are considered out of line, particularly among the newly-jumped meat prices that followed the announcement of higher British contracts.

While there were persistent reports that ceilings would be reimposed on beef and pork unless consumer costs dropped immediately, other reports said the government was banking on prices slipping back after their sudden week-end surge.

Nothing to Report

More reports swirled about the question of impending action on fresh vegetables—prices of which have been shooting skyward as the result of the "austerity" ban on U.S. imports — but again officials said they had no information of any measure decided upon.

A well-informed Prices Board source said he doubted the validity of a rumor among Montreal fruit and vegetable brokers that the ban was to be lifted on certain fresh vegetables Jan. 15 to bolster dwindling Canadian supplies.

There was no doubt the government would move to augment supplies if an acute shortage developed, he said. Pointing to a Nov. 24 statement of the finance minister to this effect. But he was sure no date had been set.

Mayor Remarks, Money Will Be Tight

COBOURG, Jan. 7.—(ENS).—Mayor Joseph Smith, in his remarks to the inaugural meeting of the 1948 council Tuesday night, warned that money would be tight in the ensuing year. Basing his remarks on the announced stand of the Bank of Canada relative to government bonds, Mayor Smtih declared that there would be no more borrowing available at 2½ p.c. and that the days of low interest financing were gone. Financial circles had been shaken by the government move on bonds, he said.

"Municipalities should not embark on any spending spree this year," he warned, "and major expenditures should be given careful consideration before being incurred.

The inaugural meeting was opened by prayer with Rev. R. L. Seaborn of St. Peter's Anglican church conducting a short devotional service.

A letter from the Business and Professional Women's Club, expressing their interest in civic matters was received and filed. A letter from the Canadian Federation of Mayors soliciting 1948 membership was referred to the Finance committee with power to act. Two firms submitted prices and specifications on snow plowing equipment which were referred to the Streets committee o report. Requests for grants were referred to the Finance committee.

The Counties Health Unit informed council that no reserve of ashes is being built up at the town dump to be used for covering garbage in the summer. The town clerk pointed out that the 1947 contract with the garbage collector did not call for separation of ashes and garbage, nor did householders keep them separate. Councillor H. Brent suggested that the garbage collector be asked to collect them separately. The matter was left to the Health and Sanitation committee for report at the next meeting.

A communication from Percy Greene, manager of the public utilities commission, requested that his department be notified when any unusually large amount of water was to be used from the town hydrants. Council indicated its willingness to co-operate in that respect.

Council passed the customary bylaw authorizing the borrowing of money from the bank at not over 4 p.c., to an amount not to exceed $130,000. The town clerk explained that the bank already is owed $50,000 by the town. $32,000 is needed for current expenditures and another $50,000 by the end of April, the clerk said. The last amount is to pay for trunk sewer work now going on.

The question of paying H. Ferguson, supervisor of the dump, for the use of his tractor, was referred to the Health and Sanitation committee.

Arrest 2 Men For $300 Theft

COBOURG, Jan. 7—(ENS). — Two men, one from Cobourg and one from Fenella, have been arrested in connection with the two months old theft of around $300 cash and an expensive cash register from a local hotel. The cash register was found yesterday near the village of Baltimore. The arrest of the two men was the result of an investigation conducted by Chief W. J. Carey of Cobourg, and the two men were apprehended by Chief Carey and Constable H. Pearse of the local police department, assisted by Provincial Constable Don Nicol. The men are in custody and will be charged with theft, Chief Carey said.

Rush Police Patrols

VICTORIA, Jan. 7—(CP)—Additional British Columbia police details are being rushed to the Doukhobor country near Nelson, B.C. last night to inaugurate a system of patrols, it was learned here. Action came immediately after a Monday night fire, "possibly of incendiary origin," demolished a one-room schoolhouse at Blueberry Creek, near Castlegar, in the West Kotenays.

RCMP Bond Seizure Leads To Black Market

OTTAWA, Jan. 7 — (CP)— R. C. M. P. officers disclosed today that their investigation into the $1,000,000 in government bonds seized in Montreal last week has led to evidence linking it with black market operations.

"The investigations should be completed within a few days," said Commissioner S. T. Wood, "and then we expect to effect an arrest."

Commissioner Wood gave no further details.

The $1,000,000 was seized by Exchange Control Board officers from a safety deposit vault in a Montreal bank. The bonds were registered under a fictitious name by a Montreal resident whose name is known to police, but has not yet been made public.

Debenture Debt Drops

TORONTO, Jan. 7—(CP)—The gross debenture debt of the Ontario municipalities at the end of 1946 was $214,648,074, the lowest since 1919, figures released today by Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar revealed. The reduction over 1945 was $16,236,338. The net debenture debt for 1946 amounted to $182,363,391.

505 Seeking Jobs On Dec. 31

A report from the National Employment Office, Barrie Building, reveals that so far no word has been received on when any displaced persons will be allocated to Peterborough. The three hospitals have each applied for a number of DP's. It is also reported that there is no word of any more Polish veterans expected in the district to serve their two year farmwork contract.

Statistics reveal that up to December, 1947, there were 64 jobs open for male and four jobs open for female employees, whereas at December 31, 1946, there were 22 jobs open for male and 46 open for female employees.

The end of 1947 showed applicants for work as 402 male and 103 female. In 1946 the figures stood at 498 males and 31 females.

The number of males on claim at the end of 1947 was 298 and females 70. In 1946 there were 262 males on claim and 18 females. In that year there also were 146 veterans drawing out of work benefit under the DVA scheme.

The manager of the National Employment Office, Mr. W. Mellis is of the opinion that any lay offs that might have taken place recently are seasonal. There have been a number of small layoffs in the city but this need give no rise to a general alarm. Many industries have had to employ temporary labor in order to cover peak production, but as that peak period has passed the temporary labor was released.

BUDAPEST, Jan. 7—(AP). — The newspaper Uj Hirek said today gypsy thieves had taken five old master paintings from an uninhabited castle at Bodogkovaralja, boiled them in water and used the canvas as uppers for home-made shoes. The report said remnants of a painting by Velasquez were discovered later in a gypsy hut, but that four Titians disappeared completely as footgear.

Car, Truck Meet In Head-On Crash

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 7 — (ENS)—A car and a truck met in a head-on collision, Tuesday, at the bend in the road as it passes under the railway bridge on Mill St. The radiator and hood of the car were pushed back and the front fenders were crumpled, but damage to the truck was negligible.

Cobourg To Get 20 More Houses

COBOURG, Jan. 7 — (ENS). — Twenty houses will be built in Cobourg, and more can be constructed if desired, under a housing plan of the Central Mortgage Corporation. Council has given its approval to the project and work will be started next spring. Site of the houses is an area near the present Wartime Housing units. The new houses will be provided with basements and have hot air heating.

It is pointed out that the housing is not limited to these twenty but will be continued until enough have been constructed, and the additional dwellings will not have to be in blocks of houses but can be built on selected lots. The housing project will not interfere with construction by other housing concerns.

The new housing area is located close enough to the Wartime Housing that the utilities facilities installed for the latter project can be extended readily to the new housing. Rentals have not been set but will be in the neighborhood of $37.50 per month There will be no immediate outlay by the town, as the government provides the cost of land, and utilities if necessary, to be amortized over ten years at two per cent.

The government through Central Mortgage builds, maintains the houses and collects the rental. World War II veterans have the first chance at the houses and can rent or buy. The town will receive an amount in lieu of taxes which is not to exceed the taxes, exclusive of local improvement rates, paid by a private owner on a comparable type of house.

Raise Hospital Prices?

TORONTO, Jan. 7 — (CP) — Alarmed at the continuing increases in food prices, superintendents of Toronto hospitals said last night that a boost in hospital treatment rates is inevitable. A. J. PRICES and RESTRICTIONS

THIS COMPANY is now taking orders from its customers for delivery up to April 30th, 1948, at the same prices as were established last October, some time after price ceilings and the subsidy on raw cotton were ended.

There has been an increase of 4½ cents per pound in the raw cotton market since our present prices were first established. A corresponding increase in our prices would be justified, but we have decided not to make this change. Any increase might be looked upon as an attempt to take advantage of the recently imposed restrictions on imports.

In cases where the public is now being asked to pay more money over the counter for articles made from Canadian cotton yarns and fabrics, it is largely because the price rise made necessary when the subsidy on raw cotton was cancelled last September is now beginning to show at the retail level. We believe that primary cotton producers, secondary manufacturers and distributors of cotton goods in Canada are not in any way seeking to exploit the Government's import restrictions at the expense of the consumer.

South Monaghan Wishes To Join Peterborough County

At the nomination meeting of the township of South Monaghan, which took place on December 29, a motion was carried unanimously, instructing the incoming Township Council to confer with the Peterborough County Council regarding the annexation of South Monaghan to this county. This is a matter which concerns everyone in Peterborough County and we feel that it should be given the widest possible discussion.

* * *

The reasons why South Monaghan should be included in Peterborough County are plain to anyone who looks at a map; the township lies directly within the area of the County, and its principal highway is that which connects Peterborough and Port Hope. It is separated from Cobourg, its present county town, by the western end of Rice Lake. Isolation is relative, and so far as county affairs are concerned, the people of South Monaghan feel that they are isolated from the other townships of the United Counties. Their interests are directed toward Peterborough, they use the Peterborough hospitals, they shop here and sell here, and their children come by bus to attend the P.C.V.S.

* * *

The only marked disadvantage in taking South Monaghan into the County lies in the fact that it shares the considerable debenture debt of the United Counties, and it would not escape this debt simply by changing its county allegiance. However, this matter can be thoroughly thrashed out in the meetings of the South Monaghan Township Council with the Peterborough County Council, and we hope that the upshot of the matter will be that South Monaghan will be legally included in this county, adding an area of rich farmland to our widely varied terrain.

National Defence Colleges

The White Paper on Canada's defence issued last year under the authority of the Honourable Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Defence, emphasizes that the Department regards the training of officers as of primary importance. That, we feel, is good sense and good policy.

There are two chief centres for the training of officers, other than the University O.T.C.'s and reserve army establishments. They are the Royal Military College in Kingston, and Royal Roads outside Victoria, formerly used for the training of naval cadets. These two schools are having an interesting development. Royal Roads now trains both naval and air force cadets, and next September will accept army cadets. R.M.C. is to become a cadet college on a tri-service basis. This development has come about because of war time experience. The army, navy and air force cannot operate independently of each other. All operations must be "Combined Operations", and so the young future officers are receiving a co-ordinated training.

On January 5th, Mr. Brooke Claxton opened an entirely new Defence College at Fort Frontenac, Kingston. The establishment of this college was forecast in the White Paper. Through it, "Combined Operations" are to be carried to their ultimate—a necessity when all modern wars are total wars, involving civilians, industry and commerce. At this college a seven-month staff course is being given to senior officers of the three services. The course is not purely military, for in addition to naval, military and air force instructors, there is a representative of the Department of External Affairs. The students—17 senior officers and civil servants in this first course—will receive instruction in strategy, liaison and co-ordination of defence operations at the higher level. Instruction will also include research needs and economic and industrial organization.

The Canadian Armed Forces are being re-shaped for the post-war world. The Department of National Defence seems to have a sound policy, in so far as it has been announced. Canadian citizens should approve of its officer-training program.

The Nationalization Of The Railways

On January 1st Britain's four railway systems with 54 other smaller companies came under the control of the state. This was a colossal amalgamation and a multi-billion dollar deal. The Transport Commission now employs 700,000 workers and controls 52,000 miles of track, 70 hotels, 50,000 houses, and docks, harbours and wharves with 96 miles of quays. It does more railway business than all the railway companies in the United States together. The London Transport Board, including the "tubes", buses and coaches, has also been taken over. So have 2,000 miles of canals and 20,000 long distance road haulage vehicles.

The Attlee government has now fulfilled the last of its nationalization election pledges. There has been relatively little opposition to the nationalization of the railways themselves. As after the First German War when out of a host of small companies the four great companies were formed, some consolidation was necessary. The shareholders have received long term bonds carrying interest at 3 per cent. The nationalization of all British transportation has met with less approval, and in fact road transport has not yet been nationalized.

The Government recognizes this opposition and has not yet been able to deal with the complexity of taking over the road transport system which has a large number of firms engaged in it. Should all competition be abolished, there is danger that local and interurban equipment and service would not improve rapidly enough to meet changing conditions.

Canadians familiar with British railways will have a nostalgic regret over the lost identity of the Great Western, the L.M.S., the L.N.E.R. and the Southern Railway with their distinctive services and colours. The owners have changed, the colours will become uniform, but the management has altered little. The Chairman of the Transport Commission is Sir Cyril Hurcomb, the former head of the Southern Railway. Travellers to Crewe and Brighton will not be disconcerted by commissars or sudden modernity and the tubes will still run from Piccadilly Circus.

A Historical Society For Peterborough

Has Peterborough no historians, no antiquaries? Is there no one in this district who cares to preserve records and relics of the past? We do not believe such a libel! But we are curious to know why there is no historical society in the county to give direction to the efforts of our amateur historians. The Peterborough field is a broad and interesting one, with a century of recorded time to be investigated.

Yet if our historians do not set to work soon much of the history of the district will vanish into the grave with the men who remember it. An old man's memory is, in its humble way, a national possession of considerable importance; the old men now living who are the sons and grandsons of the men who cleared this land and built this city have much to tell us which we shall never learn except by word of mouth. Details which they would not think of writing down may be of the utmost interest and, when added to other details, may clear passages in our local history which are now cloudy.

History is not all a matter of studying Napoleon's campaigns or the intrigues of the Middle Ages; it is a thing which every one of us helps to make, and no detail of the life of the past is too insignificant for study. Any ambitious young man who wants to make a name for himself as the historian of this county has a clear field before him And we may remind any reader whose enthusiasm tends in this direction that the great book-collector, Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, has said that no man can possibly escape fame and fortune who undertakes to collect the books, pamphlets and letters relating to the pioneer days of any area. Not only is such a hobby an absorbing and civilized pastime, but it is also a splendid financial investment.

The Chatham police commission has recommended that tear gas batons be issued to all policemen. Peterborough police already have these jolly instruments. But do not be alarmed—the stick you see the constable toying with on street corners is quite ordinary. The tear gas batons are usually kept locked up in a cupboard.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

The Plight Of The Exiled Scot

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

IT is a matter of regret to me that James A. Roy's book "The Heart Is Highland" (McClelland & Stewart) did not reach my desk in time to be reviewed before Christmas, for book reviewers are always expected to recommend books which will make good Christmas gifts, and this book has many qualities which would put it high on a Christmas list. It is charmingly written, handsomely illustrated with engravings by Eric Bergman, and it continually recurrs to a problem which is the concern of thousands of Canadians; it is the story of a man who has lived long in Canada, given much to Canada and taken much from her, but who has never been able to embrace Canada completely as his own country.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE can be few people in Canada who do not know someone who is in this predicament—for it is a predicament, capable of causing misery and bad conscience. Nor is it a predicament which can be solved by a strong-minded resolution to break the ties with the Old Land, for such ties toughen the more they are stretched. The virtues of Canada are obvious; the opportunities which it offers are plain to be seen; as a country it has beauty and probity. But—and this is written by a Canadian—it lacks charm, warmth, an indigenous culture and the kindred yet ineffable qualities which give flavour to life in the bleak highlands of Scotland, the remote valleys of Wales, and the boggy fastnesses of Ireland. These countries deny daily bread to many of their children, but they do give them the bread of the spirit—a commodity which is sometimes sought in vain in our rich and promising young country. Canada is the sort of country in which poetry is the accomplishment of university professors and civil servants; its fighters know no war-songs and its children no lullabies. Perhaps it is foolish to regret these things, but thousands of Canadians do regret them, and echoes of their regret may be heard through the humour and easy-going narrative of this charming book.

◇ ◇ ◇

IN a painfully crowded review before Christmas—a hideous 'omnium gatherum' forced upon me by the flood of Christmas books—I mentioned "The Scot In Canada", another book by Professor Roy. Let me return to it now, to do it justice. It is a short book, but it contains a great deal of common sense about Scotsmen—much more, if I may say so, than books on that subject by Scotsmen usually do. Professor Roy refuses to regard his countrymen as though they were all creations of Sir Walter Scott; he knows their strength and their weakness, and he knows the bitter facts about why they left Scotland. He also knows what they have done for Canada, and in his appraisal of their many gifts to this country he does not neglect to pay his respects to other races which have borne their part in the grinding hard work of making a civilized land out of a wilderness. One has only to look at any Ontario telephone directory to see what a mighty part the Scots played in colonial settlement. There is no roll of honour or infamy in Canada which does not include its proportion of Scottish names. They gave us many of our heroes and leaders; they gave us some of what are called "our best people"; and it may fairly be said that they gave us no more rogues than any other country. And it is remarkable that they, more than any other Canadian racial strain, retain their ties of sentiment with a homeland which they left many generations ago.

Oh! why left I my hame
Why did I cross the deep?
Oh! why left I the land
Where my forefathers sleep?
I sigh for Scotia's shore,
And I gaze across the sea;
But I canna get a blink
O' my ain countrie!

One may still hear this cry, differently uttered, in Canada, and none the less sincere because it is voiced with a strong Canadian accent. Professor Roy's book is a valuable and admirably written addition to the growing literature which concerns our Canadian origins.

◇ ◇ ◇

AT the end of this review I must take notice of a handsome and pleasantly written book by G. Scott-Moncrieff called "Edinburgh"; it is sold in this country by Clarke Irwin, but it is published in England by B. T. Batsford, Ltd., a firm with a great reputation as producers of beautiful books. This is a history, accompanied by beautiful photographs and illustrations, of one of the loveliest capitals in Europe, and I recommend it heartily to anyone who has the slightest interest in Edinburgh, or in Scotland. Its text is a perfect complement to its pictures, and that is high praise.

Ajax And The Snowstorm

It has been only a very short time since City Hall expressed itself very firmly on what would happen to any snowstorm rash enough to visit Halifax. Like Ajax defying the lightning, one high official dared a snowstorm to come along and see what would happen to it.

Well, one came along. Forty-eight hours after the storm had ended, parts of Halifax were as isolated to all practical purposes as if they were on the Annapolis Valley's South Mountain. Cars were still snowbound; if their owners did dig them out, there would be no hope of moving them along the streets on which they were caught. Many busy streets were plowed only to narrow single lanes in which two cars could not pass. Sidewalks were almost completely unattended.

The mighty piece of snow-blowing equipment, which cost the city a good sum of money, and which, it was said, wanted only a good storm to demonstrate its many capabilities, proved a delusion. Its main function, it is discovered, is to create a miniature snowstorm of its own, blowing the snow a few yards from where it is to a spot where it is quite as objectionable as in its first location.—Halifax Chronicle.

Political Trends In Canada During 1947

(THE KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

IT is customary at this time to examine and discuss the courses of events of varying nature during the year just ending, and Canadian readers generally, we think, are interested in the progress of the nation's several political parties of 1947. It was a year in which the impact of international events of tremendous importance was felt in this country, and the manner in which the Dominion Government moved to deal with these economic and political pressures and to formulate future policy was undoubtedly the major factor in a noticeable gain in strength by that Government. Pressure from without on Canada's economy was particularly noticeable; unchecked, it might easily have brought hardship to Canadians. They have continued to enjoy a comfortable standard of living, however, and when that happens it is natural for people to respond by showing increased confidence in their Government.

◇ ◇ ◇

The results of Federal by-elections held during the year showed a sharp reversal of the trend noticed in 1946, when the Liberal Party lost a seat to Social Credit and one to the Conservatives. This trend was checked in the Richelieu-Vercheres by-election of December 16, 1946, in which a Liberal won by almost six thousand majority over Social Credit and Progressive Conservative candidates. The reversal of the trend became marked this year with the impressive victories scored by Liberals in the two-seat riding of Halifax and in York-Sunbury.

◇ ◇ ◇

The gains recorded in Liberal voting strength were accompanied in 1947 by-elections by substantial gains made by the C.C.F. in percentage of votes cast, although the latter party's candidates invariably lost their deposits. The heavy loser in voting strength was the Progressive Conservative Party, and the apparent alteration in strength and position of this party in the Federal field is a major development in domestic political life.

◇ ◇ ◇

After at least two by-elections, Progressive Conservative spokesmen have declared their party's organization inadequate. In addition, the party leadership has been very strongly criticized by New Liberty Magazine and The Printed Word, two publications owned by strong Conservative groups. On the other hand John Bracken, national Progressive Conservative leader, and sitting members of the party in the Federal House, offered more spirited and effective criticism at the session which opened this month than has been heard from the Opposition in some time. Progressive Conservatives must, however, find unpleasant the recurring rumours about a change in party leadership. They are denied as quickly as they are heard—but they crop up again, to handicap the party.

◇ ◇ ◇

The factor which may be affecting the party's fortunes most adversely is the development which has made it, federally, a party almost without political position. There was a time when the Conservatives were known as the party of Right and Centre, and the Liberals were the party of Centre and Left. The Liberal party appears to have shifted gradually, however, to the position of Centre and Right, and the C.C.F. has moved in to fill the gap on the Left. It would seem that the Conservatives failed to prepare for this development, and their successors, the Progressive Conservatives, may find themselves crowded out of the picture unless they discover and apply some powerful political stimulant. Men of goodwill in the Liberal Party hope sincerely that such a stimulant will be found; whenever the time arrives for a change of government at Ottawa we think it would be infinitely preferable, in the best interests of all Canadians, if the change were from a Liberal to a Progressive Conservative, rather than to a Socialist government.

◇ ◇ ◇

The forces working against the Progressive Conservatives may have contributed to some extent to the increased confidence shown by voting and surveys in the Liberal Government at Ottawa. We think, however, that the increased confidence is due in far greater measure to a positive rather than a negative factor, and that is the manner in which this Dominion has been governed during one of the most trying periods of its history. The Federal Government has been confronted with unprecedented problems, arising in the years since the end of hostilities was announced—a period in which the people of Canada had expected that the end of war would bring all the blessings of peace in short order. The disappointment they showed in 1946 by expressing less confidence in the Dominion Government was, in our opinion, a natural reaction. Their expression of increasing confidence during 1947 was also a natural reaction—one of fair recognition of a generally fine job of administration done under difficult circumstances.

◇ ◇ ◇

It is altogether probable that similar reasons underly an identical political trend noticed in the Province of Ontario during the year. Although we have seen no comprehensive survey of political sentiment in Ontario, we believe it is generally felt that its people are satisfied with the Provincial Government. The Drew Government's record of good management has maintained, if it has not increased, the confidence shown by voters at the Ontario provincial Conservative Party's position in the provincial field is thus as strong as it is weak in the Federal field. Both in the Ontario field and the Federal field, the electorate during 1947 appeared disposed to reward good government by showing satisfaction with their governing bodies. It is perhaps the most gratifying and practical return that could be hoped for by politicians and political parties.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Zelophehad the son of Hepher had no sons, but daughters. (Num. 26: 33.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And they stood before Moses, and before Eleazar the priest, and before the princes and all the congregation by the door of the tabernacle of the congregation, saying, Our father died in the wilderness, and he was not in the company of them that gathered themselves together against the Lord in the company of Korah; but died in his own sin, and had no sons.

Why should the name of our father be done away from among his family, because he hath no son? Give unto us therefore a possession among the brethren of our father. And Moses brought their cause before the Lord.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, The daughters of Zelophehad speak right: thou shalt surely give them a possession of an inheritance among their father's brethren; and thou shalt cause the inheritance of their father to pass unto them. (Num. 27: 2-7.)

◇ ◇ ◇

How excellent is thy loving kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shallow of thy wings.

They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures. (Ps. 36: 7, 8.)

UNCONSIDERED TRIFLE

In front of a grocer's shop a well-known art connoisseur noticed a dirty little kitten lapping milk from a saucer that he realized was a rare piece of pottery. He dashed into the shop and succeeded in buying the kitten for a pound.

"For that sum," he told the proprietor, "I'm sure you won't mind throwing in the saucer. The kitten looks so happy drinking from it."

"Nothing doing," said the proprietor. "That's my lucky saucer. From that saucer so far this week, I've sold thirty-two cats."

Princess To Get Less Money Than Royal Personages In Past

LONDON, Jan. 7 (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip, setting up housekeeping in expensive times, must get along with less money than royal personages in the past.

A Commons committee recommended the Princess's allowance be raised by £25,000 ($100,000) to £40,000 and her husband be given £10,000 annually. The recommendation later was approved by the Commons.

The committee noted that other heirs to the throne had income as follows:

Edward, Prince of Wales (later King Edward VII), £60,000 from Duchy of Cornwall revenues.

Duke of York (later King George V), £80,000 from the Duchy, plus £20,000 annually.

Edward, Prince of Wales (later King Edward VIII), £80,000 from Duchy.

The question of providing for an heiress presumptive had not previously arisen. But when the present King, as Duke of York, was heir presumptive to King Edward VIII, he was granted £50,000.

When King Edward VII was Prince of Wales he was provided with an additional £40,000 on marriage, making his total income £100,000.

Paymens Made.

Payments to the Royal family are made through the Civil List approved by Parliament. His Majesty received the following in the fiscal year 1946-47:

The Privy Purse (his personal income), £30,661.

Household salaries and pensions, £134,000.

Household expenses, £152,800.

Royal Bounty, alms and special services £13,200.

Accounts of these expenditures are audited by the Exchequer.

Until the Restoration in 1661 all expenses of government, civil and military, were met from royal revenues such as the rent of crown lands and hereditary taxes and rights. The decision then was made to distinguish between war expenses and civil establishments and government.

In George III's reign Civil List expenditures were £10,030,000 compared with the present £330,000 but from this sum were paid judges, ambassadors and other officials of state. George III surrendered some of his hereditary revenues to the crown and such outlays were transferred from his account.

Queen Victoria surrendered all hereditary revenues of the crown for life in consideration of a yearly payment.

FEATHERLESS BIRD

Supports Flirting

London, Jan. 7 (CP)

FLIRTS got a kind word today from Dr. Marjorie Tait, organzing secretary of the London Union of Mixed Clubs and Girls Clubs.

Speaking at a conference on family relations, she said:

"There is no more civilizing influence in the life of the boy and girl growing up through adolescence than adequate opportunities for flirtation because flirtation, properly done, is part of the art of living.

"Without adequate and sufficient opportunities for flirtation, boys and girls often commit themselves as life partners too soon, before they have sufficient experience of the range of human personality."

Film Supplies Nearly Run Out

LONDON, Jan. 7 — (AP) — A blackout threatens the silver screen in Britain.

Backlogs of United States movies, shipped here before Hollywood banned new films for Britain because Britain imposed a 75-per-cent tax on their earnings, have just about run out, the Cinematographic Exhibitors' Association reported today.

Another informed source in the industry said about 10 American films are left for release in the next two months.

London's west end movie houses already have resorted to reissues to keep their doors open.

One effect of the shortage is to force independent producers out of business, the Exhibitors' Association said.

But just as they've accepted the national program of post-war austerity, Britons appear ready to accept the old films.

Long queues stretch outside neighborhood movie houses to see pictures popular 10 years ago.

Angel Cake: "How can I get an Angel Cake out of the tin without it losing its lovely golden brown coating? When my cake emerges it leaves the choicest part stuck to the side and bottom of the pan."

Use a slow oven (300°F) and let the cake hang in the pan one hour. That means turning it upside down on a cooling rack and loosening the side clamps. If your pan is so equipped. After an hour loosen the cake carefully with a hot bladed (stick it in boiling water) spatula. It slides out complete with golden crust.

Angora Gloves: "Is there anything which will stop Angora Wool Gloves from shedding their wool? My daughter's new coat is a mess with the fluff."

Paton and Baldwin experts tell us that they know of nothing which will stop the wool fibres from shedding. Says Mr. Henderson: "The fibres are so short, they can't help falling out."

Church Bingo: "Our women's club wish to organize a February Bingo in our parish hall. What regulations must we live up to? What admission may we charge?

Say the Ontario Government Authorities: A bingo may be held for charitable or religious purposes only. The value of the prizes must be small. The minimum charge is 10 cents and the maximum charge is 50 cents.

Stuttering: "I have been told our King cured himself of stuttering by some stunt with matches. Is this true?"

It's partly true. When the King started to broadcast, his voice teacher found that certain sounds fazed him. The broadcast was written, in so far as possible, with those sounds omitted. Before the broadcast matches were placed on the table. When the King hesitated with a word he reached over, moved a match, broke the tension and went on with his broadcast. There was plenty of work and determination preceding this match business. But it was a smart idea.

Large Feet: "My daughter has large feet, takes a No. 9 shoe. She's teased both at school and at home to has become very self-conscious. I'm puzzled how to deal with her."

You can't shield the daughter from teasing and life's knocks. But you can tell her the name of the smart men and women with large feet: Solomon; Queen Anne; Shakespeare; Sir John A. MacDonald and Dorothy Thompson—Quite a gallery.

Petes Beat Legionnaires 2-1 In The First All-Local Clash

The Petes pulled out a 2-1 win over Legionnaires before 1,000 fans in Omemee last night to go into a tie with Legion in their OHA senior "B" group standing. The fans saw a fine fight on heavy ice between the well-matched squads. Play was rough enough between the feuding rivals but Referee Morrison kept it under control, handing out 13 penalties—seven to the Petes.

HELPED TWICE — Joe Blewett, speedy Petes' forward, helped his team's cause a lot last night in Omemee when they beat Legion 2-1. Joe scored one goal and aided on the other.

Two scoreless periods had passed before the Creighton crew finally clicked for a goal. They then staved off a determined Legion drive and added another marker on a breakaway. Legion kept battling and scored one in the final minute of play. The pace was fast in spots but heavy ice slowed it down later and made for some ragged hockey. A bouncing puck spoiled many scoring chances on both sides.

In On Two

Joe Blewett was in on both goals for the winners and turned in a fine effort, he and Tompkins standing out for the Petes forwards. Ray Harding shone in goal, as did Ross Nicholls for Legion. Both netters had a busy evening and were almost unbeatable. Joe Rochetta was probably the pick of the losers on the attack throughout the tilt. Legion finished stronger but the Petes appeared to have more scoring chances early in the game.

It was redhot and even for a space as they opened it up. Percy Nicholls drew an early penalty for boarding and Tom Parsons followed for charging. Nothing happened during their absence, and Red Creighton was waved over for tripping. He returned and play slowed up some as the ice became chippy. Magee went off for hooking and there were plenty of whistles for offsides. The Petes poured in hotly to keep Goalie Nicholls on the jump but they couldn't beat him.

Early Penalty

Kingdon drew the finger in the second for high-sticking and shortly after Magee and R. Creighton got the nod for roughing it. The Petes pressed for a space but it evened up soon and both goalies had to hop to save in close. It developed into speedy shinny with players golfing the puck and scrambling after it. Crowley went away for interference and Fred Mortimer followed for tripping. Rochetta and Harding nearly tangled as play roughened up again. Rochetta was penalized for elbowing and later Blewett got it for tripping. They were all back and tearing up and down the ice hard, looking for a break, at the bell.

A Rochetta-P. Nicholls rush came close to open the third and then the Petes swept in to score in a semi-scramble on Ross Nicholls' doorstep. Freddy Garvey drove it home, after passes by Blewett and Jerry Creighton. The latter was chased shortly for tripping and Honey came close around the net. Legion pressed hard, though players on both sides were tiring and being changed often. Tom Parsons and Crowley tangled and were gated for roughing. Legion kept tearing in and Greenlaw twice came close, and then Rochetta, but Harding was hard to beat. Then, Blewett broke away at centre ice, dashed in and pulled the goalie out a step to slip it by him and make it 2-0. Legion continued to bore in, though threatened by Petes' breakaways, and they finally got one back near the end, Ernie Nicholls rapping it into the twine at close range, aided by Ace Nicholls and H. Greenlaw. It ended that way.

The teams:

Legion: Goal, R. Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and P. Nicholls; centre, Rochetta; wings, R. Greenlaw and Crowley; alternates, Parnell, Vitarelli, H. Greenlaw, A. Nicholls, E. Nicholls, D. Mortimer and Magee.

SA No. 2 Gains Win

Salvation Army No. 2 senior team opened its Church Hockey League schedule with a 7-1 victory over George St. They crashed through for three counters in the first frame and got more more the next two periods, George St. breaking the goose egg in the second. The losers were shorthanded and outplayed most of the way in a lively and fairly fast encounter, marked by few penalties. The teams:

SA No. 2: Goal, Burns; defence, Wade, Red; centre, Panter; wings, Berwick, Dwyer; alternates: Allan, Carpenter, Brierly, McPhail, Locks, Murray, Faier.

George S.: Goal, Borland; defence, Carter, McCurrach; centre, Wellwood; wings, T. Powell, M. Powell; alternates: Marshall, Ivey, Greatrix.

Referee, K. Doughty.

NEW GOALIE

Canada's Olympic team, R.C.A.F. Flyers, their last Canadian practice over, are back at full strength today after a pre-sailing medical check-up ruled out their best goalie and an 11th hour substitute was provided. Washed out when X-rays disclosed a lung condition, Dick Ball, 21, University of Toronto arts student, was hastily replaced by goalie Murray Dowey, 22, of the Toronto Mercantile League. The team leaves Ottawa Thursday for New York and it will sail Friday.

PREPARING FOR 1968?—Smiling happily, with his own hockey stick cut to size, little Barry Watson, young son and heir of the Leafs' big left wing star, Harry Watson, shows the photographer how to crouch down to block a shot.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

When you cross lacrosse with hockey, you sew a tornado—and heaven alone knows what you'll reap! Hockey has long been claimed the fastest sport, with lacrosse considered the speediest afoot—and both rated plenty rugged. Put 'em together and it must be quite a spectacle. In that hotbed of lacrosse, St. Catharines, the experiment was tried the other night. Lacrosse on skates. They also had some figure skaters, etc., so it can't be ascertained how many of the 4,000 cash customers on deck came to see the gutted-stick gees on ice. But plenty, no doubt. Lone fly in the ointment was that white balls were used and against the ice background 'twas hard to follow.

* * * * * *

St. Kitts scribe says in part: "Six-foot Billy Nelson was at centre and his height on bounce-faceoffs paid off in possession. But for him, aided well by stylists Stu Scott and Don Frick"—he's Ab's son—"it would not have been 14-9 for the Blues, for Nelson topped all hands with four goals and four assists. Google-eyed fans saw rebounds out to centre ice, surprisingly smart dexterity in snaring bouncing balls that flew so fast on ice that it was hard to keep track of the white spots. What a game could be made of it, inside glass or wire, is left to fan imagination. The 20-minute game was just enough to satisfy fandom and they revelled in it, first of such seen anywhere in Ontario—and probably Canada — but a sure future prospect as a crowd-pleaser." It could be rough, too, in real league play.

* * * * * *

Jake Is Doing Jake

Jake Wade and his buddies on St. John Beavers, a senior puck squad in a Maritime setup, came to life the other eve and trounced Truro Bearcats 12-1. An item picked out of the story concerns the former Peterborough puckster: "It showed what centre Jake Wade and wingers Jackson and Nicholls could do when they got going. Wade did all right for himself, too, tallying a brace and getting five assists." The Saints hadn't been going so well lately, though Wade seems to be one of their top snipers. His hockey travels have taken him over a lot of terrain.

* * * * * *

A raft of hockey going on around the city and district now. The Petes go in Belleville on Friday is off, but Kingston plays Legion in Lindsay. Several PMHA tilts coming up here that e'en, too. TVL tussles tonight are: Frankford at Norwood, Tweed at Marmora, Campbellford at Warkworth, Madoc at Lakefield, and Hastings at Stirling. In juvenile "C" Lakefield is at 'Caygeon on the morrow. Bunch of Church League fixtures, too, billed for tonight and tomorrow eve. And the School Loop gets underway next week. Lots of other hockey activity, as well, but that just gives a little idea.

* * * * * *

'Twas Plenty Close

About a thousand puck fans saw the scrap at Omemee last eve, the first all-local tangle betwixt the Petes and Legionnaires. And the Petes picked up the marbles this time, though they didn't have much to spare. A 2-1 decision and a dandy duel, despite heavy ice. It would have been a honey on a fast sheet. No score till the third period but lots of action and some rugged hockey. They were a-feudin' all right but Referee Bill Morrison kept tossing 'em off and it didn't get out of hand. Neither side showed its best on this ice, and both will turn in some real hockey ere the schedule ends. And the decision may well be reversed next time, as they look pretty evenly matched.

* * * * * *

Both goalies turned in a bangup performance, Ray Harding and Ross Nicholls giving away nothing on a busy night. Defence work was so-so but it should improve. And the forwards worked hard but had plenty of grief with a bouncy hunk of rubber. Rochetta went well all evening for Legion, and Bob Greenlaw strutted smart stuff in spots. Percy Nicholls has a wicked shot as Bun Kingdon will testify—Bun taking his meals standing up today! 'Tompkins and Blewett looked good on the attack for the Petes. Others on both sides went okay at times, too. A lot of whistle-tooting as there were too many offsides but that'll improve. Yeah, a good game.

Loads Of Interest

While the crowd wasn't capacity at Omemee last gloaming—the roads were slippery—plenty of Peterborough interest was apparent in the raft of phone calls coming to this office. Sorry, but they have no phone in the Omemee rink, so we can't get the between-period scores back. However, CHEX makes arrangements to send in scores to their station, these and the final one being announced over the air. Folks out there got a laugh when the PHC overcoat was drawn for and the winning ticket was held by Isadore Black. Some of the money raised will go toward minor hockey.

Rotary Takes 7-4 Win Over Trojans

The midget Rotarians defeated Trojans 7-4 in a wide open PMHA tussle, coming from behind a 2-1 first frame lead to go into the third with the count 3-3. They finished too strongly for the Trojan troop. Berwick scored and then assisted on Caravaggie's goal for Trojans in the first heat as Jensen counted from Jones for Rotary. Gandy got one from Ferguson in the second, while Caravaggie tallied from Roach for Trojans.

The same pair combined for one in the third, Roach scoring. But Rotary hit the net five times, Douglas twce, and Jensen, Jones and Gooley once each, as Jensen had two assists, with Robinson, Jones and Bigford each getting one. Trojans drew four of the seven penalties. Teams:

Rotary—Goal, Batley; defence, Bigford, Shearer; centre, Jensen; wings, Jones, Douglas; alternates, Robinson, D. Ferguson, Gandy, R. Ferguson, Telford, Gooley, Walling.

Trojans — Goal, Fowler; defence, Berwick, Mantell; centre, Bryan; wings, Roach, Caravaggie; alternates, Floyd, Heffernan, Church, Buott, Buchan, Woods, Graham, Bryan.

Tee to Hack

By HERB MARTIN

The rinks for the leads' and seconds' bonspiel have been made up and are posted on the notice board. Players are requested to look up this information, see whose rink they are on so they will be all ready to play when the games are called on Monday, Jan. 26.

Play for the District Cup gets under way on Friday morning at 9 o'clock. R. F. Downey is the official umpire.

C. Lawrence and Dr. R. Clark are skipping rinks today in the Bobcaygeon bonspiel.

Mrs. H. Dulmage and Miss H. Munro each won their game in the consolation event up at the Toronto Granite Club on Tuesday.

Rinks skipped by F. Green and N. Hamley will represent the club in the District Cup playoffs.

There's the story going around about one of our popular curlers who carries with him a pair of dark glasses. When the opponent gets too many stones in the rings, he puts on the blue glasses and all the stones appear blue—he kind of kids himself into the idea that all the stones are blue—the color of the stones which his rink is playing. It's a good alibi.

Lions Gain A Win Over Southenders

Lions won 7-3 from the Southenders in their bantam PMHA tilt, counting two goals each in the first two frames and three in the last. The losers scored in the initial inning and added two more in the middle chukker. Play was fast and clean, with not a penalty drawn. Stewart stood out defensively and rushed well, and the first Lions line had five goals. Langhorne did the hat trick. Batley and Daniels were dangerous for the South-enders and Tyndall saved a flock in the net. Langhorne got three goals, Pammett one and two assists, Selby one and one assist, and Stewart and Ferguson a goal each. For Southenders, Batley had two and aided once, and Daniels got a goal and assist. Teams:

Lions—Goal, O'Brien; defence, Stewart, Cunningham; centre, Pammett; wings, Langhorne, Selby; alternates, McGrath, McCormick, Scriver, Ferguson, Allen, Byrne, McCullen.

South-enders — Goal, Tyndall; defence, Breadman, Nickson; centre, Turner; wings, Batley, Daniels; alternates, Hope, Downer Corbett, White, Strickland, Moffatt, Bryan.

Referee—Grant.

AIMING FOR TITLE MATCH—Joey Maxim, Cleveland heavyweight, gets a helping hand from little 3½-year-old Jimmie Bates, while punching the bag during a workout in preparation for his bout with Olle Tandberg, of Sweden, next Friday night in Madison Square Garden, New York. Maxim, who is training for the fight in New York, is slated to be matched with Jackie Cranford, of Washington, D.C., if he beats Tandberg. His manager, Jack Kearns, however, wants him matched with Jersey Joe Walcott so he'll have a possible crack at Joe Louis' crown.

Wings And Leafs Get Trojan Wins

Two Trojan AC games were run off on heavy ice, covered with snow. The referee, S. Collins, had his job cut out as it was impossible to keep track of the puck. Detroit defeated Canadiens 1 to 0 in the heavy going, while Leafs defeated Rangers 6 to 3 in a wild tussle. Floyd scored on a neat pass from Collins for Detroit in the first game, Evans going well in goal, while White, Curtis and Stewart stood out for the losers. Leafs played a strong game and came up with some neat passing plays, while Rangers looked good in spots. Howie Smith and Armstrong were Ranger stars. The teams:

Detroit—Goal, Evans; defence, James, Hegadore; centre, Floyd, wins, L. Collins, Allen; subs, LaRoche, Burfield.

Canadiens— Goal, Curtis; defence, G. White, Stewart; centre, Reid; wings, Guthrie, Armstrong; subs, Gar White, Jennings, Hewie.

Leafs — Goal, H. Panter; defence, Collins, Graham; centre, Gilmour; wings, Brioux, Clarke; subs, K. Kent, G. Graham, Downer, Clement.

Rangers—Goal, Evans; defence, O'Dette, Holbrook; centre, Smith; wings, Armstarong, Foster; subs, M. Hewie, Boate.

George St. Wins

George St. Bantams took a 3-0 Church Hockey League victory over St. Luke's in a tidy tussle. Gilders, Marshall and Rowley did the scoring for the winners, with Whitnell strong in goal. St. Luke's put up a good fight against a faster squad. The teams:

St. Luke's: Goal, Harvey; defence, Rogers, Hayes; centre, Hamilton; wings, Barclay, Bertrand; alternates: Barker, Faiers, McKinley, Butcher.

George St.: Goal, Whitnell; defence, Brooks, Gilders; centre, Marshall; wings, Rowley, Armstrong; alternates: Johnson, Cuffe, Brotherton, C. Medland, A. Medland, Elliott.

Referee, Spencer.

Mercurys Whip Dutchmen In 9-2 Triumph

By The Canadian Press

If anyone wonders what would happen to a hockey goalie if his two defencemen dissolved they could take last night's exhibition at Owen Sound as an example.

Owen Sound Mercurys gained a fourth-place tie with Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen by defeating the sixth-place Hamilton Patricias 12-9 in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A fixture.

Both goaltenders—Bobby Gilson of the Mercurys and Fred Porter of the Pats—were left wide open. The game was less than three minutes old when Porter stopped Elwood Small's wicked drive with his face, necessitating a 15-minute recess for repairs.

In the junior loop, Alfie Moore's Galt Rockets moved into third place last night with a 7-2 victory over Ed Wildey's last-place Toronto Young Rangers at Galt.

At Owen Sound it was the fine play of Bun White, Pat McReavy and Doug Gillespie, working as one unit, that ultimately clinched the game for the Mercurys. White notched five goals and two assists, McReavy, three goals and four assists, and Gillespie picked up six assists.

The other Owen Sound goals were scored by Murray Fife with two and Bruce Small and Freddie Smith with one each.

Others Active

Hugh Barlow was the big gun for Hamilton with one goal and four assists. Murray Comfort tallied three times, Killer Kilpatrick had two goals and an assist, Harvey Jacklin a goal and three assists. Bryan Robinson and Gordie Kahl each notched a goal and an assist.

Referee Frank Elliott of St. Catharines ruled with an iron hand at Galt and handed out 15 penalties.

Harry Hopper with two goals led Rockets' attack, and Galt's other counters came from Bob Galashoe, Al Singleton, Harry Pidhirny, Bob Robertson and Pete Tkachuck. Toronto's tallies were scored by Reg Spragge and Dan Windley.

Owen Sound pays a return visit to Hamilton Patricias and the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen go to Stratford in tonight's senior fixtures. In the junior circuit Stratford Kroehlers meet St. Michael's College at Toronto, Oshawa visits Toronto Marlboros, St. Catharines goes to Windsor and Guelph visits Barrie.

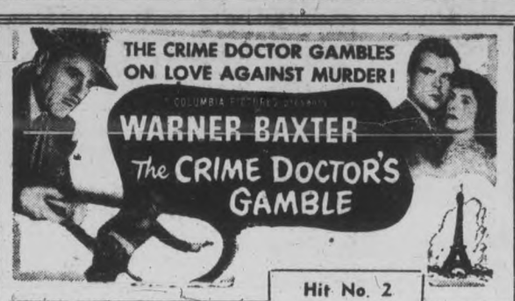
Two Games Go Into Overtime

By The Associated Press

Adoption of an overtime period to play off ties this year by the United States Hockey League has held stalemated games to a minimum, but the extra session didn't accomplish its purpose last night.

At Houston, the Huskies and Fort Worth Rangers battled to a 3-3 overtime deadlock and at Tulsa, Omaha Knights and the oilers played to a 4-4 tie.



In the Tulsa game each team scored in the overtime period, after the regular contest ended 3-3, but the extra period was scoreless at Houston.

The game at Houston went into the extra session when Verne Kaiser drove in a goal for Fort Worth in the last second of the third period.

Omaha's Bobby Weist scored twice for the Knights, chalking his first counter in the opening period, and marking up his second just a minute before the end of the regulation playing time.

RICKEY IN FOOTBALL

Edmonton Fans Recover Pep As Fliers Win

By DOUG GREEN

EDMONTON, Jan. 7. (CP) — Time was when the enthusiasm displayed by home town fans over the performance of Edmonton Flyers of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League was anything but heartening.

The fact that Flyers put in a long stretch in the cellar of the five-team loop brought forth criticism from the city's sports editors and indignant letters from faithful followers who objected to sitting in the arena game after game only at watch their club go down to defeat.

Things have changed. Flyers' improved performances have boosted them to third place. They're drawing crowds of around 6,000 — and perhaps the surest evidence of their popularity has been the appearance of ticket scalping, admittedly on a small scale.

It came to light in a recent newspaper advertisement which said, "Hockey tickets wanted for game tonight. Bonus. What offers?"

The advertiser didn't have long to wait. A ticket holder handed over four reserved seats, cheerfully accepted an extra dollar for his trouble.

Both parties overlooked a catch in the deal. Such a transaction just isn't legal. The buyer—had he been nabbed — might have had to pay $200 for this tickets rather than $5.

THE JUMP THAT WON THE TROPHY — Odd Harsheim, Norwegian ski jumper, sails over the heads of the crowd as he took off on his winning leap at Bear Mountain, New York state, to capture the Torger Tokle Memorial trophy. Harsheim's closest rival was Art Tokle, brother of the famed ski champ for whom the trophy was named and who was killed with the U.S. ski troops in the Italian Alps during the war. The meet was the third annual competition for the Tokle trophy and 70 outstanding U.S. ski jumpers took part.

US Horse Racing Is Cleaned Up

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—(AP). — On Jan. 15 it will be just two years since the United States' horse racing industry, suffering from a bad case of the jitters, hired Spencer Drayton away from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and commanded him to make the sport of kings a thorough scrubbing.

Today the ex-sleuth is entitled to look back upon 25 months of solid achievement, and to contemplate a coming season in which the integrity of racing will be less open to question than ever before in its history.

Under Drayton's driving insistence, more than 25,000 fingerprints of racing folk now are on file in his offices here. He figures he has only about 10,000 more to go. A total of 7,000 thoroughbreds had identifying numbers tatooed on their lips last year, and Drayton expects to complete the job in 1948.

"The fingerprints are a great deterrent to the criminal element," he said. "Information of criminal records supplied by us has enabled owners of stables to weed out many undesirables. Also, if a man with a record knows he will be fingerprinted he is not likely to look for a job in racing."

Seize Lottery Tickets

TORONTO, Jan. 7 — (CP) — Books containing 2,000 sweepstake and hockey lottery tickets were seized yesterday when officers of the Toronto Police Morality Squad arrested Alfonse Le Pain on a charge of illegal possession of lottery tickets. The tickets were for an English sweepstake, the National Hockey and International hockey leagues.

Hockey Experts Startled As Senators Whip Bruins

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The National Hockey League's managers, coaches and miscellaneous master minds now will take a slight pause to figure out the 101 angles involved when Boston Bruins were beaten 9-2 last night by Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

The exhibition at Ottawa — a benefit put on by the Kiwanis Club with a cheque for $250 going to Kingston's Hall of Fame—wasn't one of those affairs where the big club lends all its players to the little club. Only change from Boston's active N. H. L. squad was having Mike Karakas in goal in place of Frankie Brimsek.

The Bruins, holding fourth place in the N.H.L. were no match for the Senators, second to Shawinigan in the Quebec loop. Forwards George Greene and Eddie Emberg each scored three goals against Bruins. Lude Check scored twice and Frank Mather got the other. Wally Wilson and Porky Dumart scored for Boston.

Of course, it was an exhibition but it was an eye-opener.

There's only one N.H.L. game tonight, New York Rangers at Detroit Red Wings, and one game Thursday night, Detroit at Montreal Canadiens.

Saturday Chicago Black Hawks play at Toronto, Rangers at Canadiens and Boston at Detroit.

May Be Better

When the Rangers take the ice at Detroit tonight goalie Sugar Jim Henry might be even more formidable than he's proven in late weeks. After several brilliant performances as a substitute for Claude Rayner, Sugar Jim at last has his own name on the goal posts. The Rangers announced yesterday that Rayner has been sent to New Haven Ramblers of the A.H.L. for an indefinite period.

There's a second game tonight but it's another exhibition, and again it's the Boston Bruins, this time against Toronto Marlboros at Kingston, again for the benefit of the Hockey Hall of Fame. The Marlboros currently are holding a slight lead atop the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior "A" circuit and will be bolstered tonight by players from Oshawa's Junior Generals.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario Golf Association yesterday announced a new dollar-a-year membership fee plan aimed at improving the financial position of both the Ontario Association and the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

A. J. Mylrea of Toronto, Ontario Association president, announced the plan which calls for $1 a year — "the price of a golf ball" — from senior male members of member clubs. The fee, approved at a special meeting of Association directors would be collected by clubs with the annual payment of club membership dues. The new plan, approved by directors in preference to increasing fees on the present basis, is expected to provide $5,000 for each of the parent associations.

The 20th Century Sporting Club announced in New York yesterday that arrangements for Joe Louis to defend his world's heavyweight boxing title next June in New York had been "practically closed." No opponent was named specifically.

Joe DiMaggio signed a new contract yesterday believed to guarantee him approximately $70,000 for the 1948 season with New York Yankees and to place him among the highest-paid players in baseball history. Although the exact sum was not disclosed, General Manager G. Weiss said last night it "approached" Ted Williams' salary. Williams was paid reported $75,000 last year by Boston Red Sox.

W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the O.H.A., has announced that Guelph Biltmores and St. Catharines Tee-Pees have exchanged dates for their remaining games in the Junior "A" series.

The Guelph-at-St. Catharines game Jan. 10 will be played at Galt. The St. Catharines-at-Guelph game Feb. 14 will be played at St. Catharines.

Hewitt also announced that an Oshawa-Toronto Marlboro game scheduled for Jan. 7 has been postponed, and that Galt and Belleville have withdrawn from the O.H.A.'s intermediate "B" competition.

A big man with a big shot who spent his National Hockey League career with Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens, has hung up his skates for good—maybe. Gordie Drillon announced yesterday that he had "had enough" and would not perform with Charlottetown Legionnaires, defending Maritime Intermediate champs. However, Drillon added: "Mind you, I may end up playing with the Intermediate Abbies in the playoffs."

Can Give Exhibition

MONTREAL, Jan. 7 (CP). — W. E. Roughton, president of the Amateur Figure Skating Association of Canada, yesterday denied any knowledge of the association refusing to sanction a skating exhibition in London by Suzanne Morrow of Toronto and Walter Distelmeyer of Kitchener. A London report quoted Wembley Stadium authorities as saying they had been advised from Canada of the refusal to allow the pair chosen to represent Canada in the Winter Olympics, to participate in the exhibition. Roughton decline further comment.

32 Rinks On Hand For Detroit Bonspiel

DETROIT, Jan. 7 — (CP). — First event here of the 1948 curling season will get under way Friday when 32 rinks from Canada and the United States move into action in the three-day 62nd annual international bonspiel at the Detroit Curling Club.

Number of rinks are divided equally between the two countries, Canada being represented by four Toronto quartets, two each from Hamilton, Chatham and Sarnia, and one each from Montreal, Guelph, Lindsay, Sault Ste. Marie, Plattsville and Sudbury.

American rinks will come from St. Paul, Chicago, Detroit, and three Wisconsin centres, Wawatosa, Portage and Lacrosse.

Outstanding performers will included B. C. Phippen of Sarnia who skipped the winning rink in the main event last year and Gordon Campbell of the Hamilton Thistle Club.

$23,000 'Spiel On At Nipawin

NIPAWIN, Sask., Jan. 7 (CP). —The richest bonspiel of them all began today as 121 rinks, 20 more than last year, settled down at this little Saskatchewan town 145 miles northeast of Saskatoon to battle for $23,000 in prizes including four 1948 automobiles.

Brimming with excitement and curlers, Nipawin launched its second annual automobile bonspiel in a brief opening ceremony before beginning the first draw in the 10-day marathon.

None of the top rinks—Dominion champion Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg's Deer Lodge, Leo Johnson of Winnipeg's Strathcona or Howard Wood of Winnipeg's Granite who won last year—are slated to play until late in the day.

The defending Saskatchewan champion rink, comprising the famous Campbell family of Avonlea, also is well favored.

Breakdown of entries showed 13 from Manitoba, six from Alberta, one from British Columbia, one from Minnesota and 100 from Saskatchewan included 27 from Nipawin itself.

Gouzenko Film Treated As A Spy Yarn

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 7 (AP).—The film story of Russian espionage in Canada, "The Iron Curtain," will be treated merely as a spy yarn, and won't deal with international relations.

This information comes from the set of the picture, which is being rushed to hit the screens as early as April. International disagreements will be avoided in the film, although there will be mention of the Communist propaganda line.

Dana Andrews tells of meeting Igor Gouzenko, whom the actor portrays in the film. When Dana was on location in Ottawa, he was escorted by the RCMP to a hideaway address. There he had a two-hour conversation in a small room with the former Russian Embassy clerk whose information led to the spy trials.

Victor Mature may join Gene Tierney in "Symphony," Preston Struges' film.....Robert Coote joins Van Heflin as the second musketeer in MGM's Dumas cclassic. The actor, who appeared in "The Exile," will play Aramis.

There will always be a Hollywood Dept.: Janet Blair gave husband Lou Busch a gold yo-yo for Christmas; Carmen Miranda's new bathing suit is made of tiger skin....

Gail Russell is supposed to sing in "Moonrise." "Little do they know I can't sing," she says. "That is why I didn't get "Connecticut Yankee.'".... Newspaper men take another beating in "A Double Life," in which a reporter is portrayed as a conniver who approaches a press agent for a bribe to color a story.

Linda Darnell is aiming for a pilot's licence and has already soloed several hours. Director John Huston plans to take "Moby Dick" with him when he leaves Warners. He hopes to star bogart in it.

Timmy Williams paced the attack for the winners with two goals and an assist.

Netminder Glen Udall stood out for Kingston, and it was only his fine work in the "Saints" goal that kept the score form mounting higher.

It was the loop's only game of the evening.

Bill McComb added two tallies and Norm Tustin, Ron Wilson, and Baker completed the Flyer total, while Mike Narduzzi, Ed. Bush, and Wendell Jamieson were the Philadelphia marksmen.

Coach Thinks U.S. Racers Have Tough Job

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—(AP).—Carl Olson, Pitt track coach who visited Europe last summer, figures that the United States will have a tough time winning any race longer than 100 yards in the Olympics next summer....The field events look a little easier, especially if Bob Fitch decides to compete. Fitch, an amateur coach, hasn't made up his mind yet....Incidentally, the Olympic committee is scheduled to meet Saturday to select the coaches.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA*
can give you
that tired,"middle-aged" look!

Thousands who are tired and pale may find renewed energy—restore healthy good looks—with Ironized Yeast Tablets

IS YOUR face unbecomingly pale and worn-looking? Do your energy and enthusiasm seem to be on the wane? Do you look and act "old before your time"?

These effects often result from a blood condition, and people who have them can suspect a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron.

Yes, if you look unusually pale and feel too tired it may mean that your red blood cells are too small in size and faded in color—that they are weakened to the point where they cannot transmit full energy to every tissue and fibre of your body.

Many people—women, men and children—go dragging their weary way through life with this Borderline Anemia—not really sick, but only "half-alive."

How Ironized Yeast Tablets Build Up Your Blood and Your Vigor

So, if your healthy color seems to be fading and your vitality is ebbing away due to this devitalizing blood condition, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size—to help restore your buoyant vigor and your attractive appearance.

Of course, continuing tiredness, listlessness and pallor may be due to other conditions—so consult your doctor regularly. But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood. Take them to start your energy shifting back into "high"—to help restore the natural color to your face! Take them so you can really enjoy life again!

* A mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA

TIRED • PALE • LISTLESS

Blood that builds energy! This is how energy-building blood looks under a microscope. Here are big, plentiful red blood cells that can release vigor to all your body.

Blood in Borderline Anemia! Many have blood like this; never know it. Cells are puny, faded. Blood like this can't release the energy you need to feel and look your best.

Rowed Dory Five Hours To Aid Greek Vessel

By A. HARRY ROSE
Canadian Press Correspondent.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 7 —(CP). — Two seamen of the Foundation Josephine, a powerful Canadian tug which left Halifax late in November to answer a call for help from the Greek freighter Vernicos Nicholas, have added a new chapter to the volume of heroism at sea.

The two men — Chief Officer Walter Myalls and George Green, a seaman—rowed for nearly five hours through high seas and gale winds to put emergency food on board the Nicholas which had to be towed 400 miles into Bermuda after her engines stopped three weeks previously. The ship had been hove to waiting for aid in foul weather.

Capt. John Cowley, youthful English-born skipper of the tug, told the story of the exploit.

Arriving at the scene, the Josephine found the American freighter Extavier standing by the helpless Greek ship which she had tried to take in tow and had only abandoned the attempt when two lines parted.

Ship Without Food.

Capt. Constantine Pavlidis of the Nicholas reported there was no food for the 38 persons aboard including Mrs. E. Rodinos, wife of the chief engineer. The tug had none to spare, and the American ship warned it would have to run for port to refuel.

Pressed for time and unable to transfer supplies by the breeches buoy due to the violence of the storm, the two men, both Newfoundlanders, offered to tackle the job in a dory although Capt. Cowley said he would not order his men to try such a task.

The dory was lowered, and straining at their oars the stalwart Newfoundlanders began the hazardous pull between the rolling ships. Since it could not be risked to bring the freighters close together, the men had to relay the food first to the tug and food finally was hauled up the then to the distressed vessel.

For nearly five hours the operation continued with the tiny craft in constant peril. When the food finally was hauled up the Nicholas' side and the Newfoundlanders fought their way back to the tug they were lifted aboard in an exhausted condition.

Church Dispute 'Scandal' Minister Says

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 7 — (CP). — Termed by Rev. C. L. Cowan of Hamilton "the worst scandal in the Presbyterian Church in 20 years," the case of Rev. A. D. Sutherland, pastor of St. Andrew's Church in Welland, was discussed yesterday behind closed doors by the Hamilton Presbytery of his denomination.

Barred from a hearing that dealt with the requested resignation of the minister was a delegation of 50 members of St. Andrews, along with newspaper men.

A presbytery official said after the meeting that the presbytery would meet with members of the congregation Jan. 20 at St. Andrews to decide a proper course of action.

One of the barred delegates, Miss G. M. Fortner, a St. Andrew's member for more than 50 years, commented: "if the meeting is to be held behind closed doors, then the presbytery must be afraid of something and they are not the ones to preach to us."

But the nature of the "scandal" remained a mystery as reporters, from snatches of conversation with church elders and clergymen entering and leaving the day-long meeting, attempted to piece together the story.

A meeting of the church session last Friday drafted a petition for Mr. Sutherland's resignation, signed by all members of the session except one. The action followed criticism by members of the session over the way in which the election of six new elders was carried out.

Buyers' Strike Being Considered By Group Of Toronto Housewives

TORONTO, Jan. 7 — (CP). — Question of a "buyers' strike" against pork and other food products which have increased in price in the past few days was raised last night by Mrs. Rae Luckock, president of the Housewives Consumers Association.

The Association has called an executive meeting for next Monday. "It's high time the public made up its mind to do something about these increases," said Mrs. Luckock. "I favor a buyers' strike on articles which have increased.

"But the general public must get together and speak with a loud voice. A recent survey showed that 76 per cent of Canadians were in favor of price controls being re-imposed, yet the government has taken no action. I think they should immediately place them on the basic commodities and subsidize wheat and products and coarse grains so that the farmers can live too."

Mrs. Norman Stephens, president of the Women's Advisory Committee of the Health League of Canada, advocated immediate formation of a government board including consumers and producers to "thresh out" the cause of high prices and take steps to lower them. "This is really a desperate situation," she said.

The Canadian Association of Consumers of which Mrs. R. J. Marshall of Agincourt is national president has called an emergency meeting of its executive for Jan. 14.

COOKED HAM JUMPED

Just a little slow catching up with the rest of the price jumps, cooked ham is reacting to the general meat situation in city stores. Prices early this afternoon ranged from 81 cents a pound in a neighbourhood grocery to 90 cents at a George Street meat market. Other quotations obtained ranged somewhere in between. The luxury meat is expected to climb past the dollar-a-pound line in a short time.

PHONE LINE TROUBLE

Shortly after the election returns were phoned through from Norwood Monday night trouble developed on the line, and the two candidates for the reeveship, Wm. Nature of the trouble could not be ascertained because repair men were still busy at other points.

HUGE MACHINE DAMAGED

Moldaver Bros., lumber merchants purchased a huge planer-moulder from the Can. Ventilating Shade Company Ltd. a month ago, and had not moved it out before the fire on New Year's morning. The planer-moulder is the one Mr. Scott sold to the new firm when he sold out, but they in turn had a more modern machine on order and had to take it when it was delivered. Mr. Moldaver has now moved the 9-ton machine to new storage, where insurance adjusters are checking the damage.

Cars, with the lights with them and comparatively light traffic, hit the bumps at a healthy clip. Prof. Harold Lang Guest Speaker Week Of Prayer

"It is my conviction that the first duty of the church is to be a worshipping body," stated Rev. Prof. Harold W. Lang of McMaster University last night. He addressed a large congregation in St. Paul's Presbyterian church, one of three services he will address during this week of prayer throughout the city churches.

Prof. Lang stressed the importance of worship in the church. In answer to those who feel that the work of the church should be in "more practical ways," he pointed out that the spirit of worship is "the source of inspiration to do good works.". Instead of drawing the church away from everyday worldly activities, it draws it closer to daily problems and acts as the fount of guidance.

The speaker urged that, included in the worship services, the churchgoer bring to bear the full use of his mind. He urged that members concentrate on the meaning of the prayers, hymns and sermon which form the services.

"Many of us are inclined to allow our minds to think of what happened yesterday, to plan tomorrow's activities." Church is a matter to be approached with reverence, he said, not something to be taken lightly.

"We are called to love God with all our minds, as well as with our physical presence and with our spirit."

A feeling of thankfulness for God's gifts to us should be present whenever we go to church, Prof. Lang said. Pointing out that many who have the hardest lots in the world are often the most thankful, he urged his listeners to meditate on the illimitable wonder of God's gifts, Church is a place to give, not a means to receiving something, he said. Stress should be placed on "offering" ourselves. "Too often we come as passive recipients."

"Let us bring our willingness to church," he stated. For, he said, what better place than His house for God to speak to us?.

"To say sincerely 'Thy will be done' is a climax of Christian worship," the speaker concluded.

The service, which was conducted by the minister of St. Paul's, Rev. Charles Boyd, was one of five being held each weekday this week in five churches of Peterborough.

Prayer was offered by Major Watt of the Salvation Army. Organist and choirmaster was Martin B. Chenhall, ARCO. A quartet, composed of Sheila Smith, Barbara Luther, Earl Powers and James McBride sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

Can't Disturb $75,000 Grant City Clerk Says

The ratepayers' gift of $75,000 for the erection of a Memorial Community Centre is solely for that specific purpose, and cannot be diverted to the building of a skating and hockey rink.

City Clerk Outram said this morning that was his understanding of the provisions for which the vote of the ratepayers was taken after approximately $300,000 had been voluntarily contributed by citizens, manufacturers, merchants and others.

This restriction is mentioned in the midst of the present window-shopping for something or another in the Community Centre deseign but apparently taking more definite form as a hockey rink.

City council merely obtained the saction of taxpayers to borrow the $75,000 and turn it into the treasury of the Centre when actual financing was needed. But, that has not come about. Debentures have not been issued, nor will they be, until the conditions by which the money was voted by the people have been fulfilled.

This fact is mentioned because if there is any undertaking for the construction of a hockey rink it should be realized that the public's $75,000 cannot be counted into the "kitty."

City Has Options On 70 Lots

Options on more than 70 lots for the additional 200 houses for veterans to be erected by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation were reported at the meeting Tuesday afternoon of the special housing committee of which Ald. Gordon Armstrong is chairman. The other members are Aldermen H. Dodds, D. Miller and Mayor Ovens. It is expected that options may be obtained on other lots within the next week or ten days to increase the number to 115.

The proposed locations include 32 lots on Caddy St. owned by Claude Rogers; three on Herman St. owned by Wm. Anderson; four on Braidwood Ave. owned by Percy S. Graham; 20 lots owned by Jos. F. Fontaine on Morrow, Montgomery and Morphet Streets, north of the Brinton Carpet Co. property; six on Morrow St. owned by Charles E. Sisson; three on Herman St. owned by Andrew McCabe; three on St. Catharines St. owned by Violet Mason; one on Downie St. owned by Noel Rivers; and two lots on Rogers St. owned by the city.

Ald. Armstrong said that domestic service, sewer or water, or both, are already available in most of these areas. One of the exceptions is the Claude Rogers property, on an extension of Caddy St., but there is an easy grade from that present field down to Armour Road.

The Braidwood lots are between Park St. and Monaghan Road. The committee is continuing its quest for other suitably located sections, and will submit the list to Central Mortgage and Housing for their approval. This detailed information will probably be completed for the next meeting of the council Mon., Jan. 19.

Propose Asking Legislature To Repeal City Trust Act

"I'm not in favor of it as it stands," said Ald. Hugh Waddell in a comment at the Council meeting Monday night on a proposal to ask the Legislature to repeal the act creating and giving authority to the City Trust Commission.

It appeared that Ald. Waddell was not the only member of the Council indisposed to disband the City Trust.

Ald. Max Swanston said he did not see much advantage in leaving the control of city properties in the hands of the City Trust Commission, but he felt that the financing of debenures and kindred special responsibilities of the commission might as well be continued for the few remaining years until its work automatically ends.

The bylaw directing the city's petition to the Legislature was halted in its second reading by a Swanston-Waddell motion, simply reporting progress in the second reading.

Artificial Ice Plant Cost $30,000 Lindsay Man Says

Bert Hick, Lindsay florist, advocate of artificial ice for the Lindsay rink, recently stated that St. Catharines Arena, built in 1938 for $90,000, had entirely paid for itself in revenue from hockey and skating "since that time."

He said he had visited arenas in Barrie, St. Catharines, Welland, Port Colborne, Oshawa and Toronto, and made a thorough study of their operation. "Skating is provided in most cases three nights a week as a cost of 25c for adults and 10c for children. Some arenas have skating after school for an hour for which children pay five ments. I have a number of financial statements from arenas across the province. Every one shows a substantial operating profit."

Lindsay Recreation Commission proposed expenditure of $30,000 on an ice-making plant. Machinery will cost $28,000 and the rest of the money would be used for preparing the site for the installation of the machinery.

"Welland recently installed artificial ice at a cost of $24,000. Their ice surface is slightly smaller than the sheet in Lindsay."

This reference to rinks of "secondary category" is passed on to Ald. Dodds. May be he can glean some useful information from Bert Hick.

Exhibition Board Tackles Park Problem

Important Directors' Meeting To Be Held Friday Night

Directors of the Peterborough Exhibition are meeting Friday night with the information finally before them that there is no place under the Morrow Trust for a Memorial Centre building in Morrow Park. That is now one solid fact from which the doubts of ifs and buts have been blown away. There will be no "coliseum" with its facilities for many of the ends of the Centre and doubling in agricultural displays and shows, summer or winter.

The directors have been marking time for many months after their decision to suspend everything until they knew whether there was anything they might expect from that direction.

Gordon Hancock, president, said this morning that possibly a secondary rink, as suggested by Ald. Hurrell Dodds, could be arranged for location on the park if the Exhibition is to be re-established. It would provide accommodation similar to that of the proposed Centre, but on a reduced scale. In the first place such a building should be recommended by its utility in the purposes of the Exhibition.

"We have money for that purpose," Mr. Hancock said, "and if the rest of the amount required could be made up it would not be long until we had it built."

Mr. Hancock is more concerned these days about the annual meeting of the Peterborough Agricultural Society some time this month. That date may be the turning point in the whole question of an industrial and agricultural exhibition. If any people have bright ideas for it, their inning is near at hand.

"Some people tell us that we ought to go ahead and get started, and never mind worrying about what the future is going to be," said Mr. Hancock. "I don't like that way of doing business. We might as well face it,—one of the first things we have to do is to decide and say whether we want to keep Morrow Park for agricultural purposes. That question is bound to come up at our annual meeting, and on that occasion we want everybody on hand who is interested in the Exhibition and have anything to offer as to what should be done."

Polish Veteran Tells Story Of Hardships

Another step towards cementing the friendly feelings of the Canadian people to the Polish veterans working on the farms in the Peterborough district was made Tuesday evening in the Sacred Heart Church supper room.

Sponsored by the Sacred Heart CWL, the veterans were guests at a turkey banquet, and though their praises might have been made in faulty English, there was little doubt that their gratitude was sincere. Some 20 Polish veterans sat down with their hosts and hostesses. At the head table was the Right Reverend Monsignor J. J. O'Brien, Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant, Rev. Gerard Sullivan, F. P. Burke, president of branch 52, Canadian Legion, and R. Zberanowski, the official interpreter for the veterans.

Mr. Zberanowski was MC for the evening, and he called on Rev. Dr. Grant to propose a toast to the King. Dr. Grant said that he felt the veterans would consider it an honor to toast the highest authority in the land, considering that this now was the land of their adoption.

Jerry Krause, a veteran who had seen action in Africa and Italy, said that after seven years of war and concentration camps they were proud to be considered members of this fine and democratic land. "It is not too easy to start life afresh, and we have not found it a bed of roses," he said. "I want to thank the women of the CWL of the Sacred Heart for all that they have done for us in helping us to forget what we have been through during the war." In thanking Mr. and Mrs. Zberanowski for the help they had given the Poles, Krause said that he hoped the Polish veterans would eventually settle permanently in Canada and always remember with gratitude what the country had done for them.

Mr. J. R. Sharp, assistant manager of the National Employment Service, expressed his regret that Mr. William Mellis was unable to attend owing to illness. "Mr. Mellis has done a lot for the veterans, he said, "and he hoped to be present. Only by mixing with these Polish boys," said Mr. Sharp, "do we know what they have suffered, and it is our duty to do all that we can to make them good citizens of Canada."

Right Rev. Monsignor O'Brien said that they would always remember what part Poland took in the war and what they did for Canada. "We are most glad to have you with us tonight," he said, "and we hope that you will come often to the Sacred Heart Church and meet the people of the parish." Father Sullivan also welcomed the boys and offered them the full use of the club rooms any time they could come.

Welcome From Legion

A further welcome was extended by E. P. Burke, who said that in the name of branch 52 of the Canadian Legion the veterans would be more than welcome to come and meet some of their Canadian brothers-in-arms.

To these expressions of welcome a reply in Polish was made by Joe Walski, also a veteran of seven years' service. The Poles then sang a Polish army marching song, followed by a Polish Christmas carol.

An insight into the hardships that the Polish nation went through since early 1939 was revealed by Jerry Krause. "In 1939 when the Russians made a pact with Hitler," he said, "Poland was then divided between Russia and Germany. The captured Poles who were under the dominance of Russia were herded together, and peasants, professional men, business men and women and children were deported to the war camps in Siberia. They were destined to die in these concentration camps from hard work and starvation. In all more than two and a half million Polish people were sent to Siberia. When Hitler attacked Russia, Stalin looked around for allies, and because Poland was an ally of the Western Powers, he released them from the Siberian camps and promised to form an army of Polish men. From the two and a half million people sent to Siberia, after one and a half years in the camps, only 700,000 came back. No exact knowledge of the fate of the rest was ever recorded, but it is safely assumed that they died from the hardships they were forced to endure."

"From the small number of men left, the 2nd Corps of Polish Army was formed," said Krause, "and it was commanded by General Anders, who had been a prisoner in Siberia himself. This 2nd Army Corps was sent to Africa and trained there by the British.

"Due to the hardships and lack of food while in Siberia, many of these soldiers could not stand the training and died. The corps was then sent to Italy where it took part in some of the worst fighting experienced at Monte Cassino. They fought with the 8th British Army and many of the veterans were decorated for their bravery.

"We fought with the British Army until the end of the war," continued Krause, "and then we hoped that we could return to our native Poland. This we were unable to do as we learned that it was now under Moscow rule. We looked for some country that would give us shelter and protection and allow us to work. Canada was the first country to offer us this protection. We have since learned to know that Canada is truly a free and democratic country, and here we can work and live in peace, with no interference in our home life nor in the practicing of our religion. Having seen the other side of the picture, and all the horrors that a country in the hands of another dominant power can mean, we can more fully realize how very fortunate we are to be able to come to this free country and work, and in a later day become free citizens of Canada."

A vote of thanks was moved by Jerry Krause to the ladies of the Sacred Heart CWL for the excellent banquet they had prepared. The ladies on the committee welcoming the Polish veterans were: Mrs. H. Connelly, leader of the Sacred Heart CWL; Mrs. Zberanowski, Mrs. G. Maloney, Mrs. V McDougal, Mrs. Joe Grady, Mrs E. Hickey, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs T. McGarrity, Mrs J. Cairns, Mrs. P. Gagnon, Mrs. O'Grady, Mrs Frank McCarthy and Mrs Neil Collins.

After the banquet the veterans spent the rest of the evening dancing and enjoying a sing-song with their hostesses in the club room at the church.

WHO PAYS THE DAMAGES

Besides being a nuisance, snow has indirectly raised at least one nice legal point. On Tuesday night a Toronto visitor staying at a local hotel found he could not budge his car from the snow-banked curb. Believing himself there for the night he notified a towing company of his plight and booked into the hotel for a night's sleep. Meanwhile the Board of Works' snow plough was busy cleaning away the snow. Finding the Toronto guest's car at the curb side, workmen decided to tow it away so the plough could proceed. In doing so they badly damaged one of the fenders. The Toronto guest is now posing the question: who is going to foot the bill.—D.W.

Ban On Lumber Has Little Effect

The import ban on lumber from the United States will not affect the Peterborough area as heavily as it has hit the country as a whole, a local survey has shown. In regard to the ban on "shop pine" and American oak, materials used extensively in making sash and doors, the city firm handling most of the supply for the district reports that their own timber stands are sufficient to fill most of the orders. Although the supply could be larger, officials of the firm point out that this places the city in a much more advantageous position than in many other centres, where increased scarcity in these lines has been reported.

American oak — regarded as superior to the Canadian product for hardwood flooring — is included in the banned list. This will probably affect the supply of flooring available in the district to some extent, other companies said.

Workmen Clear Burned Plant; Will Rebuild

Ultimate plans for the rebuilding of the Canadian Ventilating Shades Co. plant, recently almost levelled in an estimated $50,000 fire, have not yet been drawn up. But Mr. Tom Taylor, works manager, Reid St. plant, said Tuesday it was almost certain that the new building would be on the old site.

Meantime interim plans have been made to try and maintain some fraction of production. Machines salvaged from the black wreckage of the former plant will be set up at Wood's Sawmill, Otonabee, and tried out. Some are destroyed beyond repair — particularly motors and electrical equipment; but it is hoped that some of the modern machinery of the high speed ball-bearing type, built to resist extreme heat, will be usable.

In Wood's sawmill it is believed that production with the firm's own machinery can be started. Peterborough Canoe Club, and Peterborough Lumber Co. have also offered to help the stricken company by alloting a portion of their factories to augment this production.

By next week, Mr. Taylor said, company officials will probably have drawn up plans for the new buildings. Winter will doubtless delay an early start at resurrecting the plant. And a full salvage job is yet to be done.

Workmen are busy now on the ruins, carting away machinery and checking to see what can be saved. Office records are intact as is the office section of the building. The only other part standing is the rear wall and about 20 feet of the side walls. The red brick boiler room stands out like a battered fort on a field of black ruin.

A fire marshal's report on the blaze is expected within the next couple of days.

500 Sign To Take Lacy Sales Course

The days of "whatever-it-is-I'll-take-it" from customers are fast sliding into the past. Business is becoming more aware that the honeymoon of easy selling is over and that once again efficient sales methods will be needed. This view is reflected in the fact that close to 500 men and women of the city, most of them actively engaged in selling to the public in all lines of produce and services, have entered their names to attend a five-lecture series in the Lacy Sales Course, sponsored by the Sales and Advertising Club of Peterborough. The club's sponsorship has helped make the nominal fee possible.

Conducting the course will be C. H. Wright, well-known sales-training authority. Starting Thursday, the course will be held for the next four Thursday evenings after that.

Van Gogh Steals London Gallery Show

By STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, Jan. 7 (CP). — Vincent Van Gogh, tempestuous painter of the last century who once cut off an ear as a present for a girl friend, steals the thunder in London's Winter Art shows.

One hundred and eighty of his paintings and drawing are attracing enthusiastic crowds to the Tate Gallery. It promises to be the big exhibition of the winter, rivalling in popularity the display of the King's picture collection last year, and the controversial Picasso exhibition the year before.

Most critics were unanimous in welcoming the show, which pleased them by the way it demonstrated the extent of variety and experiment in his work.

Colorful oils known through the world are there — the famous Sunflowers (twice), the swirling skies and cypresses he painted at Arles, the portraits of Postman Roulin and other members of his family, and the self-portrait, complete with banaged ear.

There are also many lesser-known works, executed with such care and harmony that The Times' critic remarked that "In the incredibly short time that he devoted to the practice of his art he developed a delicacy of touch and a refinement of color which no one who knows only the more dramatic works could have suspected."

Galleries Popular

The Tate isn't the only gallery to be well-filled this winter; crowds are still marching daily into the National Gallery to see the permanent collection and the special exhibition of cleaned pictures, and small West End galleries are well-attended.

Big crowds also turn out for actions at such famous centres as Christie's, where old masters change hands at figures often running into the thousands.

The Earl of Halifax, for example, recently disposed of his Ruben's "The Holy Family, with the Infant Saint John," for £6,930. Cuyp's "Saint Philip Baptizing the Eunuch" sold for £5,250, twice its 1928 valuation and more tha ntriple its value 100 years ago.

Believes Senate Will Favor Seaway Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)— Senator George Aiken (Rep.-Vt.) predicts the proposed $500,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway project will be favored by the Senate.

The Senate Republican policy committee placed the controversial issue on the Senate's January calendar yesterday, prompting the Vermont legislator to describe the action as "a wise and public-spirited decision."

Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) shared Aiken's optimism with an assertion that "this action belies the claims of the opposition that further delay is necessary to accumulate more facts."

"I believe the seaway bill will pass the Senate," he said, "particularly if vigorously supported publicly."

The measure, in its latest form, provides that the project be self-liquidating through imposition of tolls.

The project would make the St. Lawrence navigable to ocean-going shipping from the gulf of the river to the head of the Great Lakes area, and calls for creation of a 2,200,000 horsepower hydro-electric plant in the vicinity of Massena, N.Y.

Think Changes In Dairy Act Improve Cheese

TORONTO, Jan. 7 — (CP). — C. E. Lackner, Director of Dairying for Ontario, told cheese producers yesterday that proposed amendments to the Ontario Dairy Act would assist uniform grading of all cheese milk and maintain a high standard of produce if and when the United States is open to Canadian shipments.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, Mr. Lackner said introduction of the sediment test would improve Canadian cheese and pave its way to United States entry.

Another amendment suggested was bi-monthly testing of milk in the factory to determine the fat content, as well as sediment.

"Many producers of milk have been lost to the cheese industry because of guess work in testing milk once a month," he said.

Mr. Lackner said the late delivery of milk to the factory was responsible for much second-grade cheese. Desire of factories to do "big business" and haul milk from long distances was detrimental to the whole industry. For this reason a clause was introduced to assure that milk reached the factory not later than 10 a.m. from May 1 to October 15.

Reorganization.

Association Secretary Charles F. Health reported that work was almost complete on reorganization of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association Ltd., a new buying and selling agency.

Mr. Heath also said that many factories in Central Ontario were considering reorganization as true co-operatives, thereby placing themselves in a more favorable position to pay Dominion taxes.

In his presidential address, John I. Ballantyne of Atwood suggested that association members produce as much cheese as possible this year and grow larger quantities of their own feed.

Yuletide At Chief Split Cloud's Teepee Turned Into Minor Revolution Court Told

GREENFIELD, Mass., Jan 7 (AP).—Yuletide at the teepee of Chief Split Cloud of the Iroquois Confederacy was anything but peaceful complaints and testimony heard today in court indicated.

There woodcutter John Axcide Chausse, 35; his wife, 34, and his brother, Patrick Henry, 34, visitors from Quebec, were accused of malicious injury to personal property—to wit, the wrecking of a phonograph, phonograph records, two chairs and chinaware. The Chausses were guests at the Split Cloud apartment.

Kate's brother, Thomas Buckshot, 19, also was accused of assault and battery on the 64-year-old Chief, otherwise known as Albert Andrew Cook.

The defendants testified that at the Chief's solicitation they each contributed $2 toward a Christmas turkey, to be shared with the Chief; his wife, basket of flowers, and their son, Holding Arrow, 20

At a preliminary gathering, they said, the Chief held Thomas Buckshot while Holding Arrow knocked him out Then, the testimony continued, Holding Arrow hit Kate with a revolver and a bottle.

Lawyer George Hayer introduced photographs to show Mrs. Chausse's injuries required five stitches.

Asked by the Court why he did not defend his sister, Buckshot said Holding Arrow was "much bigger."

Dr. Wherrett stressed that seal sale money is spent locally to safeguard the health of the community in which it is raised

See No Halting Of Inflation

By The Canadian Press

Businessmen and housewives today scanned the news for indications of progress in the battle against inflation and the spiraling cost-of-living. The immediate result was not encouraging since commodity prices not only showed no signs of receding but, in several instances, made substantial advances.

Investors kept careful watch on the Bank of Canada's step in removing customary bids for government bonds. Thus far, both government and corporation bonds have held closely to the new lower levels established Monday. Stock markets showed signs of uncertainty and prices eased in quiet trading.

Industry had a new item of increases cost to figure out as the result of a 10 per cent emergency freight rate increase granted by the United States Interstate Commerce Commission, the second such increase granted recently. Under "joint throughrate" arrangements the increase applies on Canadian-United States trade over railways of both countries.

Reports of rising commodity prices were accompanied by rumors of impending re-imposition of price controls. Livestock in Canada yesterday continued the upward push with the cattle trade active and prices up 25 to 50 cents a hundredweight. A load of beef steers in Chicago sold at an all-time record of $41.25 a hundredweight.

Place 'Seaman' Under Arrest

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7 (AP).—Alistair Nicholson, 23-year-old native of Glasgow, Scotland, who the New York Daily News said was "hustled" in the United States army, "suffered court-martial and imprisonment, yet collected $2,500 in benefits," in his guise as an American soldier, was placed under technical arrest yesterday by immigration commissioner Watson Miller.

An immigration service spokesman said Nicholson was released after he said he would appear at Ellis Island today for a hearing. He will be charged with entering the United States illegally. The spokesman added that after the investigation, Nicholson may apply for parole.

Army officials in Washington withheld comment on the story of the former British seaman.

However, army spokesmen revealed that the army department has sent to St. Louis for discharge paper of a "Fred Bast," the name reported used by Nicholson.

How Your Child May Be Inviting Colds

Due to being indoors more with less chance for play, many youngsters' bowels become less regular in winter and this condition often lowers resistance and invites attack by cold germs. To help prevent such colds, keep your child's bowels regular with Children's Own Tablets. These pleasant, little tablets for youngsters 3 to 15 are a laxative and more. They also help sweeten the sour stomach that often goes with out-of-order bowels. Get Children's Own Tablets today and guard your child against unnecessary colds, 25c at druggists.

Concert Group At Mark St. Hall

In the auditorium of Mark St. United Church on Monday evening next, an exceptionally fine musical program will be presented by the Davie Concert Ensemble. Proceeds will be used to send CGIT girls to summer camps.

Three versatile vocalists, Miss Frances Davie, mezzo-soprano, Noble Davie, baritone, and Nelles Davie, basso, do trios, duets and solos with piano accompaniment by their mother, Mrs. Vera Henderson Davie. They cover oratorio, grand opera, light opera, concert lyric, folksong, negro spiritual and traditional ballad, representing Handel, Bach, Gluck, Rossini, Bizet, Rachmaninoff, Oscar Strauss and modern song writers.

The singers, all in their twenties, have three beautiful individual voices which have been trained and directed by Mrs. Davie. She introduces each number with a brief explanation concerning the selection. Her accompaniment is outstanding and has been described as a miniature orchestra. Mr. Davie accompanies his family as manager.

With The Girl Guides

3rd All Saints' Guides And Brownies

This company and pack will hold their first meetings of the new year on Friday night and would ask all their Guides and Brownies to be present.

The New Year has brought several changes in Guide and Brownie rules, and so we urge all leaders to obtain the 1948 edition of "Policy, Oranization and Rules" immediately, in order that they may become acquainted with the new regulations.

At the December Guiders' meeting a new company competition for the field day cup was announced. In view of very uncertain weather conditions in the spring, the field day for the past few years has had to be abandoned. The new competition, however is to take place during all seasons and the weather, therefore, will be no deterent.

Will all Guides, especially patrol leaders, read the following carefully, and then clip out for future reference.

Hiking In All Seasons

Yes, That's what the new competition is to cover—not just Spring and Autumn hikes (which are always popular) but Summer and Winter too. This idea was suggested by an adventurous young tenderfoot who wants more Guide hikes, and we are going to do our best to see that she gets them. The founder's definition of our Movement is "Guiding is a jolly game, largely played in the out-of-doors." During the past few years hiking seems to have fallen off somewhat. Captains are often restricted by their jobs or household duties and cannot plan very many company hikes, so we are going to stimulate interest in patrol hikes through this new competition. A few years ago patrol hikes were very popular. Let it not be said of our present PL's that they could be beaten in this respect by the older members of the Movement—here is their chance to prove their worth! The rules of the competition are:

1. Individual patrols are to plan and carry out hikes to various places, during the four seasons. No company hikes will be counted in the competition. Responsibility for the hikes rests with the Patrol leaders.

2. A Log Book record of these hikes is to be kept—recording members of patrol who attended; program, menu, things of interest seen, etc. If possible, sketches are to be included in the Log.

3. The cup will be awarded to the Company having the best record of patrols participating, taking into account the places hiked to; variety of menus and programs; Log Book, etc. The Company with the largest number will not necessarily be the winner, and consideration will be given to newer companies. Judges will be the District Commissioner, a member of the Local Association, and a member of the Scout Movement.

4. There will be a special Patrol prize to the Patrol with the best individual record — the patrol winning this prize does not have to be in the winning Company.

Full details of the competition, with suggestions for winter hikes, simple menus, etc., will be sent to each patrol leader as early as possible. Every Guide is asked to co-operate with her patrol to the fullest, in order that she can help her company to win the coveted cup. The success or failure of this new competition rests with each and every one of you—so don't delay, start this week-end with your first patrol hike.

It is said that New Year's resolutions are made, only to be broken, but there is one resolution we would ask all leaders to make and to keep. That is to see that your company and pack news appears regularly in this paper, by phoning in weekly reports to your Scribe, Miss Joyce Bridcott, 7430. A complete coverage of Guide and Brownie activities in Peterborough cannot be given without your cooperation. Hope to see you all in print next week.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

MODESTY PAYS
Men Always Prefer Girls
Of Unimpeachable
Manners and Habits

DEAR DOROTH YDIX: I am a girl of 17. I have to work for my living and my salary just covers the bare necessities of existence. I have few pleasures and no luxuries. When I think of the bleak future that stretches before me, I become dreadfully discouraged. I long for pretty clothes, for amusement, for gayety, for feasting and dancing and love-making. Sometimes I wonder if it really pays a girl to be good.

Dorothy Dix

UNHAPPY GIRL.

ANSWER: Yes, it pays a girl to be good. It pays in many ways. One of these is your own conscience. There is only one person whose respect is necessary to our happiness, and that is your own. The day you lose the ability to look yourself in the face, something has gone from you that takes all peace and comfort with it.

You covet pretty clothes, Are a few yards of chiffon or a fancy hat or a few jewels worth the price of a woman's soul? Does it pay to walk in silk attire when they cover a guilty heart filled with shame and when other women draw away their skirts from your soiled finery?

Does it pay to mortgage your future for a little present pleasure? Make no mistake about this, little girl, when you take the wrong turn of the road, it leads you away from all the natural happiness that every woman has a right to look forward to.

Unwanted by Men

The kind of a man you would like to marry will not be willing to marry the sort of a woman you have become. He won't want the mother of his children to have a past that won't bear inspection. Truly, there is nothing in the world so little gay as what we call the gay life.

It pays to be good, because only good women get any decent treatment from men. It pays to be good first, last and all the time, because only the good have any real happiness in life.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have two boys and am divorced from my husband because of his unfaithfulness to me. I am now engaged to a man who is exceedingly stingy, but I think he would be faithful to me. Do you think I would do better by marrying him, or continuing to work for my living?

MRS. A.B.C.

ANSWER: To my mind your second venture promises worse than the first, because a stingy man makes the most disagreeable of all husbands in the world. No other fault that a man can possibly have is as hard for a woman to deal with, because it is ever present with her. She is bound to have money with which to run the house and meet the daily and hourly necessities and in order to get a nickel out of him, it means a fight that leaves her humiliated and sore and bruised in spirit.

If you marry a stingy man, he will begrudge your children the very bread they eat and he will never cease to nag you about what a burden they are upon him. I think you will be much better off and happier if you do not marry this man and continue to support yourself and your children. That way you will at least have independence and peace.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am engaged to a man whom I adore, but he has a very domineering personality. Sometimes when I fail to obey him he strikes me, but then he sends me candy and flowers and I forgive him. In a way, it rather thrills me to be afraid of him, but do you think that I will always feel this way?

BETTY M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Well, Betty, not being a worm of the dust myself, I feel that I cannot judge what would bring happiness to a poor weak, spineless female who enjoys being beaten and trodden upon by a bully.

However, if you have any independence in your soul, I think that you would get mighty sick and tired of being tyrannized over. Better draw out while there is still time. That kind of man doesn't want a wife, he wants a slave.

Renfrew People Movie Naturals

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

RENFREW, Ont., Jan. 7 (CP).—Ask practically any Renfrew resident if he has ever been in movies, and he'll answer "Why sure! nothing to it."

In fact these last few weeks the National Film Board has been "shooting up" the entire town for a film on immunization which tenatively has been called "To Save Our Children." It will be released some time in March.

"And it's wonderful the way the people here take movies in their stride," said Les McFarlane, who is directing the film. "When we do any street filming we're never bothered by crowds; everyone goes on about his business as usual."

Mr. McFarlane said it was the first time in his experience that he received such "whole-hearted co-operation" from any single town. Everyone from business man to school teacher had gone out of his way to be of service.

For the film, Renfrew has been renamed Wakefield, a typical Canadian town which with a single medical officer of health has managed to overcome its problem of complete immunization through organization of the entire community.

Object of the film, made at the recommendation of the Dominion council of health, is to show that in the first six months of a child's life immunization for whooping cough, diphtheria, and small-pox is essential.

Learns Film Techniques

One of the physicians in this fictitious Wakefield is Dr. F. S. Burke of the Health and Welfare Department, Ottawa.

"It's the first time I've ever been in movies and I'm finding out a lot about the techniques of filming a picture," he said.

While the NFB's original intention was to use professional actors for the main parts of the immunization film, Mr. McFarlane said they had found Renfrew was made up of "naturals" for the screen.

When we want a business man in the picture we go out and bring in a business man, he said. As for the star of the show she is winsome three-year-old Donna Van Alstine, daughter of Renfrew's recreation director.

The fair-haired little girl is undismayed when the bright movie lights are turned upon her.

"She's more than just photogenic, she's an actress," grinned Mr. McFarlane.

As temporary studio, the four-man NFB crew has been using an old church building, Renfrew's community centre.

WHITE AND FEMININE—Ideal for 1948 special "evenings out" is this dress made of five layers of white net over two under-skirts and trimmed on the cape and peplum with ostrich features. The upsweep hairdo, bracelets, clip earrings and white satin slippers complete the ensemble.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, January 8

While a practical marshalling of all the forces, energies and resources on organizing new projects and ambitions, by means of the straightforward and direct approach is in the offing, should these tactics seem to waver or thwart, it might be well to consider the subtle or tactful technique rather than forcing issues. Perhaps new aspects or a ray of light from behind-the-scenes field of operation, might be illuminating.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, although well on the way to opening up new fields of operation for important objectives, may find it expedient to bolster threatened debacle or failure of support by the adoption of bold tactics.

A child born on this day while clever, practical and aspirational, may find it expedient to supplement its powers by the use of personality.

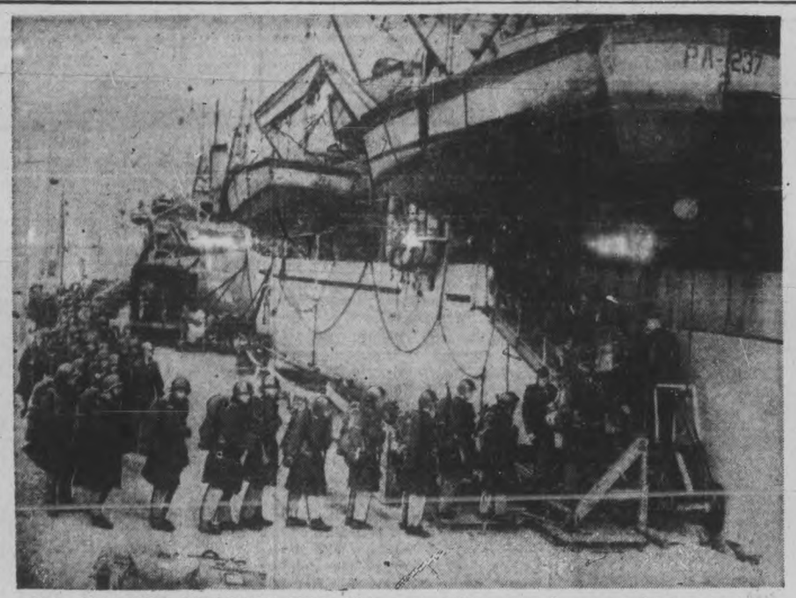
Indians Begin Battle For Back Pay

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Jan. 7 — (CP). — Armed with an ancient treaty and a stack of law books, Indians of the Six Nations Tribes came to court today to seek settlement of a century-old grievance and wampum to the extent of $1,289,467.20.

From the Oshweken Reserve near Brantford, the tribesmen came to the capital to sue the government for losses in Six Nation lands and funds incurred in the building of a canal in their territory in the early 1800s. Their claim finally reached court after sporadic action over 80 years.

Today in the Exchequer Court, they had a petition of right with the vice-regal signature — "let there be right," it said — and their counsel was to argue legal points on whether their suit against the Crown can be pressed further.



Chief Councillor Leonard Staats —a cigar and a natty business suit substituting for the traditional pipe and regalia of his warlike forebears — is head man of the Six Nations delegation in search of "right."

Have Treaty

Backing him up is an ancient treaty given in 1784 on behalf of King George III, deeding some 360,000 acres along the Grand River to the tribes in token of their "attachment, fidelity and bravery" in remaining "faithful allies" of the king when the 13 American colonies revolted.

This treaty—giving the Six Nations their land "forever" — is to be cited to bolster the Indians' claim that they are entitled to repayment for their lands and funds lost at the time the Canal was built, with compound interest right up to date.

The money they seek is made up largely of interest on $160,000 in tribal trust funds invested in the Grand River Navigation Company and on the value of lands taken over or flooded in the building of the canal between the Grand and Welland Rivers. The company subsequently collapsed.

U.S. MARINES HEADING FOR UNDISCLOSED DESTINATION — At Morehead City, North Carolina, long lines of U.S. Marines are shown beginning to embark on two ships recently to re-inforce units in the Mediterranean area, though no announcement has been given out as to the exact destination.

Thomas Downes Councillor 50 Years Dies

HASTINGS, Jan. 7. (Special to The Examiner). — Thomas R. Downes, member of a pioneer Percy township family, who died in Akron, Ohio, on December 30 and whose funeral was held here on Monday morning was a member of muncipal council of his native township for nearly half a century. Born in Percy on February 23, 1860, he was elected to the township council when he was 21 years old and he remained a member until he retired 20 years ago. Since that time he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Clayton E. Greene of Akron, Ohio, but spent much of his time with members of the family and relatives in the Hastings and Peterborough districts.

Always a public spirited man he took a great interest in the development of Percy township and especially in improving its road system. He was a gifted public speaker and was ever in demand at public rallies and drives. When 70 years of age he appeared before the electors of Percy for the last time and on that occasion he received every vote that was cast in his home poll.

A member of St. Mary's Church in Akron, Ohio, he was also a member of the Knights of Columbus and its Welfare Association.

The body was returned to the old family home on Sunday, and many neighbors and old friends gathered to pay their last respects. The funeral was held on Monday morning to Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, where requiem mass was said by Rev. Leo Cleary of Kirkfield, a nephew. Two nieces, Sister Marie Cleme of Mount St. Joseph, Peterborough, and Sister Mary Roberta of St. Joseph's Academy, Lindsay, were also in attendance. Following the funeral which was attended by old friends of Hastings and Cobourg Road, the body was laid in the vault to be interred in May in the family plot in Mount Carmel cemetery when the Knights of Columbus will act as pallbearers. The plot is the oldest one in the cemetery.

Predeceased by his wife, Mary Ann Collins four years ago, and one son Emmett who died in 1942, there survives two sons and four daughters: Harold of Hastings, Dalton of Akron, Mrs. George Brownrigg (Kathleen) of Ottawa, Mrs. Clayton Greene (Della), Mrs. Clyde Miller (Maria) and Mrs. Regis Collins (Loretta) all of Akron.

No Foul Play Found By Police

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan. 7—(CP). — A verdict of death by unknown causes was returned by the coroner's jury last night at the inquest on Thomas W. Rogers, 33, with police officers testifying there was no evidence of foul play.

Rogers collapsed December 24 after complaining to his wife of having a severe headache, and he died a few hours later from a skull fracture and brain hemorrhage.

Provincial Police Inspector Thomas Wright told the jury that police investigation revealed nothing to substantiate a statement by Mrs. Rogers that her husband had told her he had been in a fight on the previous night.

Mrs. Rogers said her husband had fallen from a hydro pole in 1946, suffering head injuries. She said he complained of headaches which seemed to grow worse in the weeks before his death.

Constable Reynolds died, without regaining consciousness, two days after he was beaten about the head in a fight outside a King Street restaurant.

"However, until I've had an opportunity to examine his report I am not making any decision as to its publication, he said.

Seek Financial Aid To Buy New Tongue

HALIFAX, Jan. 7 (CP).—Seeking financial aid to buy a new tongue, a former Canadian army cook is in Halifax today on his way to a clinic in Boston for a grafting operation.

Ex-Sergeant Russell MacPherson of Sydney, N.S., had more than three-quarters of his tongue cut away because of cancer and found his loss left him without a job and a pension of only $15 a month.

"I'm trying to raise $160 to get to Boston in hopes of having a section grafted back on," he said.

Deny Revolt Started In Southern Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 7 (AP) —Walter Jobin, governor of the state of Rio Grande Do Sul, denied today by telephone from his capital at Porto Alegre that any revolutionary movement was under foot in southern Brazil.

Farmer Shoots Wife And Self

WISHART, Sask., Jan. 7 — (CP). — The bodies of 43-year-old Stanley Braneh and his 40-year-old wife were found Tuesday on their lonely farm four miles south of this hamlet, 80 miles north of Regina.

It was believed Braneh shot his wife with a shotgun after a quarrel and then killed himself.

Their daughter, Helen, eldest of nine children ranging in age from one to 20, ran through snowdrifts to a neighboring farm to summon help.

Mrs. Braneh's body was found inside the house and her husband was found beside a haystack in the farm yard.

Sketchy reports reaching here said that Braneh, a prosperous farmer who had lived in the district 18 years, had an "uncontrollable" temper.

She saved herself, police said, by squawking loudly for help as the bushmen prepared to board a train with her. A railway employee added to the calls for help and a group of citizens attended to Polly's protection until police arrived.

Your Baby and You

by Ruth Parsons

Sleeping on his stomach is good for baby. It prevents the back of his head from flattening, and the hair from wearing off. It also enables him to lift himself just as soon as he feels so inclined, thereby exercising arms and back. His covers stay in place better, too! Baby may be taught to sleep on his stomach when he grows strong enough to lift his head and turn it in order to breathe easily. Choose a time when he's sleepier than usual, to introduce him to this new experience. Speak soothingly to him as you place him in this new position. Then leave him. He may cry a little the first few times, but he'll soon get over the strangeness and begin to enjoy himself.

TRICKY DISCARDING AIDS

WHEN you are running a long string of cards in one suit and have to discard from the dummy, you have two extremely different kinds of things to think about. One of them is retaining the cards there which will give you the greatest trick-taking potential. The other—which the average player does not consider very often—is bamboozling the defenders into discards which will build your own secondary cards into trick winners. Some of the most astonishing scores of imaginative performers come from that device.

C. Edward Van Vleck, Jr., one of the most unorthodox of all brilliant bridge players, appalled a veteran kibitzer—despite his familiarity with Eddie's ways—with that No Trump bid when having a complete blank in his partner's suit. But shortly the observer's shock was replaced by admiration as he saw the declarer get the top score for which he was shooting in the duplicate.

The diamond 2, covered by the Q, was won by the A and the J returned to the K. Then came a string of eight consecutive clubs. Mr. Van Vleck, instead of the normal discard of low spades, made both defenders think he was saving them. He did it by discarding first all of dummy's hearts, so that both East and West clung to spades for dear life, tossing off red cards in order to hold them.

On the last club, East discarded his ace of hearts in order to keep his three spades. West, already down to nothing but four spades, tossed one of them.

Then you just ought to have seen the expression on the faces of both defenders as the heart K, heart 3 and diamond 8 took the last three tricks—to give him three extras and a terrific top on the deal.

A DRASTIC SOLUTION

Many householders feel indignant about the rise in the price of meat. The blow to the purse will hit some people harder than others. Apparently, however, it will hit pets hardest of all. One solution is to buy less meat for the family dog. A more drastic solution has been decided upon by one local resident when he found that the cost of meat to feed his dog would exceed 25 cents a day. He is going to shoot the dog.—D.W.

Canadian Cheese Exporting May Stop In Few Years

By R. K. CARNEGIE

OTTAWA, Jan. 7—(CP).—Canada is steadily passing out of the picture of an exporter of cheese and other milk products which for years were among her principal contributions to world trade and the main reason is simply that Canadians themselves are eating them up. Economists here would not be surprised if, within a few years, famous Canadian cheese were entirely off the London market where it has been acclaimed for almost a century.

This country has undertaken to provide the United Kingdom with 50,000,000 pounds of cheese in the year beginning April 1. The lowest figure in 65 years. In the export year now ending she will have shipped a total of 55,750,000 pounds to Britain.

For 83 years Canadian cheese has ruled the roost in London's import market, bringing the highest prices of any but the domestic product. The first Canadian cheese to be sold in London was in 1865 and it made a hit from the start.

By 1901 Canada's annual production of cheese for Britain had passed the 200,000,000 mark and held for several years. The top year was 1904, when 234,000,000 pounds were exported.

Trend Downward

From then until now the trend has been downward with fluctuations from year to year. In 1936 it dropped to 58,500,000 pounds when efforts were made to revive the production by bonuses and brought it back to around 80,000,000 a year until the war.

To the pleading from Britain for more cheese Canada was able to export 141,500,000 in 1942 by bonuses, rationing butter and taking cheese practically off the export market. But it was only temporary and the export figures have slipped back steadily since.

Meanwhile, Canada has the largest dairy cattle population in her history. It is estimated at 4,500,000 head.

The chief reason Canadian cheese is slipping out of the export market is the great consumption of milk products. Canada is becoming an industrialized country and it takes more milk to supply the big and smaller centres of population. Canadians are consuming more butter than ever before and the domestic per capita consumption of cheese has moved up from 2½ pounds a year in 1921 to four pounds last year. They ate 50,000,000 pounds in 1947.

Loaded Firearms In Parked Car; Cadi Lenient

Thomas J. Spencer, township of Burleigh, pleaded guilty in city court to having loaded firearms in his possession in a place where game might be expected to inhabit.

The charge was laid by Chief Constable Samis, Lakefield, who said that in the early hours of Saturday November 22 he received a telephone call in respect to a parked car. Investigating Chief Samis said he found a car parked partly across the sidewalk in Lakefield near Hopkins Garage. Searching the car he found one .44 rifle with a shell in the firing chamber and nine shells in the breach. Also there was a shotgun with a cartridge loaded with buckshot, in the chamber.

"I seized the firearms", said the Chief, and later the accused came to the car. He said he had tried to get some garage operator to fix his car that had developed trouble but as he was unable to get any help he had drained the water from the radiator and left it parked in the street. As I knew the accused, and that he would report when called upon I did not impound the car."

Counsel for defence, W. B. Gordon, related to Magistrate Philp, that Spencer had been visiting some friends in Lakefield after being on a hunting trip. He inadvertently left the firearms in the back of his car, and it was purely an oversight that he did not unload them. At the time he was on his way home to Haultain when his car developed trouble. Mr. Gordon asked that his worship would be as lenient as possible with accused in the fine, as though accused had pleaded guilty in the matter of the charge of having loaded weapons in his possession there was no proof nor intention of his intending to use them.

Magistrate Philp decided in favor of the accused and said that he would not impose a fine but place Spencer on a suspended sentence for one year. Mr. Philp further ordered that Spencer sign a bond in the surety of $100.

10 Years Reeve W. Griffith Back Once More

HAVELOCK, Jan. 7 — (ENS). — William E. Griffith, a veteran in municipal affairs in thtis district was first elected to the municipal council of Belmont and Methuen townships in 1908. There were eight candidates for council and two candidates for the reeveship at that time and out of that number he is the only one now living. In 1909 there was an acclamation but in 1910 there was another shake-up with eight running for council and two for reeve. Out of that number J. W. Ketchen of Havelock and Mr. Griffith are the only two still living. In 1911 the council was again given an acclamation. Then in 1912 Mr. Griffith ran for reeve against the late A. A. Wilde and was defeated by over 50 votes. In 1915 he was again nominated for reeve with Mr. Wilde and Mr. Ketchen, the former pulling out of the contest and Mr. Griffith was elected reeve over Mr. Ketchen by a majority of 13. Then in 1916 he was defeated by Mr. Ketchen by a majority of nine.

In 1917 he again opposed Mr Ketchen and won the reeveship by a majority of over 50. In 1918 he was opposed by the late William Anderson of Round Lake and was again successful. He was given an acclamation each year until 1921 when he was elected Warden of the county. In 1922 he dropped out of municipal matters and the late Frank Breckenridge was elected over Gilbert Steenburgh. Between 1923 and 1930 Mr. Griffith ran twice against Mr. Breckenridge and was defeated. In 1930 he opposed Ernest Spencer and was elected. In 1931 he again ran against Mr. Breckenridge and was defeated by one vote. A recount of ballots brought on by the late F. F. Fry resulted in the setting aside of the election and he again opposed Mr. Breckenridge and was defeated. In 1932 he was again defeated when he ran against Chris. Steenburgh. Then Mr. Steenburgh had an acclamation until 1936 when he was opposed by Mr. Breckenridge which resulted in the defeat of the latter by over 100 votes. In 1937 Mr. Griffith again entered the municipal picture when he opposed Mr. Steenburgh and was successful and received an acclamation for 1938. In 1939 Mr. Griffith was defeated by Isaac Anderson, who was also the winner in a three-cornered fight for the reeveship in 1940 against Mr. Griffith and Donald Plunkett by a minority vote. Mr. Anderson held the office of reeve until 1946 when he dropped out of municipal affairs and Carl Purdy and Mr. Griffith contested the reeveship with Mr. Purdy winning by a majority of 166 votes. In 1947 Mr. Purdy had an acclamation. Now in 1948 Mr. Griffith has won back that 166 votes together with a majority of 32 placing him in the reeve's chair for the current year. In all Mr. Griffith has served the township four years as councillor during which he twice headed the polls and ten years as reeve.

Illinois CIO Union Won't Back Wallace

CHICAGO, Jan. 7 (AP) Leaders of 350,000 union CIO members in Illinois decided yesterday "not to promote or approve" Henry A. Wallace's third-party bid for President of the United States.

The state C I O supported Wallace's 1944 attempt to win the democractic vice-presidential nomination, which went to President Truman.

The executive board of the Illinois State Industrial Union Council (CIO) at a meeting "discussed" the Wallace presidential candidacy but withheld any formal endorsement or repudiation of it because of a national CIO convention's decision at Boston last November.

Boston convention delegates the state CIO statement said, "voted not to promote or approve a third-party ticket in the coming presidential election.

Christmas Day Celebrated By Ukrainians

WINNIPEG, Jan. 7 — (CP). — Church bells are pealing across the Dominion today wherever any of the 30,000 Canadians of Ukrainian descent are gathered to celebrate their Christmas by the old Julian calendar.

The three-day festive season began last night. Christmas Eve, called holy night, is the most solemn part of the Yule holidays and families gathered for a traditional dinner consisting of 12 meatless dishes, symbolizing the 12 apostles.

Kutia, boiled wheat seasoned with honey, was the principal dish and eaten before anything else on the table. It took the place of the wafer used among certain other Slavic people.

Today is Christmas Day for the Ukrainians, while tomorrow will be observed as the solemnity of the Virgin Mary and St. Joseph. Friday, third day of the Yule festival, will be marked as St. Stephen's day in memory of the first Christian martyr.

While the greatest congregation of Ukrainian-Canadians is found here they are also spread throughout other parts of the Dominion. Approximately 5,000 live at the lakehead.

Among quaint customs still held among the peasant folk is the legend that God listens to the domestic animals speak on holy night. The usual conversation of the animals is said to centre around their praises and grievances for the treatment received during the year from their master.

Steel Industry Said On Spot

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 — (AP). — The steel industry of the United States will be on the spot Thursday when executives meet with commerce department officials to discuss a steel allocation program, the Iron Age, national metal-working trade weekly, said today.

Either way the decision goes, it will be in for criticism, the paper contended.

Steel firms will be asked voluntarily to allocate 10 to 15 per cent more steel to the farm implement industry, the petroleum industry and freight car manufacturers. If they do, other steel customers will get less steel. If they don't they run the risk of future strict controls backed by governmental authority.

The Iron Age said that "almost without exception steel customers are opposed to allocation of steel supplies under government control or suggestions," but "it looks this week as if the industry would be forced into a shotgun wedding with unprecedented peacetime controls — mild or otherwise."

Professor At Queen's Heads Fisheries Board

OTTAWA, Jan. 7 (CP)— Dr. G. B. Reed, professor of bacteriology at Queen's University, Kingston, was elected chairman of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada at the concluding session of a five-day convention Tuesday, succeeding the late Dr. A. T. Cameron of Winnipeg.

Professor T. R. Raymond, director of the Royal Ontario Museum of Zoology, Toronto, was elected vice-chairman; Major D. J. Sutherland, assistant Deputy Minister of Fisheries, honorary secretary; Miss Nora Grimes of the Department of Fisheries, honorary assistant secretary, and F. O. Weeks, chief treasury officer, Department of Fisheries, as honorary treasurer.

At its final session the board heard a prediction by Dr. Neal M. Carter, director of the Pacific Fisheries Experimental Station at Vancouver, that higher quality fish for Canadians at inland points will probably result from research mapped out for this year by the Vancouver station.

New Zealand Chemist's Discovery May Revolutionize Flour Milling

By J. C. GRAHAM

CHRISTCHURCH, NZ, Jan. 7—(CP)—A discovery which they claim will revolutionize ideas on the chemistry of flour as applied to baking, starch processing and other industries has been made by a Christchurch industrial chemist, J. W. R. Byfield, and his assistant, J. Clarkson, in the course of research for a firm which manufactures most of the starch used in New Zealand.

Although Byfield and Clarkson have not given full details of their discovery they say it takes into account a hitherto disregarded constituent of flour and gives a new concept of the functions of the various constituents.

They claim that it is possible in most cases to blend flours or adjust them during milling as a result of their research so that the product will be of good baking quality. Many flours now graded as of low baking quality are really good quality flours in which there is lack of the proper volumetric balance between the constituents, they say.

Byfield admits that his conclusions cannot be accepted at this stage as being fully confirmed, and that lengthy trials in many parts of the world under varying conditions will be necessary to prove their validity as applying generally.

See Great Saving

"If the theory proves successful in its practical application, hundreds of million bushels of wheat throughout the world will be saved, Byfield pointed out. "The extraction of flour, which with wheat grown in some countries cannot exceed about 60 or 70 per cent., can be pushed up to nearly 80 per cent. of the resultant flours can be 'tailor made' to fit the peculiarities of the wheat used. In a time of food shortages a practical addition of nearly 14 per cent. in the world's flour supply is naturally important.

"An important fact that emerges from our research is that the volumetric relationship between the three main constituents of flour is a vital factor in baking. Even a weak gluten can be partly offset by the proper application of this technique. With high-extraction flours, baking difficulty is often encountered because the volumetric relationship between the flour constituents has been disturbed.

"Among the many tests which we have made to substantiate our views the following may be taken as typical. The Wheat Research Institute provided us with two samples of flour — one with a baking score of 23 and the other with a score of 25. Their origin and history were quite unknown to us. After analysis we were able to make an option mixture of these two flours and after baking this mixture the Wheat Research Institute gave it a baking score of 31. In other words, two poor flours were converted to a good grade by a simple admixture of one with the other in the correct amounts."

Geologists Study Magnetic Map

OTTAWA, Jan. 7—CP)—An air-borne survey of 3,000 square miles of the Ottawa valley in search of magnetite iron ore has been completed and government geologists are scrutinizing the first magnetitic maps of the area made by a new aerial survey instrument, it was learned today.

Resources department geologists, working with national research council equipment — a magnetometer towed behind a plane—covered Ottawa and Hull in the survey for fields of the ore known to exist in the area.

The magnetometer instrument works on the principle of magnetism, recording ore bodies through the heavier magnetic field transmitted by such bodies.

A resources department geologist, George Shaw, said that magnetite comes in different structures from deposits such as those around Lake Superior and Labrador.

He said the deposits are in lens-shaped bodies scattered through the valley and not in layers as in other iron ore deposits in Canada.

S. Monaghan Ratepayers Propose Township Join Peterborough County

Transfer of South Monaghan from Northumberland county to Peterborough was proposed at the township's recent municipal nominations meeting. The ratepayers commissioned their incoming council to consult Peterborough County Council as to its attitude toward the change of corporate affiliation.

This is not a new project. It has been mooted from time to time, but with no action beyond the contemplation of the certain expected difficulties in severing financial ties with the united counties of Northumberland and Durham.

Seventy-five of South Monaghan's ratepayers attended the annual municipal meeting, a large representation of its freeholders. The subject of annexation to Peterborough county was debated at length, and without one dissenting vote a motion was carried authorizing the council of 1948 to discuss the proposal with Peterborough County Council.

The chief argument in favour of the change was that residents of the township felt they really belonged to Peterborough County. The county seat in Cobourg interest was taken in centres was out of the locality and little within the United Counties by local people; and South Monaghan residents feel that little consideration has been given them by the twin counties.

Another strong argument was that farmers in South Monaghan organizations within Peterborough would benefit from argricultural ough County, whereas the present set-up in Northumberland leaves the local farmers without these advantages.

Local residents make practically no use of hospitals or schools within the United Counties at present and since South Monaghan is practically at the back door of Peterborough, with its several good roads leading through Otonabee to the city proper, a school bus takes the children to Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School daily and the facilities of Peterborough hospitals are used entirely by Monaghan people.

Altogether residents feel the present set-up is far outdated and the time has come for a township rich in its agricultural possibilities, to be connected with neighbouring muncipalities where it will have the opportunity of making the greatest contribution not only to the local projects but to the community as a whole.

Tasker Murder Puzzles Police

WINNIPEG, Jan. 7 — (CP) — The budgeon-slaying of 28-year-old Mrs. Ann Varty last week-end fell almost three months to the day after Winnipeg police were handed their last previous—and still unsolved—murder to investigate Early last October Mrs. Elsie Frances Tasker had died in a brutal knife slaying.

In the slaying of Mrs. Varty, mother of three children, police already have charged Clarence G. Richardson with murder. Yesterday, in a brief apearance in court, he was remanded until Jan. 12.

But, although the Tasker case has not been closed, police today were no nearer a solution to the murder of the 42-year-old woman whose body, gashed by eight knife wounds, was found last Oct. 6 lying in the hallway of her downtown home.

Mrs. Tasker, thrice married and twice divorced, was believed killed two days before her body was found. Since then innumerable clues were followed by police, but in no case did arrests result.

Britain's Island Havens Plan To Increase Prices

LONDON, Jan. 7 — (Reuters) — Britain's island havens of escape for austerity-weary citizens are showing signs of losing their most effective bait to tourists — ridiculously cheap prices for plentiful stocks of all the commodities Britain lacks.

Taxes, which have slowly climbed during the war years on the Isle of Man, in the Irish Sea, threaten to reach a new peak in the Channel Islands, the almost self-governing British possessions off the coast of Normandy.

Beer, cars, theatres, tea tobacco and wine — at current prices a bait to the thousands of holiday-makers who pour into Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney and Sark every year — may soon be subject to up to 50-per cent increases in duty to meet rising demands on the public exchequer.

No new tax has been imposed this year on the 93,000 residents of the Channel Islands But there have been warnings in the deliberative states (the island parliaments) that heavier burdens for the population are on the way.

Guernsey's governing body has been asked to endorse a "precautionary" measure to permit increases in taxation as these become necessary. While in Jersey, the president of the finance committee, a body which rules the island's treasury independent of London, has announced that the cost of food subsidies has more than doubled since last year and that within a year or two fresh taxation will be inevitable.

Income tax in Jersey, largest of the Channel Island group, now is four shillings in the pound sterling compared with the British income tax of nine shillings in the pound In 1938, it was only six pense in Jersey.

In the Isle of Man, the war-time haven of luxury where Britons could eat all the bacon and eggs they wanted, the income tax rate has risen from almost nothing to three shillings in the pound.

Soviet Lands To Recognize Greek Reds

Britain, US Warn Such Action Brings Serious Crisis

LONDON, Jan. 8 — (AP). — Eastern Europe's Soviet satellites are preparing to recognize the Communist Greek "government" of Markos Vafiades despite Western warnings that the move will bring about a major international crisis, high diplomatic outhorities representing those countries said here to-day.

These informants, who said that the ultimate objective of the Communists was to capture Athens itself, predicted that the recognition of the Vafiades regime was at most a question of months.

Only yesterday Britain and the United States advised Yugoslavia and Bulgaria of the "serious implications" of such a step, which they said would be contrary to the principles of the United Nations charter.

Reinforcing this warning was a disclosure that Britain has deferred indefinitely a scheduled early evacuation of her 5,000 troops in Greece.

Moreover, according to official spokesmen, she has reached a "broad agreement" with the United States not only on joint diplomatic action to be taken in the event of recognition, but also on military steps to support the Athens regime in its fluctuating fight against the guerrillas.

"Every means short of war" will be used by the British and American governments to keep Greece within their own strategic and ideological orbit, one government source said.

The foreign office, without saying so formally, takes the view that the fall of Greece to Communist-led guerrillas might precipitate a political landslide of grave nature in the Middle East.

With Greece under Communist control, Russia would have a strong foothold in the eastern Mediterranean which would enable her to dominate not only the economically-weak Arab states but also the west-inclined countries of southern Europe.

Turkey would be effectively isolated from the west by a chain of states sympathetic to Russia's international policies.

Ask Labor Help Against Prices

TORONTO, Jan. 8—(CP)—The Toronto Housewives' Consumers Association has sought the assistance of Canada's two major labor organizations and the Canadian Association of Consumers in a "signature campaign for price controls on basic items."

Mrs. Edna Hahn, secretary of the Toronto group, sai dthe request was contained in a telegram to Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor congress; A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, and Mrs. R. J. Marshall, National President of the C.A.C., all of Ottawa.

Text of the telegram:

"People's cry of discontent at high prices must reach Ottawa. Suggest signature campaign for price controls on basic items. Would your organization co-sponsor, co-operate in or support such a campaign?

Greece Orders 40,000 More Rifles For Troops

ATHENS, Jan. 8 — (AP). — Maj.-Gen. William G. Livesay, chief of the United States military mission in Greece, disclosed today that the Greek government has ordered 40,000 rifles and necessary ammunition from Britain to arm an augmented Greek national guard (militia).

The cost, amounting to $3,000,000 will be paid from frozen foreign exchange of Greek citizens in Britain, he said.

The United States, through its aid mission, approved an increase in the size of the national guard early this week from 20,000 men to 50,000 men. The army is to be increased from 120,000 to 132,000 men.

Christmas Tree Bonfire Is A Huge One

Peterborough Christmas trees are joining in ashes the festive Yule logs that heated and lighted baronial halls of the long centuries before furnaces and automatic gadgets such as thermostats were imagined. City trucks piled high with the slender evergreens of recent beauty are rolling toward the south end of the city and the municipal dump fires across the CPR from the Archie patterson gravel pit.

Tinsel icicles still deck some branches on which they had been carefully placed with an eye to effect in the color schemes of most of the homes of the city when Christmas was a tomorrow and its spirit of domestic happiness was directing all the planning and preparations. The trees are coming, now that Twelfth Day has joined Christmas in memory, from one storey bungalows and third floor apartments, their central place in the holiday brightness and goodwill a departing reminder of the unity of home and families at Christmas time, and of the universal love of beauty and its aids.

Given 18 Months Term

LONDON, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Michael Kushneryk, 25, of Brantford, who stole a car from a local garage, and went on a spree of drinking, was sentenced to-day to 18 months. He pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and theft.

A similar charge against Elgin Gratton, 24, also of Brantford, was dismissed when Kushneryk repudiated part of a previous statement to police and said he picked up Gratton later and that Gratton was not involved in the theft.

Police said that following his arrest here, Kushneryk said he and Gratton broke into a mid-town used car garage, took an auto, drank beer in two hotels, and finished up at a bootlegger's.

Officials Deny Stalin Dead But Swiss Not So Sure

BERN, Jan. 8—(CP).—Two Bern newspapers speculated today that Prime Minister Stalin was dead. The Russian Embassy in London said there was nothing to the rumor. Der Bund headlined its story "Stalin Dead?" in one edition, but changed this later to "About Stalin." It said reports of Stalin's death had been the subject of conversations in the Federal Council, chief executive authority of Switzerland.

"There is a serious background to these reports," Der Bund said. It called the rumor "the topic of the day in Moscow." (No Bern newspaper has a Moscow correspondent.)

A Socialist newspaper, the Berner Tagwacht, used the headline "Stalin Died?" It said:

"Obviously the report of the death of Stalin was nourished and a certain credence given it by previous reports Stalin was sick, that he was on crutches and that a Swedish cancer specialist had been summoned to Moscow."

Specialist Called

The Swedish cancer specialist, Dr. Elis Berven, arrived in Moscow this week on a summons from four Russian doctors who said they wished to consult with him.

The report of Stalin on crutches came this week from Mario Pimentel Brandao, who left Moscow in November after serving as Brazilian ambassador to the Soviet Union. He said Stalin's right side was paralyzed. However, persons who reported seeing Stalin in Moscow last month said he was tanned after a vacation in the south of Russia, and appeared in good health.

The Russian leader is 68.

The Russian Monitor in London, a unit of the news agency Tass, announced the embassy denial there. The Monitor's office called the report "nonsense" and said nothing had been received from Moscow to support it.

The British foreign office reported it had heard nothing about the death rumor.

4 Top UAW Men Fired Burt Says

OSHAWA, Jan. 8 — (CP). — George Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) confirmed late yesterday that four of the union's top-ranking officials have been dismissed by Walter Reuther, UAW international president.

He said the dismissals were "partly" an economy move. He declined to comment on other reasons for Reuther's action.

The four are Drummond Wren, Toronto, director of union education; Harry Rowe, Toronto and Windsor, director of public relations; John Eldon, Toronto, and Fred Steeve, St. Catharines, international representatives.

Burt was here to address a meeting of UAW Local 222, at which he will outline the union's policy for 1948.

Asked if the number of officials dismissed was six, not four, he said it was "definite" that four had been fired.

Burt said the international president's action was not involved with any question of "special autonomy" for the union's Canadian region.

"The international board has always assisted us the same as any other region," he said.

Under Consideration

DETROIT, Jan. 8—(CP). — Walter Reuther, international president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), last night said the dismissal of four Canadian officials of the union is "a general staff matter and is still under consideration."

The UAW chief declined further comment on the dropping of the officials.

German Officials Surprised At Sweeping Reorganization

FRANKFURT, Jan. 8.—(AP).—German officials frankly expressed surprise today at the sweeping nature of the proposals submitted to them by United States and British authorities yesterday for re-organizing and strengthening the present feeble German administration of Bizonia, the joint British-American occupation zone.

They are expected, however, to accept with thanks at this afternoon's concluding meeting of a two-day conference attended by German and Allied officials of the joint zones.

The Allied plan calls for enlarging and broadening the powers of the German "Economic Council" which directs industry and agriculture in the two zones. It also will give the Council a second legislative body, similar to a senate; a supreme court to interpret its laws; a central bank to regulate its currency and credit; and a cabinet headed by a sort of "prime minister" to act as its executive branch.

The Germans, thus, would have everything but political power in the drive to speed the economic recovery of their western zones and of western Europe.

The proposals pointedly held the door open to a re-union of Bizonia with the Soviet zone, when and if the Russians will agree. Gen. Lucius Clay, U.S. military governor said the re-organization was not intended as a long-range policy, but only as a temporary expedient to spur economic recovery.

Old-Time Riff Warrior Stirring Up Trouble

TUNIS, Jan. 8 — (AP). — Formation of "committees for North African independence," as announced in Cairo by Abd El Krim, the one-time Riff warrior, is seen here as the start of a new international headache which may bring new Soviet-American rivalry.

It promises to be a serious thorn in the side of France, which is faced with armed revolt in Indo-China, Madagascar and now organized political opposition to French rule in North Africa.

Salah Ben Yousef, an independence party political leader in Tunisia says:

"If the United States lets France continue her present oppressive policy in North Africa, we will eventually turn in another direction for support," he said in an interview. "Yes, I mean Russia."

European Aid Investment "In Peace"

Must Have Adequate, Prompt Assistance Or Russians Triumph

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8—(AP). —State Secretary Marshall appealed to the United States Congress today for an adequate, prompt and effectively-administered European aid program and bluntly challenged the legislators:

"Either undertake to meet the requirements of the problem or don't undertake it at all."

At the same time he rejected outright the Republican-backed proposal to create a new government corporation to administer the projected aid program. He called for a single administrator responsible to the President and working with the State Secretary on foreign policy questions.

The man whose name designates the "Marshall Plan" for European recovery, appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as the first of more than a dozen high officials assigned to present the Democratic administration's case to the Republican Congress for a four-year multi-billion-dollar program of assistance to Western Europe.

Of the need for such aid, Marshall declared: "Dollars will not save the world — but the world today cannot be saved without dollars."

Not Generous

He described the $6,800,000,000 which President Truman has asked for the first 15 months of the plan, as a precision figure which "does not represent a generous estimate of requirements. It was not an "asking figure" based on expected cuts by Congress.

As for the whole undertaking, he reiterated earlier estimates that the cost might range between $15,100,000,000 and $17,800,000,000 but "the over-all cost is not capable of price determination so far in advance.

"Three principles should determine the amount and timing of our aid. It must be adequate. It must be prompt. It must be effective immeditately.

On the question of time, "the sooner this program can get under way the greater its chances of success...unless the program can be placed in operation on or soon after April 1, there will undoubtedly be a serious deterioration in some of the basic conditions upon which the whole project is predicated."

Investment In Peace

The "investment in peace" should pay off by enabling Europeans to restore their war-ravaged economies "against the avowed determination of the Soviet Union and the Communist party to oppose and sabotage" the recovery program "at every turn."

The alternative to economic recovery was a Western European collapse in which "the historic base of western civilization . . .

Noted Singer Tauber Dead

LONDON, Jan. 8 — (AP). — Richard Tauber, 56, noted singer, composer and conductor, died at a London nursing home today.

A leading tenor, Tauber was one of the greatest interpreters of Mozart, and was frequently heard at Mozart festivals in Munich and Salzburg.

He was born in Linz, Austria, in 1892, and made his debut in 1913, scoring an immediate success. Within a few days he was given a five-year contract at the Dresden opera house, where he sang all the leading lyrical tenor roles.

In 1915, he appeared for the first time at the Berlin opera house and by the end of 1919 was widely known throughout the German-speaking world. From about 1925 he began appearing in lighter operettas, such as those of Franz Lehar, and it was in these roles that he made his greatest name with the general public.

He became a British subject in 1940. His wife, the former Diana Napier, one-time film actress, was at his bedside when he died.

Sees Spring Defeat

ATHENS, Jan. 8 — (Reuters). — Gen. William G. Livesay, head of the United States combined staff group in Greece, today predicted complete defeat for Greek guerrilla forces by late spring or early summer and added that the United States War and State Departments had always intended to send all the supplies necessary to achieve that end. Livesay told foreign correspondents he expected to approve shortly recommendations giving more arms to the Greek army.

Frankford Girl Died Of Wound Dr. Waite Says

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 8 — (CP). —Dr. C. B. Waite of Peterborough testified today at a resumed inquest that Marian Jean Badgely, 25, died last Nov. 30 of a rifle wound in her temple.

In giving this opinion, he changed his original autopsy report, which said there was evidence of strangulation, although not sufficient to cause the attractive young secretary's death.

Her body was found in the back kitchen of her parents' farmhouse at Frankford, 14 miles northwest of here. Her mother and father were at church at the time of the fatality.

The inquest, called by Dr. Russell Scott, coroner, was started Dec. 17 and adjourned until all medical experts in the case could be persent. It was expected the hearing will be further adjourned late today.

Dr. Waite, in his original autopsy report, said the hyroid bone in the young woman's neck had been broken. But he testified today it was the thyroid cartilage. He said he had noticed the mistake on reading his report but police already had received a copy of the original, containing the error.

The pathologist said the thyroid cartilage could easily have been broken during the autopsy but he did not think that had been done.

Push Kashmir Raids As Bargaining Wedge

NEW DELHI, Jan. 8 (CP)—Observers in this capital of Hindu India today linked intensified attacks by Moslem raiders in the princely state of Kashmir to fact that the United Nations Security Council will discuss the Kashmir issue next week.

The theory here was that the raiders are making an all-out attempt to grab as much territory as they can to strengthen their bargaining position for any territorial sharing which might be the Security Council's judgment.

Meanwhile in Moslem Pakistan's acpital of Karachi, Premier Mohammed Ayub Khurro of the province of Sind, announced that 122 persons were killed and 200 injured in two days of communal rioting there. He said 61 of the dead were Sikhs.

Believe Probe Under Way In Toronto Prices; Protests Flooding Ottawa

Rumors Circulating Temporary Ceiling Planned On Beef And Pork Products; Abbott, Gardiner Away So Matters Left

OTTAWA, Jan. 8—(CP).—Canada's cost-of-living picture continued to develop from many sides today as rising food and other costs brought demands for consumer action and unofficial reports said the Government may already have moved into the possibility of manipulation of food prices. As prices for bacon, beef, pork and poultry moved up in the wake of renewed higher-rate British food contracts, a steady flow of protest came to Government officials about the Dominion's spiraling price structure.

Reports were heard in Ottawa that the combines investigation commission already was probing to determine whether some food handling organizations in both the wholesale and retail field might not be boosting consumer prices unduly to take advantage of the deteriorating price situation.

A. S. Whitely, deputy commissioner of the Combines Commission, was in Toronto today but declined to discuss the reason for his visit.

Other current prices developments:

1. M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, demanded that the government call by-elections "immediately" in two vacant constituencies and place squarely before the electors the question of whether or not controls should be re-imposed. The CCF advocates the return of wartime controls.

2. The Canadian Congress of Labor, in a statement, urged a "consumers austerity program" as a move to check rising prices, calling on its membership to reduce to a "bare minimum," consumption of a number of foods.

Six-Year Term Given Salesman

TORONTO, Jan. 8 (CP)—Arthur H. C. Beairsto, a security salesman who last week admitted theft of $192,500 in securities, was sentenced today to six years.

The 59-year-old former vice-president of R. A. Daly Company, Ltd., said he stole the securities from the firm during the years from 1941 to 1947.

Crown Attorney J. W. McFadden commented that "the magnitude of the theft is the largest, or next to the largest, in this city's history."

Evidence at Beairsto's trial was that, after a friendly golf tournament last fall with another of the firm's executives, he "talked confidentially." As a result of the conversation an investigation was launched, leading to discovery of the theft.

R. A. Daly, president of the Company, testified that Beairsto "lost a great deal of this money by gambling on horse races with bookies."

Buffalo Writer Shot At By Gang Pair

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 8 (AP). —New York state police issued a 15-state alarm last night for two men they said were reported to have shot at a Buffalo Evening News aviation writer as he drove along a highway.

Oak Kirkpatrick, 31, of Silver Creek, N.Y., told police a shot was fired into his car as he drove in the town of Hamburg towards Buffalo. The shot was fired by one of two men in a car which pulled abreast of his, he told police.

Trooper Florence Driscoll and police Sgt. Richard Walter said Kirkpatrick told them the driver of the car "resembled" a man who had been in touch with him about getting pilots to fly contraband "stuff" from Canada.

Driscoll quoted Kirkpatrick as saying that "on or about Dec. 6 a French Canadian asked me at Niagara Falls airport if I could get a group of American fliers together to transport contraband stuff into the United States."

Contacted Officials

Driscoll said there was no further explanation of what the "stuff" was.

Kirkpatrick, who is a pilot, told police he got in touch with U.S. customs officials and arranged a second meeting with the man, but the stranger did not appear.

Driscoll said the shot pierced the left front door window of Kirkpatrick's car, missed his head by about 10 inches and went out of the right window.

May Need Force For Holy Land

OTTAWA, Jan. 8 — (CP). — The Palestine situation points to the creation of an international force under the United Nations Security Council for dispatch to the Holy Land to aid in implementing the partition plan, according to information here.

It is also being hinted in UN circles, sources here said, that another international force should go to Kashmir to help keep order in the dispute between India and Pakistan which is in the hands of the Security Council now.

In Palestine, the initial task of an international force would be to protect the five-member UN Commission, which will go to Palestine to try to carry out the decision of the UN General Assembly that the Holy Land be partitioned into Jewish and Arab states.

Without this protection, the Commission probably will not be able to do its work completely.

Guns Bristle At Jaffa Gate Arabs Ready To Halt Attack

JERUSALEM, Jan. 8—(AP)—Five more persons died in scattered violence throughout Palestine today and in Jerusalem the Jaffa Gate bristled with Arab armament. Rumors spread that a new Jewish attack would be launched against the gate.

Seven Jews liberated from a hospital one of their comrades who was wounded and captured yesterday after Jews made an armored car attack on the Jaffa Gate, taking the lives of 17 Arabs and three Jews.

Arabs began arming the Gate after the rumor spread that four British armored cars had been stolen, possibly for a new onslaught of the old walled city. An Arab source said several hundred armed Arabs were massed at the gate "ready to repel attacks." Roadblocks were augmented and Sten guns and rifles were made ready upon the walls.

Heavy sniper fire was heard frequently in the area, apparently a continuation of the duel between Arabs and some 1,500 Jews besieged inside the old city.

A British constable was shot to death in Hebron.

The violence of the last five days, in which more than 50 persons were killed and about 200 injured, seemed likely to damage the chances of Hagana, the Jewish militia, of becoming the force designated by the United Nations to guard partition. Hagana was admitted carrying out at least one bombing

The escape of the young Jew captured after the Jaffa Gate attack was effected by Jews who, police said, walked into the Red Shield clinic and carried the wounded man away, covering their retreat with revolvers.

The toll of deaths in Palestine since the United Nations partition decision last Nov. 29 now has soared to 632.

Nine Burn To Death In Algerian Crash

PARIS, Jan. 8 (Reuters)—Nine persons, including two children, were burned to death when a plane crashed against a hillside about 32 miles west of Algiers today, Agence France-Press reported.

The plane was bound for the Algerian towns of Biskra and Philippe-ville, but crashed an hour after taking off from Algiers today, the agency said. Those killed were seven passengers and the crew of two.

The plane had had some difficulty with one of its engine when taking off at Algiers, the agency added.

2 Farm Groups Oppose Margarine Sale

TORONTO, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Opposition to the sale, manufacture and importation of oleomargarine was expressed today by two agriculture groups meeting here in convention — the Junior Farmers Association of Ontario and the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association.

Winding up the 15th annual convention, the cheese producers voted support to federal tax exemption of all cheese factories with a volume less than $50,000 or less, as well as cancellation of the embargo on cheese export to countries other than the United Kingdom, "provided production costs exceed existing contracts."

A resolution calling for reimposition of price control was voted down 300-4 by the cheese producers. The convention approved a resolution asking government action to curb rising costs of cheese production through a "proper balance between the price received for primary products and the cost of producing them."

The Ontario government was asked to pay the producer a premium of 30 cents a hundredweight on top quality milk, and to cheesemakers a premium of one-half cent a pound on sediment-free cheese.

John I. Ballantyne of Atwood was re-elected president with C. E. Harkness of Iroquois, vice-president. Directors are Hector C. Arnold of Campbellford. A. E. Hicks of Kinburn and L. B. Cronk of Parham.

Co-operative Enterprises

Five hundred junior farmers from southwestern Ontario supported co-operative enterprises such as group medical services. Delegates approved from radio broadcasts of the CBC and suggested these should be extended to include short progams on the work of junior farmers.

In the junior farmer public speaking contest, Peggy Smith of Milverton won provincial laurels when she told judges that she stuck to the farm because "there was not the loneliness of big cities."

The 19-year-old girl, who can plow a straight furrow and milk a cow, said farm people today have more fun than their city cousins.

In his presidential address Wesley Down of Hilton said there was no lack of leaders in rural Ontario but there was a lack of confidence. Farm camps were instilling this confidence in youth.

Lawrence Kerr, Chatham farmers, explained how business principles could be successfully applied to farming in book-keeping methods.

50-Foot Waves Lash Russ Ship

TOKYO, Jan. 8 — (AP). — Fifty-foot waves lashed the disabled Russian ship Dvina off northeast Japan today, but her condition was regarded as improved and officials considered towing the vessel and her 780 passengers to safety.

Three rescue ships were standing by and others were hurrying toward the leaking vessel, which had been pounded by massive waves for 24 hours. Heavy seas prevented any attempt to remove the passengers during a day-long rescue effort.

Standing by the stricken ship at nightfall were a Russian patrol boat, the tanker Yoko Maru and the freighter Taihoku Maru, the last two Japanese-manned. A second Russian ship was reported two hours distant and six American-controlled but Japanese-manned vessels were en route to lend assistance.

The United States Air Force reported that a rescue plane would circle the Dvina throughout the night.

No Strangulation Signs

There was no external indication of strangulation and no bruises or other signs of a struggle. The Badgely girl had not been criminally molested.

Dr. Waite said the thyroid cartilage could have been broken as the young woman fell to the floor after being struck by the bullet.

He said the bullet entered the right temple, passed horizontally through the brain and fractured the skull on the left side. There has been blood on the back of the young woman's sweater, on the front of her blouse and on her stockings.

Ontario Provincial Police Constable J. Ernest Keays identified the .22-calibre rifle found beside Marion Jean's body. Sgt. W. W. Sutherland of the RCMP, a ballistics expert, said the bullet taken from the victim's skull had been fired from the rifle found at the scene.

He said it was possible, but unlikely, that the gun was discharged accidentally.

At the first hearing, the young woman's father, Hugh Badgely, testified for three hours, during which he broke into tears several times.

It was at the father's insistence that the inquest was called. Although a .22-calibre rifle was found beside his daugher's body, he contended she was too cheerful to have committed suicide.

He and Mrs. Badgely said they believed Marion Jean was killed as she resisted an attacker. Another theory was that the girl was killed when the rifle, owned by Mr. Badgely, was accidentally discharged.

If Injunction Granted Will Give Battle

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—(CP).—If the "calamity" should come and the Ontario Supreme Court finds for an injunction restraining the Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Paper Co. of Espanola from dumping its sewage into the Spanish river, "then I am going to argue that it be postponed," Counsel J. J. Robinette, today told Chief Justice J. C. McRuer.

His statement came at the second session of a special hearing at Osgoode Hall here in the suit of six Espanola district tourist camp operators for $230,000 damages and an injunction to force the Sulphite Kraft Paper Mill from emptying waste into the Spanish.

Final arguments by counsel began yesterday following preliminary evidence given before Chief Justice McRuer at Sudbury last December.

Before giving his submission of law on behalf of K.V.P., Mr. Robinette said: "I am not going to ask for damages in lieu of injunction."

Employs 1,400

The mill, operating on the site of the old Abitibi pulp plant, produces 250 tons of paper daily, the company said. Capitalized at $13,000,000, the mill has 1,400 employees with a monthly payroll of $450,00.

Since the mill began operations two years ago, the tourist operators charge that its sewage has polluted the Spanish river, causing death and migration of game and commercial fish. They also claim damages for loss of tourist trade.

In his summation of law, Mr. Robinette argued:

"Since the Spanish river is navigable the title to property of owners on the banks only extends to the water's edge.

"The plaintiffs own only to the water's edge and the bed or solum of the river is vested in the Crown in the right of the province. The right to fish is an incident of the ownership of the solum and the plaintiffs, not owning the solum, have no proprietory right to fish in the waters of the Spanish river."

Industrial Section Features Heavy Trade

TORONTO, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Mixed trends prevailed for most listings in moderately active trading on the Stock Exchange to-dav. The industrial section featured heavy trade in Imperial Oil for a rise of ⅛ at 16 and a new high while mining issues were selectively better.

Volume for the first three hours was 509,000 shares, about 48,000 below yesterday's similar period.

Newsprints and steels were down for BA Oil and up for Canadian Oil and Imperial Oil. Liquors posted both gains and losses in fractions.

Mining stocks traded selectively on gains in golds for Campbell, Giant, God's Lake, Little Long Lac, Macassa, Madsen, Sylvanite, Sigma and Pioneer, while base metals improved for Waite Amulet and Steep Rock.

"Our national security will be seriously threatened. We shall live in effect in an armed camp, regulated and controlled."

Marshall said "We have stated in many ways that American aid will not be used to interfere with the sovereign rights of these (16 co-operating European) nations and their own responsibility to work out their own salvation. I cannot emphasize too much my profound conviction that the aid we furnish must not be tied to conditions which would, in effect, destroy the whole moral justification for our co-operative assistance toward European partnership."

May Relax Imports

3. There were reports that the government soon would relax import restrictions on American-grown vegetables but one high official said it would be "going out on a very shaky limb" to predict such action in the immediate future.

4. There were also reports that a temporary price ceiling might be clamped on pork and beef in the fare of recent spiraling prices, but these found no confirmation in official circles.

The two men most concerned with the food costs—Finance Minister Abbott and Agriculture Minister Gardiner—both are absent from Ottawa. Mr. Abbott is in Washington and Mr. Gardiner is in Western Canada and it is not thought likely that any government action will be taken until they have surveyed the situation.

Abbott Signs Loan Agreement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(CP).—Finance Minister Abbott today signed a loan agreement with the export-import bank under which Canada will borrow $300,000,000 at 2½-per-cent interest, repayable in three installments, three, four and five years after withdrawal.

This amount, which may be withdrawn any time up to the end of 1948, was authorized and announced just before the Canadian government imposed restrictions Dec. 17.

The Finance Minister told a press conference today that but for the assurance he had received that the loan would be granted the import restrictions would have been more severe.

The credit will be used to buy United States raw materials and machinery necessary to maintain Canadian economy, he said. No commercial loan was being considered at the moment but was not to be ruled out as a possible source of American credit later this year.

Car, Milk Wagon In Collision

Backing his car out of Hunter Street across the intersection into Chambers St. Tuesday, K. M. Dorrington, 534 Chamberlain St., struck a horse-drawn milk wagon.

Police Constable W. G. Scott investigated the accident, and according to his report Dorrington said that he was backing his car into Chambers St. and looked behind to see if any traffic was approaching. Seeing nothing he continued in reverse and collided with a milk wagon. Allan Fallis, RR 11, Peterborough, was driving the horse drawn vehicle and said that he saw a car backing across the street. "I pulled the horse to the left," said Fallis "to avoid the car striking the wagon, but was unsuccessful. The car struck the side of the wagon and damaged the shaft and springs and broke the cross member of the shaft."

The damage to the wagon is estimated at about $5. Damage to Dorrington's car consists of both tail lights broken and a bent trunk.

Oliver Calls For Burwash Report

TORONTO, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, today called on Hon. George Dunbar, Ontario Minister of Reform Institutions, to make public a report on an investigation into riots last October at the Burwash reformatory near Sudbury.

Mr. Oliver said in an interview his party would seek to have the report brought before the Ontario Legislature at its next session, if it were not made public earlier.

Skies are cloudy and temperatures much the same as yesterday's in most sections of Ontario this morning. Light snow is falling in sections of the Kirkland Lake and Georgian Bay regions. Ontario's weather of the past few days has been under the influence of a series of disturbances originating in the Pacific Ocean and moving rapidly eastward across the country, causing light snowflurries in their passing. Not much change in weather is expected in southern Ontario today or Friday, but the weather is expected to turn colder in the northern sections of the province on Friday.

Forecasts:

Haliburton and eastern Lake Ontario regions — Overcast, with light winds and not much change in temperature today and Friday. Occasional light snow this afternoon and again on Friday.

Summary for Friday: Occasional snow.

Elderly Woman Foils Holdup

BRANTFORD, Jan. 8 (CP). — Bessie Dowling, 63, alone in her farmhouse in the suburban Cainsville district, last night foiled a holdup attempt by a man who may have been armed, police said today.

Miss Dowling said the intruder, who wore farmer's clothing, a white mask and dark glasses, kept one hand in a pocket as if he were holding a revolver.

Although no other person was in the vicinity, she told him her nephew was in a nearby barn. The man, apparently frightened by her story, fled.

Miss Dowling ran from the house and summoned help from neighbors. Six farmers, armed with rifles and shotguns, and two constables searched unsuccessfully.

Renfrew Votes For Liquor Stores

RENFREW, Jan. 8 — (CP). — This Ottawa valley town, "dry" since 1910, yesterday voted for establishment of government-operated liquor and beer stores by a slim majority, but turned down inauguration of such things as cocktail lounges or the serving of liquor with meals and beer parlors.

An estimated 80 per cent of the town's 4,300 eligible voters turned out to cast ballots in the first "wet-dry" vote since 1945 when the town voted to continue the "dry" system it voted for in 1910.

Voters were asked seven questions each requiring 60 per cent of the total vote for passage. Establishment of a beer store crept over the line with 60.91 per cent and establishment of a government liquor store gained 62.9 per cent.

But voters turned down the other options: establishment of men's and women's beer parlors; licences for beer and wine with meals; licences for liquor with meals and establishment of cocktail lounges.

Claims Farmers Not Advocates Of High Prices

TORONTO, Jan. 8.— (CP). — H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said today that if consumers want low food prices while general price levels are high they can have them "only by discriminating unfairly against food producers."

In an address prepared for delivery to the annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, Mr. Hannam said that farmers, as consumers of both family requirements and production supplies, are hit just as hard as other consumers by high prices.

The organized farmers of Canada had demonstrtaed they would support and accept moderate prices, far below world market prices. For generations food prices had been relatively low. During the war years, food prices were controlled at artificially low prices through subsidies. Consumers were thus educated to expect food products below fair price levels.

Farm prices were high because production costs were high "and the nation knows that without adequate returns to those who produce food, we would have serious shortages even in Canada."

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture would welcome a Royal Commission investigation into the level of farm prices, wages and business returns.

Farmers were not advocates of high prices. Their policy was one of balanced prices at a moderate level.

Mrs. Roosevelt Asks Citizens To Support UN

KINGSTON, Jan. 8.— (CP). — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt pleaded today for effort by every individual to make the United Nations a success.

"We must say 'when,' not 'if,' the nations of the world learn to get along together—for learn we have to," the widow of the late President Roosevelt said in an address to the Alma Mater Society of Queen's University.

The lecture was given after an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred on her at a special convocation.

No Pessimism.

Mrs. Roosevelt cautioned against pessimism with regard to UN's future.

Speaking as a member of the United States UN delegation, she warned: "If the rest of the world goes under we will go under too, for after all, the world to-day is very small....

"The United Nations is a very hopeful machinery and one which can not be changed too quickly. The United States, we know, took a long time to write the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

"I think the Charter of the United Nations will have to go through the same kind of change but anyone who works in the United Nations realizes what it means to reach any agreement among peoples of totally different backgrounds, totally different economic and social situations, and totally different regard for human beings. To have achieved the Charter at all was a major victory...."

US Holding Back

Ontario Apple Growers Warned To Grade Properly

COBOURG, Jan. 8.—Loss of the British preference confined sale of Ontario apples almost entirely to Ontario and Canada, and in Ontario competition of British Columbia apples was very keen. George Reeves, marketing service, Ontario Department of Agriculture, told the convention here today of the Northumberland and Durham Apple Growers' Association. Mr. Reeves also pointed out that it did not look as if the United States market would be any better than in the past.

He said that his inspection duties in Northern Ontario and Toronto had shown a consumer preference for British Columbia apples.

This attitude toward Ontario apples also applied to other produce and the solution to it lay in a better grading on the part of the packers. Some growers were trying to do a fair pack but many growers' minds were elastic and considered the market demand rather than the quality of the grade.

"It is time the Ontario grower woke up," Mr. Reeves declared, "and make a pack that was as good as British Columbia."

George Wilson, director Ontario fruit branch, told the growers that it was in the interests of agriculture that the poor grades be kept off the market and sent to processors.

With import restrictions now in effect, the lack of facilities here for storage and central packing was more apparent.

Discuss Spray Problems

At the morning session yesterday the delegates heard Professor J. Howitt, O.A.C., Guelph, discuss spray problems. Dr. P. J. Chapman, Experimental Station, Geneva, N.Y., told of inspect control in the orchard, particularly in connection with the coddling moth. Dr. Chapman said that D.D.T. sprays were increasing the European red mite and the greenhouse red spider, while lead arsenate did not have this effect, the inference being that D.D.T. sprays killed off the parasites which in turn controlled the mites and the infesting spiders.

Right now orchardists are concerned over marketing and the remarks of George Reeves of Toronto, Marketing Service Department of Agriculture, hit home at growers who were none too careful about their grading.

"I may be as popular as a skunk at a garden party when I am through talking to you, but you are going to get it straight from the shoulder," declared Mr. Reeves before telling the growers to wake up and meet the competition of the better packed and graded British Columbia apples.

He said that his remarks on grading could be considered as applicable to other produce. Some growers were trying to do a fair pack but many, when it came to packing their own products, had elastic minds which guided them into considering market demand ahead of grading properly, he declared.

B.C. Apples Packed Better

"Growers feel that they have to sell all they grow to make a living but thinking-growers are becoming aware that they can't sell all they grow and the consumers will not buy. Up in Northern Ontario and at North Bay I saw B.C. apples selling in preference to Ontario apples. The reason was because the BC apples were packed better. The consumers know what they are getting when they buy B.C. apples, but, even when graded, they don't know what they get when they buy Ontario apples. I was in North Bay six weeks before I saw what could be said to be a good Ontario apple. I saw more apples at Sault Ste. Marie that should have never been taken out of the orchards. It is true that in 1945, when I was in Northern Ontario, sugar was rationed and apples were not selling fast but those that were being sold were B.C. apples. I saw the same condition last year on the Toronto wholesale market," Mr. Reeves declared.

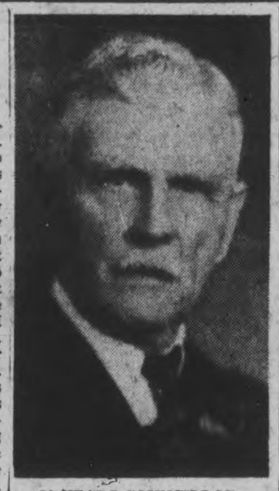
More Cold Storage

The Ontario apples were better than B.C. apples but they were not graded as well, he continued. There was only cold storage for about half the Ontario apple crop when there should be enough for at least three-quarters. It might be necessary to have central packing. There was no doubt that apples graded by somebody other than the grower, would be graded more fairly. The inspectors were becoming more qualified and it was in the interests of the growers to see that the inspectors did a good job. The packer as well as the distributor should be responsible. Last year regulations were drawn up affecting truckers and if truckers induce growers to sell poor apples they should lose their licences. Truckers should have the outlook of inspectors and insist on good apples.

On the Toronto wholesale market, Mr. Reeves continued, Ontario apples were not doing so well against B.C. varieties, although a few growers were selling a good pack. If Ontario growers would do a good grading job, they could beat the B.C. apples as the Ontario apples were better.

George Wilson, director, Ontario Fruit Branch, told the meeting that there had been a reduction of 39% since 1931, in Northumberland and 13% in Durham orchards. This was due to the bad frost of 1934. Some counties were not replanting as well as Northumberland and Durham, he said, pointing out that Grey County, which was second in 1931, was seventh in 1947.

Treating Orchards



Eastern Ontario orchards needed treatment and renovation, he went on. Something will have to be done with older orchards. However it was surprising in 1947 how some orchards had been cared for. MacIntosh acreage was increasing and growers would have to decide how much time they could spare for the other varieties. The inspection staff was increasing and closer check was being made on fruits and vegetables, something that the good growers should welcome. Prices, however, were so high that culls had a value higher than in normal times and it was in the interest of agriculture to keep the poor grades off the market and to send them instead to the processors. With import restriction on, more storage and central packing was needed.

The convention passed a resolution endorsing the constitution of the proposed amalgamation of the vegetable and apple growers associations. The convention also re-elected the 1947 officers and directors. Harry Hodge of Brighton was elected a director to replace a deceased director.

Enemies In War Brothers In Arms In French Legion

By WILLIAM LATHAM

PARIS, Jan. 8 (Reuters).—The French Foreign Legion has attracted so many volunteers since the end of the Second World War that its ranks are full and recruiting officers in Paris and Marseilles are now applying more rigorous standards of selection.

A spokesman of the French war ministry stated that since the end of 1945, the great majority of men enlisting had been ex-servicemen from dozens of armies, so that now many ex-Allied soldiers march side by side with former enemies.

One of the world's legendary fighting units, the legion today has men of 48 nationalities serving under the most rigid discipline. They include a detachment on active service in French Indo-China against the troops of the Viet Nam autonomy movement.

Since the legion was formed primarily for service in remote parts of the French union and several years in Indo-China was a normal tour of duty even in peacetime, legionnaires have been in action there since fighting began in December, 1946.

At the end of the war in Europe, the legion had been reduced through losses in action to approximately 5,000 men. Today, it has no difficulty in maintaining its maximum strength of approximately 15,000.

A young legion captain now serving with the French war ministry's information department said enlistments from France, Spain and Italy accounted for 60 per cent of the legion today — although Frenchmen invariably enlist as Swiss or Belgians who have "lost their identity papers."

Germans, who had always formed a substantial percentage of the legion's manpower, today provide two-thirds of the 30 per cent recruited from central Europe, he added. Slav countries accounted for 5 per cent and British and Americans for approximately 3 per cent. The remaining 2 per cent are of varied or indeterminate nationality.

Few Questions Asked

The legion continues to enlist men without enquiring too closely into their past—except in cases where there are strong reasons for supposing they are "politically minded."

Recruiting officers receive a constant flow of young men attracted by picturesque novels and films of legion life who seek adventure in soldiering abroad.

As always, there is a small proportion of men who for reasons best known to themselves wish to leave their homeland and start afresh. Such names as legionnaire Schmidt, Smith or Dupont cover the identities of men to whom return to their country of origin might prove embarrassing in a variety of ways.

Recruiting figures usually also reflect political tension in various European countries. Recently, for example, there has been a slight increase in the number of applications for enlistment from Hungarians and Rumanians.

In this mixed force, French is the language of command and the lingua Franca of most legionnaires. It is a colorful and peculiar brand of French, however, for it is learned from drill corporals on the barrack square of Sidi Be. Abbes, the training camp in Algeria and fellow legionnaires who, in common with the troops of every army in the world have a tendency to sprinkle their conversation with the strongest oaths.

3 Allied Ships Diverted From Germany

HAMBURG, Jan. 8-- (CP) — Three Allied ships bound for the British zone of Germany—were diverted to other European ports today as a wildcat strike of 12,000 Hamburg stevedores entered its fourth day.

Trade union officials refused again today to back the stevedores, who are protesting against lowered rations, but assured the men they would do all possible to see that their extra food ration was maintained.

A 24-hour sympathy strike was staged by 5,500 workers of Hamburg's shipyards, but a trade union spokesman said these workers had agreed to return to their jobs.

Allied shipping agents were told by British officials they would inevitably meet delays by sending more ships to Hamburg, where 60 vessels are idle because of the strikes.

A trade union leader in Bremen said he believed some elements were attempting to foment a strike at Bremen's Harbor, but that the situation seemed to be quiet at present.

At Essen, which like Hamburg is in the British zone, a five-hour general strike is set for noon tomorrow by 50,000 workers demanding higher food rations. The strike, most serious stoppage since the big food strike of last April, will affect 15,000 Krupp employees and other workers, but not coal miners or essential public utility workers.

At the week-end, union leaders will decide whether to call a general strike throughout the Ruhr "to call the attention of the world to our plight."

Making The Best Use Of The T. H. G. Denne Pictures

One of the most interesting and potentially valuable cultural possessions of this city is the T. H. G. Denne collection of photographs, which is permanently on exhibition in the Public Library. These pictures show this city and the surrounding district as it was during the early days of its history; there are pictures of significant and picturesque figures from the past; there are pictures of old buildings, streets, private houses and business establishments, as well as pictures of lawn parties and social gatherings. It is as a record of social history that the collection is valuable, and in that respect we think that it has few rivals in Canada, considering the length of time and the field of research which it covers.

• • •

It appears, however, that the late Mr. Denne made a provision in the document in which he bequeathed the collection to the city to the effect that these pictures may not be copied or reproduced. What his reason was for making such a stipulation is not known to us, but we think that it restricts the usefulness of the collection seriously. Requests have been made, from time to time, for permission to reproduce pictures from the Denne Collection, with proper credit, in historical works, and it has been the duty of municipal officials to refuse such permission. Within the past year a Canadian publishing house which was bringing out a new edition of Mrs. Moodie's Roughing It In The Bush sought to illustrate the book with relevant pictures from the Denne Collection, but was unable to do so. We feel that this is a pity. Furthermore, we feel that it is indefensible.

• • •

The terms of bequests must be interpreted strictly whenever possible. It may be asked, however, what right the late Mr. Denne had to forbid the reproduction of pictures which were not his property in the first place? He collected the pictures which are now in the Library, and arranged them in their present form, but they were not his pictures; they belonged to local families who lent them to him because he was making a collection for historical purposes. And for this reason we do not believe that a court would support the provision made by Mr. Denne in his bequest that the pictures should not be reproduced.

• • •

The municipality of Peterborough has no interest, we are sure, in hugging these pictures jealously to its bosom. If the pictures are of use in illustrating historical works let us, by all means, make them available for that purpose. Mr. Denne, as is well known, hoped that the Collection would perpetuate his name as a benefactor of this city; the unfortunate dog-in-the-manger clause in his bequest serves only to restrict the usefulness of his work and stifle the fame which might be his. It is not an enviable fate to be remembered as a man who wanted to impede education and prevent the widest possible diffusion of valuable educational material. Is it not possible to discreetly forget the unfortunate provision of the Denne bequest? The pictures will then be no less Peterborough's because the whole world can see them.

"Nothing But Good Of The Dead"

"Speak nothing but good of the dead". The old Latin maxim is still widely honoured. When a politician dies, for instance, the newspapers tumble over themselves in their anxiety to find something laudatory to say about him, however inept, short-sighted and troublesome he may have been. It is interesting, also, that the great figures of the financial world are always described, after death, as though they had been mighty benefactors of mankind, and had won their great fortunes by sheer altruism. But when a king dies—ah, then the case is altered.

Consider the fate of the late King Victor Emmanuel III, of Italy. The obituary editorials written about him ranged from chilly to arctic. He was, it appears, a weakling, feeble-minded, avaricious, ridiculous. Editorial writers who can never decide whether they should wear their rubbers on a cloudy morning have been unanimous in their condemnation of Victor Emmanuel, because he did not foresee, in 1922, what Mussolini would become by 1939; what a pity that none of these second-sighted gentlemen troubled to telegraph advice to the Italian monarch at that time!

But it was Victor Emmanuel's misfortune to be born into a royal house, and booting dead royalty is one of the prime sports of a democratic press. If Victor Emmanuel had not been born as he was he would doubtless have lived and died peacefully, respected as a university professor and a world expert on old coins; his ten-volume work Corpus nummorum italicorum would have assured him of a great reputation in his field. Nobody would have expected him to sauce Mussolini then.

But when he died a fortnight ago, did a single paper use the headline: "Famous Numismatist Dies"? No, not one. "Nothing but good of the dead". Hm;—with exceptions, as we said before.

Farmers' Income Tax

On January 2nd we commented in these columns on the income tax farmers pay, and we used the latest figures available in the Canada Year Book, which were for the fiscal year 1943. They showed that the farmers' cash income for that year was nearly 1½ billion dollars, but that only 3,569 farmers (out of approximately 800,000 in Canada) paid the small total sum of $440,212. That was less than half of one per cent. of the total income tax paid by all Canadians.

Some of our readers have objected that these figures are out of date, and that farmers are now paying their fair share of income tax. The Canadian Tax Foundation has kindly called to our attention figures tabled in Parliament last spring, which show the income tax paid by farmers from 1939 to 1945.

We reproduce these figures from Hansard elsewhere on this page, because we think that they will interest not only farmers but the great host of citizens who pay income tax. The man who dug out these statistics from the Department of National Revenue and gleefully tabled them in Parliament was Mr. Fair, M.P. for Battle River.

Mr. Fair had the astonishing notion that they show that the farmers have been paying too much income tax! He recited the damning figures and didn't realize that if they prove anything, they prove that the farmers have been paying remarkably little income tax. What do the figures show?

In 1941 farmers in Nova Scotia paid no income tax, and three or fewer paid tax in New Brunswick. In 1945-46 only 72 New Brunswick farmers paid tax. They paid a total of $25,294. In that year New Brunswick, our most noted potato producer, had an excellent crop. In that year the potato crop of Canada was worth $39,895,000.

Ontario is the richest agricultural province. In 1945 the cash income from farm products in Ontario was $449,277,000. But in that fiscal year (1945-46) only 3.1 per cent. of the Ontario farmers paid any income tax.

In Saskatchewan, with a total farm income 34½ million dollars less than Ontario's, the farmers paid more than twice as much income tax as Ontario farmers paid. Because of the system of selling grain there, the farmers' income can be more exactly assessed by income tax collectors.

In parliament, Mr. Fair (who produced these figures) made much of the average tax paid by farmers. But how few farmers paid tax! Even the average tax is low. In the fiscal year 1944-45, the average tax paid by farmers was $212.29; the average tax of all Canadians earning between two and three thousand dollars was $287.

In that year a factory worker with a wife and two children to support, living in a small rented house, having to buy all his food, and who earned only $50 a week, had to pay $240 in income tax.

If Mr. Fair wishes us to pity the poor farmer burdened by income tax, he had better not quote official figures from the Department of National Revenue. In fact, he should do all he can to suppress such statistics.

During the academic year 1946-47, 3,215 McGill University students ate more than 2,000,000 meals. We are surprised not at the number of meals consumed but that somebody wasted time making the count. Probably a Ph.D. student in search of a subject for his thesis.

Montreal In Eight Hours

By PANTAGRUEL

THE other week-end I had to travel to Montreal on pleasure. Point of departure was Peterborough. That takes some doing—I mean to depart by rail from Peterborough for points east. There seems to be a conspiracy between the railways and the older residents to prevent any inmate of Peterborough travelling to so—well, foreign—a place as Montreal, or Ottawa. Even to go to Kingston one must take time by the forelock and fill all pockets with sandwiches. It takes eight hours to go by direct train from Peterborough to Montreal, when the train is running on time. The main line train from Toronto—90 miles west of Peterborough—makes the trip to Montreal in 6¼ hours.

✧ ✧ ✧

TORONTO is easy, if you haven't a strong sense of smell and are wearing old clothes which soot won't offend. Toronto can be reached in 2¼ hours, in musty coaches, the kind grandfather used to ride in. Canadian railroads operate 175,000 freight cars; they get along with only 7,000 coaches, sleepers and chair cars. The oldest of these seem to "service" Peterborough.

✧ ✧ ✧

FIVE minutes before train time I was at the station. The train was marked on the board as being only 10 minutes late, so I stood around the waiting-room and admired "Come to Nova Scotia" sign with bathing beauties in bathing suits. The benches were full, and so were the two straight chairs and the two rocking chairs in the Ladies' part. The train arrived only 20 minutes late—just before noon. Two weeks earlier it had been an hour late, so I felt quite chipper.

✧ ✧ ✧

MY seat was opposite a woman with a puking, shrieking little boy. The dear little fellow and the woman got of at the first stop—Indian River — about ten miles down the line. That was the first of forty-two scheduled stops on this, the direct, convenient line between Peterborough and Montreal. It was now time to eat lunch, for which a buffet car, one-third of the chair car, was available.

✧ ✧ ✧

BONARLAW from the window looked rather nice with its fringe of fields and background of bare trees, cedars and rocks. Was Bonar Law born in Bonarlaw? The pie, 2 chops and 2 vegs made me sleep as we chugged through Tweed and Sulphide. I woke up at Kaladar to see a mill and piles of lumber and sweeps of snow. At Mountain Grove there were what looked to be a war memorial and farther off a cairn. To an 1812-14 war hero, an unhappy gold digger, or to the greater glory of Mountain Grove? The countryside was now rough, with few signs of cultivation or inhabitants, and sharp small hills of rock. A road wound round the base of a hill. It was a road, because there was one snow-fence. One wonders where such roads go, and why they are where they are. Did it go north into the hinterland or east into placid Perth? It is better not to inquire too closely and dull imagination's edge.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT'S this, what's this? By heavens, a town and another train! Ah, yes, Sharbot Lake. The place one passes in the night, the place at which one changes trains to or from Kingston. We stop for a while. Everybody in the carriage wakes up. A discussion starts: where can other trains than ours go from here? Some say even to Pembroke. The train jolts into motion again. The porter-steward sings out in a stagey voice: "Sharbot Lake, and all's well".

✧ ✧ ✧

MABERLEY comes next. It has one big barn, and old-fashioned criss-cross fences, now becoming rare in southern Ontario. At Bathurst there is a glimpse of a highway—a knowing person says it is Number 7. We appeal to the steward. He doesn't know; he has made this run only half a dozen times. The farms look prosperous. The afternoon sky is steel-blue and attractive in a cool, Greta Garbish way. At Glen Tay there are open freight cars with big crates marked "Glass". Maybe they contain atomic isotopes.

✧ ✧ ✧

A MAN across from me has been saying all afternoon to his wife—that is, every time he wakes up and sees the train stopping, "Is this Norwood or Tweed?" He says it again, but the servitor says firmly "Perth". He is helping a woman preparing to descend at Perth. "Anybody else like to change at Perth?" he asks. Would I like to change at Perth? No, not really. But it would be pleasant to see Perth again. A fine place. And the farmers are rich, they say. And there is a nice church there....I see a highway sign: "Montreal—140 miles". Our railway schedule allows four hours more.

We leave Perth and puff into Smith Falls which has a large black water-tower, brick-red railway buildings, and flat ribbed acres of railways lines. At Rosedale there is a hint of Ottawa. Maybe it is only in the name.

Ottawa reminds me of tea, and it is after four o'clock. I seek out the steward. "No. No tea until five o'clock".

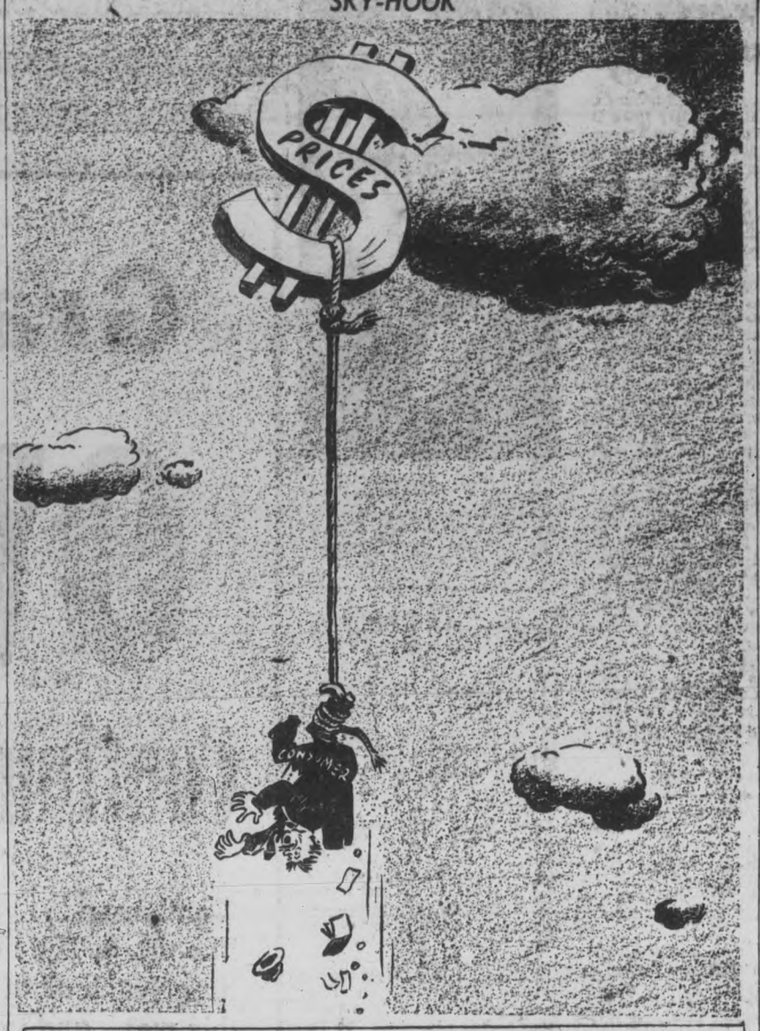
"But I want only a pot of tea and some toast".

"Sorry; kitchen is closed until five o'clock".

So I stare out at the fading light and listen to the man who asks "Is this Norwood or Tweed?" Now he has added Perth to his list. We are actually stopped at a place called Swan. It is from this village that the people in the Ottawa valley get their phrase: "Well, I swan!"

✧ ✧ ✧

NEXT Bedell, which has as shapely a water tower as I have seen in Ontario. It is modest in size and elevation, and is now ornamented by a huge icicle. Near it is a privy, and leading from the tracks to the privy is a path lined on both sides by two good hedges. The people in Bedell do not believe in allowing a wayfarer to stray. I return to my book, which is Thomas Wolfe's "You Can't Go Home Again".



✧ ✧ ✧

FIVE o'clock. The steward hopefully presents me with the same menu card as at noon. I couldn't really face 2 chops and 2 vegs again, so stick to tea and toast. Anyway, I am hoping to have dinner in Montreal. The train is due at 7.30. But precaution is necessary; it may be two hours late as before.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT is now dark, and I dream of Montreal, about matters which would be of no interest to the readers of this column. By the time the train reaches Vaudreuil I begin to beam and hundreds of lights from dozens of outdoor Christmas trees beam back, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Montreal West, Westmount. Windsor Station. WINDSOR STATION. It's only 8 o'clock. It has been a wonderful trip. The C.P.R. is a wonderful railway system. The porter is a wonderful fellow. And there is a wonderful person waiting for me down there at the barrier. Whooppee!

SKY-HOOK

Farmers' Income Tax

(FROM HANSARD, MAY 12, 1947)

Mr. ROBERT FAIR (Battle River): Dealing with the income tax of farmers, I feel that an injustice has been done farmers all across the country in that connection. Until very recently, perhaps within the last year or eighteen months, many farmers did not know they were required to file income returns (p. 3016).

I feel also that the farmers have already paid far more of their share of income tax, indirectly....In my opinion, the farmers are the geese in Canada which lay the golden eggs (p. 3017).

Perhaps one of the best ways to show the condition of farmers is by putting on record the number of farmers who have been paying income tax in the past, the amounts of income tax paid, and the average paid each year. I have here a table....giving the information from 1939 to date, and I should like to place these tables on Hansard (p. 3019).

In 1945, the best year so far, the percentage farmers in the provinces paying income tax is listed below:

	Per cent
Prince Edward Island	2.1
Nova Scotia	1.0
New Brunswick	.3
Quebec	.7
Ontario	3.1
Manitoba	17.0
Saskatchewan	18.4
Alberta	12.1
British Columbia	11.6

Today the Minister of Agriculture told us that in all of Canada 3.7 per cent of farmers were entitled to pay income tax. That, in my opinion, will give a better picture of the condition of Canadian farmers than any tables which could be shown or speeches made by people who do not know what they are talking about. I feel that at the present time income tax levies are too high and exemptions too low. These things certainly help to cut production.

How Time Flies

JANUARY 8

1918 Lt. P. J. Moloney of Ennismore, with the Royal Flying Corps, receives the Military Cross.

Complaints are being heard in regard to the sale price of $12 a ton for coal.

Lornie Rose and Grover Halpin are playing hockey with the London military team.

1928 Stanley Low and H. C. Huffman are appointed to fill vacancies in the city council.

Ald. Ackerman, ex-Mayor J. J. Turner and A. J. Reynolds are named to the Board of Health.

Council appoints Dr. C. B. Waite director and Harry Kelsey technician of the local laboratory.

1938 Board of Education names committee to study local school teachers' salaries.

Sirloin beef is advertised here for 16 cents a pound with pork tenderloin 25 cents.

Peterborough's second team, in OHA intermediate "B", defeats Port Hope 4-1 with Burton, Weir and Ellis starring.

HARDLY RIGHT

A small girl was taken to church for the first time. When everyone knelt down, she whispered: "What are they going to do"

"They are going to say their prayers," whispered back her mother.

The child looked up in amazement; then, in a loud voice, she exclaimed: "What, with all their clothes on?"

A BRITISH OPINION

LEAVES FOR HER POST — India's ambassador to Russia, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, is shown with Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, prime minister of the Dominion of India, just before she boarded a plane at Delhi for Moscow. Mrs. Pandit, who headed her country's delegation to the United Nations' general assembly at Lake Success, N.Y., is flying to the Soviet capital to resume her ambassadorial duties.

Will Keep Controversial Provisions In Proposed Federal Labor Code

OTTAWA, Jan. 8. (CP).—Controversial provisions of the proposed new federal labor code will be retained when it is reintroduced at the coming session of parliament, it was learned today.

The code bill—first brought in at the 1947 session, but dropped by the government after two readings—is to be started through the Commons again shortly after it reconvenes. The 1948 version, it is learned, will be virtually unchanged from the original.

While many aspects of the original bill met with general favor, some labor quarters—notably the 360,000-man Canadian Congress of Labor—objected to some of its clauses.

It was contended, too, by labor officials that the measure—to replace the government's wartime authority in industrial disputes—did not go far enough in its coverage, and should be extended into more industries than those the government proposes.

The government, it is understood, takes the position that the bill is a "middle-of-the-road" measure, swinging neither to the left nor the right, and as such comes as close as possible to satisfying both employer and employee.

It will establish the labor department's authority for the certification of bargaining agents and settlements of disputes in a range of Dominion-wide and interprovincial industries in which the Dominion's wartime jurisdiction has not been returned to the provinces.

These will include shipping, both ocean and inland; railways, canals, telegraphs and some other undertakings stretching beyond provincial boundaries; ferries, air transportation radio and Crown corporations.

Seek Additions.

To these, some labor orginizations have pressed for the addition of such industries as coal and steel, meat packing houses, and others with Canada-wide ramifications. A claim of the CCL was that conciliation of last summer's big packing-house strike was hamstrung because the strikers had to negotiate under various provincial laws.

Another provision that engendered controversy was one decreeing a "cooling-off" period preceding strikes where colective agreements are in effect. Strikes, strike votes or strike declarations —and lockouts—would be barred until all conciliation procedure has been exhausted and another forthight has elapsed.

Labor officers claimed this would consume at least 90 days from the time proceedings were started until a strike could be caled, and held the system would blunt one of labor's chief weapons.

In this point, the attitude of the labor department is understood to be that the time factor is less important than the question of obtaining a satisfactory settlement to a dispute. Lapse of a few weeks, it is held, would be outweighed by the benefits of a better agreement.

A feature which labor wanted the government to include in the Act — and which was not—was that touching on union security. Unions wanted some provision to facilitate the writing of the union shop or some other form of security into contracts.

Studying In Canada

Lakefield Trims Madoc Outfit

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 8.—(ENS)—The Lakefield Legion swamped Madoc 8-0 here last night in their first TVL clash of the season. A fair-sized crowd saw a lively, if one-sided, and clean contest on good ice. Chapell, Chittick and Montgomery were the ace scorers with two goals apiece, Montgomery also having four assists. Fawcett got one goal and turned in a fine game.

Madoc were not clicking in this fray while the local squad is hitting its stride, having a tie with Campbellford, losing to Stirling and taking Madoc handily. Montgomery suffered a cut by the eye and was out of action for about 10 minutes. The teams:

Madoc — Goal, Carswell; defence, Baker and Naylor; centre, Kellar; wings, Thompson and Reynolds; alternates, R. Smtih, W. Smith, McKay, Nickel and Lewis.

Lakefield —Goal, Wasson; defence, Birch and Morin; centre, Chittick; wings, Chappell and Montgomery; alternates, Hopkins, Fawcett, Henry, Jewell and Wanamaker.

Girls' basketball resumes tomorrow evening at eight in the YWCA when CGE and Lock Works tangle in the opener, followed by Kawarthas and Neill's at nine. Two interesting tilts on tap and they should draw well. On Monday, Neill's play Lock Co. at eight. And at the Collegiate tomorrow night, North Toronto Collegiate Juniors meet PCVS junior "A" team at 7.30, with the Toronto senior squad playing PCVS senior "A" bunch at 9.00, with gym acrobatics betwixt times. On Saturday p.m. at Collegiate, Cobourg Legion has a Lakeshore Loop fixture at seven with Marines' "B" band, followed by an exhibition between York Belting seniors of Toronto and Marines' "A" champs. Pat Sheehan, formerly of Toronto Huskies, plays for the league-leading York gang.

Someone sends us this note: "Apsley Aces defeated Wilberforce Tigers in a hard-fought battle at the Apsley arena on Monday. There were no goals at the end of the first period. Second period saw the score 1-1. Both teams came out fighting at the beginning of the third period, which saw one man carried off the ice unconscious and one man helped off the ice. These, with several penalties, kept Rex Caverly, the referee, right on his toes. In the last few seconds of the game, Apsley scored the winning goal to make it 2-1." Interesting, but who did the scoring and who were the chaps hurt, etc.?

Kingston And Legion

Kingston Saints tangle with Legionnaires in an OHA senior "B" fixture in Lindsay at 8.30 tomorrow evening. Saints squeezed out a win on home ice against the Petes and will be stiff opposition, but Legionnaires should just about cop it on Scugog ice — where they play their best hockey. Sure to be a swell scrap, in any case, if the ice is fast, and it'll no doubt pack in another hefty crowd. The Petes are idle that night—as Belleville couldn't get their rink — so local fans, not to mention those from Lindsay and district, will trek to the Russell St. ice emporium for this number.

* * * * * *

At present, Kingston, Belleville, Legion and Petes are all tied up in their senior "B" group standing. Each team has one win and one loss. Legion beat Belleville but lost to the Petes. The latter lost to Kingston, and Kingston dropped one to Belleville. So it's quite a scramble. If Legion beat Belleville and Belleville in turn defeated Kingston, you'd say Legion would wallop Kingston. Yet Kingston took the Petes, who in turn beat Legion—so where are you? But they were all close counts in keen contests, showing what a fine well-balanced grouping the two local clubs are in this season. It all adds up to more fan entertainment.

Remarks In Belleville

Scribe Carver of Belleville remarks re the Vets' win o'er Kingston: "It was a vastly different crew that Coach Smokey Harris threw out there last night to that which absorbed the defeat in Lindsay the other night. He shook up his lines and defence, inserted a few of the younger players, and the combination clicked. But don't think the victory was a push-over. The Saints boast a powerful, dangerous crew, and they proved it here." They drew 1,200 fans and apparently it was a bruising battle betwixt two big clubs, with Kingston drawing eight of the 14 penalties handed out. Again, Udy Udall shone in the Kingston cage, as he had done against the Petes.

Couple of keen contests and a couple of one-sided ones last night in the Trent Valley League. Lakefield blanked Madoc 8-0 in Greater Peterborough's northern suburb, while Norwood at home took a handy 12-4 verdict o'er Frankford. Campbellford pulled out a 6-3 win from Warkworth while Hastings finished strong in Stirling to beat the Combines 6-3. In rural tilts down Norwood way, Warsaw won from Havelock 7-1 as Westwood beat Norwood 11-1. TVL tilts on Friday: Stirling at Campbellford, Marmora at Madoc, Lakefield at Frankford, Norwood at Hastings, and Warkworth at Tweed.

New Arena For Weston

We note with interest where the Lions Club of Weston has purchased Drill Hall 13 at Malton, a $90,000 job, for $7,210. The hall will be dismantled, moved to Weston and reconstructed, having an ice surface as large as Maple Leaf Gardens and seating 3,000 fans. Arena will have six dressing rooms with showers, refreshment booth, two hobby rooms, rest rooms and a skate repair shop. It'll be used for various recreational purposes in the summer. A financial campaign is under way now, using the slogan: "From the youth of today comes the leaders of tomorrow — support the arena." We'd like to congratulate those behind the move in Weston.

Unseasonably warm and rainy weather sent skiers of five countries grooming at Wengen, Switzerland, for the annual Lauberhorn races, pre-Olympic test, higher than one mile up the mountain yesterday for adequate snow. The Swiss apologized for the balmiest January weather in 12 years.

A. P. McAvoy, second vice-president of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, died at Port Colborne yesterday. McAvoy coached Port Colborne Lions when that team won the OMHA midget title in 1941.

Sarnia's quartet skipped by Reg Bell won the main event of the city of London's three-day bonspiel which finished at the London Curling Club last night by defeating London's R. E. Wilson 12-11. The win gave the Sarnia crew possession of the London Life trophy.

New York Rangers have placed Stan Maxwell, North Bay hockey player now playing with Lethbridge Maple Leafs of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League on their reserve list, it was learned yesterday.

British athletes selected as "possibles" for the summer Olympic games in London will be deferred from the national service draft.

Long, lean Ewell Blackwell, whose whip-like arm made him the best right-handed pitcher in baseball last year, yesterday signed a contract with Cincinnati Reds for 1948. Sports writers guessed the salary would be around $25,000.

Ottawa St. Pat's junior hockey team ended a four-game exhibition tour of the Maritimes last night by scoring a 10-6 win over an all-star team picked from the Moncton junior hockey league. It was Ottawa's first victory.

Tee to Hack

By HERB MARTIN

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock Umpire R. F. Downey will send five clubs away in the first round of the District Cup competition for District No. 3. The winner will then go to Oshawa to play off, and then that winner will go to Toronto to play in the finals. It's a long grind.

We don't know how our lady curlers made out up in Toronto yesterday. All we know is that they are still up there.

It's more than likely that we will have the draw for Monday's bonspiel ready for the press on Saturday. Those from out of town who are playing on that date have already been notified.

The men's schedule continues this evening with Group No. 5 and No. 1 playing.

We just heard that C. Lawrence's rink, playing in Bobcaygeon on Wednesday, came away with the second prize.

PIGGYBACK RIDE—Tenseness is etched on the faces of these two basketeers as Colorado's Bill Ley (13), foreground, crouches with the ball in attempt to shoot for the basket. A very close opponent, with a very different idea, is Joel Kaufman (6), of NYU. Krol Outstanding Athlete For 2nd Successive Year

By FRASER MacDOUGALL.

TORONTO, Jan. 8 — (CP). — The career of Joe Krol, football's most dazzling opportunist, reached a fresh climax to-day with his selection by Canadian sports editors as Canada's outstanding athlete for the second successive year. He becomes the first double winner of the poll inaugurated by the Canadian Press in 1932.

Krol, who hit the headlines only occasionally during the Big Four Football Union's scheduled season, provided the victory payoff punch that carried Toronto Argonauts through the post-schedule playoffs to their third consecutive Dominion championship.

Sports editors picked him as the athlete of the year over Maurice Richard, modern pro hockey's most prolific goal scorer, and footballer Bob Sandberg of Winnipeg Blue Bombers whose individual prowess overshadowed Krol's in the East-West football championship clasic.

Krol received 39 of a possible 75 points in the poll in which 25 sports editors participated. Richard got 25 and Sandberg 19. Voters named first, second and third choices and points were figured on a 3-2-1 basis. Krol's selection was less emphatic than a year ago when he received 59 of a possible 75 points.

Choice of the 28-year-old native of Hamilton, who grew up at Windsor and first staked his claim to football fame with University of Western Ontario Mustangs gives football heroes top honors in the poll in the 12 years it has been held. It was discontinued from 1942 to 1945 because of the war.

Won Five Times.

Football stars have won it five times—Krol twice, Hugh (Bummer) Stirling, Fritz Hanson and Tony Golab, Marathon runners, came out in front four times — Dave Komonen, Harold Webster, Scotty Rankine and Gerard Cote. Golfer Henry (Sandy) Somerville, hockeyist Syl Apps, and track star Phil Edwards were the other winners.

Twenty-nine athletes were mentioned in the poll. Behind Sandberg with seven points apiece, came Apps of Toronto Maple Leafs and Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, who won 19 games as pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics in the American League last season. Bob McFarlane, football and track star from Western University at London, drew six points.

Traffic Judge Tells Kelly Score—Or Else

DETROIT, Jan. 8—Almost the whole Detroit Red Wings hockey team invaded traffic court Wednesday to lend "moral support" to rookie player Red Kelly, up for a minor traffic violation.

Burly Jack Stewart acted as "defense" attorney, because he's a star defenseman on the Red Wings squad, but found it tough skating through legal technicalities and lost the case.

Traffic Judge John D. Watts suspended sentence and then kidded Kelly: "I fine you two goals and you'd better make them against the Rangers tonight (Wednesday), or I'll have you back in court Thursday."

Study Hockey Affiliation As CAHA Meets

REGINA, Jan. 8 (CP). — The tangled q[illegible] of Canada's international hockey affiliations is due for a thorough airing Friday when more than 30 top amateur hockey executives meet here for the semi-annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

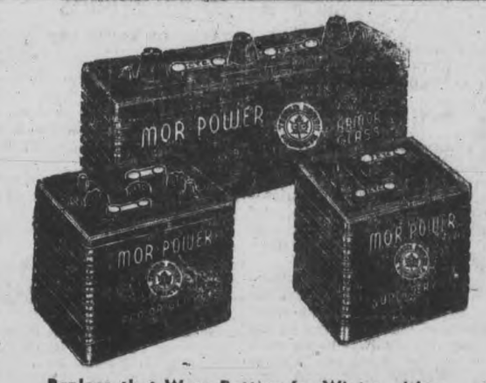
Secretary - manager George Dudley of Midland who represented the CAHA at the meeting of the International Ice Hockey Federation in Switzerland last summer, will report on the meeting where Canada alone held out for a more liberal definition of amateurism.

The meeting will also review the troubled history of the Canadian Olympic team—scheduled to sail from New York for the winter games the same day as the men behind the team open their conefrence here.

Also On Agenda.

Also on the agenda for the two-day meeting are:

1. Ratification of player transfers, still a source of discontent among several clubs and provincial branches.



2. Review of the agreement signed this summer with the national Hockey League providing for payment of players signed by the NHL and automatic suspension by one organization of player signed by the other.

3. Review of a similar agreement with the American Hockey Association.

4. A vote on whether to hold the annual meeting in New York in May as originally scheduled in view of the restrictions on travel to the United States.

There will be no election of a new first vice-president to replace the late Norman Dawe of Montreal who died suddenly Sunday, it was learned. The election will be deferred until the 1948-49 slate is chosen at the annual meeting.

Delegates include: Frank Sargent of Port Arthur, president of the Thunder Bay AHA; George Panter of Gravenhurst, and J. M. Roxborough of Simcoe, president and vice-president of the OHA.

Detroit Blanks Rangers As Marlies Whip Bruins

By The Canadian Press

Grim news today for the hockey faithful of Montreal, long-time supporters of a powerful Habitants team. Their Montreal Canadiens, sunk to fifth place in the National Hockey League, tonight will have to take on Detroit Red Wings, new leaders of the loop and holders of a five-straight winning record.

The Wings, after long duelling with Toronto Maple Leafs for the league leadership, finally reached the top last night when they whitewashed the New York Rangers 6-0 at Detroit. That victory sent Wings into a one-point lead over the idle Leafs. A Detroit win tonight in Montreal would put the Wings three points in front.

But a Montreal win would put Canadiens in a tie with the battling Boston Bruins for fourth place. It looks like a game for keeps as far as Canadines are concerned.

Battling is the only adjective left to describe the Bostonians, beaten by amateur teams twice in successive nights. After losing 9-2 to Ottawa Senators at Ottawa Tuesday, the Bruins last night took on a reinforced Toronto Marlboros squad in an exhibition at Kingston for benefit of the Hockey Hall of Fame. The result: Marlboros 4, Boston 2. Only change made in the Boston line-up for the exhibitions was the substitution of veteran Mike Karakas in goal in place of Frankie Brimsek.

Fourth Shutout

In the NHL game at Detroit last night young Harry Lumley turned back 20 Ranger drives to hang up his fourth shut-out of the season, climbing into a virtual tie with Toronto's Turk Broda in the goals-against department.

While the Detroit defence and Lumley were putting up a stone wall, Wings' rookies helped fatten the scoring points against Sugar Jim Henry in the Ranger nets. It wasn't one of Sugar Jim's good night, and he's had some dandies.

This time rookie Don Morrison beat Henry twice within two minutes. Rookies Jim McFadden and Marty Pavelich also scored. Detroit's other goals came from Pete Horeck and defenceman Bill Quackenbush.

Apart from it being their fifth straight win, it marked for Detroit a string of 12 games in which they've had only one loss.

Just Outplayed

As for the Boston Bruins, they appeared for the second night in a row to be out-skated and outplayed most of the way by a good senior amateur club. Harry Psutka of Marlies had a fight with Don Gallinger and later with Johnny Quilty, the latter bringing most of the players into a melee, which indicated that it was no tea party.

Porky Dumart and Ed Harrison were the only Bruin scorers against great amateur Howie Harvey in the Marlboro nets. Marlboro scorers were Hildebrand, Hassard, Buchanan and Short.

Whether the Bruins were fooling or not, their next assignment is at Detroit Saturday night. The tail-end Hawks will be at Toronto, and Rangers at Montreal.

Sullivan Scores 1 Goal For St. Kitts

By The Canadian Press

The fading Stratford Kroehlers snapped their losing streak at six games last night but whether the fifth-place Junior A O.H.A. team has come out of the doldrums remains a question.

The lowly St. Michaels College Majors were Kroehlers' victims in the tilt at Toronto and, though the score was 6-2, both teams battled on even terms until the final frame when Stratford ran wild, scoring four goals in little more than two minutes. The victory put Stratford in sole possession of fifth place in the standings.

The league-leading Windsor Spitfires, sparked by the five-goal effort of Jimmy Uniac, chalked up their 20th victory in 22 starts by downing the seventh-place St. Catharines Teepees 9-6 at Windsor. In the other junior game, the ninth-place Guelph Biltmores came up with a surprise 5-3 victory over Barrie Flyers, fourth.

In the senior loop, Owen Sound Mercurys counted their fourth straight triumph and took over fourth spot by virtue of a 9-4 walloping of the sixth-place Patricias.

Stratford Indians consolidated their hold on third place by edging the now fifth-place Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 2-1 in overtime.

Paces Attack

Flashy George Armstrong paced Stratford's junior attack at Toronto, scoring three goals and assisting in the others. McArdle notched two while Pierre Cadieux accounted for the other. St. Mikes goals were garnered by Bob Decourcey and Gord Hannigan.

At Windsor St. Catharines drew 26 minutes in penalties while Windsor players served 24 minutes. Besides Uniac, Windsor marksmen were McKay with two goals, Busch and Taylor. St. Kitts goals were by Sullivan, Goegan, Buck, Toppazzini and Kodatsky.

Biltmores overcame a three-goal deficit to register their victory over Barrie in one of the poorest games of he season. Guelph marksmen, each with one goal, were Bill Ligan, Neil Gordon, Stan McLellan, Lorne Ferguson and Rong Plumb. Flyers' scorers were Don Ashbee, Paul Meger and Gil St. Pierre.

Two periods of scoreless hockey were played at Stratford before Ray Bauer scored for Kitchener early in the final frame of the fast, rugged game. Pete Long tied it up five minutes later with Billy Woodward, playing his first game for the Indians, notching the clincher half-way through the extra period.

Star Oligarchy Keeps Tight Grip On Movies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 8 (AP). — The movie melting pot is boiling again, and film stars are fighting to stay on top.

That's Victor Mature's view of the current, prolonged crisis in the motion picture industry. He says, it's a renewal of a Hollywood cycle.

"Ten years ago, a group of stars ruled this town," Vic said. "It was a tight little bunch and a newcomer had very small chance of breaking into it."

This "closed shop" was broken up by the war, which took many made stars away from the screen and brought the need for more pictures and more new personalities. "A guy like Gregory Peck never would have had a chance to break into the winner's circle before the war," Vic said.

Hollywood is in the process of going back to the old star oligarchy, the actor declared. When he returned from the Coast Guard he made a list of other 20th-Fox actors and checked the ones who he thought would be leaving the studio. So far all but one of his choices have departed. He expects news on the remaining one any day now.

Vic, now secure with a new five-year contract, said that his war service turned out to be a big break for him.

"How far can you go with a reputation as a swell-headed jerk?" he inquired, referring to his pre-war "beautiful hunk of man" build-up. "I had reached a point where the only direction I could have gone was down."

The Coast Guard snatched him from that descent and returned him four years later, an older and wiser man.

Sights and Sounds

Betty Hutton, who enacted "Dream Girl" on the screen, watching Lucille Ball's fine stage version of the role . . . Dana Andrews, in a crew cut for "The Iron Curtain," wondering how he is going to do retakes for "Deep Waters," in which his hair was long . . .

Cornel Wilde painting a landscape in his dressing room and making a New Year's resolution: "To play Lord Byron on the screen in 1948" . . . Marguerite Chapman taking fencing lessons on the "Gallant Blade" set . . . Larry Parks waiting to trap a prowler behind his home (not far from the heart of Hollywood) and flashing lights on a large, bewildered raccoon . . . Satan, a 16 - year - old tiger, prowling around the "Man Eaters of Kumoan" set and startling visitors.

Big League Ball On West Coast Not Popular

By HUGH FULLERTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(AP). — Big league baseball on the Pacific coast still is a distant possibility in the opinion of a majority of the country's sports editors answering the annual year-end poll conducted by the Associated Press....Approximately 50 per cent of the editors said they favored an abrupt refusal to the Pacific Coast League's demands for provisional big league status, denied by the majors at their December meetings.

Eventual admission of San Francisco and Los Angeles was favored by most of the others from among any one of a dozen or so different schemes. Most popular was the idea of the 10-team majors. That would involve acceptance of Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland and possibly Hollywood into the present circuits. This scheme actually was discussed by the majors.

One ingenious plan called for transfer of the two cellar franchises in the American and National Leagues to Los Angeles and San Francisco. Just how this would be worked out remains a puzzle ....There was also a suggestion thta one franchise each from Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Boston be moved west. Needless to say, the owners of these clubs were not consulted.

End of the Line

Add Frank Leahy of Notre Dame rumors: That he's interested in a pro football club with the idea of buying enough stock so that he wouldn't be fired as coach after a poor season.

Campbellford Gets A 6-3 TVL Decision

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 8. — (ENS) — Campbellford emerged with a 6-3 victory over Warkworth last night after a difficult 60 minutes on Warkworth ice. The ice was soft and it cut up easily. Many plays were spoiled by a rolling puck which had to be batted and bowled along for the greater part of each period.

With four minutes to go in the first stanza, and the score tied 1-1, Leishman, the Warkworth goalie, was carried from the ice after a scramble around the net. His face was bleeding badly and O'Halloran was called in to replace him. Time was called and the remaining four minutes were played in the second period.

The Warkworth boys tried hard right up to the end to even the score but the fast-moving trio of Robinson, Blake and Peloquin, proved too much for them, holding them to one goal in each frame while runing up their own for a final count of 6-3.

Campbellford — Goal, Donald; defense, Hendy, Tanner; centre, Robinson; wings, Blake, Peloquin; alternates, Bristow, Free, Smith, Hay, Pollard.

Warkworth— Goal, O'Halloran, Leishman; defense, Tucker, Dudley; centre, Edgar; wings, Seeney, Ball; alternates, E. Greenly, Bowen, Hazelwood, Grills, G. Greenly, H. Moore, C. Moore, Edwards.

Westwood Gains Opening Victory

NORWOOD, Jan. 8—(ENS).—The Rural League games got away to a good start in Norwood arena Tuesday night. The first game, Westwood at Norwood, drew a fair crowd of fans. Bill Thompson opened the long scoring streak for Westwood at the half-way mark in the first period, on a nice set-up from Mortlock; banged in another two minutes later on a pass from Shearer. Terry Woods got a lone tally to end the first period 3-0 for Westwood. Don Bedore scored on a pass from Trevor Brown after two minutes of play in the second. Westwood got three more in this one, a couple of them from scrambles in front of the net. It was 6-1 for Westwood at the end of the second.

Mortlock was given the gate early in the third. Norwood failed to take advantage. Lloyd Starke had some good shots on goal but failed to beat Renwick. Boyd Kelly was hurt in this stanza by a high stick carried by Mortlock. Westwood banged home five in this to end the game 11-1.

The Westwood boys seemed to have the weight, also good combination plays. Don Bedore starred for Norwood. Line-up:

Norwood: Goal, Bob Lochhead; defence, Allan Fairfield, Hugh Rogers; centre, Don Bedore; wings, Jack Robson, Bob Edwards; alternates: "Bay" Webb, Boyd Kelly, Lloyd Starke, Trevor Brown, Ralph Parcels; sub goalie, Howard Scott, Ken Cuthbertson.

Norwood Victors Over Frankford

NORWOOD, Jan. 8—(ENS)—Norwood defeated Frankford 12-4 here last night in a Trent Valley Hockey League fixture. It was a speedy, clean game on good ice, with Norwood showing better condition and teamplay to earn the decision.

The Frankford team showed fair condition but the players hadn't been together long enough for the best of teamplay, although they were playing much better hockey in the third period. Hamilton, Webb, Puffer and Peterson stood out for Norwood, with the whole team turning in a good effort.

The teams:

Frankford: Goal, Davis; defence, Hood and Howard; centre, Rankin; wings, McKee and Johnston; alternates, Lambert, Chard, Courtney, Foster, Drake, Rogers, Farmer and Burkett.

Warsaw Wins 7-1 Against Havelock

NORWOOD, Jan. 8. (ENS)—Warsaw and Havelock played their first game of the rural series Tuesday night. As is usual with Warsaw, they have a good team this year, well organized with two new players, both the same name but spelled differently. The goalie is Patterson and Murray Paterson is a wing. The latter showed up well in this first tilt, getting two goals. Havelock's team was poorly organized. Goalie Hill played a wonderful game, but had no support from the rest. With the fine play of the Warsaw boys, had not Hill been sensational in the net Havelock would have been completely swamped.

Murray Paterson started the scoring after seven minutes of play, with Ivan Watts getting one on an assist from L. Lonsberry. Seeney from Revoy and Longmuir got Havelock's lone goal at the end of the first period to make it 2-1 for Warsaw.

L. Lonsberry and Murray Paterson scored 90 seconds apart early in the second. Simpson was given the gate for hooking and Longmuir of Havelock for tripping. It ended 4-1 for Warsaw.

Tempers flared in the last period to liven things up and Ivan Watts and G. Forest were given five minutes to cool off for fighting. The Lonsberry's were in good form, Stan and Leonard each marking one up in the last period. Don Sharpe got the last goal of the game in the last few seconds of play with a pass from Joe Watts.

Warsaw—Goal, Patterson; defence, L. Lonsberry, Merv Simpson; centre, Don Sharpe; wings, Ivan Watts, Joe Watts; alternates, Murray Paterson, S. Lonsberry, G. Payne, Doug Evans.

Havelock—Goal, Doug Hill; defence, W. Nobes, C. Longmuir; centre, J. Anderson; wings, D. Revoy, W. Seeney; alternates, J. Patterson, B. Cosgrave, G. Forest, J. Hermans, Floyd Hamilton.

Brooklyn Bums Have Twin In Que. Hockey

QUEBEC, Jan. 8 — (CP). — If the fabled baseball fan of Brooklyn has a counterpart in hockey, you need look no further than Quebec City to find him. Here, hockey supporters are a delightfully rabid lot and to-day they are all a dither over the prospect of winning the Memorial Cup with their first Junior A club.

Golden-haired boys here are the scrappy Citadels—now holding down second spot in the Southern Division of the Junior Amateur Hockey League of Quebec Province. They are making Sunday night hockey pay—a record in itself—attracting crowds of upwards of 5,000.

Assembled by Frank Byrne and his brothers, Bill and Joe — lumber business men—the Citadels started like whirlwinds and have defeated every other aggregation in the nine-team loop, including the "packed" Nationales of Montreal, leaders of the Northern Division.

Fans immediately went overboard for the team not only because of their winning ways, but because of their scrappiness. When Three Rivers Reds were scalped recently, the game ended in a donnybrook in which a few fans joined.

One spectator, felled by a blow from a stick, was hailed as a hero and the bump that appeared on his head became the envy of the team's supporters.

Seven members of the squad were recruited from last year's City League junior loop whose four teams this season still have a large following. All have at least two or more years before graduating from the junior ranks.

Dallas Texans Beat Minneapolis 5-2

By The Associated Press

Dallas Texans went into a second place tie last night in the southern division of the United States Hockey League on the strength of a 5-2 victory over Minneapolis.

The triumph tied the Texans with the idle Fort Worth Rangers for the runner-up position.

Kansas City Pla-Mors brushed past St. Paul at Kansas City in the night's only other contest, but the result did not alter the standing in the northern division.

Church Results

St. George's Bantams of the Church Hockey League won from All Saints 3-0 last night, while St. James and St. Andrew's went to a 4-4 tie. Murray St. Midgets beat St. Paul's 5-4. The Salvation Army No. 1 Seniors and the SA No. 2 score was not phoned in. Mark St. Seniors beat George St. 10-5. The bantam goalie for All Saints played minus pads, a dangerous practice in present-day hockey.

Saskatoon Boy Has Chance At Olympics

BY GEORGE FORSTER

REGINA, Jan. 8 (CP)— Since speed skating and its exponents are confined virtually to oblivion when it comes to catching space on the sport pages across the country under normal circumstances, this piece is designed to bring one of the stars of the sport to the attention of the public.

The racer in question is Craig Mackay of Saskatoon, who is representing Canada at the Olympic games and who is regarded as quite a man on the blades. To present Mackay let's cut in on what is said about him by his coach, Clarence Downey.

Downey had this to say to Cam (Saskatoon Star-Pheonix) McKenzie about the youthful skater:

"I don't think there are many skaters today who will match strides with our boy over the 10,000 metre and the 5,000 metre routes. At both these distances he has been clocked in amazing times, and has consistently beaten American Olympic trial times in his workout at the open air Victoria Rink Oval."

Downey went on to tell McKenzie that Mackay, while not noted for his sprinting, still can make a "fair stab" at the shorter races such as 1,500 and 500 meters, both of which are on his calendar for the Olympics.

McKenzie Adds

"The event that the Saskatoon skater is really after at the Olympics is the long one, 10,000 metres. But to earn his chance to compete in this one he has to be among the eight best skaters in the 5,000 metres. His coach doesn't think Craig will have any difficulty here for he expects him to take the latter event."

Trojan AC Results

In Trojan AC peewee hockey last night, Canadiens beat Detroit 3-2 as Leafs took Rangers 8-4. In the first game, it was close-checking and rugged with Dunn dominating play in smart style. He scored three goals. Neil Clarke worked hard and P. Carveth was solid in goal. Batley and McDougall were best for the losers while Pagett checked well.

The second was a loose affair with both defences weak. Frizzelle collected four Leafs' goals and Foley and Whatman teamed up well. Kearns set up plays for most of the losers' markers. Ball and L. Clarke were best for the losers. These 12-year-old boys are dishing up smart hockey and worth watching.

Mark St. Winners

Mark St. Seniors took George St. 10-5 in their Church Hockey League game last night. Delahaye was best for the losers with three goals, while Thompson, Moore and Beavis stood out for Mark St. Teams:

George St.: Goal, Borland; defence, Cuffe, Carter; centre, Armstrong; wings, McCurrach, Delahaye; alternates, Braund, Burnham, Wellwood, Ivor, Powell.

Mark St.: Goal, F. Agnew; defence, Harris, W. Agnes; centre, Beavis; wings, Smith, Jaquith; alternates, More, Eason, Thompson.

Buffalo Edges Hornets 4-2

By The Canadian Press.

Buffalo Bisons to-day are in a tie for first place in the American Hockey League's Western circuit, climaxing a drive that carried them from deep in the Second Division to the top rung alongside Pittsburg Hornets.

Last night in Buffalo, the rampaging Bisons turned aside the Wasps 4-2 before a capacity crowd of close to 10,00 fans.

Len Halderson led the Buffalo snipers with two tallies, while Murdo McKay and Leo Gravelle picked up one goal each. Veteran Mel Hill and rookie Les Costello were the Hornets scorers.

The Eastern loop leaders, Providence Reds, found the going rough at home last night and lost 6-5 to New Haven. Buck Davies was the Ramblers hero, ramming home three goals, while Sherman White, Wingy Johnston, and Joe Bell each counted once. Providence goals were divided among Harvey Fraser, Roger Bedard, Carl Liscombe, Albert Colings, and playing-coach Terry Reardon.

In the only other game last nighmt, Cleveland Barons equalled the al-time scoring high by burying Hershey Bears 12-1.

Canada's Foreign Trade Swells So Does Adverse Dollar Balance

OTTAWA, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Canada's total foreign trade swelled to a record $4,920,700,000 total during the first 11 months of 1947, and to-day the only gloomy aspect economists noted was the equivalent climb in the Dominion's adverse balance of trade with the United States.

The $4,920,700,000 total compared with $3,870,200,000 for the corresponding period of 1946, reflecting the growth of Canada as a world trader. But much of this trade was with the United States, enough to shoot the adverse balance with that country in another great leap, apparently over the $900,000,000 mark for this year.

Official figures released here placed the November trading deficit with the United States at $79,800,000, boosting the total for the first 11 months of 1947 to a record $884,200,000.

The only consolation was that the November figures did not reflect the effects of the government's dollar-saving program, launched November 17, since it is generally conceded that any reduction the program may have effected will not become apparent until the reports for December.

A Big Job

On top of the prospective $900,000,000 trading deficit, the Exchange Control Board is expected to have to supply for the whole of this year another $200,000,000 for earnings of U.S. investments in Canada and $100,000,000 to cover adverse balances on shipping, freight and other items.

To meet this the Dominion will receive about $350,00,000 in U.S. dollars from the United Kingdom in part payment of commonwealth adverse balances, $150,00,000 from American tourist traffic in Canada, $100,000,000 from gold shipments to the U.S. and $50,000,000 from trade with European and Latin-American countries.

The total Canadian foreign trade for the first 11 months of last year was boosted to $4,920,700,000 by a November total of $485,100,000, which compared with $433,300,000 a year ago.

Imports totaled $2,379,800,000 during the first 11 months of last year compared with $1,745,500,000 in the same period of 1946.

Help Control TB Health Topic For H-S Group

HAVELOCK, Jan. 8 (ENS). — Mrs. Frank McKay gave a very educational health topic entitled "Help Control TB," at the January meeting of the Home and School Association which dealt with symptoms, treatment and the responsibility which rests upon the home in keeping the family healthy, cleanliness, diet, etc. The control of this dread disease, she said, was not only a doctor's affair but belongs to the entire community.

A communication was read from Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations asking that each branch do something between February 9 and 28 to raise funds to build schools, train doctors, nurses and teachers and for technical and scientific equipment for war-torn Europe.

The matter was laid over until the February meeting to decide what should be done to comply with this request.

A communication from the Canadian Association of Consumers was also read requesting that a branch of that organization in this district. The matter was left for conference with the Havelock Women's Institute.

A piano duet was rendered by Mrs. A. Tucker and Miss Jacqueline Saunders. A contest in making words out of the letters used in "Happy New Year" was won by Mrs. W. J. Nobes. The treasurer, Mrs. F. Bennett, reported $18.97 in the general fund and $5.12 in the social fund. Two accounts amounting to $3.32 were authorized to be paid.

The attendance shield was won by Principal W. M. Patterson's room. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

BRAZIL VOTES BAN—The chamber of deputies is expected to pass a measure cancelling the election mandates of government officials who are members of the Communist party. There was little doubt that the measure would be adopted by a sizeable majority and be signed immediately by President Enrico Gaspar Dutra. It is expected to inaugurate a widespread crackdown on all Communist activities, including the publication of 11 Communist newspapers. Pictured above are several of 14 Communist party deputies, seated in the federal chamber of deputies at Rio de Janeiro. They will lose their jobs when the bill is passed.

Find 4 Policemen Guilty Of Illegal Deer Possession

BARRY'S BAY, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Five men, including four policemen, each were fined $75 and costs with the option of a month in jail when convicted by Magistrate W. K. Macgregor today on a charge of illegal possession of deer in Algonquin Park game reserve.

A second charge of illegal hunting in Algonquin Park was dismissed by the Pembroke magistrate who came here to hear the case of the five who pleaded not guilty to the possession charge at their first hearing Dec. 17.

Accused were police chief William Cudmore and Cons. George H. Bishton of Bracebridge, Ontario Provincial Police Cons. W. Byrnes of Bracebridge, High Cons. George Taylor of Huntsville, and a civilian, Walter Trull of Bracebridge.

All four policemen were suspended from their posts following the laying of the charges in December when they were arrested in the park along with Trull.

Earlier Magistrate Macgregor denied a defense motion for dismissal of the illegal possession charge and then heard argument of counsel. The magistrate then asked a 20-minute recess to consider the case and returned a verdict of guilty and pass sentence.

In dismissing the defense motion for dismissal, Magistrate Macgregor said it was true that no one saw the accused kill the deer, nor was any in their possession at the time of their arrest. But there were deer hairs and blood on the automobile in which they were riding in the park, and which evidence showed belonged to Constable Bishton.

"We have evidence that the accused had been found in a car near Killarney Lodge; that a deer was killed 20 yards off the highway; one deer's entrails have been found; four deer were subsequently dumped off the road," the magistrate said.

Father Jailed For Beating Girl

GUELPH, Jan. 8 — Regret that he was limited to imposing a maximum term of six months was expressed today by Magistrate Watt, in sentencing Donald Mann, 35, for common assault of his 13-year-old daughter.

Termed by the Crown as "one of the worst cases that has ever come before this court," the evidence showed that Mann had beaten the girl with a piece of wood three feet long with a cross-piece of wood nailed to one end. The bloodstained weapon was found by police in the cellar of the Mann home.

"I never saw any one with a face so badly swollen and disfigured and a back so badly bruised," an official of the Children's Aid told the court.

Sergt. Harry Wisswell, who saw the girl a few hours after the beating on Christmas Eve, said the girl's nose "ceased to be a nose." One arm from the shoulder to the elbow was a mass of black and blue welts and her back was in the same condition.

Mann pleaded guilty to the charge.

Truck Industry Hit By New Gas Increase

TORONTO, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Recent increases in the price of gasoline in all province except British Columbia "has dealt a severe blow to Canada's highway trucking industry," according to John Magee, executive secretary of the Canadian Automotive Transport Association.

In a statement last night he said: "Canada's trucking industry by operating at peak efficiency will make every effort to absorb this latest increase in the price of its fuel . . . it may be necessary to pass on to the public some of these cost increases in the form of an increased charge for the movement of freight."

Packers Lose When Drop Comes-McLean

TORONTO, Jan. — Value of pork products held in storage by packers in Canada has increased by $2,700,000 since the recent price increase but the packers stand to lose as much on current purchases for storage when prices decline. J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers, said last night.

Mr. McLean's statement came as the national outcry against high prices reached an equally new high in pitch.

In Ottawa, CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell claimed that packers stand to profit by $10,000,000 through the rise in meat prices. And in Toronto, Fred Dowling, Canadian director of the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL) said that price increases on meat held in storage was unjustified.

Mr. McLean estimated pork products in storage at Dec. 1 by all packers at 55,000,000 pounds. Of this the Big Three in the industry — Canada Packers, Swifts and Burns & Co.—held no more than 30 million pounds. Maximum advance in the value of these stocks would be $2,700,000, he said.

There were also 39,000,000 pounds of beef, 7,000,000 pounds veal and 8,000,000 pounds lamb in storage, he said. Beef prices were not advanced by the British contract, though veal and lamb would go up as an indirect result of the contract, he said.

Packinghouses set aside reserves each year during the war as a buffer against a drop in prices affecting stocks on hand, but the increases were sharper than the packers anticipated and extend over a longer period so that the reserves are not enough, Mr. McLean said.

Mr. Dowling agreed that the farmers required some price relief to meet the higher cost of feed grain since removal of ceilings last fall.

But, he said, the ceilings on feed grain and beef had been lifted after the majority of farmers had sold both their grain and cattle. Meat prices went up after the heavy fall run of livestock from October to December, he said.

Mr. Dowling suggested that pork and beef products in storage probably reached 150,000,000 pounds by Jan. 1—most of it purchased during the lower-price period and sold to the public today at the peak prices.

Packing companies were operating under contracts with the Canadian Government for export of pork products and would probably be able to guage their supplies so that they could have minimum supplies on hand when contracts are re-written at lower prices, he claimed.

Want To Keep Prices Canned Goods Same

TORONTO, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Representatives of the Canned Foods Association of Ontario yesterday met with the Provincial Agriculture Minister, Kennedy, and asked that he represent to growers that their prices be held at the present level.

They stated that any increase to growers above the 1947 contracts would create difficulties in maintaining current prices of canned products.

A delegation from the Association will meet in Hamilton today with a delegation from the Ontario Vegetable Growers Association to negotiate 1948 contracts in regard to tomatoes, corn, peas, green and wax beans.

Beaver-Tail Soup Wonderful Manitoba Officials To Try It

THE PAS, Man., Jan. 8.J(CP). —M-M-M-M-M: It's good!

Around this Northern Manitoba mining town and among the Indian camps in the region, that's what they say about beaver-tail soup. It's a delicacy that is to be introduced to Manitoba Government officials attending the Northern Manitoba Trappers Festival here Jan. 22-24.

The beaver tails are to be provided by Richard Fourre, a "trouble shooter" for the Game and Fisheries Department. Fourre is an expert on beavers, since one of his jobs is to match his wits against the animals in the spring and summer when they seek to carry out "operations" that would be a nuisance where the Hudson Bay Railway is concerned.

Although the banquet is still two weeks off, Fourre already has provided a recipe for the soup to the restaurant owner who will be in charge of the catering for the evening.

Beaver tails helped solve the meat problem for Indians in the Rupert House area of James Bay in Northern Ontario during the Second Great War.

The Department of Indian Affairs granted permission for Indians to trap beaver in the fall and winter in 1941, when caribou failed to pass near the settlement. Thus the Indians had both the meat and the pelt. The plan has been continued.

Tail of beaver is regarded as the "choice" part from a food standpoint, as is the tongue of the caribou.

Incidentally, trappers preparing a symbolic float for the parade which is part of the festival have devised a quick alternative to a taxidemy project in mounting a full-size caribou. The animal has been frozen in a realistic pose and will be stood on its feet on a sleigh. The sleigh is to be drawn by a bus carrying a score of trappers.

New Oil Well Near Tilbury

TORONTO, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Probability of a new oil field of at least 200 acres is indicated near Tilbury in southwestern Ontario by the announcement that a new well has been brought into production there.

The well, located on the farm of Samuel Lynn five miles southwest of Tilbury, has yielded a gas flow of 30,000 cubic feet daily and preliminary tests indicate a flow of 144 barrels daily of crude oil, according to the announcement by the Imperial Oil Company.

The company had been working scientifically for the past six or seven years in the Tilbury district, 30 miles east of Windsor. Previously the program resulted in discovery of a small field at Wallaceburg, capable of 200 barrels a day, and gas was discovered near Kimball in Moore township.

The latest discovery, according to the company, "give promise of being the most important development" in this field. A program now is being drawn up for further drilling in the area.

Want a Monkey?

VANCOUVER —(CP—) Fred Edge says he will gladly trade Bongo, his pet monkey, for an apartment. "A paper clip I gave him was promptly jabbed into a light socket, short-circuiting lights all over the building. Then curtains, blinds and everything that could come down came down . . . A few minutes later an eviction notice was pushed under my door."

TRAFFIC FINE LINE — Bounded on each side by the snow that caused their troubles, hundreds of motorists stand in line at the Queens traffic court, New York city, to pay snow-parking fines. They got a "break" when the higher fine was reduced to $4. In the city, 10,538 summonses were returnable for the day.

Canadian Firm Goes After Plane Contracts

MONTREAL, Jan. 8. (CP)—A Canadian airplane-making firm today made its bid to enter a field hitherto held exclusively by the United States—sale of home-built aircraft for use on international and commercial airlines.

Canadair Ltd., its big plant on the northwest fringe of Montreal, confirmed reports from London that it is negotiating with British interests to supply its newest and speediest passenger plane — the Canadair 4 — to the government-owned British Overseas Airways Corp.

BOAC already operates an overseas service from Montreal and New York — as well as other routes in the British Empire—but is expected to more most of its base here to the United Kingdom late this year. BOAC now operates its big North American base from hangars and shops adjacent to Dorval Airport.

Spokesmen for Canadair gave no details of the negotiations, confirming that discussions are in progress and adding that their ship "is immediately available on favorable terms to British operators." Deliveries would be made on what would amount to a pay-as-you-earn basis.

There was no indication of the number of planes BOAC would take, but it was thought the initial order might call for 15 to 20.

Canadair men say tests and statistics show the Canadair 4 ranks with "the only four good commercial airplanes in the world." Costing approximately $650,000, it has a passenger capacity of 40, and a cruising radius, with full pay-load, of 2,885 miles.

Cruising speed, with full load, is placed at well over 300 miles an hour. It is powered by commercial versions of the same Rolls Royce engine that pushed Lancasters and Mosquitos through the war skies of Europe.

San Marino In Italy Seeks Redress For War Damage

By GINO MAGNONI

SAN MARINO, Jan. 8—(Reuters).—Two things are worrying the Government of San Marino, the world's smallest republic, tucked away in the mountains of central Italy. The tiny state has an area of only 38 square miles and a population of 15,500.

They are: first, when will the republic's position be regularized with the United Nations; and second, when will the Allies answer the repeated notes sent to them by San Marino regarding the reparations to be paid for the damage done during the aerial bombardment of the capital in June, 1944.

Government officials of San Marino are very upset over the fact that a request put forward by their consul in Washington, Victor Anfuso, an American citizen, for admission to the United Nations was turned down by reason of an infringement of diplomatic niceties. For the consul put the request without first receiving official permission to do so from his government.

The refusal of the United Nations to deal with it on these grounds is seen as an indication of a possible further refusal when the formal request for admission is made.

The secretary of state for foreign affairs of San Marino, Prof. Gino Giocomini, said in an interview here:

"It was only from newspaper reports that we learned that our representative's request had been turned down because of a technical error. We have received no official communication on the subject.

"We regard it as vita lthat San Marino should be allowed to enter the United Nations, especially because we, like other sovereign and independent neutral states such as the Vatican and Switzerland, also suffered damage from the war."

Bombed In 1944

"We have known how to meet sacrifices with dignity and honor," continued Prof. Giacomini. "On June 26, 1944, an American bombing attack resulted in many dead and great material damage.

"The Allied governments must liquidate these war damages, detailed in an official note dispatched to them at the end of July, 1945, and amounting to a total of over $7,000,000.

"President Truman, in a reply to the regent of San Marino through the United States consul accedited to San Marino, assured us that this question would be favorably considered, but in spite of frequent inquiries by us since, nothing positive has yet been done."

Prof. Giacomini emphasized that the tiny republic is facing financial ruin unless steps are taken by the Allies to help her along the hard road to economic recovery.

"We are working today under the heavy load of an annual deficit of 150,000,000 lire (about $300,000)," he added, "the friendly payment made by the Italian republic to us, which in 1939 amounted to 3,600,000 lire (about $7,200) has been increased to only 15,000,000 lire (about $30,000) which, added to the 200,000,000 lire (about $400,000) representing the government's income through customs dues and similar taxes, spells undisguised ruin for San Marino unless our claims are quickly recognized.

Warm Welcome Accorded Barbara Ann

PRAGUE, Jan. 8.—(CP).— It was early to bed and the alarm clock set for 5 a.m. for Barbara Ann Scott, women's world figure-skating champion from Ottawa. Miss Scott arrived Wednesday by plane from Switzerland to prepare for the defense of her European figure-skating crown Jan. 13 to 15.

Miss Scott plans to be on the ice at the Winter Stadium by 6 a.m. today. It is dark in Prague at that hour, but Stadium authorites promised to have the rink illuminated.

Accompanied by her mother and her trainer, Sheldon Galbraith, Miss Scott received a warm welcome at Ruzyne airport.

"It is nice to be among old friends again," she said as she unpacked at the Opera Hotel, a small hostelry near the Stadium which is internationally known to ice skaters.

Among those who greeted the world champion were Jirina Nekolova, former Czechoslovak women's figure skating champion, and Dr. Vladimir Kaudelka, one of the leading Czech coaches. Miss Nekolova, who was a guest of Miss Scott in Canada, brought the Ottawa girl a bouquet and kisses were exchanged.

Barbara Ann said the early practice would give her a chance to use the entire rink instead of the smaller practice surface, before the rink is opened for public skating.

A fellow-passenger on the flight from Switzerland was Richard Button, who will skate for the United States in the men's championships.

BABY'S COLDS

Help Nature To Fight Them Off

Medical Science denies there is any such thing as a cure for colds—only Nature herself can do it. So when baby's sniffles, or stuffy breathing warn you of a cold's presence—cooperate at once with Nature.

See that baby is kept warm, gets plenty of sleep and take extra care that the bowels are thoroughly cleared of harmful wastes. To do this without upsetting baby's whole system and further weakening it, try Baby's Own Tablets. Mild, yet act promptly in getting rid of the irritating materials that make baby restless and feverish. Mrs. George McBride of Scarboro says: "My baby of 26 months caught a nasty cold so I tried Baby's Own Tablets and she threw this cold off quicker than ever before. I certainly am for Baby's Own Tablets from now on." Effective also in teething troubles, constipation and other simple baby ailments. 25¢.

WHERE GREEK MET GREEK—This is one of the first photographs to reach Canada of the Konista area where Greek army regular forces fought guerrillas who had besieged the city in an attempt, it is believed, to make Konitsa the capital of the new "Communist government." It shows a Greek government airplane loaded with ammunition about to take off for an attack on a guerrilla airfield. Government forces finally drove the opposing forces from their strong points on the heights and ended the threat to Konitsa.

Believe Most of Truman's Plan Will Be Rejected

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(AP). —Most of President Truman's major 1948 legislative proposals, particularly his tax reduction and anti-inflation plans, appeared headed today for a Congressional waste basket at Republicans pinned a political "left-winger" label on Truman.

Several measures, however, including rent control extension, foreign aid, broadened social security coverage, higher minimum wages and civil rights guarantees seemed likely to pass the Republican dominated Congress in compromise form.

Others, such a national health insurance and compulsory military training, were in the "highly doubtful" category.

Truman outlined the program yesterday in a speech to an election-conscious Congress which reacted generally along partisan liens. Republicans claimed Truman was playing politics, Democrats credited him with statesmanship.

Expect Rejection

But leaders of both the Republican majority and the Democratic left little doubt that they look for the President's tax and anti-inflation plans to be rejected after prolonged wrangling likely to lay he foundaions for this year's Presidential and Congressional elections.

Truman asked Congress to give every individual taxpayer an immediate cut of $40 for the taxpayer and each dependent and to offset the estimated $3,200,000,000 revenue loss by boosting corporation levies.

Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, an announced Republican presidential candidate and chairman of his party's political policy committee in the senate, will take to the air tonight at 9.30 p.m. to compare Republican ideas for new laws wih those of the president.

Taft is expected to reiterate Republican opposition to the compulsory price-wage and rationing controls for which Truman asked indirectly in yesterday's message, received in a silence broken only six times by scattered applause.

Canadian Potatoes Go To Many Lands

OTTAWA, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Canadian spuds are finding their way into the topsoil of countries all over the world, the Agriculture Department disclosed today.

Exports of this year's crop of Canadian certified seed potatoes have been sown in various lands from the southern United States to South Africa. Up to the end of 1947, a total of 2,835,375 bushels were shipped from the Maritimes, Ontario and Quebec, and British Columbia.

In demand in other countries because of their high yield and freedom from disease, a department statement said, this year's exports are 700,000 bushels ahead of the corresponding period of 1946.

Phone Operator Sounds Alarm

MEAFORD, Jan. 8. — Prompt action on the part of night operator Mrs. Margaret Ford and night constable Thomas Sims, early today saved the Gilchrist Manufacturing Co. and possibly the life of owner and manager Fred W. Gilchrist.

At 12:10, Mrs. Ford received a signal from the plant, which it was later discovered was caused when flames fused the wires. Repeatedly getting no answer, although the signal continued, she notified night constable Sims, who rushed to the scene.

"I could see flames inside, and I rushed back to the firehall and turned in the alarm," said Constable Sims. "When we returned to the building with the fire truck we were unable to gain entry, and were forced to break a window," he said. When firemen entered the building Fred W. Gilchrist, who has sleeping quarters in the office, appeared in night attire. Unaware of the blaze, he had been awakened by the breaking glass. Loss from the blaze was estimated at $500.

Teach Fire-Fighting In Ten-Day Course

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—(ENS). — Taking a leaf from the book of the modern fire departments, every piece of fire-fighting equipment will be in its place and ready for immediate use in the far-flung outposts of the Lands and Forests Department in the timber areas of Ontario.

This fact was brought out when a 10-day course in forest fire protection for the men from the field staffs of the department opened at Queen's Park yesterday.

Lands Minister Harold Scott, starting the course on its way, emphasized to the men the large areas with their tremendous wealth which they have to guard. Where previously fire-fighting and other equipment, such as canoes, were piled together in a ranger's utility shed, the former will now occupy a place of its own so that it will be readily available.

The course will consist principally of lectures and movies, both stressing the value of standardizing fire-fighting methods and technique.

G. I. Stewart, director of the Michigan Forest Fire Experimental Service, and F. W. Beall, Chief of Forest Protection Division, Ottawa, will address the classes.

Minister Fights Demand For Resignation

WELLAND, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Rev. A. D. Sutherland, whose resignation from the pulpit of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church is sought by the Kirk Session, said yesterday in a statement that "there is a heaven to gain and a hell to lose, and I feel that it is my duty under God to say so."

A meeting here January 20 between the Hamilton Presbytery and hte St. Andrew's congregation may decide what action will be taken on the request for the minister's resignation. W. W. S. McIntyre, a member of the Session, said yesterday the request stemmed from the Session's objection to the manner in which a recent election for elders was conducted.

"I reiterate what I have already stated, that I have endeavored always faithfully to preach the Gospel, which alone is the power of God unto salvation to everyone who believeth," the minister said in his statement.

"I believe there is a heaven to gain and a hell to lose. I feel it my duty unto God to say so. There have been many wonderful conversions in St. Andrew's since I came."

Mr. Sutherland said he had received expressions of support for his stand from as far away as Sault Ste. Marie, whose Mayor, W. H. C. Brien, telephoned to back the minister. Mr. Brien was a member of the Sault Ste. Marie congregation (Westminster) to which Mr. Sutherland ministered before coming to Welland.

On the other hand, Alderman N. J. Penwarden, a member of the church Board of Managers said:

"Since there is dissension, it would probably be better for the minister and for the congregation if Mr. Sutherland would resign, and we could start over with a new minister."

Ft. Erie Wants Bridge Grant

FORT ERIE, Jan. 8.—Unless the federal government can be persuaded to make a grant, the ratepayers of Fort Erie will have to pay the whole cost of the proposed Central Ave. bridge over the railway cut.

This is the effect of a ruling of the Federal Board of Transport Commissioners received by the town council. It is based on a railway board decision made as far back as 1912. At that time the former Town of Bridgeburg, now part of Fort Erie, applied for leave to build a similar bridge.

The railway cut now divides Fort Erie into distinct sections. Under the ruling, any bridge must be built and maintained at municipal expense, though the construction plans must be approved by the transport board. None of the railways, the CNR, the Wabash or the New York Central, can be assessed for any of the cost. The town is seeking a federal contribution to the project.

Lindsay Wants Film Council

LINDSAY, Jan. 8.—(ENS). — There is a movement afoot in Lindsay to form a Film Council under the auspices of the National Film Society of Canada with headquarters in Ottawa. Mr. Roy Ward, Peterborough, district supervisor for the National Film Board, explained the purposes of such a Council to a group of interested citizens at a recent meeting held here. At that meeting a provisional committee was formed to attend to preliminary details and bring in a list of persons willing to act on a groundwork committee.

Film Councils have been established in many of the larger communities in Canada, one of which is operating successfully in Peterborough. The object is to rent films, supplied by National Film Board, to members of the Council at a nominal cost to be shown free to audiences. All films are educational and approved by the National Film Board before being released for showing. Each Council has a small bank of films which are rotated from time to time, as well as the full resources of the National Film Board.

Membership to the Film Council, once established, would be open to all, with stress on societies and schools.

Another meeting is scheduled for Jannuary 12th when the provisional committee, under the chairmanship of A. T. Lacey will report.

Brazil Outlaws Communist Party In State

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 8 — (AP).—The last vestige of legality was withdrawn last night from the Brazilian Communist Party, probably the largest in the Western Hemisphere, following enactment of a law removing all Communists from elective posts throughout the country.

The Chamber of Deputies passed, and President Eurico Gaspar Dutra immeditely signed, the law which affects a senator, 14 deputies, 60 members of state legislatures and 18 members of the Rio de Janeiro city council. The Senate had passed the bill previously.

The Communist Party itself, which claims from 180,000 to 200,000 members and which polled about 800,000 votes in state and local elections last January, was outlawed May 7 by a ruling of the supreme electoral tribunal. That ruling did not affect the status of office-holders previously elected.

Brazil broke off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union on Oct. 21 because of articles in the Russian press attacking the president and the Brazilian army.

The Chamber of Deputies approved the new law, 181 to 74, at the end of one of the most turbulent legislative sessions in Brazilian history.

Three deputies pulled guns on Communists in the chamber but did not fire. Fist fights broke out. Police clashed with mobs inside the chamber, and there was such turmoil outside that police almost had a riot on their hands before quelling the disturbance.

It's got the flavour that pleases the menfolk

You know the kind of sauce men like. Flavour first. Then richness, mellowness, fruitiness. Something to put cheer into cold cuts; to improve roasts and made-up dishes. These are the very "somethings" that go into Yorkshire Relish, the classic England-made sauce that Canada votes palate-tickler No. 1. The flavour results from the specially blended fruits, herbs and spices that go to its making.

Two varieties: YORKSHIRE RELISH—a thin sauce. Serve with fish, salads, tomato juice and use for extra flavor when cooking meatloaf, stews and pies. YORKSHIRE RELISH THICK—a rich, meat sauce. Specially good with grills and roasts.

DIETITIANS FAVOUR HOT BREAKFASTS of WHOLE-GRAIN

MORNING DEPRESSIONS SAID CAUSE OF POOR SCHOLASTIC SHOWINGS—

An exhaustive survey by prominent medical men and dietitians shows that most poor scholastic showings are due to morning depressions resulting from breakfasts deficient in minerals and vitamins. These depressions could be eliminated by the simple inclusion of whole-grain cereals at breakfast.

DOCTORS AGREE

Medical research has proven that among the many foods which supply the essential Vitamin B_1 (thiamine), whole-grain cereals are one of the richest sources.

STAPLE DIET

Welfare workers are unanimous in their choice of whole-grain cereals as part of a balanced and staple diet. They recommend them highly where pupils show a lack of interest in their studies or show a tendency to tire easily.

Breakfast Can be Bright!

If mouth-watering, nutty-flavoured goodness means anything to your family, you must serve Vita-B soon. With cream and brown sugar, Vita-B is one of those rare treats that brighten any breakfast. And remember, Vita-B cooks in 3 minutes.

Railroads Aided Theatre In Pioneer Days

By DOUGLAS GREEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON, Jan. 8 (CP)—On the word of no less authority than the late Senator W. A. (Billy) Griesbach of Edmonton a railway provided the greatest fillip to dramatic efforts in the early days of this city and of Alberta.

In his autobiography, "I Remember," Senator Griesbach described the building of the Calgary and Edmonton Railway from Calgary to South Edmonton as the means by which travelling companies were able to stage their productions this far west.

"Before the railways came in and afterwards we had amateur theatricals," he said. "If the company did well in the home town, it travelled to Calgary, and one of our amateur shows travelled through the mining towns in the Kootenays."

(He referred to the then unprecedented tour of the La Cigale Comedy, which played for 10 weeks in Calgary and, as the Edmonton Bulletin proudly recorded in 1896, "every station between there and Vancouver, and at New Whatcom.")

Financial embarrassment was nothing new to the thespians of those days, for the newspaper records that the La Cigale Company returned "after a most delightful and successful tour from every point of view except financially."

Senator Griesbach recalled that occasionally an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" production came to town.

Catered To All

Robertson's Hall—razed by fire in 1906—was the centre for stage presentations. The early ones had something for all tastes. One "concert" program, held in 1903 in aid of the Edmonton Mechanics' and Literary Institute offered 21 acts, including a mandolin solo and an exhibition of Indian club swinging.

After this marathon bill, the closing number—fittingly enough—was "Good-bye, Sweetheart, Good-bye."

More than the drama "of purest ray serene" could be seen at Robertson's Hall. A motley crowd of phrenologists and lecturers descended upon it.

Senator Griesbach recalled that one phrenologist, giving vocational advice to a buxom prairie flower, counselled her to become a blacksmith if she did not marry.

The raconteur had a word, too, for the then-despised motion pictures.

Edmonton saw its first movie in 1898. It dealt with Queen Victoria's Jubilee.

"All the figures were distorted and moved at high speed," said Senator Griesbach.

"The gentleman who turned the crank of the machine, in periods of complete darkness, told us what the next picture would be. We were all greatly impressed with this wretched performance, and I remember, going down the stairs afterwards, that people said one to another, 'What will they do next?'"

OIL DEVELOPMENT—Strike of oil and gas near Tilbury is one development of most comprehensive scientific survey for oil ever made in Southwestern Ontario and began in 1945 by Imperial Oil which has leased well over 100,000 acres of land. In area of yesterday's strike is Imperial-Bechard No. 1 well (background) on farm of Mr. and Mrs. Bechard at Becher, three miles north of Wallaceburg. It came in last February with an initial flow of approximately 25 barrels a day.

Truman Speech Doesn't Upset Business Trend

By The Canadian Press.

Financial communities in the United States and Canada digested President Truman's "State of the Union" message to Congress and decided there would be no adverse effects on business. On the New York Stock Exchange gains showed a slight edge over losses to end uncertainty that prevailed while business waited for the message. In Toronto and Montreal stock prices generally moved into higher levels.

News of the rising cost of living filled newspaper columns across the country and commodity prices showed indications of further increases. Livestock receipts at Canadian markets were substantially reduced in face of strong bids. In Toronto, veal calves added another $1 a hundredweight on top of a similar increase the previous day, while sheep and lamb prices also moved up.

Among immigrants coming to Canada are workers for sugar beet farms, and the Canada and Dominion Sugar Company announces that hundreds of skilled European beet workers are expected to be brought out under a new scheme being launched. Lists of selected newcomers are being drawn up and a survey is under way to obtain from Ontario farmers names of desirable immigrants to whom they would offer employment and housing accommodation. Some 278 beet workers came to Ontario in 1947.

The retail trade of Canada will get a close examination January 12-14 when more than 330 delegates from across Canada meet in Toronto for the annual conference of the Canadian Retail Federation. Outside of Ontario and Quebec, a particularly large delegation is expected from the Maritimes.

Makes Windows That Don't Fit

TORONTO, Jan. 8 — (CP). — The sad case of the young window manufacturer who said he could not pay $254.61 back wages to five workers because the completed windows would not fit into their frames, caused the magistrate to ponder here yesterday.

Robert Archer told the court, "I've been manufacturing windows, but they won't fit the frames when I've finished with them — so how can I pay my help?"

Magistrate Tupper S. Bigelow bent a sympathetic ear. He asked "When will your windows fit the frames?" Archer did not know when, if ever.

"If I sent you to jail these men won't ever get their money," the magistrate remarked. He gave Archer a month's time to try to make the windows, the frames, and the back wages fit.

Indians Given Chance To Plead Case

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Indians of the Six Nations tribe have their day in court today as an ancient claim for redress from the Dominion government moves forward another notch.

After fighting for years to get before a judge with their plea for more than $1,000,000, they are to place before the Exchequer Court their case for compensation for lands and monies lost more than a century ago.

The lands had been taken over or flooded in the building of the Welland and Grand river canals. The money—$160,000—had been sunk in a 19th century investment in the Grand River Navigation Company, subsequently wiped out.

The 55,000 Indians now living on the Onkwaken reserve near Brantford are claiming $1,289,000 —including interest—as descendants of the warriors who were deeded miles of Grand river bank for their fidelity to King George III during the American revolution.

Says Claims Outlawed

Yesterday, the Department of Justice argued at the opening session before the Exchequer Court that the statute of Limitations had outlawed any claims the Indians might have.

W. R. Jackett, assistant deputy minister of justice, contended that at the very latest, the Indians' claims should have been filed by 1886.

He also held that the Indians now bringing suit had not proven themselves "heirs and successors" to the original braves who were deeded the reservation acres.

A further contention of the department was that the Six Nations would have to prove that the transactions in which they lost money and land had taken place after the imperial government had transferred jurisdiction over Indian affairs to Canadian authorities.

And, said Mr. Jackett, the actual date of this transfer was so obscure that it never had been established satisfactorily in modern times.

Quiet Scot Packs Wallop In Aid of Conservatives

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Jan. 8 (CP).—Walter Elliot, 59, a long-faced Scot with a fatherly manner and a passion for puns, has been given a front-line command by Conservatives in the slogging battle with Labor.

In December peppery Herbert Morrison, Government leader in Commons, smote the Opposition hip and thigh in a country-wide broadcast. His theme was that Conservatives protested loudly and condemned vigorously but had no useful alternative for Labor government policies. He said they denounced controls but could not suggest what controls they would remove if in power.

The Conservatives have no one of Morrison stamp and Winston Churchill, who commands more ears than any other speaker, was out of the country. They wanted to make an immediate reply. Anthony Eden and R. A. Butler, both former ministers and often mentioned as future Conservative leaders, were spared and Elliot called to the fore.

With a fine flourish of rolling R's, Elliot launched into a rich appreciation of Morrison's speech, talking amiably of "a master at his art." He said, gently, that Conservatives would not remove all controls but they did think 23,000 operative controls, 5,000 of them instituted since the war, a bit too much.

Quite a Mouthful.

Elliot picked four controls he would remove. The Conservatives would end an order for direction of labor, take action to remove bread and oatmeal rationing, restore a basic gasoline ration to every automobile owner and lift the ban on foreign travel to countries where the dollar-shortage difficulty does not arise.

Even Labor supporters agreed this was a mouthful to swallow. Elliot, who was a doctor and won the Military Cross and bar with the Royal Army Medical Corps in the First World War, had made a diagnosis of public discontent with a suggestion the Conservatives had the cure.

Within his own party, Elliot did himself a power of good. After long service as a Conservative minister, Elliot dropped from the limelight in 1945 when a Labor candidate beat him by a narrow margin in the Scottish constituency of Kelvingrove.

In 1946, he returned to the Commons as a member for the Scottish Universities with an independent turn of mind in debate that is reported to cause the Conservative party whip some anxiety.

56 Dogs, 55 Cats Had Distemper; All Destroyed

Distemper among dogs and cats is nearing a new hih in Peterborough. The Humane Society inspector reports that during the month of December, 56 dogs and 55 cats were taken to the incinerator suffering from this disease. The inspector reports that unless this disease is treated at the very first signs there is little chance of saving the dog or cat. Owners of pets are advised to communicate with the inspector at the first sign of any sickness; unless this is done and it turns out to be distemper, there is nothing that can be done but have the animal destroyed.

In the same month 10 dogs and 3 cats were killed by cars. This week two more were killed on the streets, one dog, a very valuable Boston bull, the property of G. Cox, Cambridge Street, also a terrier belonging to Mrs. W. Oliver, Water Street.

At present there are six dogs in the kennels unclaimed. One is a well-bred black Scottie, another a collie about one year old, and evidently well bred, one hound, and three terriers.

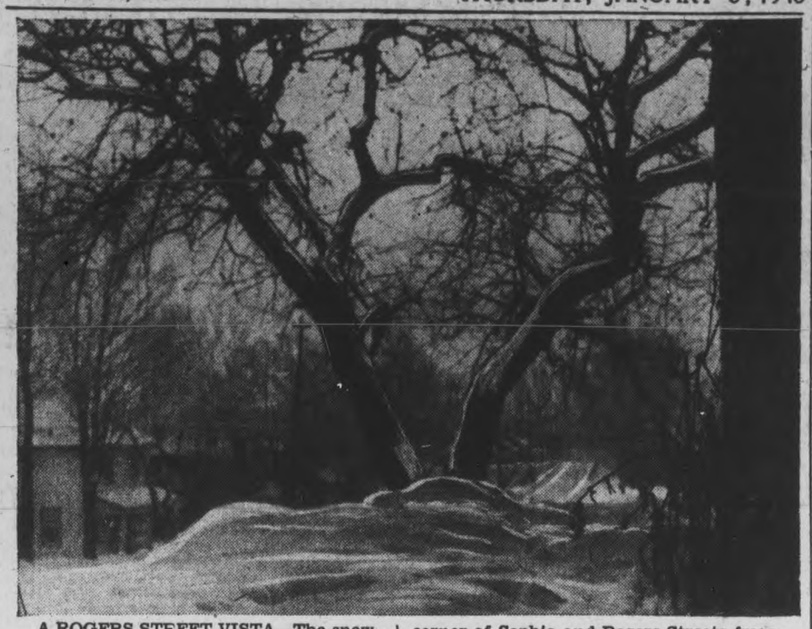
Shelter Site Mentioned For Memorial

Mention by Mayor Ovens Monday night of the Children's Shelter block as a possible site of the Memorial Community Centre sent Ald. Max Swanston Wednesday afternoon to the office of Assessment Commissioner Bert Graham for the measurements of the property.

For those who may be interested the Shelter area has a frontage of 187 feet on George St. and depth of 456 ft., extending through to Lock St.



Ald. Swanston's comment was: "Whatever else is to be said about it, apparently there is plenty of room."

The Shelter block is bounded on the west by George St., north King Edward St., east Lock St. and south Princess St.

On the west side of George St. is King Edward Park. Most of King Edward St. frontage is at the H. J. Inman grain mill, but there is a house fronting on George St. with flankage on King Edward, and another facing Lock St., and also flanking along King Edward. A broad part of the east side of Lock St. is the gore between the C.N.R. and Ware St.

But, there are houses on the south side of Princess St. between Lock and George Streets.

The only house on the suggested block is the Children's Shelter, once the residence of Henry Best, a former mayor of Peterborough, and the city owns the entire property. It came into the discussion of the council in committee of the whole Monday night when Mayor Ovens said some one had mentioned that location to him as a site that might be considered. Nothing else was said about it as the committee gave its attention to two properties on Burnham St. south of Hunter St.

A ROGERS STREET VISTA—The snow-covered city was further beautified Wednesday morning with the addition of white frost. The large apple tree at the corner of Sophia and Rogers Streets framed a pretty view of the hill looking south as frost covered the gnarled limbs and a few frozen apples.

Families To Get Less Meat As Budgets Hard Hit; Bacon Doubled Since Jan. 47

Both sides of the meat counters of Peterborough reflect a violent reaction to the new prices. Housewives, faced with spending more or getting less are expressing their opinions of the increases in no uncertain terms. Butcher, already noting a sharp decline in volume sales, are also feeling the sting of the new levels.

A survey this morning showed that most of the city retail outlets have dropped sales volume by the impressive average of 30 per cent. Some were cut completely in half.

Mrs. W. H. Morton, 627 Water St., former president of the local Council of Women, voiced the general concern over the situation. She commented that the price levels during wartime, under controls, was preferable to today's inflationary trend.

"Yes, I think that return to price control would be the solution," she replied in answer to questioning.

"Prices are entirely too high," Mrs. Morton said. She expressed concern over the plight of those of lower incomes who are raising families.

One word was used by every housewife contacted: "Terrible."

Mrs. Arnold Parrington, 525 Murary St., expressed concern over those consumers with families.

"I have no family myself," she explained, "but the situation must be impossible for those raising a family." She said that it appeared that price control was the only solution open.

Mrs. Robert Merrett, 505 Cross St., reflected the discouragement of the situation in the city-wide question: "What can we do about it."

"When you have kiddies," she said, "they have to be fed if we are to have a healthy coming generation." No, she could suggest no solution; that was up to the government.

Also indicative of the general feeling of helplessness of the individual consumer to effect the trend was Mrs. A. Hope, 219 Stewart St.

"We can't do anything about it," she replied. She believed that much of the fault lay with the labor unions.

Less Meat at Table

Mrs. A. R. Jones, 5 Anne street, includes in her plans to meet the new demand a cut in meat consumption in her meals.

"Disgusted" was the summing-up given by Mrs. L. H. Bearne, 19 Anne street. She suggested that a buyers' boycott of the higher priced cuts might have some effect if it could be kept up for a couple of weeks.

"Who's going to pay for them?" queried Mrs. Harry Baptie, 148 Douco street. The bulk of the blame, she felt, rests with the middleman, pointing out the wide price spreads between the amount paid to farmers and the final retail price.

"God help the people with more than one child," said Mrs. Ray Pammett, 166 Clifton street.

"The Prices Board should be back on the job," was the suggestion of Mrs. Bert Bailey, 575 Douglas Ave.

Of the butchers contacted in the survey, only one reported "no effect on my sales." All others remarked on the sharp decline in purchase of bacon, pork tenderloin and other more expensive cuts—now in the caviar class. Many said that the cheaper cuts of meat were being substituted by the customers, in place of the

Just where the rocketing price of meat is going to level off is topic number one on the agenda when housewives meet these days. If the upward trend continues it would appear that the choicer cuts will be completely beyond the purse of Mrs. John Q. Public who must shop for the family on a budget that is not expanding in step with prices.

Cost-of-living index up until December 1 has already broken the previously existing record set in 1920, and since December there has been a huge jump in the cost of food. What the January figure will reach is anybody's guess but it was 146.0 December 1, calculated on the basis that average 1935-39 price index equals 100.

Perhaps the worst offender among food products is meat. New food contracts with Great Britain calling for higher prices on bacon and beef are regarded as the principal cause of the sudden jump.

Check on meat prices a year ago, at the time the ceiling was lifted on October 21, and the present gives a fair indication of the way in which rising costs have steadily eaten into the pay envelope.

At the beginning of 1947 a pound of bacon couid be obtained for 44 cents; it was then hiked to 55; and now the spread is from 70 to 93 cents a pound. Some merchants are still selling at the old price until their existing stock is exhausted. The price per pound varies with the butcher, whether back or side, rindless or not, packaged or unpackaged.

When the ceiling price was lifted, shoulder and loin pork chops were obtainable for 42 and 49 cents, respectively; now they are 50 and 58 cents. Another favorite cut, leg of lamb, has gone up from 45 to 51 cents in twelve months. Porterhouse, wing or sirloin has risen from 40 to 60 cents.

A short-rib roast that sold a year ago for 29 cents, now costs 37; and blade roasts that used to be 27 are now 35 cents. At this time last year prime roast beef was about 37 cents, now it has been upped to 65c.

Beef Liver Up 9 Cents

The lower priced meats have not soared so much, however. Old reliable pot roast is obtainable at 36 cents a pound, but it used to be 25c. One advertisement lists hamburg steak at 37 cents a pound which is a 12-cent jump on last January. Round steak is now 55 cents; at the time when the price ceiling came off it sold for two cents less. Beef liver was 27 cents a year ago, and is now handed over to the customer at 35 cents a pound.

Fresh roasting hams have advanced from 44 cents in October to 49 cents today. Pork sausage is now obtainable at 45 cents but it retailed at 29 cents a year ago.

One opinion is that soaring prices will taper off and find a new level after the market is tested. Until this new equilibrium is reached the family shopper will either have to dig deeper into the purse or substitute cheaper cuts of meat.

It may be that fish will occupy a larger place on the menu. To-

Coal Truck Rams Standing Engine

Ray Johnston, Coal and Wood merchant caused considerable damage to his truck when he collided with a stationary railway engine at Sherbrooke St. Tuesday afternoon.

Police Constable Reg. McMillan investigated the accident and reported that a railway engine stood on the tracks facing south across Sherbrooke St. A truck owned and operated by Johnston ran into the middle of the engine causing considerable damage to the radiator, headlights, fan and front bumpers. The officer reports that Johnston claims he did not see the engine when he was approaching the tracks, although he admits that the accident was his fault. It is reported by the police that it was snowing at the time and also that the wig-wag was working.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

CHANGE OF DAY

The weekly Kiwanis luncheon normally held on Thursday at the Empress Hotel will be held on Friday instead this week. This switch over is due to hotel alterations.

RECORD AMOUNT CLEARED

The Peterborough Clearing House last week handled more than two and one quarter million dollars in bank transactions in the city. The total $2,279,860 is the highest for some time.

SMALL CHANGE

The semi-weekly collection from the city's parking meters was heavier than usual, due to the holiday season. There were about 15,000 coppers going through the rollers, and about 3,000 nickels. No slugs were noticed. On this basis, the meters are gathering about a mile of coins every two weeks.

BREAK INTO APSLEY SCHOOL

Apsley public shool has been broken into several times in recent weeks. In a combination of thieving and vandalism, fuel oil has been stolen, and spilled on the floor; windows have been broken; trees have been mutilated; and recently a lock was torn from the outer door. Provincial Constable Bert Howden is investigating.

HOW MUCH PER DOZEN?

According to reports, a humble pullet near Omemee is quite aware of the fact that she has achieved distinction, by laying an egg of truly heroic proportions. Mrs. Melville McBrien, the owner of the brilliant biddy, believes that is the largest egg laid in the district. Dimensions are said to be: nine and a half inches lengthwise diameter, eight and a half inches small diameter.

SOMETHING TO SHOOT AT

With city streets just bursting with activity while the routine job of snow removal goes on, commuters and vehicle drivers remark, time and again, what excellent condition Highway 28 is in from Peterborough to Lakefield in comparison to city streets, even after the snow has been carted off. Any of them will tell you that it's a case of "Hold your hats, boys," each time they reach the city limits.

FIND BLIND SETTER

Provincial Constable Bert Howden at Apsley took into his care several days ago a blinds brown setter about 18 months old that either strayed from its home or was abandoned. It was noticed bumping into snow banks and gasoline tanks in the village. Presumably it will be kept by Constable Howden in the chance that some person may be looking for it.

MAYOR TO SPEAK

Mayor William Ovens will be heard over radio station CHEX this evening at 7.15 discussing the power situation and how the shortage affects Peterborough.

FIRST 1948 MEETING

An open meeting of the Y's Men's Club is called for Thursday evening. It is the first meeting of the new year and will be devoted to business chiefly. Review of club activities during 1947, and plans for 1948 will be the chief topics under discussion.

FEW DRY WELLS

January is often a poor month for water supply from local wells. However this year there have been few complaints from farmers regarding this. A number of farmers were known to have dug or drilled deeper wells recently which may have helped to offset this seasonal inconvenience—another unfortunate result of deforestation.

ADD NEW MEMBERS

Fifteen new members were added to the rolls of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce last night, bringing the total membership at present to near 50. The Chamber, which has been in operation only six months, is now working out plans for the coming year. Attraction of tourists to the area will be stressed.

Truck Scantling Demolishes Store Window

A large plate glass window in H. Johnston's electrical store situated on the corner of George and McDonnell Sts., was completely shattered Wednesday afternoon. Kenneth Robson, 426 London St., backed up his truck near the store and a long piece of 2 x 4 scantling projecting from the truck went through the glass.

The window was a complete loss and shattered to such an extent that not even a piece of glass one foot square could be salvaged. Merchandise in the window consisted of a mantel radio, one combination player and radio, one mahogany end table and a rangette. The damage to these articles is not yet known but the window damage is estimated at $128.

Police Constable V. J. O'Donoghue investigated the accident.

Otonabee School Contest Winner

TORONTO, Jan. 8. —(CP). — Prizes in the provincial section of the 1947 school forestry competition have been won by two Waterloo and Peterborough county schools, whose tree plantations were judged best in six provincial districts, J. A. Carrol, secretary of the Ontario Horticultural Association, announced tody.

First prize of $50 was won by Maple Grove school, Waterloo county, and second prize of $25 by S.S. No. 2, Otonabee township, Peterborough county. The contest, to be held again in 1948, requires pupils of each school entering to tend at least half an acre of government-supplied trees.

Cabbages, Celery, Lettuce Sky High and Hard To Get

The daily wail set up by Peterborough's housewives over the lack of cabbages, celery, heads of lettuce and such greens, so long regarded as a necessity in the daily menu, may be a prolonged affair.

A survey of the fruit and green grocers in the city reveals a grim outlook in the matter of supply and any stocks that may reach the city will be retailed at a price almost beyond the reach of the ordinary working man's purse.

The situation is bad, so bad it brings tears to the housewives' eyes, a reasonable result as green onions are the only vegetables alloted in from the States under the new tariff regulations. Cabbages are almost unprocurable today, and the few that are on sale fetch as much as 20c per pound.

Celery, heads of lettuce and leaf lettuce have been shipped in from the States in great quantities in the past, but today the embargo on these vegetables has resulted in Canadian grown vegetables soaring in price to a standard one would expect only in the starved countries of Europe. One truck of Canadian cabbages reached the city yesterday, but two fruit merchants in Peterborough would not touch them on account of the prohibitive prices asked.

Celery which a short while ago could be bought by the wholesaler for $1.60 per case now has a price tag of $8.50 on it. Leaf lettuce normally selling for 8c a bunch can be purchased for 25c. One wholesaler in town has plenty of leaf lettuce in, but on being interviewed said that he was ashamed to offer this vegetable to his customers as he had to charge 25c, and the quality was poor and the quantity poorer still for the amount the market demands.

It is hinted this move in demanding such high prices for these vegetables has been staged to a large extent by the large wholesalers in hoping that the government will be persuaded to loosen up on the American tariffs. Until this is done housewives will have to be satisfied with Canadian-grown cabbages and pay a price that in most cases is far beyond their reach.

There is not a head of lettuce to be had in the city, though leaf lettuce can be bought at the prices quoted. With cabbages, lettuce, and celery now on the 'off' list, it looks as if the main and only vegetable will be onions after all, giving an excellent reason for the tears welling in the eyes of Peterborough's housewives today.

Chemong Group After New School

More than 50 ratepayers jammed the Bridgenorth schoolhouse Wednesday evening to elect two trustees to the school board and also to register their desire for a new school building.

New trustees are Don McKay and Mrs. A. Connors who replace Bert Jopling and Arthur Murray. The third member of the board is Elwood Harrison who will not have to seek election until next year.

Facilities at the old schoolhouse were described as antiquated and inadequate by a number of those present. The assembly voted without dissent to approach the local school inspector to meet with them at the earliest possible time convenient, and discuss the matter of erecting a new building.

The heating system was described as inadequate and possibly dangerous. A boiler inspector was scheduled to examine the boiler on Thursday and pass judgment on its efficiency.

Many of those present recalled their days at that school and said that its days of usefulness were passed.

The approximately 50 children attending were too crowded and it was felt that it would be better to build a new school rather than enlarge the old one.

Fire Destroys Block

NEWCASTLE, N.B., Jan. 8 — (CP). — Fire breaking out in the early morning hours and fanned by a strong wind today swept through an entire business block on Castle street, destroyed seven business establishments, forced two families to flee in their night clothing, and caused damage estimated at $250,000. The fire was believed to have started in a basement.

Greek Worries About Soldier-Brother

Bill, The Shoe Shiner, Has Never Seen War Veteran

Canada's wars are over and her sons returned to their homeland but one citizen of Peterborough still suffers the harrowing uncertainty that all wars bring to relatives and dependents of those taking part.

William Xinese, the proprietor of a shoe shine and hat cleaning establishment in George Street has more to think about than shining shoes today. Unknown to his patrons, here lies behind that smile a continual worry. His mind takes him back to the sun-washed shores of his beloved Hellenic Isles, to the foothills of the mountains surrounding Konitsa, and to his youngest brother Nick, who is taking a man's part in the history of his native Greece, fighting against the guerrilla bands.

"While I am busy, and my mind is occupied," said William, "I do not feel it so much," for it helps me to keep from worrying if my brother might be the next victim of these guerrilla bands."

It's a strange world when one must attribute that extra polish on one's shoes to the success or non-success of a punitive expedition of a band of Greek soldiers in some hillside fastness in far away Konitsa.

That final polish a customer may have on his shoes lately, from the brisk rubbing and brushing at the hands of William Xinese, George Street, may not have been so much from a zealous artisan as from a desire to distract his thoughts from his far away homeland, Greece.

Received Letter.

A few days ago William Xinese received a letter from his youngest brother who is a soldier in the regular Greek Army and at the time of writing was waging war on the guerrillas in the mountain country around Konitsa.

"My brother Nick, is 37 years old," said William, "and he is a full sergeant in the Greek army. In his letter he tells me that they are having a terrible time trying to hunt down the guerrilla bands and it has proved be a a hazardous assignment.

SGT. NICK XINESE

"On one occasion recently," Nick wrote to his brother, "I was given a detachment of 30 soldiers and we were ordered to clear out a bunch of guerrillas who were holding out in a hillside fastness. We were told there were only a handful of them but when we approached their stronghold and opened fire there were many more. We killed 12 and captured 16 and to our knowledge approximately 60 escaped. The guerrillas were well armed but despite their return of fire our casualties were only two wounded."

William has never seen his brother, who was born in Tripolis after he (William) came to this country. Knowing the conditions under which the Greek army must fight against these bands of guerrillas he is very concerned as to Nick's welfare. The letter was dated December 10 and it was received through the Greek Army Post office, reaching Peterborough December 24.

Hotel-Like Spot To Be Used For Indigents

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Jan. 8 — (CP). — Britain's indigent aged in future will be housed in institutions like residential hotels, and names like "Eventide Homes" will be avoided.

Health Minister Bevan, speaking in support of the national assistance bill to establish new services for the needy, said he had cudgelled his brain to think of a name for the homes.

"Eventide homes," a Labor member suggested.

"No, many old people think they are at the dawn, not eventide," Bevan replied.

"Sanctuaries" was almost as bad as "Eventide homes." "Retreats" was even worse.

So the homes would be like hotels, each with its own selected name, and, as bigness was the enemy of humanity, there would not be more than 25 to 30 persons in each.

The homes will be established by local authorities. Accommodation will cost 21s. ($4.20) weekly, leaving 5s weekly as pocket money for the pensioner receiving 26s. The national assistance board willl make up the total of 26s. for those whose pensions are less than this amount.

Old age pensions are payable to men at 65 years and to women at 60, if they retire from employmen. But of the 7,000 who become eligible for pensions every week, two-thirds continue at their jobs.

Bevan said that 95 per cent of the old people—those who obtain pensions—live independent lives in their own homes or those of their children.

WALDERSLADE, Kent, England — (CP). — Villagers here have learned to sing Christmas carols in German so they entertain prisoners-of-war at a Christmas party.

BRAMPTON, Ont., Jan. 8 — (CP). — Wilfred Ludwig and Charles Beech, both 17, arrested in Port Hope after stealing a car in their escape from the Ontario reformatory here Christmas Eve, were each sentenced to-day to two years.

Ex-Wac Blames Drinking For 2 Holdups

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—A tough-talking, attractive brunette who held up two hotels before dawn today was captured later by police and identified herself as Madeline Ruth Evans, 29, of Youngstown, O.

Police, who charged the woman with assault and robbery, said she had served 37 months as a Wac and was discharged with the rank of lieutenant.

Miss Evans blamed her troubles on drink.

"Don't ever mention that stuff to me," she sobbed. "You can take all you have and throw it in the river. Look at the mess I'm in because of it.

"The half hour I spent this morning—which I don't remember anything about — is enough trouble. You can tell every other girl, too, the trouble it will lead to.

"I'll never touch another drop as long as I draw breath."

Held Up Clerks

The woman walked into the Hanover hotel and held up Thomas Burns, night clerk.

"This is a sttickup, buddy," she said. "You keep quiet because I may be a little trigger-happy and blow your brains out. Now give me your dough."

Burns had only $5 in the cash drawer, which he gave her.

While detectives were taking Burns' statement, they received a report of another hold-up at the Globe hotel. A woman answering the same description held up Jack Gottlieb, night clerk, obtaining $20 from him and $21 from a hotel guest.

An hour later a taxicab driver called police when he saw a pistol in the overcoat pocket of a woman in a diner in Brooklyn. Police went to the diner and arrested the woman.

Partisan Trial Causes Strike

TRIESTE, Jan. 8 — (AP) — A Communist - sponsored general strike gripped this free city today in protest against the trial of a group of Partisans arrested Sunday at nearby Opicina on charges of illegally wearing uniforms in an unauthorized demonstration.

Brig. - Gen. Ridgely Gaither, senior civil affairs officer of the allied military government, termed the strike "provocative" and broke of fnegotiations with Communist representatives until the strike is called off.

By noon, police reported that many hundreds of workers had gone to their jobs in shipyards and docks. Some streetcars and buses were running but some shops were closed. Officers previously had estimated the strike was 75 per cent effective.

The Communist - dominated United Syndicate of Labor Unions called the strike.

Police dispersed a crowd of about 1,000 gathered at the palace of justice when the men were arraigned. Five were arrested.

UN Begins Work On Partition Of Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 8 — (AP). — After a six-week interim during which violence and bloodshed have swept across Palestine, the United Nations will get down to work tomorrow on carrying out the general assembly decision to partition the Holy Land into Jewish and Arab nations by Oct. 1.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie will open the first meeting of the five-member Palestine partition commission set up by the assembly in New York Nov. 29, when the plan to split Palestine was finally approved. The commission will plunge into the task of working out methods for partitioning the Holy Land in the face of violent Arab opposition.

The commission's first major task will be to arrange for consultations with Britain, which, as mandator power, still controls Palestine. A British spokesman said that delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan was ready to confer immediately and it was understood that he would be prepared to lay a British timetable for troop evacuation before the U.N.

The commission also was expected to seek early conferences with the Jewish Agency for Palestine and the Arab higher committee. Moshe Shertok, considered a possible choice for foreign minister of the new Jewish state, will represent the agency.

The assembly resolution calls for the end of British rule by Aug. 1 and independence for separate Jewish and Arab states by Oct. 1. The British authorities have said unofficially they are ready to give up their rule May 15 and have all troops evacuated by Aug. 1. Details of the passing of control from Britain to the U.N. must be worked out and the date of the commission taking up quarters in Palestine itself depends primarily on the British timetable.

New Telephone Directory Issued For Government

OTTAWA, Jan. 8.— (CP). — You'd be surprised how few people will notice it, but a brighter sun dawned over Ottawa today.

It came in the form of a small, grey-green volume known as the Dominion government telephone directory, which used to be issued every six months, but what with one thing and another hasn't emerged for a year and a half.

For months, in the intervening period, you could look up the official directory, published by the King's Printer, and get as many wrong numbers as you could twirl a dial to.

You could fail to get Finance Minister Ilsley, Fisheries Minister Bridges, Justice Minister St. Laurent, Health Minister Claxton, State Secretary Gibson, or the External Affairs Minister — Prime Minister Mackenzie King. After that, you could fail to reach any number of the remainder of their cohorts.

They all come out right in the new directory—Justice Minister Ilsley, Fisheries Minister Gregg, External Affairs Minister St. Lauretn, Defence Minister Claxton, State Secretary Gibson, Health Minister Martin, and so on.

Although just distributed, the new directory is dated October, and already it is outdated. It fails to take in the recent re-organization of the Mines and Resources Department.

Chinese Reds Slay Marine

TSINGTAO, China, Jan. 8 (AP) —Slaying of a United States marine by Chinese Communists at a remote village in North China was reported today by Gen. Ting Chi-Pan, Chinese commander of the Tsingtao garrison. He said the victim was one of five men missing on a Christmas Day hunting trip.

United States navy headquarters declined either to confirm or deny the report, made by Ting at a press conference. The navy also continuted to withhold the identities of the five marines.

The Chinese commander said hunting party had been halted by sentries at government lines but that the jeep-riding marines drove on to Tayu, a small village near Linsham, about 5 miles north of Tsingtao.

Ting added that a marine search party went to Tayu later and was told by villagers that the slain marine had been removed by the Communists. He said it was presumed the remaining four were taken along by the withdrawing Reds.

In Buffalo, NY, Mrs. Aglaia Kapodistria said Tuesday she had received an official message Dec. 26 that her son, Marine Private Thomas Kapodistria, 19, was missing in the Tsingtao area.)

W.A. Of Bethany Has Surplus After Busy Year

BETHANY, Jan. 8. (ENS) — The January meeting of the Women's Association of Bethany United Church was held on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William Cavano with Mrs. G. Waddell in charge. The theme of the meeting was "Sarah" a Woman of Faith. Mrs. Kellett read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. Jackson gave the explanation of the lesson and led in prayer which was followed by two minutes silence in memory of two valued members, the late, Mrs. Edwin Veale and Mrs. Lavina Murphy. Plans were made for the annual Congregational meeting and supper to be held in the Sunday School Room on January 14. Miss Elsie Richardson reported on the year's work, stating that 10 meetings had been held and an average attendance of 21. Miss Staples presented the treasurer's financial report which indicated that $661.98 had been raised during the year and showing a balance on hand of $189.41. Mrs. Waddell thanked the executive, group leaders and members for their fine co-operation during the last 12 months. Mrs. W. L. Rowan, leader of group one, then took charge of the program. Mrs. Ross Carr read Walter Gresham's poem, "Where Cross the Crowded Ways." Miss Hannah Staples gave interesting items about the life of Fanny Crosby, musician and hymn writer, who although blind from the early age of six weeks, lived 95 years, and in that time wrote thousands of hymns. She was a pupil of the New York Institute for the Blind, and also taught there for fifteen years. Verses of some of the most well-known hymns written by her were sung in unison, "Safe In the Arms of Jesus," "I Am Thine, Oh Lord," "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross," "Rescue the Perishing," "Pass Me Not, Oh Gentle Saviour." Mrs. Rowan told of a recent visit to the Thomas Foster Memorial Temple near Uxbridge, Ont., which was built by Thomas Foster, ex-mayor of Toronto, to enshrine the memory of his boyhood days and to provide a mortuary for his home community, showing a picture of the chapel and relating interesting detail of its construction.

The meeting was closed with prayer, after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ralph Mulligan, Mrs. Rowan and Mrs. Kellett.

Hopeh's Capital Holds Reds Outside Big Wall

By SPENCER MOOSA

PAOTING, China, Jan. 8 (AP) — The most impressive thing about this capital city of Hopeh province is its massive crenelated wall, which has helped it to withstand repeated Communist assaults and a siege which has lasted through most of the two years of civil war.

The wall encompasses in a neat rectangle a shabby-looking city of 120,000 persons. The streets are narrow and unpaved. There is no sewage system. The city possesses not a single taxicab. One either walks or takes a rickshaw.

Outside the walls is a moat, protected by its own wall, which is being heightened and strengthened by drafted laborers. They work lackadaisically under the casual supervision of soldiers in padded cotton uniforms.

Behind the moat are deep ditches to serve as anti-tank traps —in case tanks ever come this way. There are also numerous gun emplacements, trenches, machine-gun pits and pillboxes, most of them unmanned.

In a wide ring outside are mud forts, spaced about one-third of a mile apart.

Paoting's lone airfield is about a mile outside the walls. The main activity there is the arrival and departure of Chinese relief air transport planes, which arrive empty and take baled cotton to Peiping, 90 miles to the northeast.

It was in one of these "cat" planes of Maj.-Gen. Claire Chennault that this correspondent came to Paoting. The pilot, James Bledsoe of Los Angeles, 34-year-old former Flying Tiger, made four round trips in a day.

Hazardous Landing

Coming in, he put his C-46 transport into a steep descent from 8,000 feet. It felt like descending in an express elevator. On the ground, he explained that a normal glide would expose the plane to machine-gun and rifle fire by Communist guerrillas. Hardly had his plane settled than waiting coolies began loading it with more than five tons of cotton. Sporadic cannon fire could be heard in the distance.

Then he took off and gained altitude in a tight spiral over Paoting before heading towards Peiping. Again the idea was to escape ground fire.

In Paoting, wondering if they should fly out, are seven United States missionaries, and a half-dozen French Catholic priests and nuns. Dr. and Mrs. Williams Cochran of Plainfield, N.J., operate the American Presbyterian hospital. Civilian war casualties comprise about two-thirds of their 65 patients. Some of these are farmers, injured by Communist-planted mines almost within the shadows of the city walls.

When Shihkiachwang, 52 miles to the south, fell to the Communists in November, there was panic in Paoting, and provincial government officials fled. Many of them have since returned and panic has subsided into uneasiness.

Aside from the air, there is one way out — by truck convoy 33 miles through Communist-infested territory northward to Tinghsing, where refugees can board a train for Peiping.

Meanwhile, within Paoting's walls, a family company still produces as it has for a century, a highly-prized sauce by secret formula, and the city retains its fame as the source of walnut-size iron globes which calligraphers throughout China toy to keep their fingers supple.

Martin Hanged For Killing Old Prospector

PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 8—(CP). — A tale of murder in the cold December snow of Northwestern Ontario more than a year ago reached its final chapter in the district jail last night when Charles Martin, 35, was hanged for the slaying of a 71-year-old prospector.

A terse announcement from jail officials two hours and 15 minutes after the hanging said the former Vancouver resident had died on the gallows at 12.30 a.m.

Martin had lived in the shadow of the noose since last November, when the Supreme Court of Ontario found him guilty of the murder of Joseph Grant on the latter's mining property at Cook's Lake near Schreiber, Ont.

Grant's assistant, Marcel Duchesneau, 28, of Montreal and Toronto, also had been killed. Although believed to have died in December, 1946, their bodies were not discovered until early spring.

Discovery of the bodies launched an extensive investigation under Provincial Police Inspector Frank Kelley which led to Martin's detention on the murder charge.

At the time it was read to him last March he was already in custody, having been taken to Port Arthur on a charge of forgery in connection with a cheque passed at a branch of the Bank of Montreal in Schreiber after having served two weeks in jail at Regina for another offence.

Police said the murder of Grant and his young partner had apparently been motivated by theft.

Pennies of Pals In Trinidad Get Aid For Crippled Boy

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—It all began way over in the little town of Tobego in Trinidad when a group of youngsters started saving their pennies to help "a pal" to walk again. These kiddies were the Golden Sunbeams, a club organized by the Trinidad Junior Red Cross. "The pal" is Avil Christmas a charming little fourteen-year-old who arrived at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. Here it is hoped treatment will enable him to toss aside forever the sturdy crutch he has carried ever since he was stricken with Polio thirteen years ago.

Because of the penny campaign started by the Trinidad Junior Red Cross, Avil was able to make the long journey across the water. He was chosen by the director of Trinidad Junior Red Cross to be the lad most likely to take advantage of the treatment and the chance he would receive in Canada. Here in Canada Ontario Division Junior Red Cross are paying his medical expenses, buying his clothes and doing the hundred and one other things that will be necessary to give him the opportunity to be a healthy happy boy. Miss Dorothy Crozier director of this department is almost a daily visitor at the hospital.

Snow was something entirely new and different to him — he looked at it wide eyed and then said softly—"Oh, it's very pretty, miss". The lighted Christmas tree, the hospital and the huge pile of gaily wrapped gifts supplied by the Ontario Juniors brought forth gasps of pleasure.

When he arrived at the Toronto Union Station Red Cross personnel met him, assisted him to a wheel chair; escorted him to the hospital and, in short, looked after all the little details that would have fallen to his family had they been there. It isn't going to be easy for this little lad—the treatment will be long and tedious—it will be very lonesome far from his six brothers and sisters—but Red Cross Juniors will do everything possible to make it up to him. They will visit him—bring him little presents—write to his mother—in fact be a family away from home to the boy.

There is no one who has met this little fellow who hasn't fallen for his quiet charm—his polite manner and contagious grin. As he stood under the Christmas tree leaning heavily, on his crutch there must have been a silent prayer in the hearts of everyone there that someday this little chap would soon know a Christmas when he could jump and run —and skate and do all the other things that are the natural heritage of childhood.

Still Thinks Game Peculiar

LONDON, Jan. 8 — (CP). — An unrepentant Earl Wavell, whose racy comments on cricket have disturbed the serenity of Lords, was on a sticky wicket yesterday when he bearded objectors in their own den—Lords Tavern—but he didn't recant a word. He still thinks the game is "peculiar."

A former governor-general of India, he clean-bowled the stiff-backed gentlemen of Lords recently at Aberdeen when he described cricket as "prodigal of time and effort out of all proportion to its importance." Furthermore, it was the "height of absurdity." He still thinks so.

But he softened the blow to the rulers of Britain's national pastime when he explained that the last thing he'd want to do would be to attack the game itself. Aberdeen comments he dubbed as "a few light-hearted remarks."

He was in magnanimous mood and willing to allow cricket its virtues and even confessed he'd played it for his house at school, his regiment and his village. And then he went on to astonish his slightly red-faced listeners with:

"The only two things in which Moslems and Hindus have worked together have been the Indian army and the Indian cricket team."

Police Fight 'Reds' Publishing Paper

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 8 — (AP).—Police fought today with Communists attempting to publish an edition of their newspaper in the wake of congressional action withdrawing the last vestige of legality from the Brazilian Communist Party.

Four Communists were wounded. Police broke into the printing plant, using tear gas bombs and machine-guns, when workers refused to halt presses printing an edition covering the action by the Chamber of Deputies last night, stripping Brazilian Communists, the largest Communist party in the Western Hemisphere, of all elective posts.

The edition was being printed in the plant formerly used by the Communist newspaper Tribuna Popular, which was suspended for its attacks on the government during the debate on the bill to oust Communist legislators.

Migrant Insects Problem In Pest Control

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 (AP). — For some insect immigrants, as well as humans, this country is the great land of opportunity and success.

Even now, says Dr. Charles T. Brues, Harvard University entomologist, insects that can cause diseases in humans or crops doubtless lie hidden in little-known parts of the world and may spread without warning.

They have come before, like the Japanese beetle, European corn borer, and Mediterranean fruit fly, to list a few that found conditions greatly to their liking. It is the immigrants, and not the evolution of new kinds of bugs, that give entomologists their main new problems.

Insects undergo evolution, but very slowly. There's no evidence that they are getting bigger or more damaging. Bees, wasps, flies, and other insects as much as 75,000,000 years old, found preserved in amber, are almost identical with the same insects of today.

Dr. Brues, in a new book, "Insects and Human Welfare," points out that man in the last half century has greatly increased his power to control animate nature —aside from controlling mankind himself—and "this ability appears just at present to be sharply on the upgrade."

New weapons of chemical and biological warfare are continually coming from the laboratories, and better chemicals particularly show great promise. But they sometimes falter or even boomerang.

Occasionally insects become resistant to chemical poisons, or develop a tolerance for it. Lead arsenate hit codling moths, which attack apples chiefly until they become resistant and more or larger doses were required, Dr. Raimon Beard of the Connecticut agricultural experiment station points out. Scale insects that damage citrus fruits became more resistant to cyanide fumigation.

Puzzling Mites

Mites, another enemy of fruit, became more prevalent in some orchards after DDT was used. Why, is a puzzle. Perhaps the insecticide also killed the mites' natural enemies, and the surviving mites had a better chance of living and multiplying.

Chemicals like DDT and other new ones even more recently developed are speeding the chemical control method. Natural enemies sometimes are imported to battle insect pests.

Such insect enemies were imported to fight Japanese beetle. In Japan the voracious beetle was not too much of a problem. There were fewer kinds of food that it liked, and less turf or sod for the beetle grubs to hatch and develop in, Dr. Beard said.

One biological weapon is being against this beetle. It is a bacterial spore which can be spread on the turf, killing the larvae that become infected. Such biological weapons usually are specific for only a given insect or related groups of insects.

Another method of control, Dr. Beard said, is to time plantings so that the insect is not around at the most vulnerable time. This cannot always be done. It was carried out successfully as a method of combatting the Hessian fly, which seriously hurt wheat yields.

Great progress has been made in reducing insect-borne diseases, such as malaria, yellow fever, plague and typhus fever, Dr. Brues says. Greater activity may be expected, he adds, but these also may be sudden setbacks and new problems in this field too.

FORREST, MAN. (CP)—Early homesteading days in Manitoba came vividly to life when 18 district pioneers, all over 70, gathered here. Driving by team 50 miles for firewood was one of the chores described as the pioneers exchanged reminiscences.

RUSSIA'S SEATS EMPTY — Shunned by Soviet Russia and her five satellite states, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, the Ukraine, Poland and Bielo-Russia, the United Nations began a new phase in its history with inauguration of the year-around "little assembly" at Lake Success, N.Y. as proposed by U.S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall and approved by the general assembly. Two empty seats are seen above, those of the U.S.S.R. and the Ukraine, as Seymour Jacklin of South Africa leans over the empty Ukraine seat to speak to Selim Sarper of Turkey. The U.S.S.R.'s empty seat is at the left. The chairman of the new body is Dr. Luis Padrilla Nervo of Mexico.

Charge Poison From Plant Spoils Tourist Fishing

TORONTO, Jan. 8 (CP).—Evidence of experts and chemical analysis submitted by the Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Co., Espanola, in answer to the $230,000 damage suit brought against it by six district tourist camp operators, substantiated claims of the plaintiffs, Donald R. Walkinshaw, their counsel, today told Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of Ontario.

Mr. Walkinshaw, and J. J. Robinette for the company, are appearing for final argument at Osgoode Hall here in the suit for damages claimed as the result of pollution of the Spanish River adjacent to the paper mill during the last two years.

Proceedings began at Sudbury early last December when 73 witnesses testified before Chief Justice McRuer.

Plaintiffs earlier based their claims for damage on death and disappearance of fish resulting in loss of tourist trade and considerable commercial fishing. They blame chemicals and waste matter from the mill for trade losses during the 1946-47 season.

In his review of previous evidence, Mr. Walkinshaw said experts had testified that several million gallons of waste water entered the Spanish River from sewage exits at the mill. With this went five tons of waste fibre and "many thousands of gallons" of "black liquor," containing acids, fatty substances and wood alcohol.

No Experiments

The company, counsel said, had never conducted experiments to help eliminate strong odors or taste from the river's water.

"The attitude of the company has been very definite: 'We don't care what happens to the public as long as it does not cost us anything'."

"The river is the cheapest place to dump it — that's the company attitude."

Expert opinion had said that wood alcohol, in the amount found in the river water, "is a fairly deadly poison."

Mr. Justice McRuer interrupted to ask counsel whether "We have to put our finger on each ingredient to the degree it effects the water." He said it was difficult to carry in one's mind the amount of turpentine, methyl and other chemicals."

He was referring to Mr. Walkinshaw's break-down of the toxic effects of each chemical found in the "black liquor" and other sewage waste.

"Maybe the result speak for themselves," said the court. "I don't want to be driven to find what substance killed the fish."

The company's evidence that there had been "good fishing" along the Spanish river during 1947 was based on reports of fishermen working in spots of uncontaminated water, Mr. Walkinshaw said.

2 Men Injured In Cub Plane Crash

GANDER, Nfld., Jan. 8 — (CP). — A Cub plane crashed into Dead Man's pond, about a mile from this air base today and the pilot, William Rendell, son of the Newfoundland Trade Commissioner in London, was seriously injured. He is not expected to live.

The plane was coming in for a landing when it nose-dived and crashed through the ice on the pond.

Asked To Curb Cheese Costs

TORONTO, Jan. 8 (CP).—Dominion Government action to curb rising cheese production costs by maintaining a "proper balance between the price received of primary products and the cost of producing them," was urged in a resolution passed today by the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association.

The association asked the Ontario Government to pay the producer a premium of 30 cents a hundredweight for top quality milk and the cheesemaker a premium of one-half cent a pound for sediment-free cheese.

A resolution requested cheese export permits to other countries than the United Kingdom, provided the production of cheese exceeds the reduced contract of 50,000,000 pounds. The move was aimed particularly toward cheese shipment to the United States.

The association also requested the Provincial Agriculture Department to bring all Ontario milk under one sanitary inspection and that all cheese be graded for domestic use.

PETTICOAT LINE—The dress with the delicate petticoat air is becoming increasingly popular, which was bound to happen, what with all eyes centered on the hemline. It is the big attraction of this charming afternoon or short dinner dress. The frock is a print in silk in dazzling white printed with an all over street pattern in delicate pinks and blues. The uptront hemline is petticoat-flounced with black tulle, and there is an additional note of black in the velvet tie under the demure collar.

Jerusalem's Sacred Places Almost Closed to Christians

By JAMES M. LONG

JERUSALEM, Jan. 8 (AP). — The Hill of Crucifixion where Christ died and the Holy Sepulchre from which he arose are virtually closed to Christians by the Arab state of armed siege within the walled old city district of Jerusalem.

Jews are barred from the ancient Wailing Wall, now under the tommy-guns of Arab guards. And robed Moslems walk down the narrow cobbled street to the guarded gates of the Mosque of Omar, on the site from which Mohammed ascended to Paradise, carrying rifles openly.

None of this is the intent of the milling tense Arab throngs within the sacred walls. It is the result of the heightening terror of virtual civil war over the partitioning of Palestine.

In evidence that the holy places still are open—if pilgrims dare to venture there—I entered through the tightly-guarded Jaffa Gate and walked three hours, through jammed bazaars teeming with veiled women, children, vendors, goats, burros and men armed with every type of gun, to visit all three shrines.

When armed men stopped us my Arab companion hesitated to explain that I was an American. Heretofore-friendly Arabs now know the United States as one of the leaders in the United Nations plan to divide Palestine. So in the land where Christian and Saracen fought to death through the crusades it now oddly proved a better passport to say only that I was a Christian.

No Threats

Everywhere in the walled city I was regarded with suspicion, but so far as I could tell no harsh or threatening words were passed.

An old woman came limping past begging alms for her suffering from terrorists outside the walls. Given a few coppers she pulled back her yellow veil to show bandages she said covered wound suffering in the bombing of the Damascus Gate.

Later I saw a robed Sheik in flowing white headdress emerge from the great gateway to the blue hued mosque of Omar through whose open arches could be seen the Garden of Gethsemane and the Mount of Olives. He was followed by an attendant carrying a sub-machine-gun under his arm.

The few blue-uniformed Palestine police in the narrow streets made no attempt to disarm Arabs whose weapons showed plainly. They intervene only when there is shooting. Outside the walls it is another matter. There police are committed to disarming anyone found with weapons.

I saw no guards of any kind, not even the usual Arab street-block of young sentries, around the huge Church of the Holy Sepulchre. The young Arab guide there said he had seen only three or four Christian visitors, other than for Christian Arabs who came daily, in the weeks since partition fighting virutally sealed off the old city.

Inside, the church, rituals of the highest sanctity are carried on quietly by the Christian monks waiting for the day of peace and pilgrimages.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, January 9

While affairs generally are under a benign and productive rule, with every fair promise of growth, expansion, increased fertility and heightened prospects, yet there is some danger born of either an attitude of smugness, inflation, or over-weaning satisfaction at the trend of events. This might lead to extravagances, excesses, or "plunging" inordinately, or mistaken judgment as to costs, assets or exaggerated personal influence and prestige may be at the root of defeat. Be content to maintain established bases.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, although having gained much ground in establishing important foundations for a progressive ambitious and expansive program in which future fortunes, prospects, and pleasant relations are assured, yet may be imbued with a spirit of over-zealous desire to enhance, expand and take rash chances. Such are likely to plunge into excess, extravagance or an unwarranted evaluation of current factors. False ideas and inflationary ambitions may alienate joint interests, already safe on the way to support. Shun such hazards.

A child born on this day, while ambitious and efficient, with good prospects of success and personal gratification, may be lured by extravaganee, false values, and overweaning vanity.

Club members are hoping that this brand new year, with its resolutions made and quickly broken, will find many girls of the city gathering at the Y at six o'clock for an hour of Teen and Twenty chatter, laughter and good things to eat. The executive proposes to have many excellent speakers who will give interesting and educational addresses. Meetings are being held every Wednesday.

AFTER FIVE LOOK—As resort styles crystalize, there comes into view a clear picture of Spring and Summer fashions. Very much of the mode is this after five resort dress, a costume that subscribes enthusiastically to the small top and full skirt. The blouse of purple silk shantung has sleeves cut in one with the shoulders, and tucks into a the skirt, above shirred-in fullness, is a vivid purplish-the skirt, above shirred-in fullness, is a vivad purplish-pink. This is a very different model from the after five costume as we know it, and is, very new looking and fresh.

Of Interest to Women

UPHOLSTERY FABRIC — The "new look" in fashions, that repetitive phrase which has practically ulcerated this department's disposition, is a lot of notions besides a clothy, smothering lack of line. It is, for one, a return to opulent fabrics, cut to show their opulence, and not one scrap more used than necessary to show a neat figure. The dinner (or cocktail) suit above has the new look, in that it is made of rich satin damask in blue or walnut tone, with a neat jacket apt for jewels, and a skirt which flares discreetly and without petticoat abandon. The depth and weight of the fabric is arrived at by an open fashion secret...it is upholstery damask which is used, and all the strength, beauty and line which a decorator demands in such stuff translates handsomely to soft tailoring for feminine hours of gala ease.

DOROTHY DIX

BEAUT YONLY SKIN DEEP
Personality and Brains Really Preferred In Women By Men

✧ ✧ ✧

IF EVERY WOMAN could have her heart's desire, the one thing she would ask her Fairy Godmother for would be beauty. Perhaps there isn't a granddaughter of Eve who doesn't really believe that her face is her fortune and that if she had a peaches-and-cream complexion, a willowy figure and naturally curly hair all of the choicest blessings of life would be handed to her on a silver salver.

Dorothy Dix

Hence if Old Mother Nature has been skimpy with her in doling out good looks, she spends her time and her money and her energy trying to create a synthetic pulchritude that she depends upon to make her popular in society, get her a good husband with plenty of money, provide her with mink coats and cars and all the other dodads that women crave. It is because women put their faith in looks and not in works that so many of them never even try to get an education, or to fit themselves for any trade or profession, that thousands of them find themselves stranded on the shores of hard luck when the first little fragile bloom of youth is gone.

Of course, all of us admire a pretty face. We like to look at a living picture. But, as a matter of fact, there is no other quality that women possess that is so over-rated as their beauty. Barring the few who are grotesquely ugly, the looks of the average woman have little to do with her success in the world.

Handicap in Business

Indeed for a business girl to be elected Miss America in a beauty contest is a handicap rather than a help to her. Wives do not push the fortunes of their husbands' beauteous blond secretaries. Nor are employers keen no hiring little queens who attract the man trade that comes to flirt, but not to buy. And while men rave over the pretties, they oftener than otherwise marry girls who have just plain durable faces that look as if they would stand the wear and tear of matrimony.

A clever woman, who has been making an interesting study of this subject and who writes her findings and conclusions on it to this column, says:

"Several years ago I got to wondering about what it is in a woman that sets her apart from other women and makes her remembered. So I wrote down the names of the women who had oftenest come pleasantly to my mind during the last twenty years, and I listed them under the titles of 'Beautiful' or 'pretty' or 'plain,' or 'homely.'

"The first one that I recall was an exceedingly pretty girl, who had been an old school mate, but I did not remember her at all for her looks, but for her daintiness and the fragrance of violets that always hung around her. There was a homely woman I remembered because of her graciousness and the interested and absorbed way she always listened when you talked to her.

"A super-charmer came into my mind because she had such a keen sense of humor, but I didn't even remember how she looked. Then there was a young girl whose name I never even knew, but she still lived in my memory for her radiant, heart-warming smile that made her seem always to leave a trail of light behind her. And so it went. Of all the women whom I recalled across the years there was not one whom I remembered for her beauty, or because of her lack of it. It was her personality that lived with me."

I hand these words of cheer to the girls who bewail their lack of good looks. Beauty isn't worth the value they put upon it. It is personality and intelligence and character that lasts longer than one's complexion.

SPRING FLOWER BED JACKET — Cheery, soft little accessory to decorate breakfast in bed from indulgence or convalescence, this bed jacket is made of taffeta and simply ornamented with hand-stitched trapunto flower motifs. In pink or blue it gives a spring flower slant to the day and the disposition, and is the stuff from which knowing friends select gifts. Collar and cuffs give a bit of tailoring to the model, and the scalloped edge of the jacket is cut at just the right length to be un-bunchy but long enough.

One Perfect Dish Per Week Good New Year's Resolution

By MARY MOORE

How would you people like me to start real brisk-like in the New Year on a series of pieces that feature one dish made to perfection, each week?

For example, how would you like to be famous for your perfectly broiled steak? or for your fragrant hot coffee? or for your heavenly strawberry shortcake?

Sounds interesting doesn't it?

And we can do it if we are not satisfied with our present product and are willing to shelve all our preconceived notions of dealing with such specials.

Now if our readers have a particular dish they would like me to tackle in detail now is the time to write to me and let me know what the problem is.

Because I am on an austerity budget and feel that the majority of us are literally fed up with rich food, I am starting off with fluffy tea biscuits and a few variations of them. Even your adolescent daughter (and son) can be in on this for it is simple and the results are most gratifying.

Emem's Fluffy Tea Biscuits

Two cups cake or pastry flour. 5 teaspoons baking powder, 2 tablespoons vegetable shortening or butter, ¾ cup liquid (this may be water or milk—water makes the biscuit tenderer like a dumpling would be), 1 teaspoon salt. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt, then add the shortening in little bits and cut it into the flour mixture with a pastry blender. Add the liquid all at once, quickly stir it in just barely enough to pick up the flour in bottom of bowl, and turn out on lightly floured board. With palms pat dough to about 1-inch thickness and made edges smooth and straight. Now roll lightly with floured rolling pin to make top smooth, but do not roll it thinner than 1 inch. Cut out with floured 2½-inch cutter, place on floured pan and if desired, brush top with mixture of 1 tablespoon sugar dissolved in 1 tablespoon hot milk. Bake at 500 deg. Fahr. for 12 minutes for biscuits that go into the oven 1 inch thick. If they are thicker they require 15 minutes.

Variations Of Tea Biscuits

(1) Drop Biscuits: Use above recipe but add nearly 7-8 cup liquid and drop the biscuits from a tablespoon onto greased baking sheet. Bake the same. These are rougher in appearance, but a little fluffier when finished, and of course faster.

(2) Buttermilk Biscuits: For the liquid use buttermilk or sour milk and instead of all baking powder use ½ teaspoon soda and ½ teaspoon baking powder. I have one friend who makes lovely biscuits with this method, but uses bread flour.

(3) Cheese biscuits: Use very old hard cheddar cheese, grated on fine grater as you do not want to add moisture from cheese to this mix. To give them a real "cheesy" flavour you will need 1 cup powdered cheese lightly packed when measured into cup. need be used in cheese tea biscuits.

(4) For Afternoon Tea Biscuits: Roll biscuits to ½-inch thickness and cut out with 1-inch floured cutter. With finger make depression in top and fill it with 1 teaspoon strawberry or raspberry jam; OR with a cube of sugar soaked in orange juice.

(5) To make a biscuit more like a muffin add 1 beaten egg to the dough, and reduce liquid to ½ cup.

(6) Pinwheel Biscuits: Roll dough thin, spread with marmalade, or any other spread, sweet or savoury, roll up like jelly roll, cut crosswise in slices with sharp knife. Bake, cut side on pan, very hot oven as above.

Leap Year Styles Flirtatious Reviewer Finds

By DOROTHY ROE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 — (AP).— Leap Year styles will be feminine, flirtatious, and deceptively demure, according to the spring fashion picture taking shape as New York designers prepare to unveil the 1948 silhouette for the benefit of the press next week.

Biggest news in the spring fashion parade will be the shirtwaist girl, a sleeker and more beguiling edition of her famous ancestor, the Gibson Girl, with pinched-in waistline, whirling skirt over taffeta petticoat, a tailored look that has no hint of the masculine and a new modesty as to neckline and skirt length.

Designers for the most part have compromised with the hard-fought "new look." The hemline does not yet require dust ruffles, being for the moment stabilized at 12 inches from the floor, about 2 inches longer than the average fall styles. In more practical terms, this means that the skirt should just cover the half of the leg, instead of ending at mid-calf, as was the approved street-length last season.

Women have won one important point in their fight against completely French styles — practically all designers have retained shoulder pads in their spring collections. These are modified or rounded, but they still are present, to balance the feminine figure.

Few hip pads are evident in daytime styles for spring.

Book Perplexes Critics, Sells At $100 a Copy

By ELMONT WAITE

CARMEL, Calif., Jan. 8—(AP) — A mountain in the wildly-wooded, primitive Big Sur country 35 miles to the south is harboring a literary character who is stirring up quite a few ripples, especially on the brows of critics.

He is an ex-Brooklyn gamin named Henry Miller, who defies classification. Hence he has been classified by Harper's Magazine as the leader of a new cult of mysticism, sexualism, anarchism and surrealism; by the San Francisco Examiner as the leader of a "cult of hate," which consists of "a group of fugitives from the time clock and dishpan"; and by the San Francisco Chronicle's art critic, Spencer Barefoot, as a "gentle, charming fellow who writes beautiful prose and wishe could buy his baby daughter a magic lantern."

Miller, now 56, came to the Big Sur country in 1943, after long residence in Paris. With his young Polish wife and their baby girl he lives in a pink stucco bungalow, complete with vines, atop a mountain at Anderson Creek. A little group of other artists and writers has moved into the same rugged but beautiful neighborhood. One of them, a bearded war veteran named Murray Von Graff, says they are just young people with limited funds, trying to make a name for themselves as artists.

These comprise the cult which — the Examiner's Clint Mosher reported—is convinced "modern civilization is on its death bed, and the sooner the mortician is called the better." Mosher termed them morbid and grim rather than truly Bohemian, and found them not particularly concerned with sex.

Miller himself snorts gently at all the talk of cults. Small, greying, and rather bald, he shuns publicity.

$100 a Copy

In his latest book, limited to 800 copies at $100 each and printed by hand with the silk-screen process, his new art form is a ink, with symbolic illustrations. combination of handwriting, in Miller calls it "Into the Night Life," to be read "like a psychoanalyst hearing the dreams of his patient."

A copy of the book was put on display at the San Francisco Museum of Art. Its handwritten lines ranged from small, for routine sentences, to B-I-G, for important phrases. Sometimes words were underscored for emphasis; and often he switched to a different color ink. Palestinian artist Bezalel Schatz provided the illustrations for the book, which was bound by hand in a little shop.

The books does seem to offer some support to those who say there is a central theory among the Millerites—a theory that the duty of an artist is not to bother with beauty, but to attempt critical self-analysis and record the result.

Miller achieved some degree of fame by his writings during long years in Paris. His use of four-letter words, however, forbade reprints in America, and he has not become widely known to the American public. To print his new book, he sold several prized art possessions.

But don't get the idea Miller is a literary hobo. He landed in the Saturday Review of Literature a while back where the critic said that Miller—let's see, he said Miller was . . . Wait, let's look again . . . Hmmmm!

The critic must be puzzled, too!

Footwear Needs Nursing

MONTREAL, Jan. 8 (CP). — When milady's shoes get wet, don't just let them dry out by themselves.

That's the advice offered by the Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Canada which also drops a few hints on the care and training of leather.

When shoes get wet they should be taken off as soon as possible, not only to avoid colds, but also because leather is weak when wet. And there's just one correct way to dry shoes. First, stuff them with soft paper or absorbent cloth and pat the outside with a soft cloth. Then remove the stuffing and allow them to dry slowly away from the heat.

Now, while soaking one's feet in a tub of hot water, clean the drying shoes with saddle soap. Next, using the fingers, rub in a little sufonated castor oil, which can be bought at a drug store. When the shoes are soft and dry —and only then—they're ready to polish.

As for work or play shoes that don't take polish, they can be softened and made moisture-resistent by rubbing with beeswax, tallow, wool grease or petroleum jelly.

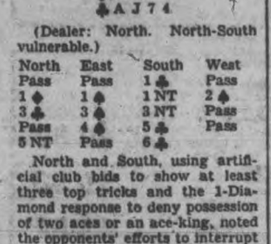
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

USED AGAINST YOU

"WHATEVER you say may be used against you." That is an admonition given by most fair-minded judges and prosecuting attorneys to defendants in criminal court cases. But there is no friendly judge or attorney around to give you that same advice during the bidding of a bridge hand. It is up to you to be your own silencer and impose the gag on your bidding which otherwise will help your opponents to beat your brains out.

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Pass
1 ♦	1 ♠	1 NT	2 ♠
3 ♣	3 ♠	3 NT	Pass
Pass	4 ♣	5 ♣	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6 ♣



North and South, using artificial club bids to show at least three top tricks and the 1-Diamond response to deny possession of two aces or an ace-king, noted the opponents' efforts to interrupt them with spade bids. The obstructiveness succeeded to the point where North and South had dropped the bidding at 3-No Trumps, as you will note above. Then East woke them up with his intended sacrifice of 4-Spades.

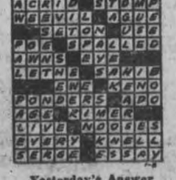
That showed such suit-length and also high-card weakness that South jumped back into action with his 5-Clubs, now knowing about North's certainty of no more than one spade, since he had three himself and could now count the opponents as having probably nine or ten. When North then went to 5-No Trumps, South knew that singleton must be the A, and that North must have been as close to a positive response as possible instead of the 1-Diamond he had answered.

In the play, following the spade 5 lead, South took all the tricks except one—when he sent the heart 9 through to the J. The players of this deal are not named, for fear that somebody might endanger his life by asking East why he didn't pass the 3-No Trumps instead of bidding 4-Spades.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)



When North leads the 3 of the diamonds which West had bid, how should the declarer play for his 6-Spades?
